LEGISLATION RECOMMENDED.

The State Fire Marshal has called my attention to a difficulty existing in the carrying out of the provisions of sections thirty-two and thirty-three of Chapter one hundred and forty-eight of the General Laws in consequence of a conflict with the provisions of other sections of said Chapter. I would therefore respectfully recommend such amendments to these provisions as will obviate this difficulty.

Section fifty-eight of said Chapter one hundred and forty-eight provides that no person shall manufacture, store, keep for sale or transport any compounds for use as a stove polish containing any liquid or compound whatsoever that will emit a gas that will flash at a temperature less than 100° Fahrenheit.

In view of the fact that several deaths have occurred during the year from the use of volatile inflammable liquid in connection with stove polish and that there is some difficulty in prohibiting the use of a stove polish containing gasoline which does not flash below 100° Fahrenheit, it would appear that section fifty-eight should be so amended as to prohibit the use of any inflammable fluid or compound in stove polish. I would therefore respectfully recommend that this section be so amended.

CONDITION OF ALL THEATRES, SPECIAL HALLS AND PUBLIC HALLS.

The Commissioner of Public Safety is required, under the provisions of section 37, chapter 143, General Laws, to annually make a full report of the conditions of all theatres, special halls and public halls, and it is also required that such report shall be a public document open to examination by the public at all times. DIVISION OF STATE POLICE.

The organization of this division has proven well adapted to meeting the ordinary conditions arising in the investigation and prosecution of crime in the Commonwealth and to coping with the unusual conditions which, from time to time, occur in connection with the suppression of crime.

The value of the detective force of the division has again been emphasized by the success attending their efforts in the investigation and prosecution of the cases assigned to them at headquarters or by the District Attorneys in their various districts. Aside from the volume of work performed in their capacity as special investigators, an increased number of investigations and arrests in capital cases made after the development of evidence secured under the most difficult conditions, has distinguished the work of this branch of the division and has contributed materially to the suppression of crime in the interest of public safety.

A material addition to the activities of the division has been secured by the organization of a squad composed of one detective and two patrolmen of the State Police Patrol for the purpose of giving special attention to the problem presented in the theft of automobiles. Acting in co-operation with the various police departments of the State they have performed efficient service in a line of operations necessarily attended by great difficulty in securing the evidence needed for prosecutions.

This particular feature has but recently been put in operation, having functioned but a few months, during which time the results attained have well repaid the efforts made and time spent.

It is a branch of work that will increase as time goes on and the acquired experience, together with information accumulated and with more complete co-operation of police forces in cities and towns throughout the Commonwealth, will permit in the first place, of a reduction in the number of automobiles stolen and in the second place, the recovery and restoration to the rightful owners of a large percentage of those stolen.

The organization of the State Police Patrol as authorized by Chapter 331 of the Acts of 1922 has been completed, the final class of recruits being graduated and assigned to duty on June 1st, 1923.

The Patrol at the present time consists of the headquarters detachment located at the State House, Boston, Troop A, with headquarters at Framingham and sub-stations at Reading, Rowley and Concord, covering the territory consisting of Middlesex, Essex and Norfolk counties; Troop B, with headquarters at Northampton and sub-stations at Lee, Shelburne Falls, Agawam and Cheshire, covering Hampden, Hampshire, Franklin and Berkshire counties; Troop C, with headquarters at Paxton and sub-stations at Westminster, Oxford, Brookfield and Bolton, covering Worcester county; Troop D, with headquarters at Middleborough and sub-stations at Norwell, Barnstable and Freetown and, in addition, one man stations at Chilmark on the island of Martha's Vineyard and at Nantucket on the island of Nantucket, thus covering the counties of Plymouth, Bristol, Barnstable, Dukes and Nantucket.

The work of this branch of the division has increased materially during the year for the reason that the increase of personnel has permitted a wider distribution of the force and the fact that the citizens of the State have called upon them more frequently for service.

The presence of increased automobile traffic on the highways of this State has required the attention of the Patrol with a view to the greater protection of persons and property. In meeting the various situations arising from violation of the automobile law, it has been the policy of the Patrol to caution offenders when possible, and resort has been had to prosecution only when warranted by the serious nature of the offense. Prosecutions for violations of the automobile law have formed approximately one-third of the arrests made by the Patrol during the year. The enforcement of this law has been of great assistance in curbing criminal operations in connection with which automobiles have been used.

It should be borne in mind that the Patrol operates primarily in those parts of the Commonwealth which are not policed at all and in towns having but one or two policemen, and it does not attempt to operate in cities or towns where regularly organized forces are maintained unless requested to do so by competent authority, or if conditions in a town or city warrant such action.

In patrolling the rural sections of the State, our men have been instructed to be constantly on the alert to detect forest fires and to lend every possible assistance in stamping out this peril and property destroying evil. And, it is a pleasure to report that we have already aided in this way on numerous occasions.

REPORT ON STATE POLICE STEAMER "LOTIS."

This vessel was in commission from June 26, 1923 to November 1, 1923, a total of 127 days. The motor boat was available for service to the 15th of November.

During the season three serious accidents occurred to the steamer's machinery, due primarily to its age and service and the fact that no general overhauling had been given the engine since it has been owned by the State. The use of the vessel was somewhat delayed at the first of the season owing to the necessity of renewing a portion of the condenser. It was also found necessary to do considerable work on the under-water body of the hull.

A new vessel, designed especially for police work and coastal patrol of the waters of the Commonwealth, and which will permit of much more effective service because so designed and seaworthy, is now under construction and will be placed in commission at the beginning of the season, which opens on or about May 1, 1924.

As in former years, the headquarters of the vessel were established at Newburyport, Gloucester, Salem Willows, Lynn, Boston, Scituate, Plymouth and Provincetown and a practice of patrolling rivers, harbors and bays with the motor boat was followed, thereby materially decreasing the cost of operation and extending the service to a wider area. Patrol work was also performed on the south side of the Cape.

The work performed by the vessel may be classified as follows:—fish and game preservation, enforcing the muffler law, pollution of rivers and harbors by oil, the recovery of property, assistance to boats in distress and enforcement of the regulations governing the transportation of explosives in harbors.

A disabled boat D-57 containing three men was picked up in Boston Harbor and towed to safety.

Disabled boat C-4660 containing one man and fifteen children was picked up in Broad Sound off Nahant and Lynn Flats at a time when considerable sea was running and night coming on, and towed to safety.

The barge "Marion Van-R" was found illegally transporting oil on the waters of the Commonwealth, the matter referred to and settled by the Fire Marshal.

It was found necessary to take action in the case of eleven motor boats which were boarded because of the excessive noise made by their exhausts. In disposing of these cases a time limit was fixed in which they were to be made to conform to the law, the desired result being achieved despite the indefinite character of the law. The bill which was submitted to the last General Court for the purpose of clarifying and improving this law would have made its provisions more definite and more satisfactory to enforce had it been passed and incorporated into law.

Co-operation with the Division of Fisheries and Game was established with the usual cordiality and seventeen convictions under the Fish and Game Law were secured. I wish to extend to the wardens of this Division my sincere appreciation and thanks for their untiring efforts and zeal while engaged on this difficult and dangerous work.

Because of the fact that there are no qualifying conditions embodied in the regulations concerning the pollution of waters of the Commonwealth, it is very difficult to enforce from the standpoint of securing convictions on vessels, as one must be on the spot with witnesses when the offense is committed and be able to trace it directly to the person responsible for opening the valve and allowing the oil to go overboard. The season has been one of a great deal of fog and heavy weather which held us, in this particular vessel, storm and fog bound for longer periods than would be necessary if we had a vessel more seaworthy. The fact that Massachusetts waters, shores, harbors and beaches are as clean as those of any State not having oil industries within their borders, and that oil is used for commercial purposes in this State to such a great extent, and its use constantly increasing, proves the efficiency of the patrol and the interest taken by those handling oil in eliminating its objectionable features. Boston Harbor, through which most of the oil traffic passes and on whose shores there are two refineries, is practically clean and is acknowledged by those interested to be the cleanest oil-receiving port in the country.

The following is a general summary of the work done:

Steamers boarded, 14.

Small vessels boarded, 59.

Total, 73.

Motor boats warned about mufflers, 11.

Complaints, violation of Fish and Game Law, 25.

Convictions, violation of Fish and Game Law, 17.

Boats recovered, 2.

Assistance rendered boats in distress, 2.

RELATIVE TO THE APPROVAL OF ENTERTAINMENTS HELD UPON THE LORD'S DAY.

For the fiscal year ending November 30, 1923, and in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 135 of the General Laws, there were submitted to the Commissioner of Public Safety for approval, a total of 14,357 licenses and programs for entertainments to be held upon the Lord's Day. Of this number 14,344 were approved and 13 disapproved. Each application received was accompanied by the required fee of $1, making a total of $14,357, which amount has been paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. It is a subject worthy of comment that those submitting programs for entertainment upon the Lord's Day, and being cognizant of the thorough and conscientious all-be-it reasonable supervision of these matters, have apparently studied to present only such as they honestly thought would meet with our requirements, hence the reason for the very small number of disapprovals. It is testimony to honesty of purpose that reflects credit both upon the applicants and the department.

While the motion picture continues to form the greater part of this particular class of entertainment, and every picture must be seen before approval for Sunday use is given, this feature has been systematized, but has been of such volume and constantly growing as to tax the personnel provided for its administration. The functions apart from the actual viewing of the pictures are largely of a mechanical nature and can be performed by the clerical force of the department.

This is not true of the vaudeville, acts and sketches, etc., as submitted for the approval of the Commissioner. We have the alternative of approving these features with the meagre description as furnished by the licensees and various booking offices, or we can be arbitrary, and disapprove. The latter course would be considered and rightly so, as drastic. We have been earnestly striving for the past three years to devise ways and means to correct this condition, but lack of the necessary trained personnel and the facilities to preview each act, sketch, etc., has rendered this plan impossible of accomplishment. This is a matter, however, to which we are devoting considerable thought, to the end that we may finally solve the problem with the personnel available.

The following statement shows the number of reels and footage of film which have been submitted to the Censor of Sunday Entertainments during the past year:—

Number of reels of film censored, 5,855.

Number of reels approved, 4,146.

Number of reels approved after eliminations had been made, 641.

Number of reels disapproved, 1,068.

Number of feet of film censored, 5,855,000.

BUREAU OF EXPLOSIVES AND INFLAMMABLES.

This Bureau is maintained under the provisions of section 12, chapter 148, of the General Laws, as amended by chapter 255 of the Acts of 1921, and is under the charge of the expert assistant to the Commissioner.

The Department chemical laboratory is located on Boylston St., Boston, where analyses, tests and examinations, required by the provisions of the law and the rules and regulations, are conducted by the expert assistant.

A magazine for the safe keeping of explosives, pending court procedure, has been erected at the headquarters of Troop A, State Police Patrol, at Framingham.

The work of this Bureau has increased considerably during the past year as is indicated by the report of the expert assistant in connection with inspections and investigations as follows:—

RELATIVE TO THE BUREAU FOR THE STORAGE OF LIQUIDS.

This Bureau is maintained under the provisions of sections 54 and 55, Chapter 148, of the General Laws, amended by chapter 104, Acts of 1921.

As in the previous year the officer detailed in charge of this Bureau performed these duties in connection with those of the Police Steamer "Lotis."

There has been an increase of 126 in the number of tanks installed and 88 visits of inspection have been made. New installations have been made in 18 cities and towns. The increase in the number of tanks constructed yearly will undoubtedly be of a steady and comparatively rapid growth due to the number of large power plants changing from coal to oil fuel, the growth of the several refineries in the State, and the increase in the number of supply stations constructed by large oil and gasoline companies, necessitated by the growing demands of their business.

The importance of proper supervision of installation of oil storage plants necessitates the expenditure of a great deal of time in consideration of the plans submitted and in consultation with the parties interested. The matter of keeping retaining basins clean has been given consideration as usual and several warnings have been issued. The principal offenders in this matter, as a rule, are large oil companies, the conditions complained of being brought about primarily by the heavy demand for their products. The difficulty of enlarging their capacity at short notice is almost insurmountable. They are, however, endeavoring to comply with the regulations of this department. No serious trouble has been experienced in any case and a remarkably willing spirit of co-operation has been shown.

The following is a statistical statement of corporations, tanks, etc., to date, showing the increase in the past year:

Number of tanks inspected, 233. Official visits of inspection, 88.

Number of cities and towns in which tanks are located . . .	114	132
Number of corporations operating same	122	137
Number of tanks existing under this act	1,293	1,419
Number of plans checked and figured	458	517
Number of permits issued and locations investigated . . .	458	517

RELATIVE TO PRIVATE DETECTIVE LICENSES.

It is incumbent upon me, under the provisions of the General Laws, chapter 147, sections 22 to 30, to provide for the licensing and regulation of private detectives. During the twelve months ending Nov. 30, 1923, there have been 4 original private detective licenses granted and 34 licenses renewed, a total of 38. Of this number, 12, licensed as partnerships or corporations, have paid fees of $200 each, and the 26 remaining, licensed as individuals, have paid fees of $100 each, making a total of $5,000, which amount has been paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

RELATIVE TO THE SALE AND CARRYING OF FIREARMS.

The enactment of chapter 485 of the Acts of 1922, amending chapter 140, sections 121 to 131, of the General Laws relative to the sale and carrying of firearms, imposed upon this Department the supervision of records of sales made and licenses issued in accordance with the provisions of the act.

This law did not become operative until August 29, 1922, so that the close of the current year marks the end of the first full year in which it has been in operation. There appears to be an increasing demand in this Commonwealth, as well as throughout the country, for the enactment of more stringent laws governing the sale and carrying of firearms and it is expected that new legislation will be sought at the incoming Legislature in this regard.

During the year commencing December 1, 1922, and ending November 30, 1923, the following records were received and recorded in the files of this department:

Number of licenses issued to dealers, 166; none revoked.

Number of sales reported by dealers, 4,036.

Number of licenses issued for the carrying of firearms, 15,790. Revoked, 105.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES.

The Board of Boiler Rules, a permanent board appointed in accordance with the provisions of chapter 22, of the General Laws, is required by statute to hold public hearings semi-annually, on the first Thursdays in May and November, for the purpose of considering petitions for changes in the steam boiler rules formulated by said board. The board may also hold other hearings if necessary. Any changes in the steam boiler rules thus proposed are taken under advisement and, if approved by the board, the statutory requirement as to advertising before adoption has to be carried out and a further public hearing given before the changes are submitted to the Governor and Council for approval. The board has held 12 regular meetings during the year, besides the 2 semi-annual hearings. Several proposed changes in the steam boiler rules are now under consideration and will be advertised for public hearing in the near future, looking toward the condition of uniformity so long desired between this and other states in rules for the construction, installation, inspection and operation of steam boilers.

BOARD OF ELEVATOR REGULATIONS.

The Board of Elevator Regulations, appointed by the Commissioner as occasion requires, has held ten regular meetings during the year, besides two public hearings and has completed the revision and amendment of the elevator and escalator regulations which had been in force since June 19, 1914. The revised regulations have been submitted to His Excellency the Governor and Honorable Council for approval.

DIVISION OF INSPECTION.

The Division of Inspection, in charge of a director known as the Chief of Inspections, is organized as provided by chapter 22, of the General Laws, and includes the functions of building inspection, boiler inspection, the Board of Elevator Regulations and the Board of Boiler Rules.

BUILDING INSPECTION.

Chapter 143 of the General Laws enforced by the Inspectors of Buildings applies to the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and ventilation of public buildings as defined in the law; also factories, hotels, lodging, apartment and tenement houses above a certain size and capacity throughout the Commonwealth. This chapter is enforced under rules and regulations approved by the Commissioner which are issued in pamphlet form for the convenience of those engaged in business affected by the statute. The inspection of elevators in cities and towns not having an elevator inspector is under the jurisdiction of the department, and in such places the elevator and escalator regulations promulgated by the Board of Elevator Regulations are enforced. The building inspectors also inspect cinematographs, so called, or moving pictures, and license operators for the same under rules which are approved by the Commissioner.

BOILER INSPECTION.

Chapter 146 of the General Laws enforced by the Inspectors of Boilers provides for the annual inspection of steam boilers, except those of certain classes, also the issuance of certificates of inspection before the boilers can be operated. This chapter also provides for the inspection of tanks for the storage of compressed air used to operate pneumatic machinery, and for safety valves applied to ammonia compressors. The inspections are regulated by rules formulated by the Boiler Rules in accordance with this chapter. The boiler inspectors also enforce the provisions of said chapter relating to the licensing of engineers and firemen, operators of hoisting machinery, and insurance company boiler inspectors.

The following insurance companies are authorized to inspect steam boilers in the Commonwealth:—

Ætna Casualty Surety Company.
 American Employers Insurance Co.
 American Reinsurance Company.

 Continental Casualty Company.
 Eagle Indemnity Company of New York.
 Employers Liability Assurance Corporation.

There have been 31,648 reports of steam boiler inspections and 697 reports of air tank inspections made by insurance companies, a total of 32,345 insurance company reports.

The twenty-two authorized insurance companies named above have in their employ 171 inspectors of steam boilers and air tanks who hold certificates of competency issued by this Department. Thirty-three applicants for such certificates were examined during the year, 13 of whom were granted certificates of competency as inspectors of steam boilers for this Commonwealth, while the other 20 applicants failed in the examination.

The following tabulation shows the number of inspections made during the past five years:—

wealth, data reports for which have been received, is 29,173 Boilers and 2,064 Air Tanks.

Applicants for first-class engineer, second-class engineer and special licenses, applicants for certificates of competency as inspectors of steam boilers, and appellants from decisions of individual boiler inspectors are examined by a board of three inspectors.

DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION.

The increasing menace to life and property resulting from the rapid development of fire hazards in the economic life of the Commonwealth, and the annual waste of material resources attending fire losses, has emphasized the growing necessity of extending the scope of fire prevention measures. To this end an intensive campaign has been instituted with the view to utilizing to the fullest extent the resources at our command, and to co-operating with those whose aim it is to reduce the annual fire losses and prevent the economic waste which attends them.

The officers and inspectors of the Fire Prevention Division have been engaged during the year in co-operative and educational work on their respective districts and have made substantial progress in that direction. Personal contact has been had with municipal governments, Chambers of Commerce, Safety Councils, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs on fire prevention matters concerning homes, schools, factories, theatres and mercantile establishments in order that the resources of the department may be made available to the propagation of ideas in the interest of fire prevention and public safety.

The extension of the use of fuel oil for industrial and domestic purposes has extended the hazard incidental to its use and has necessitated a wider range of activity in the supervision and approval of the various devices developed for the burning of oil as fuel. The threatened shortage of anthracite coal for domestic heating has brought about an increase in the number of installations of oil heating devices in dwellings, and these installations and their accompanying oil storage are being regulated with a view to prevent fire and safeguard life and property.

STATE BOXING COMMISSION.

In the completion of another year of legalized boxing in the Commonwealth, it is pleasing to state that conditions governing this branch of sport have continued to improve. Those engaged in the promotion of boxing matches and exhibitions are, I believe, endeavoring to comply with our requirements, having found that the Commission's chief interest is to reasonably regulate these affairs to the end that objectionable features are eliminated; that respect for law and order is observed and that the rights of the public are not encroached upon.

That success is attending these efforts is evidenced by continued receipt of letters and words of commendation from various sources. This does not mean that we have been entirely free from the necessity of inflicting a penalty here and there as occasion required, for it is by that means and its resultant effect that continued improvement has come about.

The influence of this Commission upon boxing conditions and conduct of the sport in other States, particularly as it relates to the effect of reasonable regulation, the application of sound sense to difficult situations and unreasonable attitudes, has been something very satisfying to our members and its prestige has accordingly increased and its reputation enhanced. The cordial co-operation of boxing authorities of other States continues to benefit all parties concerned and to the advantage of the sport in general.

The Commission continues to oppose the appearance in this State of champions or others of sufficient fame in the boxing world who command extraordinary sums for appearance in contests, for the reasons given in our last report.

There were four fewer professional clubs conducting matches and exhibition and twenty-six exhibitions less in 1923 than in the previous year.

Considering these facts the financial report covering the activities for 1923 runs closely parallel to that of the previous year with much the same conditions existing.

The statistical record for the period ending November 30, 1923, follows:—

CONCLUSION.

In the closing of another fiscal year this department may look back upon a period of progress and accomplishment with a feeling of considerable satisfaction.

His Excellency the Governor continues to interest himself in the work and welfare of the department and his attitude is both helpful and inspiring and is deeply appreciated. My appreciation and thanks are due to the several local police forces who have co-operated with this department so whole-heartedly and effectively during the year.

All members of the department, including the clerical force, continue to show deep interest in their work, a spirit to accomplish their tasks and a willingness to do even more than is asked of them; a spirit and an attitude wholly commendable, and to them I also extend my thanks.

Respectfully submitted,

Commissioner.

DIVISION OF STATE POLICE.

During the period covered by this report the State Police have been very active, and a number of occasions demanding our best efforts have arisen.

Increase in crime naturally follows the increase in population. The much talked of crime-wave has not engulfed the Commonwealth beyond our control, but it has caused us to be increasingly alert and watchful. During the warmer months of the year there were a few occasions when certain elements of our citizenship, by reason of large out of door gatherings, brought about conditions which for a time became threatening.

Prompt and decisive action even though somewhat drastic, served to break up the tendency toward lawlessness.

Several delicate situations requiring good judgment, prompt action and the courage to "go through" were effectively handled by the officers and men of our force in the face of great odds.

While the newspapers of the country have published many reports of "holdups" in which large sums of money have been stolen, I am happy to state that occurrences of this kind have been few and far between of late years in Massachusetts. One daring daylight bank holdup was attempted during the year resulting in the death of a bank official who was shot by one of the bandits. News of this affair was communicated to this department and prompt action taken. With the slightest of clues, our detectives took up the trail and within a few days had apprehended and arrested the perpetrators of the crime, who are now in confinement awaiting trial. Thefts of automobiles continue to be numerous and widespread. This line of police work, taken up by a special squad detailed for the purpose, has developed that many organized gangs of such thieves are in existence who make a regular business of it. We have recovered many stolen cars during the year and have prosecuted and convicted a number of criminals. More can be done, but the closest co-operation among the local police forces of the State is necessary in order to more thoroughly stamp out this evil. I am pleased to state that, as our methods become more generally known among them, our mutual efforts are becoming more productive of results each year. During the year certain disturbances at which it was apparent that many of the participants were carrying pistols, caused me to investigate the sources of issue of permits to carry such weapons. The information disclosed by this investigation was startling. While many persons have been authorized to carry pistols, there is no doubt in my mind that a large number so doing, should not be accorded the privilege because of the menace it is or may become to the public.

On December 5th of the coming fiscal year, will become effective the enforcement of prohibition by the Commonwealth. Anticipating the additional and arduous duties that this necessarily will impose upon the State Police, I have taken occasion to have our members instructed as to particular features of the new law by means of lectures and talks given by assistants to the Attorney General and we shall be ready to enforce this law as efficiently and effectively as are all other laws.

The State Police Patrol, because it operates as a uniformed force and is organized, officered, equipped and maintained more or less on a military basis, continues its training and activities as heretofore carefully planned and laid down.

In our selection of men for this force, it has been our endeavor to secure the very best available material and those who pass the strict requirements are bound to be men above the average. Not only are applicants carefully examined physically and mentally, but they are thoroughly investigated as to character, morals and past history. Upon acceptance they are required to attend our School of Instruction which covers a thorough course in criminal law and procedure; motor vehicle, fish and game and forestry laws; investigation and reporting of crimes, and traffic and mob control. The geography of this part of the country and particularly of Massachusetts is required and a knowledge of transportation systems both rail and highway, and industrial and political sub-divisions of the State. Other instruction includes horsemanship and care of horses; motor vehicle driving and care and maintenance of equipment; hygiene and first aid; self-defense including physical drills and exercises and the effective use of weapons. All this assures a force of well-instructed and physically fit men of whom much is expected and who have thus far met our expectations.

Discipline in this force is of a high order. Occasionally there is trial by a Trial Board for breaches of discipline and penalties imposed, including dismissal from the force, but such cases are relatively few. Moral and physical courage is most necessary among our members, for temptations to deviate from the path of duty are numerous and attempts to bribe some of the men have been made, but I feel confident that the high standard of men selected warrants the opinion that they are above reproach and that, as a police force they are not surpassed by any other similar organization anywhere.

As has been stated in previous reports, the Patrol is divided into four troops designated A, B, C and D, with headquarters at Framingham, Northampton, Holden and Middleborough respectively. Each troop has several sub-stations so that the entire State is covered as effectively as our limited numbers permit.

The men are quartered in barracks which are either existing buildings in the localities selected, or are portable buildings owned by the Commonwealth and erected upon rented ground.

The school is housed at the Commonwealth Armory, Allston, by arrangement with The Adjutant General.

The equipment of the Patrol is in good condition being frequently inspected for that purpose. Our motor equipment, however, must be replaced soon in order to give the effective service required in police work. It should be remembered that police motor vehicles in this force do practically double duty, being in use both day and night, hence the life of such vehicles is necessarily short. Both the commissioned officers who direct the work of their men and the men themselves are keenly alive to the duties in which they are engaged, and are cognizant of the fact that each one of them is conspicuous by reason of the public knowledge that he is a representative of the Commonwealth in the enforcement of its laws.

I look forward with confidence to another year of progressively improved and more effective service.

State Police Boat "Protector."

The old State Police Steamer "Lotis" having become not only obsolete but unsafe, the legislature of 1924 made provision by appropriation for the construction of a new and serviceable police boat, especially designed for this particular work and, in addition, so sturdily constructed as to be available for ice-breaking in the Charles River Basin as required by law and under the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan District Commission.

The new boat "Protector" was built, equipped and taken over by this department on October 2, 1924, and has been in commission since that date. As winter approached she was fitted with ice-breaking apparatus and is now stationed in the Charles River Basin ready for the winter's work. The boat thus answers a double purpose and a saving to the Commonwealth.

Such of the patrol work and enforcement of laws as was done during the past season was necessarily performed in the small motor boat which, very naturally, restricted the area covered as well as the activities. Nevertheless and in spite of hampering conditions, twenty arrests were made, three for illegal torching and seventeen for clamming in polluted waters. These cases were in conjunction with the Fish and Game Wardens. With the new boat available and capable of weathering almost any sea, we look forward to years of active and valuable service in promoting and protecting the interests of the Commonwealth represented by the great population together with property value scattered along our entire coast line, not to mention the welfare and pleasure of our own people and thousands from outside our bounds who seek rest and health along our shores.

The following is a report of activities of the Division during the past twelve months:—

BUREAU OF SUNDAY CENSORSHIP.

For the fiscal year ending November 30, 1924, and in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 135 of the General Laws, there were submitted to the Commissioner of Public Safety for approval, a total of 14,101 licenses and programs for entertainments to be held upon the Lord's Day. Of this number 14,077 were approved and 24 disapproved. Each application received was accompanied by the required fee of $1, making a total of $14,101, which amount has been paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. It is a subject worthy of comment that those submitting programs for entertainment upon the Lord's Day, and being cognizant of the thorough and conscientious all-be-it reasonable supervision of these matters, have apparently studied to present only such as they honestly thought would meet with our requirements, hence the reason for the very small number of disapprovals. It is testimony to honesty of purpose that reflects credit both upon the applicants and the department.

While the motion picture continues to form the greater part of this particular class of entertainment, and every picture must be seen before approval for Sunday use is given, this feature has been systematized, but has been of such volume and constantly growing as to tax the personnel provided for its administration. The functions apart from the actual viewing of the pictures are largely of a mechanical nature and can be performed by the clerical force of the department.

This is not true of the vaudeville, acts and sketches, etc., as submitted for the approval of the Commissioner. We have the alternative of approving these features with the meagre description as furnished by the licensees and various booking offices, or we can be arbitrary, and disapprove. The latter course would be considered and rightly so, as drastic. We have been earnestly striving for the past four years to devise ways and means to correct this condition, but lack of the necessary trained personnel and the facilities to preview each act, sketch, etc., has rendered this plan impossible of accomplishment. This is a matter, however, to which we are devoting considerable thought, to the end that we may finally solve the problem with the personnel available.

Number of reels of film censored, 5,332½.

Number of reels approved, 3,591½.

Number of reels approved after eliminations had been made, 1,103.

Number of reels disapproved, 850.

Number of feet of film censored, 5,332,500.

BUREAU OF EXPLOSIVES AND INFLAMMABLES.

The State Police Laboratory has been very active during the past year. The duties performed were as varied as heretofore.

Special photography, with firearms, bullet and powder research has been added since March 1st. This broadening of activities required the purchase of technical equipment and some reorganization of the laboratory. This was finally effected on December 1st, when all equipment was moved from the old site, 1108 Boylston St., to the basement of the State House. The new location is convenient to State Police and Fire Prevention Headquarters and produces the necessary unity with those divisions.

The change effects a saving to the Commonwealth of $780 per year, which sum represents the annual rental for the room on Boylston St. The cost of equipping the new rooms will about equal the above figure.

During the past summer the photographic work and firearms investigation were carried on under difficulties, owing to lack of room and facilities at Boylston St. This lack has been remedied to a large extent by the change.

BUREAU FOR THE STORAGE OF LIQUIDS.

This Bureau is maintained under the provisions of Sections 54 and 55, Chapter 148, of the General Laws, amended by Chapter 104, Acts of 1921.

As has been the custom in previous years, the officer detailed in charge of this Bureau has performed these duties in addition to those as special duty boiler inspector.

There has been an increase of 130 in the number of tanks installed and 46 visits of inspection have been made.

New installations have been made in 16 cities and towns. As predicted the number of tanks constructed annually continues to increase due to the larger use of oil for fuel and the construction by large oil and gasoline companies of supply stations.

The importance of supervision of the construction and installation of oil storage plants, necessitating consideration of plans and oftentimes consultation with the parties concerned, means the expenditure of a great deal of time but is vitally necessary as has been proven during the year. Competition among tank manufacturers led to the submission of plans showing inferior and unsafe construction which were promptly disapproved. All manufacturers now understand that no tank of poor construction will be approved, and this knowledge has caused satisfaction to all concerned.

Statistics for the year follows:

Number of tanks inspected, 130. Official visits of inspection, 46.

	1923.	1924.
Number of cities and towns in which tanks are located	132	148
Number of corporations operating same	137	153
Number of tanks existing under this act	1,419	1,549
Number of plans checked and figured	517	647

PRIVATE DETECTIVE LICENSES.

It is incumbent upon me, under the provisions of the General Laws, chapter 147, sections 22 to 30, to provide for the licensing and regulation of private detectives. During the twelve months ending Nov. 30, 1924, there have been two original private detective licenses granted and 33 licenses renewed, a total of 35. Of this number, 9, licensed as partnerships or corporations, have paid fees of $200 each, and the 26 remaining, licensed as individuals, have paid fees of $100 each, making a total of $4,400, which amount has been paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

SALE AND CARRYING OF FIREARMS.

The enactment of chapter 485 of the Acts of 1922, amending chapter 140, sections 121 to 131, of the General Laws relative to the sale and carrying of firearms, imposed upon this Department the supervision of records of sales made and licenses issued in accordance with the provisions of the act.

During the year commencing December 1, 1923 and ending November 30, 1924, the following records were received and recorded in the files of this department:

Number of licenses issued to dealers, 210; none revoked.

Number of sales reported by dealers, 3,727.

Number of licenses issued for the carrying of firearms, 15,196, revoked, 52.

DIVISION OF INSPECTION.

The Division of Inspection, organized under the provisions of Chapter 22 of the General Laws, consists of a permanent Board of Boiler Rules, a Board of Elevator Regulations appointed by the Commissioner on petition for changes in regulations, 19 Building Inspectors and 25 Boiler Inspectors.

Board of Boiler Rules.

The Board has held 7 regular meetings during the year, and 2 semi-annual public hearings, as required by Section 3 of Chapter 146 of the General Laws, on petitions for changes in the steam boiler rules. Executive meetings were for the consideration of changes requested by petition or contemplated by the Board, and for the examination of plans and specifications for boilers submitted as special design as provided for in the law. While a large number of requests for approval of special design boilers have been presented to the Board, many of these the Board decided were covered by existing rules which are at present so comprehensive in their scope as to cover almost any design of boiler. These applications in many cases were in the nature of a desire to avoid the rules rather than being a new special design of boiler.

Board of Elevator Regulations.

The Board of Elevator Regulations concluded its labors in revising the regulations. The amended regulations were approved by His Excellency the Governor and the Executive Council on December 23, 1923, and have since been operative, and have given general satisfaction, as very few complaints have thus far been registered with the department.

Building Inspection.

The Building Inspectors enforce the provisions of Chapter 143 of the General Laws relative to construction, maintenance, sanitation and ventilation of public buildings, factories where 10 or more are employed, hotels, lodging and boarding houses, apartment and tenement houses having eight or more rooms or accommodations for 10 or more persons above the second story; the cinematograph or moving picture law, inspection of machines and license of operators; also the inspection of elevators and enforcement of the regulations governing same in cities and towns where no building inspection department is maintained. For the uniform enforcement of the laws relating to buildings, rules are formulated by the Commissioner and are available upon application.

Boiler Inspection.

The Boiler Inspectors enforce the provisions of Chapter 146 of the General Laws relative to the inspection of steam boilers, air tanks and safety valves for ammonia compressors, except such as are inspected by authorized inspectors of insurance companies holding certificates of competency granted after examination by a board of three boiler inspectors. They also examine all applicants for licenses as engineer, fireman and operator of hoisting machinery when the motive power is mechanical and other than steam.

The duties of the inspectors of this division are difficult, due to the reason that the enforcement of the laws directly affects either property interests or the personal rights of people. Some conflict is inevitable, owing to differences of opinion. These we expect and respect. The inspectors have been advised to give the people the benefit of their experience, use good judgment, and then to secure a proper compliance with the law with the least possible hardship. The result is that, during the past year, complaint has been greatly reduced.

The examination of applicants for different classes of license, wherein the question of personal rights enters, is so delicate that complaints and appeals are inevitable. The small number of these is illustrated by the fact that during the year 4,372 men were examined for different classes of license, of whom 2,445 were rejected. Of the number thus rejected and whose privilege it was to exercise their right of appeal, only 20 appealed, or less than one per cent. I think that this clearly demonstrates the operation of these laws to be generally satisfactory to those affected.

Aetna Casualty Surety Company.
 American Employers Insurance Company.
 American Reinsurance Company.
 Columbia Casualty Company.

There have been 23,913 reports of steam boiler inspections and 435 reports of air tank inspections made by insurance companies, a total of 24,348 insurance company reports.

The twenty-four authorized insurance companies named above have in their employ 187 inspectors of steam boilers and air tanks who hold certificates of competency issued by this Department. Thirty-six applicants for such certificates were examined during the year, 16 of whom were granted certificates of competency as inspectors of steam boilers for this Commonwealth, while the other 20 applicants failed in the examination.

The following tabulation shows the number of inspections by the Division of Boiler Inspection during the past five years:—

The total number of MASSACHUSETTS STANDARD boilers and air tanks constructed in accordance with the Steam Boiler Rules formulated, and the Air Tank Regulations prescribed, by the Board of Boiler Rules of this Commonwealth, data reports for which have been received, is 30,378 Boilers and 2,336 Air Tanks.

Applicants for first-class engineer, second-class engineer and special licenses, applicants for certificates of competency as inspectors of steam boilers, and appellants from decisions of individual boiler inspectors are examined by a board of three inspectors.

STATE BOXING COMMISSION.

Another year of legalized boxing has passed into history and again it is a pleasure to be able to record it as a successful one. Were it not for the fact that the members of this commission are so conversant with conditions pertaining to both the conduct of this particular sport and the personnel of the fraternity of contestants, it might easily become a difficult situation to handle and with demoralizing results.

The appointed members are, however, keenly watchful to detect wrong doing on the part of clubs or individuals and to apply corrective measures. At the same time the attitude of the Commission is to be helpful and advisory and by this means it has been gratifyingly successful in smoothing out difficulties and maintaining accord.

The commission continues to maintain pleasing reciprocal relations with boxing authorities of other States and even with some of the provinces of Canada, several of whom have sought advice and requested information which is always gladly given.

The number of professional clubs conducting matches and exhibitions was five less than the preceding year and the number of exhibitions held was fifty-four less in 1924.

Receipts from licenses and exhibitions are very nearly the same as for the year 1923 in spite of the diminished number of clubs operating and the greatly reduced number of exhibitions held.

In view of the continued satisfactory conditions existing in the conduct of this sport and the present laws, rules and regulations having so fully covered any question arising thus far, I do not advocate any change or recommend any further legislation at this time.

The statistics for the period ending November 30, 1924, follows: —

Applications for licenses to conduct boxing exhibitions and for licenses as physicians, referees, judges, timekeepers, professional boxers, managers, trainers or seconds $23,818 08
 Five per cent of gross receipts from boxing exhibitions $39,860 97

IN GENERAL.

The multiplicity of duties required of this department covering widely divergent activities, necessitating keen and constant supervision, compels the exercise of our best and untiring effort.

Aided by competent assistants in charge of the several divisions, bureaus and boards within the department, with whom frequent conferences are held, the work of public safety and general welfare of our people has been promoted to the best of my ability. The very nature of our activities — police, fire inspection and prevention, building and boiler inspection, garage, elevator and moving picture regulation, etc., are all subject to increase consequent upon the increase of population in the Commonwealth and the increase in business.

It is a real problem to keep pace with these conditions and while the authorized available forces (other than the State Police Patrol) at my disposal have not been increased in numbers for some years, it is greatly to the credit of those in charge of these activities no less than to the rank and file, that the call for greater effort has been met with prompt and willing response. Otherwise it would be impossible to cover these important duties. It will be only a natural course of events that will in time necessitate a larger force.

The enormous fire losses of recent years, the greatest economic loss suffered by the Commonwealth as a whole, has constantly engaged our attention with a view to reduction at least, and elimination so far as is possible, of this great burden. It is hoped that the legislative committee which is investigating this important matter will have some valuable and constructive suggestions to make to the end that legislation may be enacted which will enable this department to function more effectively.

We have advocated and promoted safety all the while and upon every occasion offered have availed ourselves of every opportunity to speak directly to gatherings here and there throughout the Commonwealth. The annual "Safety Week" drive during which the people are exhorted to be careful, is good as far as it goes but it is for one week only whereas this department is not only preaching but is also practicing safety every week throughout the year.

While a review of the work of the department for the year is gratifying, it has been accomplished only by co-ordination and co-operation among our entire force, officers, clerks and stenographers, who have handled the ever-increasing volume of work required to be done without a corresponding increase in our working force. To all these I am indebted for loyal support and constant effort.

Respectfully submitted,

Commissioner.

DIVISION OF STATE POLICE.

To those whose duty it is to keep in close touch with police affairs in this and other states and communities throughout the country, it is common knowledge that crime and disregard for law is, and for some time past, has been increasing. I do not consider nor call it by the term which has been so frequently used of late, the so-called "crime wave." In my opinion crime, as it exists today, is the development of a situation created very largely by the ease with which one so inclined may launch out into an unlawful career, finding the means at hand on every turn. Automobiles by the hundreds stand idly upon the streets, many of them carelessly left by their owners for hours at a time. The youthfulness of many of the recent criminals has been remarked. Young men—some of them mere boys, are tempted to take a ride. The car may be returned or abandoned, but if the perpetrator is not discovered or apprehended, the practice continues and almost naturally leads to the actual stealing of a car. This leads on to the business of regularly stealing automobiles—a profitable business, too, and sufficiently well organized to term it a "business" and is the cause of unceasing activity both day and night, of our "auto squad." Great amounts of money are often involved in the illegal transportation and sale of liquor. The possibility of large profits, even though involving liability of arrest, danger of injury to persons in case of resistance when discovered and often even capture and seizure of property, all this is estimated as a part of the expense of doing business. And both of these activities on the part of criminals lead to still another and growing crime—that of "holdups."

Newspapers publicity such as is to be seen in the numerous dailies of today—giving the particulars of such incidents and noting and detailing the ways and ease of the accomplishment of such crimes has induced many novices to try their hands at the game. In a number of cases success has attended their efforts and the stolen motor car is nearly always the means of quickly getting away from the scene of action.

Added to the already extensive duties of the State Police for the period here reported upon, has been the enforcement of prohibition, a matter of wide-spread operation, oftentimes in out-of-the-way places, chosen because of its quiet, isolated location, in order to divert suspicion and not to attract attention. This duty has caused our uniformed branch of the State Police to be doubly vigilant and to greatly extend the patrolling of roads and highways which would ordinarily not need such close observation. No road today is too obscure or too rough to prevent the operators of bootleg cars to use them. Night and day the movement of these goods is attempted and our limited force is compelled to be alert and on duty to a far greater extent than any other police force in the Commonwealth. Our efforts in connection with prohibition enforcement have met with marked success and a number of cases have been outstanding. The so-called "Brickbottom" raid of last spring at Somerville is, perhaps, the one best known to the public at large because of the wide publicity given to it in the newspapers. It was carefully planned and well executed and there is no doubt but that it had a good effect in the entire vicinity for some time afterward. However, though this particular affair was heralded far and near, it was nothing new in the almost every day operation of our State Police. Day after day the members of this division, both detectives and patrolmen, are busy with the problems confronting them.

From major crimes down through the category of all violations of the law and on down to mere but necessary investigations, this division of the department never fails to prove its value to the community and to the people at large. More and more is it called upon to aid and assist here and there by cities, towns, organizations, business concerns and individuals, all of whom, almost without exception, fail to realize what a big job this small force is doing and doing well.

Our detectives are assigned to and continually working with the district attorneys throughout the Commonwealth in the prosecution of important criminal cases and much credit for the successes in these trials is due to the long service of these skillful, experienced men who, when occasion requires, work night and day until their mission is accomplished. The uniformed force continues to maintain the high reputation which it has earned by meritorious service. Its organization remains as before and its operations are different only in the increased amount of work done. Our schools, through which all members must pass before being placed on regular duty and to which men who have been on regular duty for some time are returned and required to take a "refresher" course in order to keep abreast of the times, is still maintained and we credit to it a large measure of the success attained by these men.

Loyalty, devotion to duty, a knowledge of their business—their own rights and the rights of others, courteous treatment and a helpful attitude toward the law abiding citizen, is a requirement of all our police and frequent letters of commendation received by me tend to prove that our instructions are carried out.

Our State Police boat "Protector" patrolled the coastal waters of the Commonwealth during the season, assisting the Fish and Game Wardens in enforcement of their particular laws and the boat was also engaged in the enforcement of laws with regard to pollution of the waters by oil and of the muffler law on motor boats. During the winter season the boat was fitted out with its ice-breaking equipment for work in the Charles River Basin where it gave good service in keeping the channel open as is required by law, the work being done under supervision of the Metropolitan District Commission.

Another year is before us and no one can tell what it may bring forth, but judging the future by the past, I look forward with equanimity knowing full well that the State Police stand ready and willing to respond to any call which may be made upon them and with all the enthusiasm that has marked their work in times past.

Necrology.

I regret to have to report the death of one of the Commonwealth's most faithful servants.

Franklin G. Wright, who was in command of our State Police boat "Protector," died suddenly at his home, in the evening of October 13, 1925. Captain Wright, who had served in this department since August 1913, was a man of unusual ability and wide experience, whose services were of great value to the state. His service in the armed forces of the state and country both in peace and war, were of the same high standard and performed with enthusiastic, unselfish, patriotic devotion to duty for his country and flag in two wars. The department has lost a valued member; the state a faithful servant and the country a patriotic son who was willing to lay down his life in her service. His untimely death was due in large measure to such service during the World War.

The following is a report of activities of the Division for the year 1925:—

DIVISION OF INSPECTION.

The Division of Inspection, organized under the provisions of Chapter 22 of the General Laws, is composed of two separate branches of activity, building inspection and boiler inspection, there being 18 building inspectors and 25 boiler inspectors. The state is divided into 17 building and 24 boiler inspection districts. An inspector from each branch of the inspection service is allotted a district for the enforcement of the particular work to which he is assigned. One building inspector is designated by the Commissioner as Supervisor of Plans; one boiler inspector for special duty part of which is figuring of plans and inspection of construction of storage tanks, the balance of his time being devoted to special duty as boiler inspector. All the above men are obliged to pass a critical civil service examination before appointment, and serve a six months probationary period before permanent employment. Their duties, besides requiring technical knowledge and experience, demand temperamental disposition to successfully carry out the requirements of the statutes with discretion and good judgment. It is not an easy task to convince the owner or operator of an establishment of the necessity for compliance with the laws, as doing so generally entails an expenditure of money, which is never a pleasant fact to face. The men must so demean themselves that ill feeling will be eliminated and the laws strictly enforced: yet, on the other hand, if an inspector is lenient to the point of indiscretion, and an accident occurs whereby people are killed or injured, or property destroyed, no censure seems too severe to administer, a fact in the life of the inspector rarely given a thought until after a calamity has occurred.

Besides the duties above enumerated, the boiler inspectors are required by law to pass upon the qualifications of engineers and firemen, which duty is exacting and apt to call forth severe criticism. Their fairness in such examinations is best demonstrated by the fact that out of 3112 applicants examined by individual inspectors, only 21, or .007 per cent appealed a right which they have under the engineers and firemen's license law. Of applicants required to be examined by a board of three inspectors from whose decision there is no appeal, I have not had over 10 complaints, and in these cases after a review of all the facts the applicants themselves appeared to be at fault.

The building inspectors are required to pass and approve moving picture machines and the booths in which they are operated in their respective districts, also to examine applicants to operate these machines. Of the 333 applicants examined, 167 were rejected. This large number of rejections is due to the fact that many young men think that this is an attractive and remunerative employment the intricacies of which are easily mastered, but when they present themselves for examination they demonstrate that their knowledge is insufficient to be safely entrusted with this work.

I am pleased to report that this year, notwithstanding the fact that a greater number of inspections have been made by the division, the requirements of law have been accomplished with an apparent minimum of complaint.

Upon request of certain architects, the Commissioner decided upon the appointment of a committee to revise our building regulations. Conferences were held with the Society of Architects and the Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers which resulted in the appointment of five representatives of these two societies who have been given ample opportunity to go entirely over our existing regulations and offer such suggestions for changes as they thought necessary, consistent with the advancement in building industries. This portion of the work has been completed and is now in the hands of the department committee; and it will probably be ready for approval in a short time. Very few changes have been made in the existing regulations, and none of a radical nature, the changes suggested being rather modifications of rules considered somewhat arbitrary.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES.

The Commissioner is also required by the provisions of section 10, chapter 22 of the General Laws, to appoint a permanent Board of Boiler Rules of which the Chief of Inspections is chairman, and four other members representing respectively boiler using interests, boiler manufacturing interests, boiler insurance interests and operating engineers. The Board has held 4 regular meetings during the year, in addition to the 2 semi-annual hearings required by law to consider changes in the steam boiler rules. A considerable portion of the time at the regular meetings has been devoted to a discussion of general changes in the rules to make them conform more nearly to existing requirements throughout the country. The Board has reached a conclusion whereby the matter is practically settled and will be ready for submission to the Council in a short time.

The Board is required to pass upon special designs of boilers when presented in accordance with the provisions of section 4, chapter 146 of the General Laws. Applications for approval of special designs have grown fewer in consequence of changes made, and, with the rules now contemplated, the question of special designs of boilers will probably be largely eliminated.

BOARD OF ELEVATOR REGULATIONS.

No request has been submitted to the Commissioner for any further changes in the elevator and escalator regulations, consequently no new board has been appointed. I feel that the last revision is working satisfactorily to everybody concerned, which probably accounts for the fact that no petitions for further changes have been received.

BUILDING INSPECTION.

The duties of the building inspectors of the division are the enforcement of the provisions of chapter 143 of the General Laws which relate to construction and maintenance, also standardization and ventilation of public buildings where ten or more persons are employed, hotels, lodging and boarding houses, apartment or tenement houses having eight or more rooms or accommodations for 10 or more persons above the second story, besides the enforcement of the moving picture or cinematograph law, so-called. The duties of the inspectors are carried out under regulations issued by the Commissioner, which are available upon application.

BOILER INSPECTION.

The boiler inspectors are empowered to enforce the provisions of chapter 146 of the General Laws relative to the inspection of steam boilers, air tanks and safety valves for ammonia compressors, excepting such as are inspected by authorized inspectors of insurance companies; the enforcement of the license law relative to engineers and firemen and to operators of hoisting machinery where the motive power is mechanical and other than steam.

BUREAU OF SUNDAY CENSORSHIP.

For the fiscal year ending November 30, 1925, and in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 135 of the General Laws, there were submitted to the Commissioner of Public Safety for approval, a total of 14,314 licenses and programs for entertainments to be held upon the Lord's Day. Of this number 14,311 were approved and 3 disapproved. Each application received as accompanied by the required fee of $1, making a total of $14,314, which amount has been paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. It is a subject worthy of comment that those submitting programs for entertainment upon the Lord's Day, and being cognizant of the thorough and conscientious all-be-it reasonable supervision of these matters, have apparently studied to present only such as they honestly thought would meet with our requirements, hence the reason for the very small number of disapprovals. It is testimony to honesty of purpose that reflects credit both upon the applicants and the department.

While the motion picture continues to form the greater part of this particular class of entertainment, and every picture must be seen before approval for Sunday use is given, this feature has been systematized, but has been of such volume and constantly growing as to tax the personnel provided for its administration. The functions apart from the actual viewing of the pictures are largely of a mechanical nature and can be performed by the clerical force of the department.

This is not true of the vaudeville, acts and sketches, etc., as submitted for the approval of the Commissioner. We have the alternative of approving these features with the meagre description as furnished by the licensees and various booking offices, or we can be arbitrary, and disapprove. The latter course would be considered and rightly so, as drastic. We have been earnestly striving for the past five years to devise ways and means to correct this condition, but lack of the necessary trained personnel and the facilities to preview each act, sketch, etc., has rendered this plan impossible of accomplishment. This is a matter, however, to which we are devoting considerable thought, to the end that we may finally solve the problem with the personnel available.

The following statement shows the number of reels and footage of film which have been submitted to the Censor of Sunday Entertainment during the past year.:
 Number of reels of film censored, 5,689. Number of reels approved, 4,474. Number of reels approved after eliminations had been made, 688. Number of reels disapproved, 527. Number of feet of film censored, 5,689,000.

BUREAU OF EXPLOSIVES AND INFLAMMABLES.

The State Police Laboratory becomes more and more a very important adjunct to the activities of this department. Its broadening field and the high quality of those engaged in the work has been the direct means which have enabled us to further the administration of justice in our courts by the presentation of technical and indisputable evidence in many important cases.

Photography as it applies to evidence—particularly in some of the recent murder and arson cases, has been developed to a high degree and work along these lines is of an expanding nature—and the demands upon us for service in photographing scenes of fires, burglaries and homicides have greatly increased. Every county in the state, excepting Suffolk, requested assistance from our laboratory in preparing bullet and firearms evidence in murder trials.

The benefits derived from moving this bureau into the State House and thus in immediate touch with department needs and activities has been decidedly advantageous to us.

BUREAU FOR THE STORAGE OF LIQUIDS.

This Bureau is maintained under the provisions of Sections 54 and 55, Chapter 148 of the General Laws, amended by Chapter 104, Acts of 1921.

The officer detailed in charge of this Bureau has performed these duties in addition to duties of special duty boiler inspector.

There has been 87 new tanks constructed and installed; the plans and specifications of which have been carefully checked and approved, and permits granted. Several plans have been rejected because of showing poor construction; other tanks which were not built according to plans submitted were ordered removed, and other tanks that did conform to the plans submitted were installed.

One hundred forty-four visits were made, including inspection of large vertical tanks under construction.

Several tank manufactories and tank users have requested that a code governing the construction of tanks be added to the present regulations. This code has been drawn up and is now in the hands of the Council for their approval. This code would make the construction of tanks more uniform and eliminate the practice of submitting plans of poor construction on account of competition in price of tank.

STATE BOXING COMMISSION.

As year after year of legalized boxing passes and becomes history, it is assuring to know that this sport which in times past has been so questionable in its promotion and operation and demoralizing in its general affect upon the public has, through the past five years, proved to even the most skeptical, that it can be cleanly and orderly run. Due to the time and care and thought put into the matter of proper control of exhibitions, the commission feels that what once was considered a blot on the fair page of Massachusetts, has been removed.

During the past year one of the largest assemblages of people brought together for any event in this vicinity was an outdoor boxing exhibition. This was an affair conducted for the benefit of veterans and drew a crowd of more than 20,000 people from all walks in life, with a very large percentage of women, many of whom undoubtedly had never before attended an affair of this kind.

Comment, so far as it appeared in the papers and from among those present, was favorable and it was felt that many among those who attended must have gotten a different impression of boxing than had previously existed in their minds.

The conduct of boxing exhibitions under the existing law, rules and regulations continues to be so satisfactory that no further legislation at this time is considered necessary.

Statistics for the period ending November 30, 1925, follows:

The number of professional clubs conducting matches and exhibitions was five more than in the preceding year and the number of exhibitions held was seven less in 1925.

Receipts from license fees were $113.27 less than for the year 1924, whereas receipts from exhibitions were $7,127.41 in excess of those of last year.

Conditions continue so satisfactory under the present laws, rules and regulations that I find no necessity at this time for any change, nor do I recommend any further legislation.

Statistics for the period ending November 30, 1925, are as follows:

PRIVATE DETECTIVE LICENSES.

It is incumbent upon me, under the provisions of the General Laws, chapter 147, sections 22 to 30, to provide for the licensing and regulation of private detectives. During the twelve months ending Nov. 30, 1925, there have been eight original private detective licenses granted and 27 licenses renewed, a total of 35. Of this number 10, licensed as partnerships or corporations, have paid fees of $200 each, and the 25 remaining, licensed as individuals, have paid fees of $100 each, making a total of $4500, which amount had been paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

SALE AND CARRYING OF FIREARMS.

The enactment of chapter 485 of the Acts of 1922, amending chapter 140, sections 121 to 131, of the General Laws relative to the sale and carrying of firearms, imposed upon this Department the supervision of the records of sales made and licenses issued in accordance with the provisions of the act.

LEGISLATION RECOMMENDED.Relative to Acquiring Land in Connection with the Location of Stations for Housing State Police.

In view of the fact that the location of stations of the State Police Patrol are permanently fixed and deeming it for the best interests of the Commonwealth that it, as represented by these officers of the law, be so situated and operate independently of any local influence, and further as a measure of ultimate economy when compared with necessary rentals, I recommend that legislation be enacted authorizing the acquisition of such property.

Relative to the Disposition of Property Recovered by State Police or Otherwise Committed to the Charge of the Commissioner of Public Safety.

Legislation governing the disposition of property recovered by the State Police, the ownership of which remains unknown, is entirely lacking and as there is now an accumulation of such property, and as it will undoubtedly accumulate in the future, it is necessary that legislation be enacted to cover such disposition.

Relative to Presenting False Proof of Loss in Support of a Claim upon a Policy of Insurance.

Legislation tending to improve loss adjustment practices in the settlement of insurance claims arising from fires would be a distinct aid to the work of this department in the suppression of incendiarism.

In the course of the investigations and prosecutions made by the inspectors of the Division of Fire Prevention, facts have been developed which indicate a need of improvement in this direction.

In order to provide means of eliminating the practice of padding insurance claims resulting from fire losses, and of detecting and punishing those who make or offer false or fraudulent documents in support of fraudulent claims, I recommend the enactment of a law relative to presenting a false proof of loss in support of a claim upon a policy of insurance.

Relative to Time Limit for Adjusting and Paying Fire Losses.

To insure adequate time in which to scrutinize the facts and circumstances of all fires before final adjustment of the insurance loss is made, I recommend the enactment of legislation relative to a time limit for adjusting and paying fire losses. A law of this character has been in operation in several states of the nation for some time and has been found to be of great practical value.

IN GENERAL.

This large department composed of diversified interests is one wherein progress must keep abreast of the times however swift the pace. And in these days of great growth and large undertakings our efforts are correspondingly increased year by year.

Buildings, their heating plants and safety devices; the great garage expansion, the enormous growth of moving picture theatres, the operation of their machines, the ever-increasing traffic problem; the investigation of fires and fire prevention, all these and many lesser duties are more than sufficient to utilize all of the time and men at our disposal. And were it not for the earnest efforts of each and every member of the department, willing to rise to the calls of emergencies, it would be difficult indeed to produce the results shown in this report. Conditions and circumstances are constantly arising which cause us to go faster and farther than the preceding year, and while we endeavor to do all that comes to our hands to do in the operation of so important a department, the operation of which so nearly concerns every person in the state, we are sometimes pushed to the limit to do this great work of public safety with the means placed at our disposal. The work of the department for the year has been gratifying and this result is due to the loyal workers and willing efforts of our entire force to whom I am again glad to tender my thanks and appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,

A. F. FOOTE.

DIVISION OF STATE POLICE.

The Division of State Police is, perhaps, the one division of this department whose members are seen and known by the public at large, more than either of the other divisions.

The reason for this is because the police come more intimately in touch with the great outdoor public and because the majority of the State Police are uniformed. The detective force, a small body, composed of officers selected for their ability and experience, was the nucleus of the larger force which exists today and was, and still is, of great value in the development and training of the younger members who constitute the uniformed branch.

The detectives who are assigned to the several district attorneys throughout the Commonwealth in the prosecution of criminal cases are always fully occupied and oftentimes busily engaged both day and night. Theirs are the more important of the criminal cases.

The uniformed men, as they ride their patrols from town to town, have become more familiar to the public. Originally a small band of but fifty men—now expanded to one hundred and forty—have more than fulfilled our expectations in the great and ever-increasing duties which are particularly theirs. Millions of miles are covered by them in the course of a year and rain or shine, snow or sleet or cold, does not prevent the continuance of their service.

One must needs admire the hardiness of these men who, because of limited numbers, are compelled to work long hours each day in order to cover their prescribed duties, and were it not for a fine esprit, a liking for the life and the work, together with training and discipline which has been acquired, the Commonwealth would be without this much admired and highly respected force for law and order.

The enforcement of prohibition has increased the labors of the uniformed force many fold. The darker the night, the more liability for attempts to move liquor over the roads and the more difficult and dangerous its prevention. Nevertheless, we have accomplished marked success and made rapid strides in the suppression of this illicit business. Aside from the efforts to prevent transportation, we have seized and destroyed many stills of varying capacity—from very large down to small ones. Our coast line, which is very extensive and offers tempting opportunity for the landing of liquors by boat, must always be watched and our efforts there are frequently well rewarded. Selling and exposing for sale is a constant source of trouble and is confined to no particular part of the state. It is attempted in city, town and by the wayside and no idle moments are permitted our men in searching for and locating the offenders who are strenuously prosecuted in court. It is easy to see that in enforcing all the laws incumbent upon our small force, there is but little, if any, time for leisure.

Our automobile squad, so called, continues to render valuable service in the recovery of stolen cars, the value in money amounting each year to large figures. Automobile violations on the road mount up into the thousands, and yet are but an incident in the year's work. Together with the foregoing is the investigation of fires, the visits to camps and cottages, the inspection of garages, filling stations and stores, the guarding of payrolls, visiting places of amusement and, finally, assisting persons in distress or need. It may be of interest to know something of the results of our work in a financial way as compared with the cost of maintaining the State Police.

Total amount of salaries and expenses for the year, $442,167.03.

During the same period the value of property recovered was $186,512.75. Fines and costs paid were $136,057.80. Sale of seized alcohol was $18,984.75, or a grand total of $341,555.30, which, subtracted from the total of salaries and expenses, leaves but $100,611.73.

Much of our work is, of course, non-productive in a financial way and covers hundreds of investigations in the course of a year, many of which are for the several departments of the Commonwealth. During the year there were 16 arrests for murder, 4 of whom were convicted, 7 discharged and 5 cases pending. Ceremonies, escorting and care of notable visitors to the state; attendance at fairs and exhibitions; supervising traffic more or less throughout the state at all times and particularly when some event calls forth great congestion upon the highways. These are routine matters, non-productive so far as property or cash is concerned, but of vital importance as to safety of life and of property. The work of the State Police is of ever increasing volume, but the result of its activities in arrests, convictions, fines and costs and value of recovered property as compared with the limited number of the present force, show the possibilities of a more adequate force to combat the problems which confront us in increasing numbers.

The State Police boat "Protector" took up the work of ice breaking in the Charles River Basin in mid-December of 1925, and continued in this duty until March 26, rather a longer period than usual. This is strenuous work, necessitating continuous day and night duty at times, all depending upon the severity of the weather. The colder the weather the more our activity and the harder the work. Battling with the ice and the continued shock of blows to break it and the very frequent reversal of the engine, affected its mechanism to such an extent that it became necessary to send it to the factory for complete overhauling and adjustment. This prevented use of the boat until about July first, when she was again placed in commission. During the interim we used our launch in the patrol of nearby waters. Upon resumption of duty with the "Protector," the regular patrol of our long coast line was taken up and covered from Newburyport on the north and extended to Haverhill, Essex, Annisquam, Gloucester, Salem Willows, Marblehead, Lynn, Boston, Scituate, Plymouth, Provincetown, Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard. Aiding the Fish and Game Wardens is always quite a part of our season's work, and during the summer months the enforcement of the muffler law as it affects motor boat operation is quite extensive. Pollution of our coastal waters, by the discharge therein of oil, is a matter requiring considerable attention. We have checked up on tank steamers and the shore plants of oil companies with fair success, generally receiving cooperation and willingness to remedy the trouble. During the season 11 steamers and 80 small vessels were boarded, and 19 motor boats warned regarding their mufflers. There were 12 convictions for violations of fish and game laws, 13 visits to shore plants, and one dead body recovered.

The following is a report of activities of the Divisions for the year 1926:—

DIVISION OF INSPECTION.

The Division of Inspection consists of a Board of Boiler Rules, appointed by the Commissioner for three year terms, for the purpose of formulating rules for the construction of steam boilers and air tanks, and interpreting the rules for the department; a Board of Elevator Regulations appointed by the Commissioner upon application for changes in the regulations relating to elevators and escalators; 26 boiler inspectors and 20 building inspectors. One boiler inspector is assigned to the inspection of storage tanks, and one is assigned to office and special duty. Of the building inspectors, one is assigned by the Commissioner, under the statute, as supervisor of plans, and two are assigned to the inspection of moving pictures for Sunday entertainments and special films. This leaves in the field for active inspection work, 24 boiler and 17 building inspectors. The inspectors are assigned to separate districts throughout the Commonwealth for the enforcement of the law within the territory so assigned. Building and boiler inspectors are appointed by the Commissioner upon certification from the civil service list.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES.

The Chief of Inspections, by statute, acts as Chairman of the Board of Boiler Rules. This Board has held eight meetings during the year, in addition to the two semi-annual hearings required by law for the consideration of petitions for changes in the steam boiler rules. The Board is required by law to pass upon boilers of special design such as are not covered by the rules. A considerable portion of the time of the Board at each meeting has been devoted to the consideration of these special type boilers, due to the practice of using waste heat, partially used for other purposes, for the generation of steam in so called waste heat boilers.

There has been a demand for years for the enactment by the Board of a separate code for low pressure steel heating boilers. At the present time these rules are in a fair way of adoption and presentation to the Governor and Council for approval, and I feel that they will fill a long felt want in the community.

BOARD OF ELEVATOR REGULATIONS.

No request has been received by the Commissioner for the appointment of a Board of Elevator Regulations during the past two years, which I think speaks well for the fairness of the last set of regulations enacted, covering elevators and escalators. The fact that few if any complaints have been registered indicates that these regulations are working satisfactorily.

BUILDING REGULATIONS.

The Commissioner is empowered by law to issue rules for the uniform enforcement of chapter 143 of the General Laws by the building inspectors. These regulations are printed and available in the department, and relate to the many diversified conditions to which the law applies.

Upon request of certain interested parties, a committee, consisting of members of the Boston Society of Architects, Heating and Ventilating Engineers and Electrical Engineers, has gone completely through these regulations. The regulations have been revised, modified and put in form for printing, and they will soon be ready for distribution.

In the event of dispute or disagreement between the inspectors and the citizens affected, appeals are continually made to the director of this division whose duty it then becomes to issue an interpretation of the rule. Where such cases have arisen, we have been able to settle these difficulties without friction and without the necessity of appealing to the courts.

BUILDING INSPECTION.

The duties of the Building Inspectors, as specified in chapter 143 of the General Laws, consists of the inspection of public buildings as defined therein, also hotels, lodging and tenement houses having a capacity of eight rooms above the second story, the enforcement of the elevator regulations in cities and towns not having building inspection departments, also the enforcement of the law relative to the operation of the cinematograph and the examination of applicants for licenses as operators of the same. The men appointed as Building Inspectors are generally from among those having a technical or practical experience in some of the building activities; still, regardless of this experience, the statutes are such and the duties so diversified, that it requires continual study and application upon the part of the inspectors, after entering the department, to properly perform their duties and keep abreast of the improvements constantly taking place in the different branches of these trades.

BOILER INSPECTION.

The Boiler Inspectors enforce the provisions of chapter 146 of the General Laws, which includes the inspection of steam boilers and air tanks, their construction and operation; the enforcement of the law in regard to the installation of safety valves on ammonia compressors; the examination of applicants for licenses as engineers or firemen or for the operation of hoisting machinery; the examination of applicants for certificates of competency as inspectors for this Commonwealth in the employment of authorized insurance companies. The boiler inspectors, besides having an examination by the Civil Service before appointment, must also hold licenses as first class engineers from this department, which, by standards available, will justly qualify them in training and experience to perform the duties required under the statute.

Criticism is occasionally heard in regard to examinations, yet of the number examined of men who have a right to appeal by law, less than one-tenth of one per cent of those rejected have taken advantage of this right. This surely indicates a fairness in the examinations of applicants for licenses.

Service of Boiler Inspectors.

The following insurance companies are authorized to inspect steam boilers in the Commonwealth:

Aetna Casualty and Surety Company. American Employers' Insurance Company. American Re-Insurance Company. Columbia Casualty Company. Continental Casualty Company. Eagle Indemnity Company. The Employers'

Maryland Casualty Company. Massachusetts Bonding and Insurance Company. Mutual Boiler Insurance Company of Boston. National Union Indemnity Company. New Jersey Fidelity and Plate Glass Insurance Company. New York Indemnity Company. The Ocean Accident and Guarantee Corporation, Limited. Royal Indemnity Company. Travelers Indemnity Company.

There have been 25,247 reports of steam boiler inspections and 779 reports of air tank inspections made by insurance companies, a total of 26,026 insurance company reports.

The twenty-six authorized insurance companies named above have in their employ 155 inspectors of steam boilers and air tanks who hold certificates of competency issued by this Department. Thirty-three applicants for such certificates were examined during the year, nine of whom were granted certificates of competency as inspectors of steam boilers for this Commonwealth, while twenty-four failed in the examination.

The following tabulation shows the number of inspections by the Division of Boiler Inspection during the past five years:

DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION.

The Division of Fire Prevention functions in accordance with the provisions of chapter 148 of the General Laws. For the purpose of efficient execution of the duties required by the law pertaining to fires and their prevention, the efforts of the division are directed in two main channels, namely, Fire Investigation and Fire Prevention. This work comprehends a variety of operations having for their object results which are difficult of achievement under the most favorable conditions. The work of the division is performed under the direction of the State Fire Marshal, who, in addition to supervising activities in this direction throughout the State, is also charged with the duties and vested with the powers of Fire Prevention Commissioner within the metropolitan district.

The law requires that all fires in the city of Boston and all incendiary fires or fires of unknown or suspicious origin occurring throughout the State shall be investigated. The inquiry and observation necessary to accomplish results in this direction is made by officers of the Division of State Police detailed in the Division of Fire Prevention for the purpose. They are assigned to allotted districts and perform their duties under the direction of a Chief Fire Inspector who acts as assistant to the Fire Marshal. The assistant to the Marshal is also empowered to administer oaths and take testimony at fire inquests as provided by law. In addition to the investigation of the causes of fires these officers assist in the enforcement of the laws in general with particular regard to securing observance of the provisions of chapter 148 of the General Laws and the rules and regulations of the Department of Public Safety pertaining to garages, explosives, fireworks and volatile inflammable liquids and compounds.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS. (Bureau of Sunday Censorship.)

In accordance with the provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws, and for the year ending November 30, 1926, there were submitted for the approval of the commissioner a total of 15,611 licenses and programs for entertainments to be held upon the Lord's Day. Of this number, 15,569 were approved and 42 disapproved. Chapter 326 of the acts of 1926, approved May 8, 1926, provided for a fee of $2.00 for each license; this act became effective on August 8, 1926, so that up to August 8, each license and program was accompanied by the fee of $1.00, after that time a fee of $2.00, which made a total of $20,714 paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

Our activities with relation to the motion picture have differed but little from the previous year. The two assistants detailed to this group of the department have their time fully occupied in reviewing all pictures to be exhibited on the Lord's Day. When it is considered that it has become the custom to open the run of all new pictures on Sunday, it will be readily seen that this group reviews and passes upon about all of the pictures that are exhibited in the Commonwealth.

From time to time exceptions are taken to the action of the reviewers by the exchanges submitting pictures. It then becomes necessary for the supervisor to allow an appeal and to personally review the picture in question. The decision of the supervisor is invariably final, although a further appeal may be taken to the commissioner. This is never done. There is a marked absence of friction between the department, the exchanges and the exhibitors; a spirit of cooperation has been fostered and developed which is very satisfactory and greatly to the advantage of all concerned.

It has been the aim and endeavor of this group, also, to work in harmony with the various civic and welfare bodies throughout the State. This has apparently met with success, as but one complaint was received during the year as to the moral tone of a picture.

The group engaged in the performance of the duties outlined above also inspect and license all non-inflammable film, portable projectors and the operators for the same.

In addition to the above group, a certain number of investigators are engaged each Sunday visiting the various places of amusement throughout the Commonwealth. This includes theatres, summer parks, so called, and all places of amusement during the months from May to the middle of October. After this time our activities are concerned with theatres exclusively.

The supervisor also is engaged not only in investigating the conduct of Lord's Day entertainments, but in inspecting certain vaudeville acts which it is desired to exhibit on Sunday and of which there is some question as to the suitability for Sunday use. This is one of the most difficult conditions with which we are confronted, as it is physically impossible to review each and every theatrical or vaudeville act prior to the exhibition on Sunday. In this connection it is necessary to visit various theatres throughout the State during the week to review a certain act of which there may be some question or to investigate a complaint.

During the past two years there has been developed a fine spirit of cooperation between the managers and this department. A majority of the managers submit to the supervisor a complete report of what has taken place in their theatres on the previous Sunday; this has been of great value in determining the class of exhibition that we may permit. This system is to undergo further development during the coming year with the expectation of one hundred per cent cooperation from the theatrical interests.

The following statement indicates the number of reels and footage of film which have been submitted to this department during the past year:

Number of reels of film reviewed	6,884
Number of reels approved	5,675
Number of reels approved with eliminations	817
Number of reels disapproved	392
Footage of film reviewed	688,400

BUREAU OF EXPLOSIVES AND INFLAMMABLES.

The State Police Laboratory continues to function with constantly increasing importance in its aid, not only to this department, but in a very wide field of police activity, in the development and presentation of evidence which could be procured in no other way. Photography has become a highly important feature in the matter of criminal evidence, and the increased demands for assistance in this line by the several divisions and bureaus of the department during the year were very noticeable. Much time has been consumed in visiting scenes of crime, particularly breaking and entering, where finger print evidence was obtained.

Another growing activity is the recording by photography of scenes incident to suspicious fires. The presentation of this evidence in pictorial form is necessary.

Bullet and firearms evidence engaged attention throughout the year, this kind of evidence being present in a majority of homicide cases. Its delicate nature and relative importance requires very special preparation. The activities of the State Police Laboratory have now reached a stage where, because of its growth and its vital importance, more room and more assistance is imperative.

BUREAU FOR THE STORAGE OF LIQUIDS.

This Bureau is maintained under the provisions of Chapter 104, Acts of 1921.

The officer in charge of this Bureau has performed these duties in addition to duties of special duty boiler inspector.

New regulations regarding construction, use and maintenance of tanks or containers were approved in Council, December 23, 1925, and applied to tanks constructed after March 1, 1926. These regulations have proved very satisfactory, as the builders of tanks have now a better understanding of the requirements of this department, and time and expense have been saved in not having to return plans for correction as heretofore. It also has resulted in better construction of tanks, eliminating the inferior, and in some cases dangerous, construction because of cheapness.

There have been 134 new tanks constructed and installed, the plans and specifications of which have been checked and approved, and permits granted for same. This number shows an increase of 47 more than in 1925. The tendency was for larger storage, which meant larger tanks, than last year, and in most cases it is found that both tank users and tank builders are anxious to conform with the regulations.

STATE BOXING COMMISSION.

The close of another year of boxing under the laws provided to govern this particular sport has shown that wisdom was displayed far beyond our expectations by those responsible for the authorship and passage of the Act legalizing boxing.

As is to be expected with every undertaking of magnitude and importance and particularly something new and untried, actual experience counts for much as to the value or lack of the same. The fact that more than six years of boxing control in Massachusetts has failed to show the necessity for a single change in the original Act, as passed, is proof of how well thought out and how well done it was.

No single unpleasant incident of major importance has arisen during the year, notwithstanding the fact that several occasions calling for firm and unchangeable opinions and decisions took place. It will be ever thus in this particular game, and no abatement is permitted of the careful watching of every detail connected with it, together with a knowledge of the men actively interested and participating in it.

Should there be any relaxing in the oversight, the pre-eminent position held by this commission in the boxing world would surely be forfeited and conditions changed—but not for the good of the people nor the sport. The opinions and decisions of this commission are highly respected by the well-meaning, law-abiding devotees of boxing, not only within our own confines, but throughout the country at large, the Dominion of Canada and even in far away Australia and New Zealand. Again it is a matter of considerable satisfaction to me to say that no further legislation at this time is necessary or desirable.

Statistics for the period ending November 30, 1926, follow: The number of professional clubs conducting matches and exhibitions was three less than in the preceding year and the number of exhibitions held was twenty-three less than in 1925. Receipts from license fees were $583.77 less than for the year 1925, and receipts from exhibitions were $6,073.96 less for the same period.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE LICENSES.

Chapter 147 of the General Laws, sections 22 to 30, provides for the licensing and regulation of private detectives.

During the twelve months ending November 30, 1926, there have been granted 10 original private detective licenses and 32 renewed, a total of 42.

Of this number, 12, licensed as partnerships or corporations, have paid fees of $200 each, and the remaining 30, licensed as individuals, have paid fees of $100 each, making a total of $5,400, which amount has been paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

SALE AND CARRYING OF FIREARMS.

The enactment of chapter 485 of the Acts of 1922, amending Chapter 140, sections 121 to 131, of the General Laws, relative to the sale and carrying of firearms, imposed upon this Department the supervision of the records of sales made and licenses issued in accordance with the provisions of the act.

During the year commencing December 1, 1925, and ending November 30, 1926, the following records were received and recorded in the files of this department:

Number of licenses issued to dealers, 59; revoked, none.

Number of sales reported by dealers, 2,884.

Number of licenses issued for the carrying of firearms, 15,681; revoked, 13.

The following is the number of licenses to carry firearms issued by each city and town;

I regret to report the death of two members of the department during the year.

Boiler Inspector Franklin L. Forbush began his work for the Commonwealth, September 4, 1907, and died September 20, 1926. He, too, had spent nearly twenty years in the service of the Commonwealth. Of both these men it can be said, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

IN GENERAL.

We feel that this has been a year of accomplishment and progress even though carried through at high speed and constant effort.

As is to be expected in the natural growth of population, of industry, machinery, equipment, buildings and motor traffic, the duties of our several divisions are multiplied or, at least, greatly increased. This growth in population brings in its wake the various perplexities incident to such expansion. Every division is affected. Crime, unfortunately, appears to be more or less governed by the law of averages just as is the case with motor accidents, fire hazards, etc., and so we have to extend our efforts to keep pace with the times. Time and again have we been called upon to care for unexpected happenings and never have our members failed to respond. Esprit de corps is a living thing in this department. Were it not so we could hardly account for the work done and the satisfactory results attained. For this spirit of willing helpfulness I continue to be indebted to the members of the entire force, to whom my appreciation and thanks are due.

Respectfully submitted,

A. F. FOOTE, Commissioner.

STATE POLICE

The year 1927 has been one of the most notable in the annals of the State Police of Massachusetts. This was due to activity in the cases of Sacco and Vanzetti. His Excellency Governor Fuller was appealed to by many persons and organizations in behalf of these men. Bodies were organized, great contributions of funds were solicited, the response to which was sufficiently liberal as to permit of lavish publicity. Full page advertisements were placed in numerous papers, printed matter of various kinds was put out and distributed, and there was, apparently, no lack of funds for any purpose in promoting propaganda.

An additional increment to the State Police became available at this opportune time after having been schooled and prepared for duty.

At the request of Boston police authorities, we took an active and effective part in handling the situation, which developed from this case. Only once did a threat of riot or disturbance arise and this was immediately put down by the prompt and decisive action and efforts of the State and Boston police.

Our detectives have solved several important murder cases, some of which have been concluded while others are pending at this time. Much time and effort was put forth in bringing about the indictment and trial of a number of people implicated in the "cattle fraud" cases so-called. A number of these cases have been disposed of with heavy fines and imprisonment. Others are still pending. The development of these cases exposed persons who had been systematically stealing from both the State and Federal governments. In important cases of this kind, the detectives and members of the uniformed force co-operate most satisfactorily with splendid results.

In the enforcement of prohibition and liquor law violation, we have taken a very active part. A large number of successful raids have been conducted in every section of the State.

Long vigils through many nights in places far removed from usual routes and habitations are oftentimes necessary in order to get information and evidence. While this method is necessary, it is frequently accompanied by extreme danger. Many seizures of large and completely installed operating stills were made during the year, the cost of some of them amounting to thousands of dollars. Raids on places keeping and exposing and selling liquor were numerous and nearly all were successful. One of the outstanding and particularly pleasing accomplishments of the year was the elimination of one of the largest rum running and selling rings in the State. With apparently unlimited resources, an elaborate equipment which included a fleet of high-powered automobiles and trucks, airplanes and a ship of considerable size and speed, and employing some thirty men, a man, a notorious and long-time violator of the law, was finally caught in the meshes made and laid for him.

During the year there was organized a traffic division of the uniformed state police and a concerted effort was made in the enforcement of the automobile laws on the road. Heretofore automobile law enforcement has been incidental to our police work in general, whereas we now have a distinct operating unit devoted to traffic only.

By the end of another year, with a still larger number of our men assigned to and covering the rapidly increasing traffic on our highways, we expect to more completely regulate and control the same to the end that greater safety may be afforded all the people. The "auto-squad," so-called, operating in the Detective Bureau, is engaged chiefly in the recovery of stolen automobiles, in which work we have been very successful.

This squad in connection with similar activity by the uniformed state police throughout the State were responsible for the recovery during the year, of two hundred and thirty-eight automobiles with a value of $146,936.00. Our men on patrol in every part of the State are constantly on the alert for lost or stolen automobiles and the great area covered by them makes possible the effective results stated above.

The availability of the state police for duty in emergencies was satisfactorily demonstrated in the situation arising from the destructive floods in western Massachusetts early in the year. The efficient service rendered by this department to the various communities affected by the floods served to illustrate the advantage of a highly trained, mobile force available for duty at any point at a moment's notice.

During the coming year the force will be increased by thirty men as authorized by the last legislature and thus bring the uniformed branch up to a total of two hundred. This will, of course, enable us to increase our activities and to respond to the increasing demands made upon us for service.

Another feature undertaken this year, for the first time, was the detailing of a State Police officer to give short, effective talks on safety to the pupils in a number of the schools in the western part of the State. This was undertaken at the same time and along the lines of the work of the governor's committee on street and highway safety. Due to the many accidents causing death or injury to so many children, it is my intention to continue and to extend these talks to include the schools of the entire State, for we find that the effect upon school children of such talks by a State Policeman in uniform appears to make a more lasting impression than any other way of presenting this important subject to young and receptive minds.

Although happening in the regular routine of the day's work, an example or two of actual occurrences may be of interest to show what a competent arm of the law stands ready to do at a moment's notice, as follows: One evening during last winter, at one of our sub-stations, a telephone call was received at 7.15, giving information that a murder had been committed on an outlying farm. To investigate and to get particulars, our men went at once to the scene. A clew was found which led to Rhode Island. Immediate use of the telephone followed by a rapid trip to Pawtucket, resulted in the arrest of the murderer, his confession of guilt and imprisonment for trial and the return of our men to their station for further duty in two hours and twenty minutes.

One more instance will suffice to illustrate rapidity of movement, co-ordinated action and quick results: A telephone call at 1.30 o'clock in the morning reported hearing screams of women. The station receiving the message called up our other surrounding stations, our men were sent out to form a net covering all roads leading to Worcester, with the result that in less than two hours the three men involved, together with the two girl victims were brought in, the men identified and held for trial. These cases simply show the readiness and the availability of this force for emergencies.

It is service like the above that gives to the people of our rural population a feeling of real security and emphasizes the rare combination of personnel constituting this well balanced force.

The State Police boat "Protector" began the work of ice-breaking in the Charles River Basin somewhat earlier than usual, beginning December 5, 1926, and continuing through to March 11, 1927. It was a strenuous season—as difficult as any we have experienced since undertaking this work and the boat was accordingly damaged more than usual in buffeting its way through the ice. In the regular open season of patrolling the coast during the year, the boat covered 2672¾ miles. In the early spring the outlying islands whereon are summer cottages were covered and the same were again visited in the fall after being closed for the winter. The enforcement of the muffler law for motor boats engaged the boat and crew for a considerable time and this will become more of a problem each year because of the demand by motorboat enthusiasts for higher speed and more powerful motors. Motorboats boarded and inspected numbered 213. Of these four were warned for lights and twenty-six for mufflers. Excellent co-operation from boat owners was had, when asked to remedy defects.

Pollution of waters by oil continues to be a matter consuming much time and attention and will grow in volume as time goes on. Plants inspected this year numbered 159 and 19 tank steamers were boarded. Close check is kept of this matter because of the rapidly increasing use of oil both afloat and ashore, but we are glad to record quite satisfactory co-operation in the problems which arise from time to time. Assistance was rendered the fish and game wardens whenever possible and in this service there were four convictions for violations of the fish and game laws. On April 18, there were taken aboard the boat 5004 short lobsters, the largest single load which were returned to the shore waters from Thatcher's Island to Eastern Point. Incidental to our patrol duty with the boat comes occasional opportunity to perform helpful and humane acts and so it was that, on June 5 last, the crew of the "Protector" accomplished a very creditable piece of work in saving the lives of seven persons when their boat capsized at Salem Willows during a severe electrical storm. On another occasion a valuable dog, which had lost its sense of direction, was found nearly exhausted from its long swim in Marblehead Harbor, was rescued and returned to its owner. At another time a fire was discovered burning briskly on Battery Wharf. Men were promptly landed and the fire extinguished.

The following is a report of activities of the Division for the year 1927:

DIVISION OF INSPECTION

The duties of the Division of Inspection consist of the enforcement of Chapter 143 of the General Laws, which relates to the inspection of buildings, elevators and moving picture machines, and the enforcement of regulations governing the same; also the examination and licensing of operators of elevators and moving picture machines.

Under authority of the statute, the Commissioner issues regulations for the uniform enforcement of the law relating to inspection of buildings, and the inspection and operation of motion pictures; and appoints a Board of Elevator Regulations if so requested.

The Division also enforces the provisions of Chapter 146 of the General Laws, which relates to steam boiler and air tank inspection, the licensing of engineers and firemen and of operators of hoisting machinery. The inspection of boilers and air tanks is conducted under rules formulated by the Board of Boiler Rules constituted in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 22 of the General Laws.

There is nothing spectacular connected with the performance of the duties of either of these classes of officers. The work includes a daily grind of inspection and observation in performance of the particular duties required by law. The officers are seldom publicly commended for faithful work, but they are readily criticised for any mishap which occurs, regardless of whether or not the cause was subject to their control. The building inspector must supervise the construction of new buildings, paying particular attention to the installation of proper egresses, and applying the most modern methods of construction with a view to retarding the spread of fire.

The boiler inspectors, in the performance of their duties, are called upon to keep in touch with modern conditions of steam power and heating problems. This is no small task, considering the rapid strides which are taking place in this science, and the use of modern fuels and systems for both power and heating. The fairness of our examinations is demonstrated by the fact that out of the total number of 2,030 applicants rejected upon their primary examinations, who have a right of appeal under the law, only 25 appealed. The decision of the individual inspector was sustained in 18 cases, but overruled in the remaining 7.

Thirty applicants have been examined for certificates of competency as inspectors of steam boilers for this Commonwealth, in the employ of authorized insurance companies. Of this number 8 have been granted such certificates, and 22 refused. There have been no appeals in these cases during the year.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES

The Board of Boiler Rules has held 13 regular meetings during the past year, in addition to the two semi-annual hearings required by section 3 of Chapter 146 of the General Laws for the consideration of petitions for changes in the steam boiler rules. A large number of applications for permission to construct special type boilers has been passed upon by the Board, the consideration of such applications, as a general rule, taking up the entire time of the Board at the specified meeting.

The Board is at work on proposed changes in the steam boiler rules, the intention being to formulate rules for low pressure heating boilers, and to make certain changes in the high pressure steam boiler rules in order to keep them in line with the rapid changes made in the art of boiler construction and operation.

BOARD OF ELEVATOR REGULATIONS

No meetings have been held concerning changes in the regulations for elevators, as the statute requires a request for the same, and no such request has been received during the year.

COMMITTEE ON BUILDING REGULATIONS

By appointment of the Commissioner, a Committee of representative architects, heating engineers and others interested in the subject of building construction held weekly meetings covering a period of more than a year and a half. A new set of building regulations has been formulated, and is now under consideration by the Commissioner.

DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION.

The activities of this division are directed to fire prevention and to the suppression of arson and incendiaries. For these purposes the work of the division is directed in two main channels, namely, fire investigation and fire prevention. This work is performed in accordance with General Laws, Chapter 148, under the supervision of the State Fire Marshal. In addition to supervising the work of the division throughout the state, the Fire Marshal is also charged with the duties and vested with the powers of Fire Prevention Commissioner within the Metropolitan District.

The law requires that all fires in the city of Boston and all incendiary fires or fires of unknown or suspicious origin occurring throughout the State shall be investigated. The inquiry and observation necessary to accomplish results in this direction is made by officers of the Division of State Police detailed in the Division of Fire Prevention for the purpose. They are assigned to allotted districts and perform their duties under the direction of a Chief Fire Inspector who acts as assistant to the Fire Marshal. The assistant to the Marshal is also empowered to administer oaths and take testimony at fire inquests as provided by law.

The scope of the duties performed by the inspectors in this division includes the investigation of fires and prosecution of offences arising from the malicious burning of property; the inspection of fire hazards; inspection of the storage and use of explosives, fireworks, volatile oils and inflammable liquids and compounds; and general enforcement of fire prevention laws and regulations. Although the duties performed by the inspectors of the division comprehend a variety of operations having for their object results which are difficult of achievement under the most favorable conditions, notable success has been attained particularly in the suppression of arson and incendiarism.

The personnel of the division includes a Fire Prevention Engineer who acts in an advisory capacity in matters involving technical knowledge of fire prevention, fire protection and safety engineering. The engineer is also available for the inspection of premises where inflammable, explosive, or other materials dangerous to the public safety are stored, manufactured or used, and examines for approval plans, devices, appliances and equipment which have relation to fire prevention or fire protection.

The general enforcement of fire prevention laws has resulted, during the year covered by this report, in the remedying of many existing hazardous conditions by instruction, co-operation with and assistance to the various boards and officers and other local authorities acting under authority delegated by the State Fire Marshal.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS.

(Bureau of Sunday Censorship.)

One member of the State Police is detailed to this sub-division of the department as censor and is assisted in this work by a member of the Division of Inspections. In addition these men supervise the operation of portable projectors and the use of cellulose acetate film. These officers function under the supervision and instruction of the Supervisor of Lord's Day Entertainments who is a member of the Division of Inspections detailed to the Division of State Police for this purpose and who has full charge of all entertainments held upon the Lord's Day.

In addition there are several investigators who visit the various places of amusement throughout the State each Sunday, submitting a detailed report each Monday to the Supervisor as to the conduct of the entertainments given. Certain investigators serve as interpreters whose duty is solely to visit, take down in shorthand and submit a report upon dramatic sketches and all entertainments given in a foreign language.

The Supervisor also maintains personal contact with the conduct of amusements on the Lord's Day and by visits of inspection checks upon the acts and pictures used in such entertainments. He also investigates complaints by investigators, or those from other sources, concerning acts or pictures which are deemed unsuitable for Sunday exhibition.

During the period from May to October the Supervisor and one investigator are engaged in visiting the various summer parks, so-called, on Sunday. As a result of our vigilance this branch of Sunday entertainment has shown a decided improvement over other years as borne out by the fact that it has not been necessary to revoke, suspend or disapprove any license by reason of the violation of the law and regulations governing this class of entertainment. The matter of games of chance, which have been hard to eliminate, is a notable example, as but one such violation occurred during the entire season. The proprietor was obliged to cease operations and leave the State.

During the winter months the matter of investigation is confined entirely to the theatre and other places of amusement, together with the actual work incidental to the censorship of motion pictures which continue to gain in volume. At the present time there are some thirty-five exchanges or distributors who submit their pictures each week on a schedule allowing each a proportionate time. These pictures are run off in the projection room which is Room 1-A, State House, each exchange providing its own operator.

The room and equipment provided for the above-named activities is entirely inadequate. Recommendations along this line have been submitted in a previous report.

The following statistics are hereby submitted:

In accordance with the provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws, Chapter 326 of the Acts of 1926, and for the year ending November 30, 1927, there were submitted for the approval of the commissioner a total of 16,761 licenses and programs for Lord's Day entertainments. Of this number 14 were disapproved as follows:

BUREAU OF EXPLOSIVES AND INFLAMMABLES.

The State Police Laboratory occupying a central position in the department has further developed in importance.

Assistance of great value has been rendered to the several divisions of the department, especially to our detectives and fire inspectors. The several district attorneys throughout the Commonwealth have requested and received service in the preparation of evidence through photography, finger printing, bullets and firearms.

Service has been extended to any community upon request and many police and fire departments were given assistance.

During the past few years deep study of the vitally important development of indisputable evidence by scientific means has been the aim of this bureau, and our advancement in this work has been gratifyingly successful. This laboratory will become even more valuable as we progress with the work—and have further means and better facilities to handle the increasing demands made upon it.

Below is given the statistics of the Bureau.

BUREAU FOR THE STORAGE OF LIQUIDS.

This Bureau is maintained under the provisions of Chapter 104, Acts of 1921.

The officer in charge of this Bureau has performed these duties in addition to the duties of special duty boiler inspector and has also worked in conjunction with the Fire Marshal regarding the discharge of crude petroleum on the waters of the Commonwealth.

Several plans for construction of tanks which were submitted for approval have been found not to conform to the regulations which took effect March 1, 1926. These were rejected and returned but it is found that these faulty plans are becoming less in number as the manufacturers of tanks understand the requirements.

were original issues and 33 renewals. Of the total number issued 11 were licensed as partnerships or corporations, paying fees of $200 each and the remaining 30 licensed as individuals paying a fee of $100 each, making a total of $5,200, which amount was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

SALE AND CARRYING OF FIREARMS.

The enactment of chapter 485 of the Acts of 1922, amending Chapter 140, sections 121 to 131, of the General Laws, relative to the sale and carrying of fire arms, imposed upon this Department the supervision of the records of sales made and licenses issued in accordance with the provisions of the act.

During the year commencing December 1, 1927, and ending November 30, 1928, the following records were received and recorded in the files of this department:

Number of licenses issued to dealers, 61; revoked, none.

Number of sales reported by dealers, 484.

Necrology.

I regret that death has removed from our midst during the year two faithful members of this department and loyal servants of the Commonwealth.

One, Michael A. Murphy, a fire inspector of long and continuous service, came into the employ of the Commonwealth on November 13, 1914, and died after an extended illness on April 30th last.

He was a conscientious, hard-working man, just and reasonable in his relations with those with whom his duties brought him into contact, kindly and helpful by nature. His going is a distinct loss.

The other, George L. Prentiss, a member of the uniformed branch of the State Police, was accidentally killed while in the performance of his duty. A promising young man whose ambition to serve the Commonwealth and admiration for this particular branch of the service led him to join on October 18, 1926. His death occurred on the first of October, 1927, while driving his motorcycle on patrol. His service was of comparatively short duration, but his record during the period of membership in this body was of a decidedly satisfactory character.

IN GENERAL.

The year 1927 will stand out, in the annals of this department, as one of diverse and unusual activity, covering important events. Due to circumstances which brought these events within this period, I believe that more time was consumed, greater and more constant effort and greater preparation for emergencies were made than in any previous year. In the accomplishment of all this, practically every member of the department has rendered unstinted and unhesitating service. Never have we called upon them to so freely give of their time outside of so-called regular working hours. The volume of work in the department continues to grow and, because of its nature, must continue to grow in keeping with the natural increase in population of the State and the increase of business therein. Despite this growth, we have thus far handled the routine work of the department with hardly any increase in our office force. This speaks volumes for esprit and effort and I again accord to all these loyal, willing helpers in the great work of public safety throughout the State my heartfelt thanks and deep appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,

A. F. FOOTE, Commissioner.

STATE POLICE

Almost at the very end of the fiscal year 1927, every available man of our State Police force was mobilized at various points in Western Massachusetts for the purpose of rendering assistance to the flood-stricken inhabitants of the several localities.

Immediately upon receipt of word that damage had occurred and further threatened, I directed that our uniformed force proceed at once to the several places affected, while I, together with every available officer at this end of the state, proceeded directly to the town of Becket, most seriously stricken of all, established headquarters there and took personal charge of all activities.

Homes and other buildings had been washed away, thus causing quite a large property loss and leaving the inhabitants thus affected in great need of food, clothing and shelter.

Co-operating with the Red Cross and other relief agencies, prompt measures were taken and creature comforts provided. The response to the call for clothing and other useful articles was wide, immediate and generous.

Provisions to house and feed the destitute were made. Implements, tools, and a lighting and pumping plant were procured, help was engaged and with the aid and direction of the State Police order was restored and the work of rehabilitation commenced and prosecuted with vigor.

Meantime, at other points in the western area, namely at North Adams, Northampton, Hadley and West Springfield, considerable damage was done and at each of these places the State Police did valorous and unmitigated work and undoubtedly saved lives and property and, in one instance, at terrific effort, saved a town from inundation.

Neither time nor space permits of anything more than a mere outline of what was done. Had there been no force so immediately available as was the State Police, I hesitate to think what might have happened as to possible loss of life alone. The service rendered by this force during this catastrophe alone well repaid all the effort and expense that was involved in the organization, equipping and training of this body.

Without regard for hours, or meals or weather conditions, they gave unstintingly of themselves in this hour of peril, and the Commonwealth may well be proud of these men.

Another example may be mentioned of the immediate availability of this force in an emergency, the serious fire at Fall River, which started about midnight of February 2, an extremely cold night, and threatened the destruction of a great part of the business section of that city. Local officials judged the conditions as getting beyond control and called upon our State Police for assistance. Starting from our nearby stations immediately, within two hours after the call there were 60 members of our uniformed force, called from various parts of the state, on the scene and rendering valuable service. They remained on duty there for seven days, working night and day in 12-hour shifts. This help was duly appreciated by the officials and the people of the city.

Safety on our roads and highways has been one of our chief objectives this year and continuation of close co-operation with the governor's committee on street and highway safety has brought good results.

With the addition of the last authorized increment to our uniformed force, which addition will permit of the assignment of more men to the traffic problem, I fully expect greatly improved conditions.

The rewards offered by the Governor and Council for the apprehension and conviction of "hit and run" drivers has, I believe, had a good effect upon both automobile drivers and pedestrians.

The final authorized increment of our uniformed force, now about to finish the course in our school of instruction, will be available for duty at or about the beginning of the new fiscal year and this additional number will further permit of greater safety on our streets and highways through more complete regulation and control. We continue to promote safety in every way by touch with school children, by having one or more of our force give short, effective, easily understood talks. The result of this, we learn, is that the story is carried home by the children and repeated to parents, many of whom could get the information in no other way because of inability to understand English. By these means and in every other possible way, we hope and fully expect to reduce the large number of casualties on our highways.

Our Detective Bureau of the State Police, always busily engaged in the major cases of crime in co-operation with the several district attorneys throughout the Commonwealth are, nevertheless, called upon frequently to solve other equally important matters, the following being an instance: Complaint was made to one of our detectives located in an outlying city, that a group of clairvoyants was operating there and elsewhere in the state and was mulcting innocent but gullible citizens of large amounts of money, in some cases leaving the victims, including a number of women, absolutely destitute. It was an unusual case and required keen thought and delicate handling. By virtue of these accomplishments, satisfactory results were obtained in short order. Money to the amount of about $45,000 was restored to the complaining victims; but others known to have suffered considerable losses would not make complaints. It was stated that this gang had operated in this and nearby states for four or five years during which time they had probably secured $250,000 from their victims.

Several important capital cases were disposed of during the year. Many investigations were made for the several departments of the Commonwealth.

Enforcement of liquor laws goes on apace. Violation of automobile laws, together with all the various other violations, keeps every available detective and patrolman busily occupied.

The State Police boat "Protector" was withdrawn from the service of ice breaking in the Charles River Basin this year because of the damage to the superstructure resulting from the severe pounding of the ice and the boat was assigned to outside patrol same as during the summer season. During early spring, the outlying islands having cottages were visited and again in the fall after cottages were closed. Enforcement of the motor boat muffler law occupied considerable time because of the large number of high-powered speed boats. Due to the very inadequate law it is extremely difficult to enforce and it should be changed and made effective. Motor boats boarded and inspected numbered 164. Pollution of waters by oil is becoming a greater problem each year and is difficult of enforcement. Plant inspections numbered 203 and 16 steamers were boarded. Two important convictions were obtained this year.

As usual we rendered assistance to the Fish and Game Commissioner whenever possible. On April 17 and again on May 10, there were taken aboard the boat and returned to the shore waters north of Boston 6,056 and 6,211, respectively, short lobsters.

On the night of February 2, when the Fall River fire became so menacing, the boat, then at New Bedford, immediately left for Fall River and did duty in the fire area there for five and one-half days. Timely presence of the boat permitted the extinguishing of fires at the following places: June 18, the wharf at Salem Willows; August 13, the pier at Hull, and November 26, on Foster's Wharf, Boston Harbor. Had these fires not been quickly subdued by our crew there would undoubtedly have been a large property loss. The boat covered 3,011½ miles during the year.

The following is a report of the activities of the Division of State Police for the year 1928:

DIVISION OF INSPECTION

The Division of Inspection, provided for by Chapter 22 of the General Laws, consists of the chief of inspections, 20 building inspectors (one of whom is designated as supervisor of plans), and 24 boiler inspectors (one of whom is in charge of the Bureau for the Storage of Liquids), a Board of Boiler Rules consisting of the chief of inspections and four representative members appointed by the Commissioner, and a Board of Elevator and Escalator Regulations consisting of the Chief and five members appointed periodically as required.

The duties of the building inspectors consist of the enforcement of Chapter 143 of the General Laws, which relates to the inspection of buildings and the regulations applicable thereto, the inspection of motion picture machines and the licensing of operators therefor, and the inspection of elevators and escalators in cities and towns having no building department. The boiler inspectors enforce the provisions of Chapter 146 which relates to the inspection of steam boilers and air tanks, and the licensing of engineers, firemen and operators of hoisting machinery.

Under authority of law, the Commissioner issues regulations for the purpose of uniformity in the enforcement of Chapter 143 relating to buildings. The building regulations have been amended by a committee consisting of representatives of various architectural and engineering societies. Said building regulations are now consolidated and published in a more convenient form than heretofore.

The work of the inspectors in the enforcement of these laws and regulations constitute a daily grind of inspections and observations. Their efforts toward enforcement, affecting as they do the personal and financial interests of the people, are not always received with whole heartedness. Some conflicts are inevitable, due to differences of opinion, therefore the men employed as inspectors are necessarily required to be possessed of good judgment and of sufficient knowledge of their duties to intelligently carry out the purposes of the law. Very few conflicts have occurred during the year, and the number of prosecutions has been very small.

Out of a total of 1,542 applicants rejected by boiler inspectors for license as engineers or firemen or to operate hoisting machinery, 23 have appealed from the decision of the original examiner. The original decision was sustained in 18 cases, but overruled in the remaining five.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES

The Board of Boiler Rules has held 13 regular meetings during the past year, in addition to the two semi-annual hearings required by section 3 of Chapter 146 of the General Laws for the consideration of petitions for changes in the steam boiler rules. In addition, a formal hearing was held on March 19, 1928, in connection with the proposed rules for low pressure heating boilers, making a total of 16 meetings held by this Board during the year.

BOARD OF ELEVATOR REGULATIONS

No meetings have been held concerning changes in the regulations for elevators, as no request for such changes has been received in accordance with the statute.

FIRE PREVENTION

The personnel assigned to the Division of Fire Prevention perform their duties under the supervision of the State Fire Marshal who, in addition to supervising the work of fire prevention and fire investigation throughout the State, is also charged with the duties and invested with the powers of Fire Prevention Commissioner within the Metropolitan Fire Prevention District.

The scope of the work of this division of the department includes the investigation of fires and the prosecution of cases arising from the malicious burning of property; the inspection of fire hazards; inspection of the storage and use of explosives, fireworks, volatile inflammable liquids and compounds, and general enforcement of fire prevention laws and regulations. The Assistant Fire Prevention Engineer who is assigned to the Division acts in an advisory capacity in matters involving technical knowledge of fire prevention, fire protection and safety engineering. The engineer is also available for the inspection of premises where inflammable, explosive, or other materials dangerous to the public safety are stored, manufactured or used, and the examination of plans, devices, appliances and equipment which have relation to fire prevention and fire protection.

The work of investigation and inspection necessary to accomplish the purposes of the Division is performed by officers of the Division of State Police assigned to the Division of Fire Prevention and is supervised by the State Police Chief Fire Inspector who acts as assistant to the Fire Marshal. In order to insure systematic administration of the duties incidental to divisional activities the inspectors are assigned to designated districts. These districts are determined territorially with reference to fire hazard and frequency of fires and the headquarters of the inspector so located within the district as to be readily accessible to all members of the community. The inspectors are subject to call at all hours and are required to be ready for immediate service when called.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS

(Bureau of Sunday Censorship)

During the period since the last annual report changes of an important and almost revolutionary character have taken place in the methods of motion picture projection, the immediate effect of which has been to render entirely inadequate, ineffective and very nearly obsolete the machinery and appliances installed in the department for the necessary preview of pictures for our approval and for exhibition on the Lord's Day.

This condition has been brought about by the introduction and rapid strides made in the use of synchronized pictures or the "talkies," so called. It is most imperative that immediate steps be taken to meet this situation in order to prevent the complete collapse of the means and methods utilized by the department for the purpose of effective supervision, by reason of the totally unexpected and extraordinary demand made upon the facilities and personnel at our command.

In an attempt to meet this situation temporarily, it has been found necessary to utilize the facilities installed in certain theatres for the projection and reproduction of sound pictures. This method is very unsatisfactory for various reasons, one of which being the necessity of making use of the equipment at a time that offers the minimum interference with the regular theatrical performance; another serious objection to this method is the obligation incurred by the State to private enterprise. It is quite obvious that this course can only be tolerated as a temporary expedient and the fact recognized that if the state requires the previewing of certain forms of public amusement, the commonwealth must of necessity provide the necessary means and personnel for such enforcement.

Attention was called in the last report to the necessity of a change of quarters, the present quarters having been in use by this branch of departmental activity for the past eight years. In addition to being totally unfitted to effective supervision, they are entirely inadequate for the present day requirements by lack of space, and the necessary machinery and appliances to properly carry on the work of the department.

Recommendations: That suitable quarters be provided at once, with the necessary office space for hearings and interviews by interested persons with the supervisor; a projection room of ample dimensions with a minimum "throw" of sixty feet, together with the necessary apparatus and appliances for projection and reproduction.

In accordance with the provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws, Chapter 326, Acts of 1926, and for the year ending November 30, 1928, there were submitted for the approval of the Commissioner a total of 17,745 licenses and program for Lord's Day entertainments. Of this number 10 were disapproved as follows:

Boston, 1; Fall River, 2; Gloucester, 1; Hull, 2; Newton, 1; Shrewsbury, 1; Springfield, 1; Winchendon, 1.

Each license and program being accompanied by the fee of $2, made a total of $35,490 paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

BUREAU OF EXPLOSIVES AND INFLAMMABLES

The importance of the State Police Laboratory was emphasized during the past year when its facilities were engaged by all the district attorneys in the commonwealth and many of the police departments in towns and cities.

Technical evidence was prepared and testimony given in a great many of the principal murder, robbery and general felony cases in the various superior court districts.

The group of experts comprising the staff of the Laboratory and employing the finest of equipment in their work command the respect of all who are concerned with the stern necessity of proving the guilt or innocence of those suspected or accused of crime.

Our laboratory labors under great difficulties, the space devoted to it being very inadequate. Aside from insufficient space in which three technicians are compelled to work, it houses considerable valuable equipment, bullets, arms, photographs and finger prints which should be more carefully and safely placed.

Below are given the statistics of the Bureau:

Bullet and shell evidence (photomicrographs)	200
Burglaries, evidence	15

BUREAU FOR THE STORAGE OF LIQUIDS

This Bureau is maintained under the provisions of Chapter 104, Acts of 1921.

The officer in charge of this Bureau has performed these duties in addition to the duties of special duty boiler inspector and has also worked in conjunction with the Fire Marshal regarding regulation prohibiting the discharge of crude petroleum products onto the waters of the Commonwealth.

The plans showing detailed construction of storage tanks submitted by the tank manufacturers appear more satisfactory than in the past. A more thorough understanding existing between the Department and manufacturers tends to better workmanship and therefore better and safer tanks. Very few plans submitted were returned disapproved.

This year plans for 143 tanks were examined and approved, and permits granted for the construction and maintenance.

STATE BOXING COMMISSION.

It continues to be a matter of satisfaction . . . that, after eight years of functioning under the laws, rules and regulations governing legalized boxing in this Commonwealth, it is the opinion of the State Boxing Commission that the said laws, rules and regulations have so completely "filled the bill" thus far as to necessitate no change and I therefore recommend no additional legislation at this time. The fiscal year just closed has been one of considerable activity in boxing circles caused, chiefly, by the large number of out-door exhibitions which drew proportionately larger audiences and thus accounts for the increased income from this source.

Statistics covering the period of this report ending November 30, 1928, are as follows:

The number of professional clubs conducting matches and exhibitions was 23 and the number of exhibitions held was 288.

Receipts from license fees $29,437.83

Five per cent of gross receipts from boxing exhibitions 53,775.55

Clubs licensed, 23.

Exhibitions authorized, 304.

Exhibitions cancelled, 16.

Exhibitions held, 288.

Licenses granted: Boxers, 654; Managers, 127; Seconds, 202; Referees, 19; Judges, 18; Timekeepers, 17; Physicians, 22.

Licenses suspended: Boxers, 22; Managers, 2; Seconds, 1; Clubs, 0.

Visiting Boxers debarred from State, 792.

Visiting Managers debarred from State, 46.

Visiting Seconds debarred from State, 33.

Special and Amateur Exhibitions held, 294.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE LICENSES.

The licensing and regulation of private detectives is provided under chapter 147 of the General Laws, sections 22 to 30. During the year ending November 30, 1928, there was issued a total of 34 private detective licenses of which 4 were original issues and 30 renewals. Of the total number issued 10 were licensed as partnerships or corporations, paying fees of $200 each and the remaining 24 licensed as individuals paying a fee of $100 each, making a total of $4,400, which amount was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

Necrology.

Always a saddening feature is the necessity of reporting the passing of members which has occurred during the year. Death has again removed from the department two valued members who had served the Commonwealth loyally.

Both were members of our State Police—the first, Lieutenant Joseph V. Daly, one of our State Police detectives who joined our force on the 16th of October, 1911, and rendered continued and conspicuous service until the 29th of April. . . . A man of high character, meriting the confidence and esteem of both those in official and public life, because of his honesty of purpose and regard for the rights of others. His going was a matter of keen regret to a very large circle.

The second to pass out of this life, while in the performance of his duties, was John E. Higgins, a member of the uniformed branch of our State Police, who was accidentally killed in line of duty, through no fault of his own. His period of service was comparatively short, he having enlisted in our force June 22, 1927, and his death occurring on April 28, 1928. In that short time he had proved himself a competent member of the force and was regarded as one who, with sufficient additional experience, would have become a valuable representative of this outstanding body of men. Such an untimely end to a promising career is always to be regretted.

IN GENERAL

In the closing of our fiscal year 1928, the usual and expected fact appears, this being that circumstances almost without fail bring to us each year some outstanding, unforeseen event to care for, which, together with the natural growth of the department, causes us to extend ourselves beyond what may be termed normal conditions. During the period since the organization of the department and under the present regime, we have faced these problems year after year and have solved them.

The thing which permits us to thus accomplish results has been the unhesitating response to calls for extra effort in cases of emergency. One of my chief aims in the conduct of the department has been the development of esprit and in this effort I have not failed.

In closing I simply desire to express my appreciation of and thanks for all that has been done by our corps of workers throughout the year.

Respectfully submitted,

A. F. FOOTE, Commissioner.

STATE POLICE

Although no startling events, catastrophic in nature, such as was the case at the end of our fiscal year 1928, have happened during the year 1929, this division of our department has experienced a period of uninterrupted activity prolific of results and of increasingly satisfactory service for the public good.

While we stand ready at all times to handle any emergency that may arise, such occasions disrupt routine for the time being.

As will be noted by reference to the accompanying statistics, our activities have ranged all the way from murder cases to simple investigations.

Our detective force, small in numbers, and located in different sections of the State so as to be of direct and immediate assistance to the several district attorneys, has rendered the usual fine service expected of them in the major cases.

The uniformed branch, with its members operating from troop and sub-stations located throughout the State, has had a season of great activity with greatly increased and effective results, particularly on our streets and highways.

Arrests made in 1929 increased about 31% over the previous year, and convictions were a fraction more than that; while fines and costs increased nearly 32%, and investigations increased more than 43%.

The above statement, while quite impressive as showing a very great amount of work done, yet does not cover all the activity for, in automobile law violations alone, we have sent thousands of minor violations to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles for such action as he chose to take and, in addition to that, we have stopped and warned many thousands of other motorists.

Applications to His Excellency for rewards in so-called "hit and run" cases have been numerous during the year, each case being investigated as to its merits by this department; and I believe that the interest shown by the people at large in apprehending these offenders and the publicity given to such cases have had a deterrent effect upon reckless drivers.

In the field of protection for farmers and others living in the country, we have reduced the stealing of fruits, vegetables and chickens to a negligible quantity.

Enforcement of the liquor laws consumed considerable of our time and during the year we made 850 arrests, 352 investigations, secured 683 convictions with fines and costs to the amount of $51,109.50. Forty-eight stills with a combined daily capacity of 5995 gallons were seized, and 131 arrests for illegal manufacture of liquor, were made. The estimated value of seized liquors was nearly $100,000.

Our police boat remained on outside patrol entirely, the only ice-breaking being a small amount at New Bedford and Buzzard's Bay near the canal entrances.

During early spring and again in late fall, before the opening and after the closing of summer cottages on outlying islands along our coast, many of them were visited.

Enforcement of the motor boat muffler law has been more extensive this year than at any previous time. The number of such boats inspected was 211 and does not include outboard motor boats. Many complaints were received this year relative to the operation of this type of boat, all of them coming from inland lakes and ponds, with the exception of three in a total of 191 inspected. Operation of these boats has aroused intense feelings among many long-time summer residents on these inland waters and until the present law is changed and made more effective, enforcement will be more difficult each year.

Pollution of waters by oil continues to be a matter requiring much attention because of the installation of new plants, the increased capacity of existing plants and the increased number of boats engaged in transportation of the material. Our close check on shore plants as well as on carriers has had favorable results, due to co-operative efforts, but continued efforts to improve will have to be made before the owners of tank steamers operate to our satisfaction in loading and unloading. Plant inspections numbered 424, and 41 tank steamers were boarded.

Assistance was rendered the State Fish and Game Division, particularly in breaking up several tough gangs of "bootleg" clam diggers. Twenty-seven cases were brought into court and all the diggers were heavily fined and the ring leaders sentenced to jail. The boat also rendered assistance to boats in distress, fighting forest fires and finding and restoring lost property.

The boat covered 2418 miles during the year.

Following is a statistical report of the activities of the Division of State Police for the year 1929:

DIVISION OF INSPECTION

The Division of Inspection, provided for by Chapter 22 of the General Laws, consists of the chief of inspections, 19 building inspectors, 26 boiler inspectors, a Board of Boiler Rules comprising the chief of inspections and four representative members appointed by the Commissioner, and a Board of Elevator Regulations comprising the chief of inspections and five representative members appointed periodically as required.

The 19 building inspectors are employed in the enforcement of the provisions of Chapter 143 of the General Laws, known as the Building Inspection Law of the Commonwealth. Seventeen of them are assigned to different building inspection districts throughout the state, one is designated as supervisor of plans, and one for the inspection of non-inflammable films, so called, as required by statute, to be used in the exhibition of motion pictures. A review of the work of the 17 building inspectors indicates persistent activity in the enforcement of Chapter 143 of the General Laws. It is necessary to make an average of one thousand inspections of buildings as absolutely required by the statutes. These do not include the inspection of elevators, inspection of moving picture machines and booths, besides innumerable visits which are necessary to progressively enforce the law in the erection of buildings. In fact, during the year, the inspectors have made over seven thousand visits.

Of the 26 boiler inspectors, 24 are employed to enforce the provisions of Chapter 146 of the General Laws relative to the inspection of boilers and the examination of applicants for license as engineers, firemen and operators of hoisting machinery in the 24 boiler inspection districts of the state; one is employed by the Commissioner for the inspection of storage tanks, and one as supervisor and checker of all data reports of MASS STD boilers and air tanks received at the Boston office where they are filed. The boiler inspectors, in order to properly enforce the provisions of the statutes, are required to make an average of more than 300 boiler inspections apiece each year, in order to keep pace with the record of inspections made in previous years, as boilers are certified to for one year only. Added to this duty, each inspector makes visits for the proper enforcement of the boiler inspection, engineers and firemen's and operators of hoisting machinery license laws. They are required to examine applicants for licenses in accordance with these laws, spending practically six to eight days each month on this work.

A review of the above clearly shows that the members of the Division of Inspection are alert in the enforcement of the laws, and that they are busily engaged during the entire year. In the enforcement of the duties of both building and boiler inspection, the only satisfaction an inspector has is the consciousness of having conscientiously performed his duty. They are always first to be criticised in case of any disaster, though in every case, after proper investigation and review, where danger or injury had occurred, the result was due to causes over which they had no control, and not in any instance during the year to any default or neglect of an inspector.

Out of a total of 33 applicants rejected by boiler inspectors for licenses as engineers or firemen or to operate hoisting machinery, 26 such applicants appealed from the decision of the original examiner. The original decision was sustained in 17, but overruled in the remaining 9 cases. This surely indicates the fairness with which our examinations are conducted.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES

The Board of Boiler Rules has held 15 meetings, in addition to the two semi-annual public hearings required by section 3 of Chapter 146 of the General Laws for the consideration of petitions for changes in the steam boiler rules. The rules for low pressure heating boilers were approved by the Governor and Council on October 23, 1929.

The Board of Boiler Rules has also been working conscientiously at their monthly meetings to make changes in the steam boiler rules for high pressure. Owing to the advances made in the art of construction of steam boilers, it will be necessary for the Board to make several changes in these rules during the ensuing year, which changes we hope to have ready for submission to the Governor and Council before the end of the year.

BOARD OF ELEVATOR REGULATIONS

There has been no occasion for meetings of this Board during the past year.

FIRE PREVENTION

The personnel assigned to the Division of Fire Prevention perform their duties under the supervision of the State Fire Marshal who, in addition to supervising the work of fire prevention and fire investigation throughout the State, is also charged with the duties and invested with the powers of Fire Prevention Commissioner within the Metropolitan Fire Prevention District.

The work of investigation and inspection necessary to accomplish the purposes of the Division is performed by officers of the Division of State Police assigned to the Division of Fire Prevention and is supervised by the State Police Chief Fire Inspector who acts as assistant to the Fire Marshal. In order to insure systematic administration of the duties incidental to divisional activities the inspectors are assigned to designated districts. These districts are determined territorially with reference to fire hazard and frequency of fires and the headquarters of the inspector so located within the district as to be readily accessible to all members of the community. The inspectors are subject to call at all hours and are required to be ready for immediate service when called.

The scope of the work of this division of the department includes the investigation of fires and the prosecution of cases arising from the malicious burning of property; the inspection of fire hazards; inspection of the storage and use of explosives, fireworks, volatile inflammable liquids and compounds, and general enforcement of fire prevention laws and regulations. The Safety Engineer who is assigned to the division acts in an advisory capacity in matters involving technical knowledge of fire prevention, fire protection and safety engineering. The engineer is also available for the inspection of premises where inflammable, explosive, or other materials dangerous to the public safety are stored, manufactured or used, and the examination of plans, devices, appliances and equipment which have relation to fire prevention and fire protection.

The work of the personnel of the division has been featured during the year by increased success in the investigation and prosecution of cases arising from incendiarism. The department reports indicate an increase in arrests and prosecutions for these crimes during the year of more than one hundred per cent. These reports represent actual arrests of individuals and do not include situations where individual arrests have resulted in indictment of the person arrested for more than one crime of burning. Therefore, where the reports show a total of 128 arrests with 63 convictions and 25 cases pending, the actual number of crimes of burning for which arrests were made is 151 and the number of convictions for such crimes is 86.

An outstanding contribution to fire prevention during 1929 has been the dissemination of information concerning fires, fire protection and fire prevention through the medium of illustrated lectures. A State Police Fire Inspector, in addition to his regular duties, has delivered stereopticon talks to school children in various sections of the State and to approximately 30,000 adults represented by members of Chambers of Commerce, Rotary Clubs, Kiwanis Clubs, Church Men's Clubs and similar organizations.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS (Bureau of Sunday Censorship)

In accordance with the Provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws, for the year ending November 30, 1929, there were submitted for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety a total of 18,450 licenses and programs for entertainments held on the Lord's day. Of this number 18,436 were approved and 14 disapproved, as follows:—Agawam, 2; Holyoke, 2; Methuen, 1; New Bedford, 1; Revere, 1; Salisbury, 2; Shrewsbury, 1; Worcester, 4.

Each license and program was accompanied by a fee of $2, making a total of $36,900 paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

Since the last annual report changes have continually been made in the equipment and apparatus for the projection of motion pictures. The advancement has been so great in this respect that the present machinery and appliances installed for this work in this department are now obsolete. It has also been found necessary to assign an additional investigator to this Division for the purpose of checking vaudeville acts and recording those that might be used for Lord's Day showing.

In attempting to cope with this situation until such time as adequate quarters and equipment are provided, it has been necessary to utilize the facilities of the different theatres and film exchanges for the previewing of all synchronized (talking and sound) motion pictures. This method, however, is very unsatisfactory for various reasons; namely, the use of the regular equipment of a theatre at such time as will not interfere with the regular performances, also the equipment of the different film exchanges, which is used by them primarily for the exhibiting of motion pictures to prospective buyers. Furthermore, it incurs an obligation by the State to private enterprise.

House Bill No. 1154, Commission on Administration and Finance, dated March 18, 1929, was submitted providing for a fee for each reel of film submitted for approval for Lord's day showing. The film industry appeared before the committee and opposed this bill on the grounds that it would incur a very heavy expense on the producers; and offered the following alternative: That, the film industries provide and equip suitable quarters and facilities for the previewing of all synchronized and talking pictures. After hearing this proposal the Committee gave the bill leave to withdraw with the understanding that the above facilities be provided before the 1930 session of the General Court.

At the present time suitable quarters and equipment for carrying on this work are being provided by and at the expense of the Boston Film Board of Trade, and will be ready for occupancy on or about February 1, 1930, the premises being located in the second story of building at 3 Hancock Street, corner of Cambridge Street. While the location, equipment, and quarters are suitable and acceptable for the previewing of motion pictures, we are still obligated to the motion picture industry insofar as they are responsible for the rental of the premises, the salary of the operator, and the maintenance of equipment.

BUREAU OF EXPLOSIVES AND INFLAMMABLES

The present system in the Department Laboratory has been in operation for six years, during which time the activities have increased tremendously and prompt service was cheerfully rendered the several district attorneys, police and citizens in all parts of the state.

The crowded quarters in which the laboratory is installed in the State House have become entirely inadequate for this important branch of our service and I look forward to the acquisition of more space permitting of further facilities allowing us to render even greater and better service.

BUREAU FOR STORAGE OF LIQUIDS

This Bureau is maintained under the provisions of Chapter 104, Acts of 1921.

The officer in charge of this Bureau has performed these duties in addition to the duties of special duty boiler inspector and has also worked in conjunction with the Fire Marshal regarding regulation prohibiting the discharge of crude petroleum products onto the waters of the Commonwealth.

A more thorough understanding existing between the Department and manufacturers tends to better workmanship and therefore better and safer tanks. Quite a number of plans submitted were returned disapproved.

This year plans for 246 tanks were examined and approved, and permits granted for the construction and maintenance.

STATE BOXING COMMISSION

Another year of satisfactory conduct and condition of affairs within the jurisdiction of this commission has passed into history. The congenial and reciprocal relations with boxing authorities in other states and foreign countries has continued and enlarged, to our mutual advantage.

It will be noted that, although the number of clubs licensed to conduct professional boxing was three less than the preceding year, the amount of business done was considerably larger as is evidenced by the receipts from exhibitions which increased more than $15,000.00. This was caused chiefly by the advent of a new club, occupying a new building which is by far the largest place in New England designed especially for sports.

We contemplate a few changes in the rules and regulations governing the conduct of boxing and particularly of ring officials, these changes being the result of our experience of nearly ten years of legalized boxing in Massachusetts.

I know of no good reason for changing the laws governing boxing; therefore, I recommend none.

Statistics covering the period of this report ending November 30, 1929, are as follows:

The number of professional clubs conducting matches and exhibitions was 20 and the number of exhibitions held was 290.

During the year ending November 30, 1929, there was issued a total of 28 private detective licenses of which 1 was an original and 27 were renewals. Of the total number issued 9 were licensed as partnerships or corporations, paying fees of $200 each and the remaining 19 licensed as individuals paying a fee of $100 each, making a total of $3,700, which amount was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

SALE AND CARRYING OF FIREARMS

The enactment of Chapter 485 of the Acts of 1922, amending Chapter 140, sections 121 to 131, of the General Laws, relative to the sale and carrying of firearms, imposed upon this Department the supervision of the records of sales made and licenses issued in accordance with the provisions of the act.

IN GENERAL

Concluding the work of the fiscal year 1929, I am happy to say that no deaths have occurred among the members of the department during this period.

While no great emergency arose to be cared for as was the case at the end of the previous fiscal year, hence no disruption to the regular order of the business of the department, nevertheless the usual and expected increase in the work done has taken place. As before, this extra work has been cared for by the extended efforts, willingly made, by our loyal corps of workers.

To them I again express my appreciation and look forward to another year of even greater accomplishment.

Respectfully submitted,

A. F. FOOTE, Commissioner.

LEGISLATION RECOMMENDED

Relative to a necessary change in the language of section 30 of Chapter 148 of the General Laws as established by Chapter 399 of the Acts of 1930.

Section 30 of Chapter 148 of the General Laws as established by Chapter 399 of the Acts of 1930 contains provision for the enforcement of a penalty upon cities or towns, heads of fire departments, officers, servants or agents of the commonwealth, or other persons for refusing or neglecting to obey certain lawful rules, orders or regulations.

The language of the section includes reference to "any lawful rule, order or regulation of the marshal". This reference was applicable in its entirety under the previous law, but is now inapplicable in so far as any rule or regulation of the marshal is concerned, since regulations of the department only are intended by the 1930 revision.

In order to clarify the said Section 30, it is recommended that legislation be enacted so as to insure correct interpretation and enforcement of the law.

STATE POLICE

The year just closed has been one of great activity although but few outstanding cases developed during the period.

The Detective Bureau has brought about, successfully handled and concluded two such cases this year. One of these, a clever swindle, perpetrated almost entirely upon the poorer element of our citizens, was the advance collection of presumed sales of silk stockings which were never intended for delivery by the salesman.

No large individual amounts were collected at any time, but the victims of this scheme numbered thousands in the aggregate and the field of operation was New England and other eastern states. The operator was canny and very elusive and for a long time the victims, because of the small amounts involved, were very reticent to make complaints.

For two years or more we were in search of this miscreant, the search made difficult by reason that after "working" a territory for a while, he decamped with the proceeds to some distant state not to return until the effect of the previous campaign had "blown over" or been forgotten.

He was adjudged a common and notorious criminal and sentenced to from three to five years in Charlestown State Prison.

The other outstanding case in which many people were swindled of large sums of money, the total amounting to over a million dollars, was the Page and Shaw stock sales promotion.

The three principals in this case were convicted and sentenced to fairly long prison terms and given substantial fines, in addition. This particular case necessitated long, tedious days and nights of investigation and preparation and, the defendants being well fortified with funds, it was bitterly fought in a long court trial.

The outcome was the reason for much congratulation and feeling of satisfaction to all those concerned in the prosecution, and should have a salutary effect upon others contemplating similar schemes, whereby the public is swindled.

Other than the above, the detectives have been engaged with the several district attorneys throughout the commonwealth in the prosecution of major crimes including several murder cases.

Many investigations have been made for the several departments of the state which have involved much time and considerable expense.

While there has been no "crime wave", so-called, in Massachusetts during this period, never-the-less our detectives have quite a large number of important cases now in court and pending.

The uniformed branch of the State Police has rendered extremely active and important service during the year.

A brief recital of the history of this particular part of our force, its organization, its purpose, its use and its accomplishments, will be of interest at this time when it has finished the first decade of its existence.

First authorized as a force of fifty, it has by slow stages, been increased during the period of ten years, to the present strength of two hundred and thirty.

Brought into being by the urgent need of a police force primarily to police and protect the persons and property of partially policed or entirely unpoliced portions of the state, in other words,—the rural sections, its activities have so increased by the diversity of the demands made upon it, and particularly by the enormous and ever increasing traffic problem which continually confronts it, it was inevitable that an increase in numbers should occur and thus, in 1922, the force was increased by the addition of ninety men to a total of one hundred and forty and still later, in 1927, was increased by sixty and in 1929 by thirty more, to a total of two hundred and thirty, the present authorized strength.

There was, in the first place, the selection of men to compose this first increment of a force whose duties and status were different from that of any other police in the state. Applications to the number of thousands were filed, so it was not difficult, after looking up records and physically examining a large number of the applicants, to select the fifty authorized.

Training at once became a necessity in order to inculcate the ideas, principles and practices of the work it was proposed that they should perform, together with training in discipline and rigorous physical development, as well as the care and riding of horses, the care, maintenance and operation of motor vehicles, before they were placed on active, outside duty, clothed with all the authority conferred upon them by virtue of their appointment and subsequent oath of office as state police.

Operating throughout the state as only this force is authorized to do, their work, of a necessity, differs substantially from that of any other police in the Commonwealth.

Covering about three-fourths of the entire area of the state, nearly six thousand square miles, within which are 1,685 miles of state highways and 22,741 miles of county and town highways and roads, patrolled only by members of this force, it is readily seen that, with our limited numbers, the traffic problem of today alone is one of most impressive proportions. To give one a more comprehensive idea of this problem it may be stated that there were 1,013,819 motor vehicles licensed in Massachusetts, and 982,795 persons authorized to drive such vehicles, in the year 1930.

These figures, great as they are, of course, do not include the machines driven and the drivers thereof, who reside in other states and countries and who, either regularly or on occasion, come within our borders for longer or shorter periods, and thereby increase the traffic upon our roads.

The traffic this year has, without question, been the heaviest in our history caused, no doubt, largely by reason of the continuous celebrations held throughout the year, of the 300th Anniversary or Tercentenary of the founding and settlement of Massachusetts Bay Colony. These celebrations, together with those held in neighboring New England states, brought hundreds of thousands of visitors to Massachusetts and for a like reason many conventions were held here including the largest one in the country, the "peak" being reached and held from mid September to mid October.

With all this traffic on the roads it is rather surprising to state that arrests made during the year were 873 less in number than were made in 1929. We feel that this decline in arrests is a matter for congratulation as showing a decided improvement in conditions on our roads by reason of greater supervision by our police which has resulted in more careful driving of motor vehicles.

Massachusetts, with its extensive coast line, its lakes, ponds, and mountainous country, has long been a "Mecca" for summer visitors, tourists, residents, and its roads are further traversed by thousands who pass through to similar resorts in other New England states.

Great as our traffic problem is, and limited as our numbers are, the public does not realize nor appreciate the duties involved and the time consumed by officers following an arrest, or making investigations, and time required in preparing cases for and in court.

Then, too, escorting parties in large groups of cars, while it assures greater safety and speed to the convoy and obviates blocking traffic, it takes much time and is a dangerous duty for the police. We have been called upon for a great deal of this sort of service, particularly in this year of celebrations and conventions. Investigations of claims, complaints, reports or any other matters which come within our jurisdiction, co-operation with state fire wardens in extinguishing fires when found if our men are able to do so themselves, and if not, to notify the nearest warden, to watch for and report any unusual road defects, fallen wires, or any other feature which might become a danger to the public. Other than these, our men are instructed to assist in every possible way, any one in distress and this service is very extensive, thousands being aided in the course of a year.

With all these duties to perform and the vast territory to be covered, it should be borne in mind that, while our total authorized strength is 230, this number includes the executive force at headquarters, Boston; the officers in charge of the several troop headquarters stations; the supply division, the motor vehicle maintenance division, the squad whose duties are devoted almost entirely to the recovery of stolen automobiles and, in addition, one must consider that while every member of this force is subject to duty 24 hours a day, and on many occasions serve for several days at a time, that number of hours, their average day's work being from 12 to 16 hours, never-the-less this does not consider the fact that the total number of men is also subject to reduction by accidents, sickness, absence on leave, vacations and for other reasons, as are other human beings who are subject to the vicissitudes imposed upon us by nature and by lawful authority.

Thus, the actual number who perform these multitudinous, exacting and strenuous duties, is considerably below 230.

Since the organization of this branch of the State Police, there have been 4 members killed, 13 seriously injured and partially permanently disabled, and 96 more or less seriously injured but not permanently disabled, and all of these casualties have been incurred in the line of duty.

One of the most valuable features of our preparation for training our own men, is our offer to the police of city and town departments to enter such number as we are able to accommodate, in our classes, for like training and instruction.

The more police throughout the state who are trained in uniform methods of operation, the better the service rendered to and understood by the public.

Our offer of this school privilege has been accepted by several city and town authorities and by the Metropolitan District Police, with invariable appreciation and satisfaction, not only by the authorities, but by the student officers themselves, many of whom have written letters stating the benefits derived and telling of their own employment as instructors in their own departments, as a result of the course of training given them.

During the year thirty-eight of our state police entered our training school and were graduated, and thirty-nine municipal police from city or town departments attended courses given for them, were graduated, and all of them were given certificates.

This is the third year during which we have conducted schools including municipal police.

Ever since the organization of the State Police, the part that such a means of communication as radio could play, has been apparent, the scope of this service being limited only by the state of development of the art and the availability of funds. This development having reached a stage practical for police work, the construction of a small station and a few receiving sets was inaugurated, with a view to enlarging and improving the system as circumstances permitted. This station at first transmitted but three times a day to a few stations in Troop A, only. Even this small service increased and expedited the work of this troop. As funds permitted, however, the system has been enlarged until today the regular number of listeners of "WMP" are fifteen stations in three troops of the Massachusetts State Police, more than twenty-five city and town police departments and hundreds of civilian listeners who regularly write and express their approval of the work being done. Troop A also operates three radio equipped cars which, while on the roads are constantly tuned to WMP and can be directed by spoken instructions from headquarters.

The possibilities of this service are at once apparent and mark a great stride forward in police work. Due to the low power of the station, our radio equipped patrol cars are practical over a radius of only a few miles from Troop A, Headquarters at Framingham, where the station is located, yet in this limited area, these cars have frequently demonstrated their worth. A few extracts from the log of station WMP will illustrate:

The broadcast of a car stolen in Ashland on April 1, 1930, was received by the police of Newark, New Jersey. The car was shortly seen by one of their officers and the driver arrested. Within an hour of our broadcast an officer from Ashland was on his way to bring back the car and the driver. Two other stolen cars were recovered as a result of this arrest.

On May 5, 1930, at request of the Connecticut State Police, we broadcast that one Joseph Agofsky, formerly of Lawrence, Mass., had stolen a car and held up an officer, taking his gun. It was believed that the car was headed in the direction of his former home, that he was well armed and would shoot if attempt was made to arrest him. As result of the broadcast, reports of seeing him in various places in Massachusetts kept coming in. On May 31, 1930, we broadcast that this man had been seen in Andover, Mass., and his car described. Patrolman Ryan of our State Police, stationed at Concord, Mass., saw this car and attempted to stop it. In the car with Agofsky were two other occupants. Several shots were fired at Ryan. This information and probable destination was broadcast and two days later Agofsky was shot and killed in a gun battle with New Hampshire police who were on the look-out for him. Later the other two occupants were arrested by our patrolman for assault with intent to murder.

On July 1, 1930, at 9 a.m., received information from Saxonville, Mass., that a garage was broken into and a new Ford car stolen. Near the scene was an old Ford car with Maine registration plates, hence suspected that the thieves came from there. Details were broadcast and listeners in Maine requested to notify nearest police station. At 10 o'clock—one hour later, a call was received from the Maine State Police at Augusta, that they had been notified by a local listener, and had covered the roads coming into that state and had arrested two boys and recovered the new Ford stolen here. Incidentally, the old Ford had been stolen in Maine.

August 15, 1930, at 1:00 a. m., broadcast to cruising car No. 1, that two men were shooting at and had escaped from Patrolman Stanley of our State Police in Framingham, Mass., that he could not pursue them as he had already apprehended one of them. Cruiser No. 1 went immediately to the scene and succeeded in arresting the two men who were shooting at Patrolman Stanley. This arrest cleared up the stealing and stripping of eleven cars.

Many other incidents of similar nature could be given, all of which prove the utility and value of the radio in police work.

With a station of sufficient power to operate cars throughout the state, the increase in police efficiency would be tremendous. This also would allow all city and town departments to participate and cooperate with each other and with the State Police in a manner that nothing else could bring about. Another development of science that would be made available by a station of greater power is facsimile transmission, that is, the sending of photographs, finger prints, signatures, etc., from Boston to any point in the state instantly, so that the Bureau of Identification files at the State House would be as readily accessible to the Springfield or other distant police as they are to the Boston police. A transmitter of sufficient power to serve cars in Massachusetts would necessarily be readily heard in all adjoining states if the proper receiving equipment were used, thus opening up the possibility of inter-state co-operation of law forces.

We have also installed in our headquarters office at the State House during the year, the "Teletype" system which connects Boston proper and 19 other cities and towns in the Greater Boston area, with day and night police report service.

Upon receipt of reports which warrant a broadcast we immediately, or at our regular intervals, put the report "on the air" thus serving these cities and towns by spreading the news not only throughout Massachusetts but to many states far beyond our borders.

It is our intention to install during the coming year the "Teletype" service in each of our four troop headquarters stations, and by so doing furnish, in connection with our anticipated ample radio equipment, a police news service not excelled anywhere.

During the year there was put into effect our long contemplated building program for the erection of state-owned police stations, built on well considered and recently adopted standard plans for troop headquarters and sub-stations.

Our experiences of ten years of operation of this force throughout the Commonwealth have, necessarily, been of value to us in the planning of suitable locations, grounds and buildings so as to utilize our available facilities to best advantage.

With this in view, we have endeavored, so far as is possible to care for future needs. As for locations, our original selections with few exceptions, have proven to have been well made. With the adoption of our building program, the acquisition of land for same has, here and there, caused us to move but short distances in the same town.

One Troop Headquarters station and one substation were completed during the year, the first at Holden and the latter at Brookfield, both in Worcester County. As a result of our aforementioned experience of ten years and the occupancy during that time of such quarters as were available, hampered by lack of space and subject to inconveniences of all kinds, this has brought to the fore the necessity of having buildings planned and built for our particular purposes.

A Troop Headquarters station is the place of administration and the office of record of its particular zone, and is surrounded by its several sub-stations, located at strategic points within that zone. All activities are directed and governed from troop headquarters and sub-station reports are made to it.

Troop headquarters buildings have been planned and built to accommodate, under ordinary circumstances, a personnel of twenty-five and also with a view to expanding their facilities as to sleeping and feeding accommodations in case of emergency to one hundred, thus permitting us to assemble a larger force at any one place or places in almost any part of the state and maintain and subsist them without regard to outside sources or conditions.

The regular personnel of a sub-station numbers fifteen, together with cook and civilian employees, and our new substations can be expanded to care for fifty persons temporarily, in case of emergency.

Other buildings are under construction and will be occupied as soon as completed and ready, and this building program, once finished and the entire force properly installed in their respective stations, Massachusetts will be equipped and provided with state police facilities second to none.

By these means, membership in the Massachusetts State Police will be enhanced, the personnel improved (if that is possible) and the comforts and conveniences provided for them while recuperating from strenuous duty and for recreation while off duty, will give to them the feeling of satisfaction which comes from being well cared for, the result of which is more and better work.

Our police boat remained on outside patrol during the year, the only ice breaking done being mush ice in small quantities in several ports. In the early spring and again in late fall, the boat visited outlying islands whereon summer cottages are located.

Complaints regarding the operation of motor boats continue to be received in increasing numbers, particularly from summer residents at inland lakes and ponds.

Disregard for the muffler law, so-called, is sufficiently disturbing to residents along our coast line but noise from small outboard motors on inland lakes and ponds which are, by reason of location, so situated that the actual noise of the motors is magnified many times due to surrounding conditions and the disturbance of the waters in small bodies, due to the high speed attained, makes fishing, bathing and pleasure boating well nigh impossible.

Investigation of such complaints caused our officers to visit the following places: Duxbury, Rockport, Marshfield, Onset, Lake Manchonis in Wilbraham, Whalom Lake in Lunenburg, Lake Nippeniet in Bridgewater, Mystic River in Medford, Lake Quannapowitt in Wakefield, Dudley Pond in Wayland, Lake Boon in Stowe, Lake Pleasant in Harwich, Lake Maseupic in Tyngsboro and Robbins Pond in East Bridgewater. Motorboats inspected numbered 152 and outboard motorboats 160.

Pollution of the waters by oil has occupied the major part of the time of the boat and the importance of this problem is the greatest which confronts us along our waters today and will continue to be one of increasing volume. Plant inspections numbered 306. Tank steamers and supply boats boarded numbered 99. This close check on the plants and tankers has had good results. In the case of small supply boats, it has caused the owners to keep them in much better condition.

Assistance was rendered the State Fish and Game Division whenever possible. The boat covered 2,608 miles during the year and other travel by train, cycle, automobile and trolley in connection with the line of our work carried the total mileage up to 13,821.

Following is the statistical report of the activities of the Division of State Police for the year 1930:

DIVISION OF INSPECTION

The Division of Inspection, provided for by Chapter 22 of the General Laws, comprises a director designated Chief of Inspections, 20 building inspectors and 26 boiler inspectors.

Inspectors are assigned to separate districts, and are empowered to enforce the particular statutes for which they are employed, there being 17 building inspection and 25 boiler inspection districts in the Commonwealth.

Chapter 143, enforced by the building inspectors, applies to the construction and occupancy of certain classes of buildings. One other building inspector is assigned as supervisor of plans.

Chapter 146, enforced by the boiler inspectors, applies to the inspection of steam boilers and air tanks, and to the examination and licensing of engineers, firemen and operators of hoisting machinery. One boiler inspector is assigned to inspect and supervise the construction of storage tanks, which are approved by the Commissioner for use, under chapter 147 of the General Laws.

All inspectors are appointed from the civil service eligible lists and require certain special technical knowledge and experience in order to intelligently enforce these statutes. They must be possessed of sound common sense to avoid friction, which sometimes is inevitable, as enforcement of these laws at times involves expenditure of money which is never a welcome request.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES

Chapter 146 of the General Laws provides for the appointment of a Board of Boiler Rules consisting of the Chief of Inspections as Chairman, and four other members appointed by the Commissioner. The Board is required to hold two semi-annual public hearings, on the first Thursdays in May and November, to consider petitions for changes in the steam boiler rules. If changes are proposed to the rules at these meetings, the board takes them under advisement, and if said changes are approved, a further public hearing is arranged for which must be advertised in one newspaper in each of six specified cities in the Commonwealth. After such final hearing is held, the changes become effective upon their formal approval by the Governor and Council.

The rules for low pressure heating boilers were approved in Council on October 23, 1929. The experience of the past year has proven the said rules satisfactory to all concerned.

The Board of Boiler Rules has held 12 meetings during the year, and the two semi-annual hearings on petitions for changes in the steam boiler rules, or 14 meetings in all. Practically all of the monthly meetings were devoted to the consideration of boilers of special design, due to the rapid advancement in the art of boiler construction and operation, such design and use not being covered by the existing rules. We have deemed it advisable to follow this course, rather than make drastic changes in the rules until a thorough trial has convinced us of the wisdom of making more changes.

BOARD OF ELEVATOR REGULATIONS

The Commissioner is empowered to appoint a Board of Elevator Regulations as occasion may require. No such Board has been appointed since the present Elevator and Escalator Regulations were approved by the Governor and Council on December 26, 1923, as no criticisms have been received to necessitate appointment of a new Board, which indicates general satisfaction with the existing regulations on this subject.

BUILDING INSPECTION

The building laws of the Commonwealth apply to the construction and maintenance of public buildings, including theatres, halls, churches, schoolhouses, places of assembly or public resort, factories, hotels, lodges and apartment houses, and buildings having accommodations for eight or more persons above the second story, also to the sanitation, heating and ventilation of the same. The said laws include the inspection and approval of the cinema or moving picture machine, and the licensing of operators therefor; the survey and condemnation of unsafe buildings, and inspection and approval of elevators in cities and towns having no building inspection department.

The enforcement of the cinematograph law requires considerable time of the inspectors, due to the danger arising from the use of this film in these entertainments, it being both highly inflammable and explosive, the quantity on hand having increased in proportion to the demand for longer entertainments. It seems strange to me that our national government has not stopped the making of films of this material, their transportation or storage, as no state could initiate such legislation without arousing serious opposition.

BOILER INSPECTION

Chapter 146 requires that all boilers shall be inspected yearly, and all air tanks for the storing of compressed air at any pressure exceeding fifty pounds per square inch for use in operating pneumatic machinery every two years, this work being done by the boiler inspectors who also, by the requirements of the statutes are required to examine all applicants for licenses to operate steam boilers and engines, and applicants for certificates of competency as inspectors of steam boilers in the employ of authorized insurance companies.

The rapid strides made in the construction and operation of steam boilers and engines within recent years imposes upon the inspectors the necessity for studying to keep abreast of the times, in order that they may not be accused of being guided by prejudices of the past.

The examination of applicants for license is a trying job, and, in order to be fair, it must of necessity consume the inspector's time and energy to a considerable extent. A license is generally very vital to the applicant, and one would expect a large amount of dissatisfaction from the candidates. However, this is not the case, and complaints as to unfairness or dissatisfaction with the results are small indeed, confined generally to unworthy candidates whose ambitions are far in excess of their ability.

The following insurance companies are authorized to inspect steam boilers in the Commonwealth:

The Aetna Casualty and Surety Company, Hartford. Alliance Casualty Company, Philadelphia. American Automobile Insurance Company, St. Louis. American Employers' Insurance Company, Boston. The 45 authorized insurance companies have in their employ 176 inspectors of steam boilers and air tanks who hold certificates of competency issued by this department. Thirty-five applicants for such certificates were examined during the year, 15 of whom were granted certificates of competency as inspectors of steam boilers for this Commonwealth, while 20 failed to pass the examination.

FIRE PREVENTION

The scope of the work of this division of the department includes the investigation of fires and the prosecution of cases arising from the malicious burning of property; the inspection of fire hazards; inspection of the storage and use of explosives, fireworks, volatile inflammable liquids and compounds, and general enforcement of fire prevention laws and regulations. The Safety Engineer who is assigned to the division acts in an advisory capacity in matters involving technical knowledge of fire prevention, fire protection and safety engineering. The engineer is also available for the inspection of premises where inflammable, explosive, or other materials dangerous to the public safety are stored, manufactured or used, and the examination of plans, devices, appliances and equipment which have relation to fire prevention and fire protection.

The work of investigation and inspection necessary to accomplish the purposes of the Division is performed by officers of the Division of State Police assigned to the Division of Fire Prevention and is supervised by the State Police Chief Fire Inspector who acts as assistant to the Fire Marshal. In order to insure systematic administration of the duties incidental to divisional activities the inspectors are assigned to designated districts. These districts are determined territorially with reference to fire hazard and frequency of fires and the headquarters of the inspector so located within the district as to be readily accessible to all members of the community. The inspectors are subject to call at all hours and are required to be ready for immediate service when called.

Outstanding contributions to fire prevention during 1930 have been the continuation of illustrated lectures on fires, fire protection and fire prevention, and a fire prevention radio broadcasting campaign. In the course of the radio broadcasting campaign, a series of talks have been given by heads of fire departments, inspectors of this division and others qualified by experience and training in the work of fire prevention. This series was commenced in May, 1930, and weekly talks have been continued to the present time.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS

(Bureau of Sunday Censorship)

In accordance with the provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws, for the year ending November 30, 1930, there was submitted to this Bureau for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety a total of 24,459 licenses and programs for entertainments to be held on the Lord's Day. Of this number, 24,432 were approved and 27 disapproved, shown as follows:—Brockton, 1; Clinton, 1; Fairhaven, 1; Fall River, 1; Gardner, 2; Gloucester, 1; Hudson, 1; Lawrence, 2; Lowell, 2; Methuen, 3; Pittsfield, 1; Shrewsbury, 2; Somerville, 1; Spencer, 1; Springfield, 1; Taunton, 1; Webster, 2; Westfield, 1; Worcester, 2.

Each of these licenses and programs was accompanied by a fee of $2.00, bringing in the amount of $48,918, which was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. This amount was $12,018 in excess of the year 1929.

In addition to the accomplishment of the above number of licenses, there were 7,279 reels of motion picture film censored for showing on the Lord's Day, which were disposed of as follows:

Number of reels approved	6,022
Number of reels approved with deletions	1,092
Number of reel disapproved	165
Footage of Film Censored	5,823,200

There were 2,547 vaudeville acts reviewed for showing on the Lord's day. Of this number, 1,034 acts were re-reviewed. The remaining 1,513 were acted upon as follows:

Acts Approved	500
Acts Approved with deletions	739
Acts Disapproved	274

The members of the Bureau investigate the varied and diversified entertainments held on the Lord's Day at the different theatres and halls during the winter months, but confine most of their activities to the beaches and amusement parks during the summer season, which are not open for more than three months.

We have been active during the past season checking up Miniature Golf courses, both indoor and outdoor, and golf driving ranges. This form of amusement, spreading with extremely great rapidity, created a great deal of confusion in this Bureau. We would invariably find courses throughout the Commonwealth operating without licenses. After investigation, it was often revealed that the fault in many instances was due to lack of knowledge in granting licenses for this form of amusement, in spite of the fact that all licensing authorities in the different cities and towns in the Commonwealth were notified of the necessary procedure as soon as it was determined by the Attorney General's office that this form of entertainment came under the laws, rules and regulations governing Lord's Day entertainments. This difficulty is now corrected, all licensing authorities seeming to understand the necessary course of action.

During investigation throughout the Commonwealth, we found courses which had been operating for several Sundays without a license as they were not familiar with the statute governing Sunday entertainments. When cases of this kind came to our attention, we would investigate the number of Sundays on which these particular courses had been operating without licenses, and permit them to file their applications for licenses by paying the fee of $2.00 for all back dates.

Below is a summary of the amusements and amounts collected for same during the year 1930:—

	Number of Li- censes	Amount
Miniature Indoor Golf	1,619	$3,238
Miniature Outdoor Golf	2,641	5,282
Golf Driving Ranges	561	1,122
Motion Picture Exhibitions, Vaudeville and Theatricals	14,867	29,734

27 Licenses for Various Amusements Disapproved	27	54

BUREAU OF EXPLOSIVES AND INFLAMMABLES

The State Police Laboratory was unusually busy throughout the year and from a review of the work performed, it is noted that a sharp increase in activities with reference to burglaries and incendiary fires, has taken place.

Ballistic evidence alone has reached such a volume that it engages about one half of the facilities and labor of the bureau.

Training in technical work, incident to criminal investigation was given to six inspectors from city police departments. Lectures on the same subject were delivered to Federal and State Police schools.

The laboratory has responded to calls from citizens, police and prosecutors in all parts of the Commonwealth.

The importance of this branch of our service and the definite help that it has given has been realized and recognized more and more, and the result has been ever increasing requests for assistance even though the present working conditions and facilities of the bureau are an impediment to further progress. In order that we may continue to serve to better and greater advantage, it will be necessary to acquire more space and further facilities.

The officer in charge is assigned as assistant to the Commissioner for duty in connection with the construction, maintenance and licensing of tanks, these duties being in addition to his duties as special boiler inspector.

Co-operation by manufacturers with the Department has tended to improve conditions and has brought about good results.

This year plans for 212 tanks were examined and approved, and permits granted for the construction and maintenance.

STATE BOXING COMMISSION

Another year of legalized boxing in the commonwealth has passed and, while boxing throughout the country has been more or less in a low stage due to several causes chief among which is a lack of outstanding contenders for high honors in the boxing world and to the lack of developement of new material for boxing in the minor classes, all this has resulted in a lack of interest by the public which has somewhat reduced the attendance at exhibitions. While this, together with the business depression existing during the year, might readily have affected our receipts from this source, a glance at the statistics will correct such an impression and show it to be above the average year.

During the year the rules and regulations governing boxing were revised, approved by the Governor and Council and became effective March 19, 1930.

This revision of the rules and regulations has, we believe, brought them strictly up to date and covered various phases that have arisen from time to time, since the original rules and regulations were adopted and so are the direct result of actual experience.

It is interesting and quite remarkable that, since the passage of the act in 1920 which legalized boxing in this Commonwealth and the construction of the rules and regulations here-to-fore in effect, and based upon that act, there has been no serious need of additional legislation or revision of rules and regulations during that period.

From a condition more or less chaotic so far as boxing was concerned prior to passage of the act, the control of boxing in Massachusetts under the Boxing Commission has been brought to a very satisfactory state when one considers the nature of the sport and the various interests involved, together with the peculiar and oftentimes contentious personnel comprising those promoting as well as those participating in this branch of sport.

We have been particularly fortunate in that appointed members of the Boxing Commission have been familiar with boxing in all its phases for many years, possessing a knowledge of the intricacies of the game, its former conduct and its present modern condition and, valuable above all these, a knowledge—the direct result of years of experience and of intimate acquaintance with the prime movers and actors in the game.

Under the revised rules and regulations it is now provided that, if the compensation of a boxer or boxers is declared forfeited in whole or in part by the referee, the sum or sums so forfeited shall be paid to the state treasurer at the same time and in the same manner as required under section 40, chapter 147, of the General Laws, for payment of the five per cent of the total gross receipts from the sale of tickets or admission fees.

This disposed of a matter which had become troublesome and by enforcement, is destined to have a wholesome effect on the conduct of boxers who, by accident or design, have contributed to the ill repute of some contests.

Boxing was authorized in the State by the legislature of 1920 and became effective in September of that year so that the receipts of those few months are not used in computing averages.

The following figures beginning with the full year 1921 and continuing up to and including 1930, ten years in all, show these receipts:—

YEAR	5 per cent	FEES	TOTALS
1920	$11,150.97	$15,721.20	$26,872.17
1921	$53,773.97	$34,579.51	$88,353.48
1922	42,209.94	24,621.32	66,831.26
1923	40,301.31	23,070.98	63,372.29
1924	39,860.97	23,818.08	63,679.05

It will be noted that the above figures show 1930 to be the "banner" year in receipts. It will be noted by the above that the average receipts for ten years for the five per cent of gross receipts is $48,013.11 and for fees, $26,651.61. In this ten year period there have been but four years when receipts, in both cases, have been greater than the year 1930 and six years that were below.

During the period of legalized boxing—ten years and three months, the commonwealth has benefited by a total, retained income of $508,581.72, or more than $50,000 net income per year. I consider this a very good showing and a record which speaks for itself.

During the period of its existence, the Boxing Commission has successfully handled to the satisfaction of those concerned, several very complex situations which called for great tact and good judgment.

It has maintained a dignified attitude; stood firmly by its decisions; gained the respect of all fair-minded persons and organizations with whom it had dealings, and its relations with similar boards or commissions in other states and in foreign countries have been amicable and of a nature to forward the best interests of the sport and of all concerned therewith.

Statistics for the period covered by this report ending November 30, 1930, are as follows:

Of the total number issued 10 were licensed as partnerships or corporations, paying fees of $200 each and the remaining 18 licensed as individuals paying a fee of $100 each, making a total of $3,800, which amount was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

NECROLOGY

I deeply regret to report the death of three members of the department during this fiscal year, the first being that of State Fire Marshal George Chesley Neal at his home in Lynn, December 14, 1929, at the age of more than 87 years, after more than 35 years' service in this department.

A gentleman of the "old school"; a citizen-soldier veteran of the Civil War; a patriotic citizen; a leader of men, a conscientious, well informed, hardworking, public official who gave of himself wholly and unsparingly in the service of his State and country.

Second among those who have passed away this year is James Walter Evans, 61 years old, one of our boiler inspectors, after 24 years of service for the Commonwealth.

He was a competent, hard-working servant of the State, possessed of a happy disposition and a friendly attitude, a qualification which endeared him to his fellows and made most agreeable his contact with the public in his dealings.

The third casualty suffered by the department was a most distressing affair, which suddenly snuffed out the life of Charles A. Better, one of the most promising young members of our uniformed State Police, in a fatal accident, while in performance of his duty. He had served but five months in the department, but during that time had proved himself a valuable addition to our force.

IN GENERAL

In closing the work of the fiscal year 1930, it is a matter of satisfaction to me to state that no great emergency arose to disrupt our regular order of business in the department. Nevertheless it was a strenuous year of work which always carries a natural increase over previous years and, as mentioned elsewhere in this report, much additional effort—particularly by our division of State Police, was made necessary by the year long observance, throughout the Commonwealth, of the 300th or Tercentenary celebration.

This brought numerous conventions and other great gatherings of people aggregating hundreds of thousands and increasing travel on our highways enormously.

All this, together with the every day routine in all divisions of the department, was cared for as here-to-fore by the continued and lively interest in their work and the willing co-operation in extended efforts made by the loyal corps of workers which constitutes the personnel of the department.

To all of them it is a pleasure to express my deep appreciation and together to look forward to another year of progress and accomplishment.

Respectfully submitted,

A. F. FOOTE, Commissioner.

INTRODUCTION

A review of the activities of the various divisions, bureaus and boards of this department for the year ending November 30, 1931, develops a record of earnest and effective service to the people of the commonwealth, and leads one to the inevitable conclusion that the work of an organization of this character is a valued safeguard to life and property, and an effective medium of law enforcement.

STATE POLICE

The manner in which the duties of this division of the department has been performed during the past year has been most satisfactory and greatly productive of constructive public service.

In addition to the work incidental to routine administration, patrol, and execution of ordinary functions, circumstances have developed many outstanding instances of effective work which deserve special mention, and a few of which are cited in this report. The files of the department are replete with reports of similar instances of police work efficiently performed.

(a) A patrolman attached to Troop A at Framingham, while on motorcycle patrol, was fired upon and wounded by an automobile bandit whom he had attempted to halt for questioning. After wounding the officer the bandit fled. Although severely injured, the officer communicated with Troop A headquarters at Framingham whence, by radio and teletype, alarm was flashed throughout the state. All roads in the vicinity of the shooting were covered immediately and, with the aid of messages broadcast by radio and teletype, the officers gradually converged on their objective. Within five hours of the original shooting the bandit was overtaken and in a revolver duel with the State Police officers was killed in the town of Spencer.

(b) An officer from the Holden station while on patrol sighted and, after a chase, captured two automobile thieves in a stolen car. The resulting investigation led to the clearing up of a series of ten robberies which these men had committed in Worcester and which, but for this investigation, might have remained unsolved. The prisoners and the recovered property were turned over to the Worcester police.

(c) As a result of an intensive investigation by Troop C, in conjunction with an investigator of the American Bankers Association, into the passing of forged American Travellers Checks in the central part of the state, the officers were able to apprehend a man and woman who were traveling the length of the eastern coast line leaving behind them a trail of these forged checks. Upon the arrest of these parties, it was discovered that they were wanted for similar offences in Maryland and Texas.

(d) A reported hold-up has been the means used occasionally by parties to cover their own misappropriation of funds. In connection with this kind of case, the State Police at Framingham, after an investigation, were able to break down the hold-up story advanced by an official of a union to cover his desire to appropriate the union funds to his own use with the result that the hold-up report was discredited and the official given a jail sentence.

(e) The malicious setting of fires in the open by irresponsible persons is in all probability an act which in cities of thickly settled districts does not occasion much comment due to the close proximity of motorized fire apparatus, but in the sparsely settled rural districts these acts may well take on a very serious aspect, as a fire started in a field or wood lot may very readily entail the loss of a farm house or even of life. Therefore, when an epidemic of small fires broke out in the outskirts of Northborough, farmers in the immediate vicinity became alarmed. The report of this situation to the Grafton station of the State Police caused the assignment of an officer to the case with the result that, after an investigation extending through three nights and days, the guilty person was apprehended and committed to the Westboro State Hospital for the Insane, and the fires ceased.

(f) Organized for the protection of the rural districts in the first instance, the State Police have always been primarily concerned with the police problems of these districts. Hence, when an epidemic of chicken stealing broke out in the rural districts of Worcester County and the Cape, additional night patrols on the back roads were ordered with the result that two gangs of chicken thieves were broken up, jail sentences given the offenders, and the reported larcenies ceased.

(g) The completion of investigation of an atrocious murder committed more than thirteen years ago was brought about in August by the arrest of the alleged murderer in a distant state. Following the occurrence of the crime in 1918, contacts were made with many points to establish a network to effect the apprehension of the murderer who was a fugitive from justice. The ground-work thus established resulted in the arrest of the fugitive when he made contact by letter with a Federal bureau in the national capitol. Officers who were familiar with the work done on the case thirteen years ago were dispatched to the state of his reported residence and there effected his arrest and returned him to Massachusetts.

(h) Early in the spring of 1931, information was received of an alleged conspiracy to burn a large summer hotel building located somewhere in Massachusetts. The acts of conspiracy were alleged to have occurred in an adjoining state, the actors were known, but the identity of the building could not be ascertained. The conspirators were kept under surveillance, and on the night chosen for the consummation of the crime, every road leading into Massachusetts in the vicinity of the other state line was covered either by Massachusetts State Police or the state police of the other jurisdiction. When the conspirators left the adjoining state, they were followed into Massachusetts, trailed to a large, vacant summer hotel building in Plymouth County, and were arrested on the premises by our officers. Later in court, upon pleas of guilty, they were sentenced to imprisonment in jail.

STATE POLICE EXHIBIT AT FAIRS

During the agricultural fair season, September 5th to October 8th, an exhibit depicting the functions and activities of the State Police was shown at fairs conducted at Sturbridge, Topsfield, Brockton, Springfield, Great Barrington and Northampton. It is estimated that the resources of the commonwealth for law enforcement and protection of life and property were directly impressed upon more than half a million people at these fairs.

The exhibit was an interesting portrayal of what the State Police does in its daily routine of law enforcement, and was accompanied by models, miniatures, replicas, charts, maps, stereopticons, actual demonstrations and lectures. A special detail of officers was on duty at the exhibit to give helpful information to all those making inquiries.

The State Police radio and teletype exhibits attracted great interest. By special arrangement with the telephone company, the teletype system was extended to the exhibition booth at each of the fair grounds and was in constant operation maintaining communication with headquarters. In addition to informing the public of the value of this feature of police communication, the teletype was of actual assistance in perfecting police details, transmitting police bulletins and coordinating traffic control in the vicinity of the fair grounds.

The radio division constructed a special broadcasting equipment which was installed at each exhibition booth and operated under special permission of the Radio Commission. In conjunction with the station, a cruiser car equipped with a receiving set was at the exhibition hall or cruising the grounds, and picked up broadcasts from the exhibit station as well as from the State Police radio broadcast at Framingham.

For the first time in the history of police radio communications, a re-broadcast over an amplification system was made from a cruiser car at the Northampton fair grounds. By placing the microphone of the amplification system used at the fair in juxtaposition with the speaker on the cruiser car, the broadcast from the State Police portable station in the exhibition booth was plainly heard upon the grounds.

Several thousand demonstrations of radio and teletype communication were given to the public generally, and special demonstrations were arranged for state, city and town authorities who visited the exhibit.

THE TELETYPEWRITER

The teletypewriter, mentioned in connection with the exhibit at fairs, is a machine for typewriting over telephone lines. This machine is electrically operated and has a keyboard that resembles a typewriter keyboard and is similarly operated. When the key is depressed, a letter or figure is instantly recorded at a distant point as well as on the sending machine. Thus, by simply operating the keyboard, a message may be sent from one machine to another at a distant point or to as many machines as may be desired.

We now have installed at the State House four teletypewriter machines and a teletype switchboard. One machine is connected to thirty-two police departments in the Greater Boston area, and three machines through a switchboard are connected to our State Police Troop Headquarters stations throughout the state. At our Holden station we have two machines, one on the State House line and the other on a circuit to Worcester and Springfield and thence to nine State Police and twelve local police stations in Connecticut.

Through this installation a message may be sent to one or all our stations simultaneously. Both sending and receiving machines record a typewritten message which eliminates possibility of misunderstanding. The teletypewriter is more speedy than the telephone because the switchboard is connected direct to all stations, and as the receiving machine typewrites automatically, it is unnecessary to contact any person at the receiving station before sending the message.

When it is considered that by this method important private messages may be sent from a central point to any number of connected stations without risk of being overheard or intercepted, the possibilities of the usefulness of this machine in police work may be appreciated.

The following are a few actual cases that demonstrate the speed, accuracy and efficiency of the teletypewriter:

(a) At four o'clock one Sunday morning, a Checker Taxicab was reported stolen from in front of a church in Boston. This report was teletyped to our Framingham radio station for broadcasting. A cruiser car patrolling in Cochituate received the message, and the officer was recording it when the stolen car passed on the road. The car was recovered and the criminal apprehended. The actual time elapsing from the first report to the time of the arrest was six minutes.

(b) A report of a missing person from Boston was teletyped to all stations in Massachusetts and Connecticut. In a surprisingly short time after receiving this message, the Worcester police teletyped back that they had located the missing person.

(c) A chief of police who was patrolling in a police cruiser car was wanted at his headquarters. The officer in charge teletyped to the State House asking that our radio station be notified to call the chief and have him communicate with his office. This message was relayed over our teletype system to the radio station and in five minutes after the request was received the chief was in communication with his headquarters by telephone.

In considering the success already attained by this means of communication, it is reasonable to predict that the telephone trunk lines will in time provide the means for linking up many police teletype systems of the United States into one vast intercommunication network. It will then be possible for one police department to communicate with any other department from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast.

STATE POLICE RADIO

A distinct feature of the development and progress of modern police methods is the trend toward better police communication systems. In Massachusetts, as in all other progressive states of the nation and, in fact, throughout the world, the year just passed has witnessed remarkable improvement in systems utilized for the communication of intelligence concerning police matters. At the recent International Police Conference at Paris which I attended, the keynote of all the conferences held on that occasion was the utilization of advanced methods of communication in police work.

During the year 1931, our State Police Station WMP has been on the air over 28,000 minutes, and has broadcast over 15,000 separate items of police business. The average time utilized for a single transmission of this character is ten minutes. During the year also, the number of cruiser cars equipped with radio receiving sets has been increased from three to ten. It has been noted with a great degree of satisfaction that with an average of fifty calls per month to these cars, there has not been one case of failure of reception.

This service is available to the cities and towns of the state in connection with the development of their police communication systems and for the dissemination of information concerning crime and criminals. It becomes available also to the Chiefs of Police or other police executives for the purpose of contacting their own cruiser cars whenever they may be cruising. In addition to the regularly scheduled broadcasts, service is maintained continuously. The broadcasts of flying weather conditions from this station have been found to be of material assistance to aviation within the state. These broadcasts are made six times daily. The information is secured at the State House from the East Boston Airport, then transmitted by teletype to our station at Framingham, and there put on the air for the benefit of all concerned.

IDENTIFICATION OF CRIMINALS

The transfer of the bureau for the identification of criminals from the Department of Correction to the Department of Public Safety was accomplished during the year under the authority of Chapter 350 of the Acts of 1931. This act became effective on May 26, 1931.

By the incorporation of this bureau in the Division of State Police, a closer coordination of criminal identification work has been effected, and the means provided for a twenty-four hour service of criminal identification to the various police departments of the state. As evidence of the utility of a bureau of this character in the department, it may be noted that the number of records received since the transfer has increased twenty per cent over that received during the corresponding months of 1930.

When the transfer was made, the agent for the identification of criminals serving in the Department of Correction, his assistant and other employees became members of the Department of Public Safety. The records of the bureau consisting of Bertillon photographs, finger print records and modus operandi classifications were also transferred and have greatly increased in number by additions during the last half of the fiscal year. At the present time, there are on file in the department 11,300 photographs, 14,508 Bertillon photographs, 187,644 finger print records, and 11,060 modus operandi classifications.

With the improvement in facilities for radio broadcasting and the further development of the teletype system of communication, the former methods of receiving and furnishing criminal identification information have been greatly improved. Arrangements have already been made for the training in finger print classification of the officers detailed to the communications service so that immediate service may be given to police departments at any hours of the day or night.

The establishment of this bureau in the department is a distinct forward step in the important work of criminal identification and cannot fail to result advantageously to police work throughout the state.

TRAFFIC CONTROL

During the year 1931, the Traffic Division of the State Police functioned with a personnel of one lieutenant and eighty patrolmen until August 1, 1931, when it was increased by thirty additional patrolmen. At present they are assigned as follows: Troop A, covering Essex, Middlesex and Norfolk Counties, thirty-five patrolmen; Troop B, covering Berkshire, Hampden, Hampshire and Franklin Counties, twenty-three patrolmen; Troop C, covering Worcester County, twenty-one patrolmen; Troop D, covering Plymouth, Bristol, Barnstable, Dukes and Nantucket Counties, thirty patrolmen; and at headquarters in the State House for administrative duties, one lieutenant and one patrolman.

The members of the division handled 28,738 automobile violations during the year which were disposed of as follows: Warnings given by officers, 11,824; summons to court, 8,728; arrests, 853; warnings by letter from this office, 7,134; recommendations forwarded to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles for suspension of licenses or registrations, 199.

The personnel of the division also served 45,819 cards on drivers of motor vehicles containing notification of defective equipment of automobiles. These cards are made in duplicate and are used for the purpose of notifying the owners of motor vehicles to have the defects remedied. When this has been done, the automobile owner or driver is required to secure the signature of a representative of the Registrar at an approved testing station. It is further provided that the card be then mailed to State Police headquarters.

In addition to maintaining traffic patrols, the division handled the following assignments: Escorts given, 187, for a total of 1,023 one-man days; requests from other state departments for service, 49, for a total of 846 one-man days; requests for traffic officers from other police departments, 115, for a total of 920 one-man days. Officers were also assigned to duty at sixteen agricultural fairs in number sufficient to total 855 one-man days.

STATE POLICE TRAINING SCHOOL

The Training School was continued in operation throughout the year. During the early part of the year, a class of replacements for existing vacancies was trained and graduated.

Authorization having been secured from the legislature, the number of officers in the Division of State Police was increased by thirty, and for this purpose a class was trained and made available for assignment to duty on the first of August. Upon the completion of the training of this class, a lieutenant, who serves as commanding officer of the school, and two sergeants attended the National Police School at Camp Perry, Ohio, and were also competitors in the National Police marksmanship matches which were conducted under the auspices of that school.

Reconditioning classes composed of men in actual service for periods of one year or more have been commenced at the school, and these special classes will be maintained during the winter months until every member of the uniformed force has attended.

HIGHWAY SAFETY

Acting in cooperation with the Governor's Committee on Street and Highway Safety, the assignment of two State Police officers to the committee was continued during the year. These officers were engaged throughout the year in giving safety talks to school children for the purpose of child safety education. Their services were also available to the committee for 286 safety talks to service clubs, parent-teacher associations, women's clubs, American Legion posts, fraternal organizations and church groups.

In the performance of their duties, these officers carried the message of safety education to approximately 350,000 school children, visiting 264 cities and towns in connection with their work and nearly 1,000 school buildings. In addition, 200 visits were made to summer camps where safety talks appropriate to the circumstances were given to children. A third State Police officer is also assigned to the committee and performs similar duties under the direction of the Springfield Safety Council covering the four western counties where he has addressed a total of 85,538 pupils in 260 schools on safety educational matters in addition to assisting in the formation of local safety patrols among these pupils.

STATE POLICE BUILDINGS

The housing accommodations for State Police units were increased during the last year by the completion of a troop headquarters building at Northampton and sub-station buildings at Lee, Monson and Grafton. The improved living and working conditions made possible by the erection and occupation of these buildings will increase the efficiency of the various units benefited by the change, and result in a distinct gain to the public in better police service. In addition to housing a troop or its sub-divisions at their normal strength, these buildings are designed to accommodate a much larger number of men during any emergency which may require concentration of large numbers of officers at a given point.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURES

The use of illustrated lectures during the year for the purpose of indoctrination of public safety and fire prevention ideas has been a successful medium through which the public has been informed of the resources of the state for the protection of life and property. Illustrated talks concerning the functions and activities of the various units of the department were given by a State Police Inspector on thirty-eight occasions to audiences composed of policemen and firemen, various service clubs and fraternal organizations. The large number of letters which have been received, containing favorable comment on these talks, indicates an increased interest on the part of the public in this branch of the public service. It is intended that this phase of our work will be continued during the coming year.

STATE POLICE BOAT PROTECTOR

The police service of the department is extended to the waters of the commonwealth by the State Police Boat. By this means the territorial waters of the state are patrolled in the general enforcement of law. The State Police officers on duty in this vessel devote special attention to pollution of the waters by oil, assist in enforcing the fish and game laws and motor boat muffler laws, aid vessels and persons in distress and recover stolen property.

The boat remained on outside patrol during the year. Although designed for efficiency in ice breaking, there was very little demand for the boat this year for that purpose as the ice encountered consisted only of mush ice. In the spring and fall of the year, the outlying islands upon which summer cottages are located were visited.

An increase was noted in the number of complaints received regarding noise from the operation of motor boats. This has been particularly noticeable in the case of the operation of speed boats and outboard motor boats both on inland and coastal waters. These complaints have been received from both permanent residents and summer vacationists. Investigations of these complaints have necessitated visits to Edgartown, Onset, New Bedford, Marion, Plymouth, Duxbury, Quincy, Braintree, Hull, Weymouth, Hingham, Nahant, Lynn, Moss' Pond in Wellesley, Greenwood Lake in Attleboro, Webster Lake in Southbridge, Lake Pearl in Wrentham, Robbins Pond in East Bridgewater, Lake Mascupic in Tyngsboro, Lake Pleasant in Harwich, Lake Boone in Stow, Dudley Pond in Wayland, Lake Quannapowitt in Wakefield, Lake Nippenicut in Bridgewater, Lake Machonis in Wilbraham, and Whalom Lake in Lunenburg. The motor boats inspected numbered 163, and outboard motor boats, 171. In 11 of these cases warnings were given regarding violations of the Federal regulations concerning lights, and in 18 cases for violations of the muffler law.

Investigation of complaints of pollution of waters by oil is the greatest problem with which we have to contend in coastal waters. In connection with investigations of this character, 337 oil plants were inspected, and in 108 instances tankers and supply boats were boarded and inspected. The results of these inspections have been most gratifying due to the splendid cooperation given by the officials and employees concerned.

On occasions when circumstances made it possible, assistance was rendered to the Division of Fish and Game of the Department of Conservation in matters connected with the enforcement of the fish and game law. There were 15 arrests for violations of the shell fish law, and of this number one defaulted, one was discharged, seven were fined twenty dollars ($20), two were fined twenty dollars ($20) and put on probation for three months, and four were fined twenty dollars ($20) and put on probation for six months.

There were two arrests for drunkenness; one case was placed on file, and in the other the defendant was given 30 days in the House of Correction. There were 12 arrests for gaming on the Lord's day, and of this number six were fined fifteen dollars ($15), three were fined twenty-five dollars ($25), one was fined twenty dollars ($20), and two were fined five dollars ($5) and put on probation for one year.

Following is the statistical report of the activities of the Division of State Police for the year 1931:

DIVISION OF INSPECTION

The Division of Inspection, the organization of which is provided for by Chapter 22 of the General Laws, includes the director designated as Chief of Inspections, twenty-one building inspectors, one of whom is assigned as supervisor of plans, and twenty-six boiler inspectors, one of whom is in charge of the Bureau for the Storage of Liquids. Each inspector is assigned to a designated district for the enforcement of the statutes and regulations of the department. There are eighteen building inspection districts and twenty-five boiler inspection districts in the commonwealth.

Chapter 143 of the General Laws, enforced by the building inspectors, applies to the construction and occupancy of certain classes of buildings under their jurisdiction.

Chapter 146 of the General Laws, enforced by the boiler inspectors, applies to the inspection of steam boilers and air tanks, and to the examination and licensing of engineers, firemen and operators of hoisting machinery.

All the inspectors are appointed from the eligible lists of the Department of Civil Service and Registration of the commonwealth.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES

Chapter 146 of the General Laws provides for the appointment of a Board of Boiler Rules composed of the Chief of Inspections as chairman, and four other members appointed by the Commissioner. The Board is required to hold two semi-annual hearings to consider petitions for changes in the steam boiler rules, one on the first Thursday in May, and the other on the first Thursday in November. The Board takes suggested changes under advisement, and if the changes are acceptable, a date is set for a further public hearing which must be advertised in at least one newspaper in each of the cities of Boston, Worcester, Springfield, Fall River, Lowell and Lynn. After such hearing, the changes found to be necessary become effective upon approval by the Governor and Council.

The steam boiler rules, air tank regulations, rules for ammonia compressor safety valves, and rules for low pressure heating boilers have continued in force during the year giving general satisfaction.

The Board of Boiler Rules held twelve meetings during the year. Practically all of the meetings were devoted to the consideration of boilers of special designs not covered by the rules.

BOARD OF ELEVATOR REGULATIONS

No requests having been received for changes in the present elevator and escalator regulations which were approved by the Governor and Council on December 26, 1923, they have been continued in operation to the satisfaction of all concerned.

BUILDING INSPECTION

The building laws of the commonwealth apply to the construction and maintenance of public buildings including theatres, halls, churches, schoolhouses, places of assembly or public resort, factories, hotels, lodging and apartment houses, and buildings having accommodations for eight or more persons above the second story; also to the sanitation, heating and ventilation of such buildings. The said laws include the inspection and approval of the cinema or moving picture machine and the licensing of operators therefor, the survey and condemnation of unsafe buildings, and the inspection and approval of elevators in cities and towns which do not have a building inspection department.

The enforcement of the cinematograph law requires considerable of the inspectors' time because of the danger arising from the use of this film in entertainments, it being both highly inflammable and explosive, and the quantity on hand having increased in proportion to the demand for longer entertainments.

BOILER AND AIR TANK INSPECTION

Chapter 146 of the General Laws requires that all boilers not exempted by law shall be inspected annually; also air tanks used for the storage of compressed air at pressures exceeding fifty pounds per square inch in operating pneumatic machinery must be inspected every two years. This work is done by the boiler inspectors of this department. They are also required to examine applicants for licenses to operate steam boilers and engines, and applicants for certificates of competency as inspectors of steam boilers in the employ of authorized insurance companies.

Thirty-six applicants appealed from the refusal of inspectors to grant licenses to engineers, firemen or operators of hoisting machinery. The inspectors' decisions were sustained in twenty-eight instances, while in the remaining eight cases the licenses were granted by the Board of Appeal.

The following insurance companies are authorized to inspect and insure steam boilers and air tanks in this commonwealth:

DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION

The personnel of this division were engaged during the year in the investigation of fires and the prosecution of cases arising from the malicious burning of property, inspection of the storage and use of explosives, fireworks, volatile inflammable liquids, inflammable compounds, and reported fire hazards, and in the general enforcement of fire prevention laws and regulations.

The revision of Chapter 148 of the General Laws, which was effected by Chapter 399 of the Acts of 1930, became operative December 1, 1930, at the beginning of the fiscal year. By this revision, the Metropolitan Fire Prevention District, which was established by Chapter 795 of the Acts of 1914, was abolished and the provisions of the chapter made uniform throughout the state.

Notable success was achieved during the year in the investigation and prosecution of arson and incendiarism. This type of investigation and prosecution presents many difficulties and entails energetic and persistent effort on the part of the investigating officers to insure satisfactory results. The officers assigned to this duty have been aided greatly in their work by the efficient cooperation of the various district attorneys and of the courts.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS

(Bureau of Sunday Censorship)

In accordance with the provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws, for the year ending November 30, 1931, there was submitted to this Bureau for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety a total of 27,127 licenses and programs for entertainments to be held on the Lord's Day. Of this number, 27,110 were approved and 17 disapproved, shown as follows: Fall River, 1; Framingham, 1; Lowell, 1; Milford, 1; New Bedford, 2; Revere, 3; Shrewsbury, 1; Somerset, 1; Springfield, 1; Stockbridge, 1; Ware, 1; Worcester, 3.

Each of these licenses and programs was accompanied by a fee of $2, bringing in the amount of $54,254, which was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. This amount was $5,336 in excess of the year 1930.

In addition to the approval or disapproval of the above number of licenses, there were 7,264 reels of motion pictures film censored for showing on the Lord's Day, which were disposed of as follows:

Number of reels approved	6,170
Number of reels approved with deletions	985
Number of reels disapproved	109
Footage of film censored	6,356,000

There was also submitted for censorship 110 Mutoscope reels and 99 sets of drop cards which were disposed of as follows:

Mutoscope (approved)	109
Mutoscope (disapproved)	1
Drop cards (approved)	89
Drop cards (disapproved)	10

There were 2,684 new vaudeville acts reviewed for showing on the Lord's Day. Of this number, 973 acts were re-reviewed. The remaining 1,711 were acted upon as follows:

Acts approved	757
Acts approved with deletions	668
Acts disapproved	286

The personnel assigned to this Bureau perform various duties on the Lord's Day in addition to their regular functions as censors. These duties are to investigate complaints, check licenses at the many theatres, amusement parks and beaches throughout the Commonwealth to determine whether or not the entertainments are given as approved. They are also called upon to pass on the many games, amusement devices and freak shows at the different beaches and summer parks, and which appear in great numbers at the opening of the summer season. In connection with this work, we are receiving the cooperation of the majority of the operators of these amusement enterprises, but careful supervision is necessary in order to insure compliance with the law.

Below is a summary of the amusements and amounts collected in license fees during the year 1931:

BUREAU OF EXPERT ASSISTANTS

The duties of the expert assistants to the Commissioner include, among other things, the inspection, analysis and testing of explosives, inflammable fluids and compounds, investigations concerning the manufacture and use of firearms and ammunition, ballistic activities, microscopy, photomicrography, finger printing and classification, handwriting and photography. The personnel of this bureau aid also in the investigation of capital crimes and give expert testimony in prosecutions arising from such investigations.

With the aid of modern apparatus used in the bureau, much assistance was rendered to other law enforcement authorities throughout the state during the year. If this assistance had not been available to them, it would have been necessary in many instances for local authorities to have employed private experts at great expense. These services have been available to the courts and police departments without costs to them, and have been a distinct contribution to the public safety over a wide field.

BUREAU FOR THE STORAGE OF LIQUIDS

This bureau is maintained for the enforcement of the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 148, Sections 37 and 38, relative to the construction, use and maintenance of above-ground tanks of more than ten thousand gallons capacity for the storage of fluids other than water.

The officer in charge is assigned as assistant to the Commissioner for the enforcement of this law in addition to his duties as special boiler inspector.

This work includes the examination of plans, the figuring of stresses, determining compliance with specifications established by regulations, inspection of proposed sites for tank construction, and conferences with engineers, tank manufacturers, architects, public and private fire protection officials, licensing authorities and other municipal officers.

During the year ending November 30, 1931, permits were granted in 125 instances for the construction and maintenance of tanks under this law.

Since the enactment of this law in 1921, there has been a great improvement in the maintenance of storages of this character due in no small measure to the spirit of cooperation shown by the manufacturers of tanks and others who are interested in installations which are subject to the provisions of the law.

Number of cities and towns in which tanks are located	187	193
Number of corporations maintaining tanks	275	303

STATE BOXING COMMISSION

The State Boxing Commission was organized under the authority of Chapter 619 of the Acts of 1920 and is at present functioning under the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 22, section 12 and Chapter 147, sections 32 to 51, inclusive.

The number of exhibitions held under this law during the fiscal year ending November 30, 1931, was 31 less than the number conducted during the previous year, which resulted in a reduction in revenue from license fees and the 5% state tax of nearly $19,000. This decline may be explained in part by the prevailing economic depression and its consequent effect upon the patronage of these exhibitions.

The special commission provided for by Chapter 43 of the Resolves of 1930 to make a survey and study of the laws and regulations of this and other states governing the conduct of professional boxing made a final report to the legislature in February, 1931. The report contained recommendations for enactment into law of certain additions to the boxing law.

These changes are embodied in Chapter 437 of the Acts of 1931 and add the following features to the boxing laws:—making it mandatory that the referee declare forfeited any prize or purse of one or both contestants if, in the judgment of the majority of the judges and referee, the contestants are not competing in good faith; providing that the majority vote of the judges and referee shall decide each match; requiring that the decision be announced from the ring at the termination of the match; allowing championship matches of not exceeding 15 rounds; limiting amateur contestants to no more than 3 contests between 12 o'clock of any day and 12:30 o'clock of the morning of the next day; providing that amateur matches shall not be continued beyond 12:30 o'clock in the morning; requiring contestants to wear a standard protective device approved by the commission and, unless otherwise authorized by the commission, requiring contestants in amateur matches to wear 8 ounce gloves.

It is provided in General Laws, chapter 147, section 22, that no person shall engage in the business of or solicit business as a private detective unless licensed so to do according to law. Licenses of this character are issued by the Commissioner of Public Safety after careful investigation of the character and standing of the applicants. During the fiscal year of 1931 there was issued a total of 33 licenses, seven of which were new licenses to individuals, seventeen were renewals to individuals and nine were renewals by corporations. Fees amounting to $4,200 were received for these licenses and paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

NECROLOGY

It is with extreme regret that I report the death of two members of this department during the year. Colonel Paul J. Norton, Executive Secretary of the department, died at his home in Newton on October 24th, at the age of 63 years.

Colonel Norton had been affiliated with the department for approximately eleven years and brought to the public service a fine sense of honor, industry, efficiency and loyalty—traits of character which combined to make him a most upright citizen and a faithful, painstaking, public servant. Born at Great Barrington, Massachusetts, February 9, 1868, and living always in this state, he entered the military service of the commonwealth in 1892, serving through the various grades from private to colonel. During the World War he served overseas as Adjutant of the 104th Infantry, 26th Division, and after the war was advanced to the command of the regiment.

Possessed of a deep appreciation of the responsibility imposed upon members of the public service, he discharged even the most commonplace duties with that degree of care and thoroughness indicative of the soldierly qualities for which he was distinguished. The life of Colonel Norton was a fine example of loyal service; his death occasions a distinct loss to the department and to the commonwealth which he served.

The death of Alfred J. Beaupre occurred on November 22nd at his home in Quincy. The deceased entered the department service January 7, 1924, and at the time of his death was 36 years of age. During the World War he served in the 478th Aero Squadron in the grade of Sergeant.

A lovable personality, he endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact by reason of his unselfish devotion to duty and loyalty to principle. His service to the department was characterized by efficiency and loyalty, and his passing deprives the community of a good citizen and a faithful public servant.

IN GENERAL

The fiscal year now closed has witnessed a gratifying improvement in the means and methods afforded for the suppression of crime and the protection of life and property. The use of the radio, teletypewriter and other mediums of communication in police work has given our commonwealth a prominent place in the records of progress of this character to the benefit and advantage of the public.

In concluding this report, I wish to thank His Excellency the Governor, the Honorable Executive Council, the members of the General Court, the Honorable Attorney General, and other executive and administrative officials of the commonwealth for their hearty cooperation in the public service. I wish to extend also to the members of this department my thanks and appreciation for the efficient and loyal assistance they have given me in the many and varied tasks which it has been our duty to perform. With a personnel that is efficient, tactful, loyal and honest, a great deal of constructive service has been accomplished. The attainment of this success gives promise of equally gratifying results during the forthcoming year.

Respectfully submitted,

A. F. FOOTE, Commissioner.

DIVISION OF STATE POLICE

As at present constituted, the Division of State Police includes the uniformed police, a bureau of State Police Detectives, a bureau of State Police Fire Inspectors and a number of civilian employees necessary to effective operation. Original appointments to the division are made as patrolman in the uniformed ranks and advancement in rating depends upon the efficiency and qualifications of the individual. The division functions as a unit with the sole object of developing intelligent and effective police service.

The uniformed force is organized with a headquarters at the State House and in four troops with headquarters at strategic points throughout the State, each troop covering a separate enforcement zone. In addition to the troop headquarters in each zone, there are four sub-stations so located within the zone as to provide effective operation. The average age of state police officers is thirty years and the average length of service is five years. This force is charged with the duty of enforcing the laws generally, protecting property, apprehending and prosecuting criminals, controlling traffic and assisting local authorities when requested or in emergencies. Among the important services rendered to local communities are assistance given during conflagrations, floods, epidemics of disease, forest fires, major accidents, special duty at fairs, celebrations and other occasions where large numbers of people are assembled.

EQUIPMENT OF STATE POLICE

Uniforms. Each member of the uniformed force is provided with two complete winter uniforms, a leather coat and two complete summer uniforms. An additional supply of fatigue and training equipment and a small emergency reserve of clothing are maintained at all times. All uniforms are carefully inspected and necessary repairs are made whenever required so that all uniforms are kept in good serviceable condition.

Emergency and First Aid. Each motorcycle in the division has been provided with a special carrier for the purpose of carrying first aid kits. Thus each man who rides a motorcycle has facilities at hand at all times to take care of any emergency that may arise where first aid is needed. Each automobile in the division is also equipped with a first aid kit and large first aid kits are kept on hand at the various stations in sufficient quantity to take care of any emergency that may arise.

Weapons. Each member is provided with a Smith and Wesson, six shot, calibre .38 revolver and a Peerless handcuff. Each station is provided with riot guns of all types. A supply of tear gas is also maintained, which is adapted to laying down a gas cloud and a sufficient number of tear gas bombs and gas masks are provided.

Motor Vehicles. The division is provided with the following motor vehicle equipment:

237 Motorcycles	1 American-La France Truck
54 Touring Cars	1 Dodge Truck
9 Chevrolet Coupes	1 Ford Truck
1 Reo Coupe	4 Reo Trucks.
15 Studebaker Sedans

The matter of transportation is a very important factor in police work as it cuts down the time element in solving criminal cases, widens the range of operations of each station and is absolutely necessary in the regulation of traffic.

Horses. The division is provided with 38 horses. The horse is necessary for handling crowds at fairs, parades and other situations involving the gathering of large numbers of people; for reaching districts not provided with suitable road for motor vehicles; and for patrol on roads impassable to motor vehicles during bad weather. They are also used for the purpose of training recruits at the State Police Training School.

STATE POLICE DETECTIVES

The detective bureau of the state police consists of a chief of detectives and twenty-one members under his charge. These men enforce the criminal law and investigate felonies where no organized police are maintained, or where maintained, when requested, prosecute cases in the municipal and district courts and act as aids to the district attorneys in the preparation of cases for prosecution in the superior court. They are also available for special investigations for the Executive Department, the Attorney-General's office and other state departments.

STATE POLICE FIRE INSPECTORS

The state police fire inspectors are assigned to perform their duties in the division of fire prevention under the direction of a state police chief fire inspector. In order to insure systematic administration of their duties the inspectors are assigned to designated districts. These districts are determined territorially and the headquarters of the inspector is so located that he is readily accessible to all members of the community. The work of these inspectors includes the investigation of causes of fires and, if such fires are found to have been due to incendiarism, to detect and apprehend the person responsible, the preparation of evidence for fire inquests and for the prosecution of the cases in court.

EFFECTIVE POLICE SERVICE

In the performance of their duties during the year just ended the State police have developed many outstanding instances of effective police work. The few instances which are cited below are given because they illustrate the character of the work of the State Police in the ordinary routine of their duties.

(a) A patrolman had been called to the assistance of town police officers who had attempted to serve an order of commitment upon an insane woman. When the attempt was made to serve the order, the woman was found to be armed with a loaded revolver and to have resisted efforts to take her. In the course of her resistance she had fired several shots at the officers. Upon the arrival of the state police patrolman, the woman, who had locked herself and her small child in a room in the upper floor of her home, fired through the door at him when he requested admittance. Exercising coolness and judgment, the patrolman waited until the weapon was emptied and then forced the door. Confronting the woman, he succeeded by peaceful persuasion in disarming her, thus preventing serious or fatal injuries to all parties concerned.

(b) A resident of a small town was found shot and killed in his home. Among other articles found near the body was a fragment of wood, which later was found to fit the broken stock of a shotgun owned by the suspect. The suspect offered an alibi by which he sought to place himself at a point far distant from the scene of the murder on the night of its occurrence. A patrolman who was present at the questioning of the suspect recalled that on the night of the murder he stopped the suspect within five minutes walk of the home of the murdered man to caution him concerning a defective tail light on his automobile. This identification, together with other evidence, brought about the con-victim of the suspect for murder in the first degree, and he was later electrocuted.

(c) On September 27, 1932, the home of Judge Thayer of the Superior Court at Worcester was bombed. In connection with the investigation of this crime, it was deemed advisable to check up on quantities of dynamite reported stolen from every city and town in the State. Through the medium of the teletype and motorcycle officers from the various stations and sub-stations, a complete checkup of every city and town in the State was completed in approximately seven hours. During this investigation also it was necessary to interview the users of certain roads in the vicinity of Worcester. This check-up required three days and in the course of the investigation 1,505 persons were interviewed and their statements transcribed and submitted for further investigation.

(d) On October 17, 1932, at 9 p.m., a hold-up occurred at the Mechanics Cooperative Bank in Taunton, in which four bandits took part and $7,700 in cash was stolen. On receipt of a telephone call from the Taunton Police, patrols were immediately sent out to cover the roads in the vicinity and a detail of officers went to the assistance of the local police. Early on the following morning the four men were arrested in an adjoining town and $5,000 of the amount stolen was recovered. Within ten hours of the time when the crime was committed the greater part of the stolen money was recovered, the four participants in the crime arrested and two stolen automobiles used in the commission of the crime were recovered. The four bandits who participated in this crime have since been convicted and sentenced to terms in prison.

(e) Upon investigation of larcenies reported by various farmers in western Middlesex County, seven persons were arrested and charged with breaking and entering and larceny in the night time. The arrest and prosecution of these men cleared up approximately fifty reported larcenies, the defendants being convicted upon prosecution in court and later sentenced. The thefts in these cases covered a wide variety of articles including chickens, eggs, gasoline, kerosene, harness oil, clothing, wood, lumber, electric light poles, garden produce, fruit, farm tools, automobile parts, fuel and furniture. One of the defendants in this case when arrested was driving an automobile loaded with some of the above-mentioned stolen articles and was en route to a destination in the maritime provinces.

(f) Upon receipt of a call for assistance from officers in a Worcester County town, a patrolman accompanied the officers in the investigation of certain larcenies from some cottages in the town. Tracing footsteps in the snow leading to a house, the patrolman entered the house and arrested two armed men. These arrests resulted in clearing up reports of the breaking and entering of thirty-two cottages in that part of the county.

(g) On June 28, 1932, at 2:15 a.m., a patrolman discovered five men in the act of stealing gasoline from the tank of a steam roller which was being used in road construction in Worcester County. The officer took the five men to the nearest sub-station, where they were booked for the larceny of the gasoline. Upon further examination they were found to have participated in a hold-up and robbery in Middlesex County.

(h) A group of swindlers prepared and distributed so called information blanks with intent to defraud business firms. On these blanks the genuine signatures of many business firms were secured. They then devised spurious contracts out of the blanks and printed them over the genuine signatures. The contracts purported to be for advertising in a fake directory made by the conspirators by stripping and faking a standard directory already published and by altering it to suit the scheme of the swindlers. They then proceeded to collect from business concerns and in the process exhibited a copy of the fake directory. This scheme to defraud was broken up by the work of a state detective, who was assigned to the case and who in cooperation with better business interests protected from the swindlers more than 250 business firms whose signatures had been secured through the fraud.

(i) A scheme to create a fictitious value or market price for the sale of stock to the public with false representations as to its value was set on foot by a group of conspirators. Contacts were made with the public by means of salesmen, radio and literature, and subscribers were otherwise solicited. Numerous sales were made and the fraud well advanced when a state detective was assigned to assist the District Attorney in charge of an investigation of the scheme. This investigation resulted in the arrest and conviction of the conspirators for conspiracy to defraud and larceny.

TELETYPE

The State Police Teletype has developed to such an extent since its inception on December 30, 1930, that a brief sketch of its growth may be of interest.

On December 31, 1930, a teletype machine was installed for demonstration at the State Police Headquarters in the State House. This machine was connected to the Police circuit comprising 32 police departments in and around Boston. This was a party-line and what one department sent, all other departments on the circuit received. As a result of a six months study of this circuit it was decided that a police teletype system was a practical idea and, therefore, an official teletype unit was organized and trained.

On July 1, 1931, a teletype switchboard and three teletype machines were installed in the State House and at the same time one machine was installed in each Troop Headquarters (Framingham, Northampton, Holden, West Bridgewater) with direct connections to the State House. With this set-up we were able to send to all Troop Headquarters at once or to any desired Troop and at the same time receive messages from the other Troops. This hook-up covered, however, only the Troop Headquarters area and necessitated a relay to the sub-stations in each troop by telephone.

On April 1, 1932, teletype machines were installed at all our sub-stations. These were on a party line connected to their respective Troop Headquarters. In order for a message to be sent from the State House to a sub-station, it was sent to the Troop Headquarters of that sub-station and then relayed on the sub-station circuit to the desired sub-station. Also, if a sub-station in one Troop desired to send a message to a sub-station in another Troop, the sub-station sent its message to its Headquarters and they in turn relayed it to the Headquarters of the desired sub-station who in turn relayed it to the sub-station.

Shortly after this, a circuit from the Springfield and Worcester Police Departments was connected to our Troop Headquarters station at Holden at no cost to the Commonwealth. With this hook-up Springfield and Worcester could by relay send a message to any State Police Station and also to any department on the Greater Boston Police circuit. In turn we could send messages by relay through the Springfield Police to both the Municipal and State Police Systems of Connecticut, there being a total of 23 stations on the Connecticut systems covering the entire state.

On April 15, 1932, an additional teletype machine was installed at the State Police station at Lee connecting the Massachusetts State Police Teletype System to the New York State Police Teletype System and through this connection it was possible to send and receive messages to and from the New Jersey and Pennsylvania Police Teletype Systems comprising a total of 656 teletype stations in the five states and constituting the so-called Five State Police Broadcast circuit.

On July 1, 1932, another teletype machine was installed at the State House—known as the "Coast to Coast" machine. On this circuit it is possible to send a message to any city, town, or state police in the United States that has a teletype machine installation. However, there is no cost for this machine except a standard rate charge whenever the machine is used.

On November 1, 1932, the system of handling teletype communications which, as above stated, necessitated a relay of each State House broadcast to each Headquarters and from the Troop Headquarters to its sub-stations was eliminated and a new system set up by the installation of teletype switchboards at each Troop Headquarters. With these switchboards, the operator at each Troop Headquarters can set up a through connection from the State House to any station desired—or set up a through connection from any one station to any other station on the Massachusetts State Police System, including also the Worcester and Springfield Police Departments. Provision is also made so that the control point at the State House may, if it is so desired, send to all stations throughout the State in one transmission. As an example of how this transmission is handled, the control point sends out the code signal "G. B. C." (General Broadcast) and each Troop Headquarters' Teletype Operator sets up a broadcast connection to all his sub-stations and associates this set-up with the State House line. An interval of 20 seconds is allowed for the switch-over by the control point and, at the expiration of this interval, the message to be broadcast is sent out from the control point and is being received at all the stations throughout the state on the State Police circuit.

EXAMPLES ILLUSTRATING THE UTILITY AND EFFICIENCY OF THE TELETYPE SYSTEM OF POLICE COMMUNICATION

(a) At 6:10 a.m., July 2, 1932, a message was sent to all troop headquarters and sub-stations that an Autocar Truck, Maine registration x-29 (last three figures unknown), was stolen in Portland, Maine. About three hours later a supplementary message reporting this registration to be x-29,014 was broadcast to all troops and sub-stations. At 9:45 p.m. of the same day the Framingham station reported that Autocar Truck, Main Registration x-29,014, had been recovered by officers at the Wrentham sub-station and that two men who were riding in the truck had been arrested. The owners of the truck at Portland were immediately notified of its recovery.

(b) At 9:58 p.m., July 4, 1932, an inquiry was broadcast to all stations and sub-stations concerning a person missing from Hartford, Connecticut, who was supposed to be operating a Buick Roadster. This request was relayed from the State Police at Hartford, Connecticut, at the request of the family of the missing person. At 10:10 p.m. or twelve minutes after the first message had been broadcast the Framingham station reported that the person in question had been found at the Norwood Hospital by officers of the Wrentham sub-station. This information was immediately relayed to the State Police at Hartford, Connecticut.

(c) At 10:40 a.m., August 24, 1932, a message was sent to all troops and sub-stations that a person of a certain name and description, driving an automobile with New Jersey registration numbers, was wanted for a serious offence involving a feeble minded girl, sixteen years of age. At 7:30 p.m. of the same day a supplementary message was broadcast, giving the information that the person wanted had checked out of a Boston hotel with the announced intention of going to one of the county fairs. At 1:08 p.m., the following day the state police sub-station at Norwell reported the party under arrest and held for the authorities of the town in which the offence was committed.

(d) At 10:54 a.m., August 18, 1932, a message was sent to all troops and sub-stations, giving the registration of an automobile stolen in Rhode Island. At midnight of the same day the Pittsfield Police reported to our Northampton station for relay to Connecticut, where the owner of the car was located, the information that the car and its operator were being held at Pittsfield awaiting action of the Connecticut officers.

(e) At 8:44 a.m., November 29, 1932, a message was broadcast to all stations and over the Five State circuit that a holdup had occurred at the North Brookfield Bank, giving the registration of a Massachusetts car used in the holdup and ordering all roads covered in the vicinity of the holdup. Eleven minutes later the information was broadcast that the Massachusetts car mentioned in the previous item had been found abandoned. At 9:04 a.m. or twenty minutes after the original broadcast descriptions of the holdup men were broadcast to all stations. At 9:05 another message was broadcast and transmitted also to our radio station, giving the number of a car, bearing Connecticut registration plates, to which four men were seen changing from another car at North Brookfield. One hour and five minutes later, at 10:10 a.m., the Connecticut State Police at Stafford Springs reported that they had picked up two of the holdup men in the Connecticut automobile reported in the previous item. At 4:45 p.m., the same day a message was received at the State House with the information that the two remaining holdup men had been arrested at Hartford, Connecticut, with the money stolen from the bank in their possession. Three of the bandits involved in this holdup pleaded "Guilty" in the Brookfield District Court twenty-four hours after its occurrence. The fourth pleaded "Not Guilty" and all were held in $25,000 bail for the Grand Jury.

RADIO

During the year ending November 30, 1932, the State Police Radio facilities have been greatly improved and the groundwork laid for further development in 1933.

In November, 1931, we had one 350-watt station at Framingham covering a radius of twenty-five miles and serving fifteen cruiser cars equipped with receiving sets. Early in 1932 authority was received from the Federal Radio Commission for the construction and operation of three 1000-watt stations. The first of these has been constructed and in operation since July at Framingham covering a radius of forty miles and serving thirty-five cruiser cars. A similar station is being completed at West Bridgewater and a third is under construction at Northampton. Authority was also secured for the construction and operation of a mobile station. This station is an independent unit mounted on a truck and capable of generating its own power. The mobile station can maintain a two-way communication with our fixed radio stations from any part of the state and can also direct the operation of cruiser cars over a radius of fifteen miles.

State Police Station WMP broadcasted 4,999 times during 1932 with a total of 25,606 separate items transmitted. This indicates an increase over the work of 1931 of 2,199 broadcasts and 10,606 items transmitted.

These figures and the expansion now in process of development afford an example of the growth of police radio communications. With the completion of our new transmitting stations at West Bridgewater and Northampton, it is estimated that our operations will cover the entire state and serve approximately eighty of our cruiser cars. As this service is available to such cities and towns as equip their police department automobiles with receiving sets, its value to the commonwealth in the prevention of crime and the apprehension of criminals cannot be overestimated.

INSTANCES IN WHICH PROMPT RESULTS WERE REACHED THROUGH THE MEDIUM OF THE STATE POLICE RADIO

On February 25, 1932, a telephone call was received at Station WMP reporting on accident on Route 20 in Sudbury. A message was broadcasted to reach a cruiser on patrol in that vicinity. The officers in the cruiser car received the radio message and proceeded towards the scene of the accident. In Wayland they observed two men walking in the highway in an intoxicated condition. Upon arresting them, they learned that they were the occupants of the car which caused the accident. The men were prosecuted for drunkenness, operating under the influence of liquor and for driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public.

On May 10, 1932, on the Post Road in Sudbury, a cruiser received a radio call notifying them of an accident in the vicinity and on proceeding to the scene arrested two men under the influence of liquor who had stolen an automobile and wrecked it in the accident.

On November 19, 1932, a telephone call was received at the Concord substation reporting a break in a store at Maynard. This report was received at 1:20 a.m. A cruiser car from the Concord station was at that time in the vicinity of Maynard. A teletype message was sent from the State House to Troop A Headquarters at Framingham and a radio broadcast sent out to reach the cruiser car. Almost immediately after receiving the radio message, the officer in the cruiser car apprehended and arrested three men with the property stolen from the store. One of these men was on parole for a similar previous offence and another on probation from superior court after a conviction for robbery.

Upon the receipt of a telephone message from the Weston police that they had been notified that a man was seen to enter a house in Weston at a late hour, Station WMP dispatched a cruiser car to the location and the burglar was caught in the house.

Upon receipt of notice of the bank holdup at North Brookfield, November 29, 1932, Lieutenant Shimkus and Sergeant Canavan left Holden on Cruiser No. 51, taking a back road to Brookfield. While en route they were kept informed of all developments in the case, including the report of the abandonment of the bandit car, the registration of the Connecticut car used by the bandits in their escape and descriptions of the bandits. They were thus supplied with information as it developed without delay, enabling them to plan their movements intelligently.

CONTROL OF TRAFFIC

During the year 1932, the Traffic Division of the State Police functioned with a personnel of 1 Lieutenant, 1 Sergeant and 122 patrolmen. At present they are assigned as follows: Troop "A", covering Essex, Middlesex and Norfolk Counties, 35 patrolmen; Troop "B", covering Berkshire, Hampden, Hampshire and Franklin Counties, 25 patrolmen; Troop "C", covering Worcester County, 35 Patrolmen; Troop "D", covering Plymouth, Bristol, Barnstable, Dukes and Nantucket Counties, 25 patrolmen; and at Headquarters in the State House for administrative and inspection duties, 1 Lieutenant, 1 Sergeant and 2 patrolmen.

The record of activities of the division show an increase of 25% over the work of 1931 and a consequential decrease of accidents in the areas patrolled by this organization of approximately 20%. With no additional men assigned to this work in 1932, though there have been approximately 250 miles of new State road built which requires their supervision, it is gratifying to report a decrease in accidents in our patrol areas, due to constant patrol and supervision.

The members of the division handled 34,135 auto violations during the year, which were disposed as follows: Warning given by officer—16,003; Summons to court—11,595; Arrests—888; Warnings by letter from this office—5,453; Suspension of license or registration by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles—196.

The personnel of the division also served 38,257 cards on drivers of motor vehicles containing notification of defective equipment of automobiles. These cards are made in duplicate and are used for the purpose of notifying the owners of motor vehicles to have the defects remedied. When this has been done, the automobile owner or driver is required to secure the signature of a representative of the Registrar at an approved testing station. It is further provided that the card be then mailed to State Police Headquarters.

In addition to maintaining traffic patrols, the division handled the following assignments: Escorts given—170, for a total of 987 one-man days; requests from other State departments for service—63, for a total of 1,066 one-man days; requests for traffic officers from other police departments—125, for a total of 986 one-man days. Officers were also assigned to duty at 12 agricultural fairs in number sufficient to total 672 one-man days.

With the completion of the new Boston-Worcester Turnpike and the Southwest cut-off around the city of Worcester, which will open up a high-speed thoroughfare from Boston to Springfield and cut at least a half an hour from the running time between these two points, it will be necessary to maintain a twenty-four hour patrol over these roads. This will materially increase the duties of the division on this road alone.

However, from experience gained in handling the situation on the Newbury-port Turnpike, where a decrease of 20% in the accident ratio is shown this year, it is believed that this situation can be handled in such manner as will afford the highest possible degree of traffic safety to the motoring public of the State.

TRAINING SCHOOL

Commencing December 1, 1931, the entire uniformed personnel of the State Police were recalled to the school in groups of 30 for reconditioning and instruction. This course of reconditioning was completed May 1, 1932. As a part of the instruction given during this period, these men shot the prescribed course for pistol shooting and qualified as follows: 60% as experts; 30% as sharpshooters; and 10% as marksmen.

Following this period, a course of instruction for municipal police was prepared and conducted by the school in the cities of Holyoke, Pittsfield, Springfield, Chicopee and Brockton. Police from towns adjacent to these cities also attended the classes, making a total of 741 officers in attendance.

The period devoted to this course extended from July 18, 1932, to December 23, 1932; and among the subjects covered were Criminal Law, Police and Court Procedure, Shooting and Care of Firearms, Jiu-Jitsu, Traffic Direction and Drill. Lectures illustrating the value of evidence were also given with the aid of stereopticon slides.

STATE POLICE BOAT "PROTECTOR"

The State Police Boat "Protector" remained on outside patrol throughout the year. During the spring and autumn frequent visits of inspection were made to outlying islands where summer cottages are located. In the latter part of April and the early part of May several visits were made to the Elizabeth Islands in Buzzards Bay in connection with the kidnaping of the infant son of Charles Lindbergh. In numerous instances assistance was given to water craft in distress, the disabled craft being picked up and towed to safe moorings. In the month of July the Police Boat acted as courtesy escort to the British Cruiser "H. M. S. Scarborough" during her visit to New Bedford.

Considerable time was devoted during the summer to spotting fish trap locations in coastal waters to determine conformity to Massachusetts laws and the requirements of the United States War Department.

Complaints regarding noisy motorboats were numerous this year. Chapter 232 of the Acts of 1932 was of material assistance in combating this situation. Investigations have been made on the Connecticut River at Turners Falls, Millers Falls and Springfield, Dudley Pond in Wayland, Tyng's Pond in Tyngsboro, Lake Quinsigamond in Worcester and Shrewsbury, Cohasset Harbor, Charles River at West Medway, Lake Congamond in Southwick, Pontoosic Lake in Pittsfield, Sandy Pond in Ayer, Onset, New Bedford, Marion, Plymouth, Duxbury, Quincy, Braintree, Hull, Weymouth, Hingham, Lake Pearl in Wrentham, Robbins Pond in East Bridgewater, Lake Boone in Stow, Lake Nippenicut in Bridgewater, and Whalom Lake in Lunenburg. The number of motorboats inspected was 157 and outboard motorboats 186. Of this number 46 were warned regarding their lights and 22 for mufflers.

The pollution of coastal waters and rivers by oil is one of the most serious problems with which we have to deal. This year serious conditions of this kind were caused by the grounding of the Tanker "New England" in Buzzards Bay, a bad spill of gasoline at a refinery, the collision of a tank steamer with the Slades Ferry Bridge at Fall River and the disabling of another tank steamer at the entrance of Buzzards Bay. Inspections were carried out at Oil Plants on 319 occasions. Oil Tankers, Supply Boats and Freighters were boarded in 63 instances. An investigation was made of the laying of pipe lines for oil on the bed of the Town River in Quincy and steps are being taken by the State Fire Marshall to remedy a bad condition found at this location. In all of these instances excellent cooperation was received from the officials of the oil companies involved.

In many instances assistance was rendered to the Division of Fish and Game in the Department of Conservation upon their request. Prosecutions for violations of the fisheries law were made in several instances, including larceny from lobster pots and the digging of clams from restricted areas.

The legislature in May, 1932, enacted legislation concerning the operation of motor and other boats on the waters of the Commonwealth for the purpose of safeguarding life and property and provided that regulations for that purpose be promulgated by the Commissioner of Public Safety.

Such regulations were made and promulgated and are now working effectively throughout the Commonwealth.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

In the administration and enforcement of laws, rules and regulations relating to public safety it is desirable to secure contact of understanding with the public generally in order to effect that degree of coordination and cooperation necessary to success.

During the year ending November 30, 1932, the aims, purposes and resources of the department were impressed upon the public in many ways, particularly through the medium of talks on safety subjects and police activities. These talks were delivered by members of the department specially qualified for the work to audiences of school children and their instructors, policemen, firemen, veterans' organizations, granges, rotary clubs and similar organizations, women's clubs, leagues and associations, men's clubs of churches of various denominations, and fraternal organizations. The talks have been illustrated by stereopticon slides and have included instructive accounts of the activities of the State Police, finger printing and classification in criminal identification, ballistic work in criminal investigation, and highway safety.

An exhibit designed to show the organization and resources of the State Police was maintained at the agricultural fairs at Sturbridge, Topsfield, Brockton, Springfield and Northampton. In connection with this exhibit the attention of the public was brought to the new State Police mobile radio transmitter. This independent radio unit is mounted on a truck and is intended for use in localities cut off from ordinary communication by fire, floods, riots or similar disturbances or for directing the operation of cruiser cars within a particular radius without impairing the regular operation of the state wide radio communication system.

It is estimated that the number of persons actually contacted in this public safety work approximates 500,000.

CRIMINAL IDENTIFICATION

During the fiscal year of 1932 there has been a great increase in the number of finger print records and photographs received in the department. By comparison with statistical tables of former annual reports, the number of finger print records received this year exceeds all past records, there being a 46% increase over the number for the previous year. There has also been a gain of 24% in the number of Modus Operandi photographs. This increase may be attributed in part to exchange of records with the State Farm and co-operation of police and prison officials, together with an increased interest in criminal identification shown by all concerned.

Bureaus of identification have been established by the Department of Correction at the Billerica House of Correction and at the State Farm. The latter institution will contribute approximately 1200 finger print records annually to our files. Owing to the increased amount of work, it has become necessary to revise all our files by combining name index cards and segregating the finger print files in order that our records may be more readily accessible.

A great deal of service has been given during the year to agencies such as Federal departments, court officials, social service workers and the various police departments who are utilizing the services of this department.

The instruction of police officers in finger print classification has also increased materially this year. The Harvard Law School Research Bureau, with whom we have cooperated in research study of reformatory boys for the past five years, requested our assistance this year also in the follow-up of the records of five hundred offenders in an endeavor to complete a study of these records for the period beginning January, 1926.

Two goals of increased efficiency in criminal identification have been attained this year; first, the complete name indexing of 18,798 Modus Operandi photographs and second, the improvement in recording final dispositions of cases.

The indexing of photographs furnishes a means by which records can be quickly located according to the crime of the offender. The use of the finger print system for immediate identifications is steadily growing in proportion and results in an increased demand for police records which are to be used in the various sessions of the course. Many police records come to our files without means of recording a final disposition of the case. To correct this and to complete criminal records, forms have been prepared, which are sent to the various police authorities, requesting information concerning final dispositions. This procedure has been devised in order that our records may be as complete as possible and so that they may include special characteristics of criminals as indicated by their mode of operating.

In addition to a newly devised history chart for inmates of the State Prison, the improved finger print forms and records of dispositions of cases and the exchange of criminal records with the Department of Justice facilitate the compiling of complete criminal histories in our files.

During the past year a large number of our criminal records were transferred from obsolete wooden filing cases to modern steel fireproof filing cases. This measure was found to be absolutely necessary since the number of records on file has grown so vast that our old equipment was no longer ample to take care of the increase. Many of these records cannot be replaced and represent twenty-five years of operation.

Following is the statistical report of the activities of the Division of State Police for the year 1932:

BUREAU OF EXPERT ASSISTANTS

The activities of this group includes a variety of subjects embracing the analysis, testing and inspection of explosives and inflammables, investigations concerning the manufacture and use of firearms and ammunition, ballistic activities, photomicrography, finger printing and classification, microscopy, handwriting and photography. The personnel assigned to the bureau aid also in the investigation of capital crimes and give expert testimony in the trial of criminal cases in the courts.

The facilities for the work of this unit were improved during the year by the use of more commodious quarters and an additional assistant was added, making a total of five men available for calls for expert service. More than 800 such calls were responded to during the year, many of them from authorities in local communities who are without facilities for expert service of the kind available in the bureau.

Assistance was requested and given in several instances in cases arising in other jurisdictions where the service of experts of known qualifications was desirable.

The bureau is equipped, in so far as our means will permit, with the best equipment available, and the resources of the unit have been utilized to capacity throughout the year. Much of the success attained by other units of the department has been in a large measure enhanced by the assistance rendered them by the skilled personnel of this bureau. The effectiveness of the policy of meeting modern crime conditions with modern methods of crime detection and prosecution is aptly demonstrated by the work of this unit of the department.

DIVISION OF INSPECTION

The division is authorized by statute to enforce the requirements of Chapters 143 and 146 of the General Laws.

Chapter 143 contains the requirements relative to the construction, care and equipment of public buildings and to the safe occupancy thereof; the requirements for the inspection of elevators in communities where no building official is employed; and the inspection and certification of the cinematograph or moving picture machines and equipment and the examination of applicants for licenses for the operation of such machines.

Chapter 146 relates to the inspection of the construction, equipment, operation and certification of steam boilers air tanks and ammonia compressors. It also includes provisions for the examination and licensing of engineers and firemen.

The statute authorizes the following personnel in the division:—a Chief of Inspections appointed by His Excellency the Governor; a Board of Boiler Rules consisting of four members in addition to the Chief of Inspections, who is Chairman; a Board of Elevator Regulations; 26 boiler inspectors and 22 building inspectors appointed by the Commissioner. In view of economic conditions, it would seem that the duties of the division would have decreased during the past few years. The contrary is, however, the case. The readjustments taking place in the business world relative to changed occupancy of buildings to meet present conditions have materially added to the work of the building inspectors. The same is applicable to the boiler inspectors, because the changes and reductions in the amount of machinery used and the necessity of reducing expenses and of decreasing the number of employees have created a necessity of frequent conferences and other duties impossible to record in reports. I am pleased to report a most agreeable cooperation on the part of the inspectors in the enforcement of the requirements of these important statutes. Our aim has been to secure compliance with the laws by cooperation and assistance rather than by assuming a drastic or arbitrary attitude. Nevertheless, we have insisted upon and have secured strict compliance with the law by a careful survey of conditions and with due regard for the public safety at all times.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES

The Commissioner is authorized to appoint a Board of Boiler Rules under the provisions of Section 10 of Chapter 22, whose duty is to formulate the rules required by Sections 2, 3 and 4 of Chapter 146. This Board has held regular monthly meetings, with the exception of July and August, at which interpretations of the rules have been passed upon and suggestions for changes received. The statute also provides for two public hearings during the year, on the first Thursdays in May and November, to consider petitions for changes in the steam boiler rules. In consequence of these public hearings, many changes in the rules are under consideration by the Board and will probably be ready for submission within a few months for the approval of the Honorable Executive Council.

BOARD OF ELEVATOR REGULATIONS

The Commissioner under the provisions of Section 11 of Chapter 22 is required to appoint, as occasion may demand, a Board of Elevator Regulations consisting of the Chief of Inspections and six others representing as many different interests in the Commonwealth. No Board has been appointed during the year, as no request for changes has been received.

BUILDING INSPECTION.

The duties of building inspectors require, in some classes of buildings a monthly inspection, in others semi-annual or annual inspection depending upon conditions observed the inspectors. The inspector is held responsible for the correction of conditions found and must enforce the law when necessary, using his best judgment in each case and accepting responsibility therefor.

BOILER AND AIR TANK INSPECTION

The duties of boiler inspectors require an annual inspection and report of each boiler in their districts, excepting those under periodical inspection by a regular insurance company authorized to inspect and insure steam boilers in this Commonwealth. The law provides for an external inspection under steam; but in consequence of the increase in the number of boilers, no time is available for this inspection unless more inspectors are provided. In addition to their other duties, the boiler inspectors must examine applicants for licenses as engineers, firemen and for the operation of hoisting machinery. This service takes practically one day a week for each inspector.

During the year thirty applicants appeal from the refusal of inspectors to grant licenses to engineers, firemen or operators of hoisting machinery. The inspectors' decisions were sustained in twenty-four instances, while in the remaining six cases licenses were granted by Boards of Appeal.

The following insurance companies are authorized to inspect and insure steam boilers and air tanks in this Commonwealth:

The Aetna Casualty & Surety Company, Hartford, Conn. Alliance Casualty Company, Philadelphia, Pa. American Automobile Insurance Company, St. Louis, Mo. DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION

General Laws, Chapter 148, provides among other things that all fires of suspicious origin occurring throughout the State exclusive of the city of Boston shall be investigated by the state fire marshal. The duties necessary to accomplish results in this direction are performed by officers of the division of state police who are assigned to specified districts and perform their duties under the direction of a chief fire inspector, who acts as assistant to the fire marshal. The assistant to the marshal is also empowered to administer oaths and take testimony at fire inquests.

The state fire marshal is required to study fire hazard and fire prevention and all matters relating thereto; hear appeals, suggestions and complaints from all persons and from all cities and towns; advise with the officers of such cities and towns; and make suggestions to the General Court and to the cities and towns looking to the improvement of the laws, ordinances and by-laws relating to fire departments, construction of buildings, building or fire limits, use and occupation of buildings and other premises, protection of existing buildings, fire escapes and other life saving devices, segregation and licensing of trades dangerous by reason of fire hazard and all matters relating to fire prevention and fire hazard.

During the year ending November 30, 1932, the fire marshal conferred with representatives of a large number of communities interested in the work of fire prevention and arranged numerous meetings with state, city and town officials with a view to securing improvement in their fire prevention methods.

During the year also it became necessary to revise the regulations of the department concerning garages, oil burners, fuel oil storage, fire works and explosives. In connection with this work of revision, the fire marshal assembled at various times heads of fire departments, representatives of dealers in petroleum products, engineers representing insurance companies, manufacturers of oil burner equipment, garage owners, fireworks manufacturers and manufacturers and dealers in explosives, for the purposes of conferences on these subjects. New regulations were made and promulgated as a result of these conferences and are now working satisfactorily to all concerned.

During the week beginning October 9, 1932, Fire Prevention Week was observed throughout the State and a large number of organizations cooperated with the fire marshal in the special fire prevention work performed during that period.

During the year the work of the state police officers assigned to fire investigation was featured by increased success in the investigation and prosecution of cases arising from incendiarism. Reference to the department reports will show an increase in arrests and prosecutions of these crimes by a large percentage. These reports represent actual arrests of individuals and do not include situations where individual arrests have resulted in indictments on several counts. There was a total of 168 arrests made during the year, involving 261 counts. There were 80 convictions of individuals, 32 were found not guilty and 56 cases are still pending. In cases pending from the previous year 5 convictions were secured, making a total of 85 convictions for crimes of burning during the year. In connection with these cases 4 arrests were made in cases arising from the presentation of false claims under policies of fire insurance, and convictions were secured in every case.

SERVICE OF FIRE INSPECTORS

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS
(Bureau of Sunday Censorship)

During the year ending November 30, 1932, there were submitted to this Bureau for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety a total of 21,384 licenses and programs of entertainments to be held on the Lord's Day. Of this number, 21,354 were approved, 29 disapproved and 1 suspended. One license was suspended in Revere, and the following is a list of the disapproved licenses:—Hull, 6; Lowell, 1; Pittsfield, 1; Revere, 5; Salisbury, 10; Shrewsbury, 4; Springfield, 1; Worcester, 1.

Each of these licenses and programs was accompanied by a fee of $2.00, the amount totalling $42,768, which was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

In addition to the above number of licenses, there were 7,119 reels of motion picture film censored for showing on the Lord's Day, which were disposed of as follows:

Number of reels approved	6,012
Number of reels approved with deletions	1,042
Number of reels disapproved	65
Footage of film censored	6,307,100

There were also submitted for censorship 50 mutoscope reels and 10 sets of drop cards which were disposed of as follows:—

Mutoscope reels approved	45
Mutoscope reels disapproved	5
Drop cards approved	10
Drop cards disapproved	0

There were 3,340 vaudeville acts reviewed for showing on the Lord's Day. They were acted upon as follows:—

Acts approved	908
Acts approved with deletions	795
Acts disapproved	306
Acts re-reviewed	1,331
Total	3,340

The personnel assigned to this bureau perform various duties in connection with the enforcement of the law governing entertainments held on the Lord's Day in this Commonwealth. In addition to their functions as censors, they are required to perform such other duties as may be assigned them from time to time; such as the checking of licenses as approved by the Commissioner of Public Safety to determine whether or not they are exercised as originally approved. It is also necessary to check all entertainments at the many different theatres, halls, amusement parks and beaches.

The entertainments are varied in character. The theatres and larger halls offer stage presentations, vaudeville and motion pictures, while in the different community theatres and halls, plays are conducted by both professional and amateur performers. Many of these performances are in a foreign tongue and require the service of interpreters in censoring. At the amusement parks and beaches we have the many different rides, games, sideshows, etc., which require a most rigid supervision.

During the past season, business conditions have been very bad in all phases of the amusement business. We have, therefore, been very liberal in our interpretation of the laws and regulations and have tried to help rather than hinder the operators of these amusements. Due to economic conditions, however, many of these amusements survived but a very short time.

As in the past, we have received the cooperation of the majority of operators and licensing authorities in the different cities and towns in which amusement parks and beaches are located. At the beginning of each season a few unscrupulous operators appear who are immediately barred from the amusement business in the commonwealth. In this connection, there were approximately 1,025 performances in theatres inspected. Every amusement device or show operated at the different amusement parks and beaches is inspected at least once during each season. Complaints received relative to violations in any amusement enterprise in the commonwealth are investigated immediately and, if sustained, suitable action is taken. This procedure is absolutely necessary in order to insure a strict compliance with the law.

	Licenses Number of	Amount

BUREAU FOR THE STORAGE OF LIQUIDS

This bureau is maintained for the enforcement of the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 148, Sections 37 and 38, relative to the construction, use and maintenance of above-ground tanks of more than ten thousand gallons capacity for the storage of fluids other than water.

The officer in charge is assigned as assistant to the Commissioner for the enforcement of this law in addition to his duties as special boiler inspector.

This work includes the examination of plans, the figuring of stresses, determining compliance with specifications established by regulations, inspection of proposed sites for tank construction, and conferences with engineers, tank manufacturers, architects, public and private fire protection officials, licensing authorities and other municipal officers. In addition, the inspector checks the specifications of all new boilers and air tanks that are being installed in this State. This year specifications of 472 boilers and 412 air tanks were checked in this manner.

During the year ending November 30, 1932, permits were granted in 86 instances for the construction and maintenance of tanks under this law. In addition to this there were 11 permits issued for relocation of tanks.

Since the enactment of this law in 1921, there has been a great improvement in the maintenance of storages of this character due in no small measure to the spirit of cooperation shown by the manufacturers of tanks and others who are interested in installations which are subject to the provisions of the law.

Number of cities and towns in which tanks are located	193	197
Number of corporations maintaining tanks	303	319

STATE BOXING COMMISSION

The State Boxing Commission serves in the department under the authority of Section 12 of Chapter 22 of the General Laws. It consists of the Commissioner of Public Safety, ex officio, who is chairman, and two appointive members. The term of office of Commissioner Eugene Buckley having expired during 1931, Daniel J. Kelly, 29 Grozier Road, Cambridge, was appointed on February 3, 1932, to succeed him and took office immediately.

It was deemed desirable during the year just ended to institute certain changes in the regulations governing boxing in this commonwealth for the purpose of eliminating some objectionable conditions which were found to exist.

Among these changes were amendments to the standard of weights affecting feather weight, welter weight and middle weight boxers which were increased to 126, 147 and 160 respectively; a downward revision of the fee for boxers' licenses and a new regulation regarding the make-up of boxing contest schedules. The latter regulation limits to two the number of boxers any one manager may have competing in an exhibition when the number of bouts in such an exhibition does not exceed six.

Prior to March, 1932, persons appointed as referees or judges of boxing were selected without examination as to their qualifications for the position, the choice of appointees being based upon their known standing in the boxing world and their qualifications as established by experience. Commencing in March, all applicants for such positions were required to take a written examination in order to test their knowledge of boxing law and regulations and the duties of referees and judges at boxing contests. In view of the desirability of fitness in officials of this character, it is worthy of remark that approximately fifty per cent of those taking the examination failed to qualify at a very reasonable passing mark.

A scoring card designed to obtain accuracy in scoring points accumulated by boxers during a contest was devised and put into use during the year. This system of scoring enables the officials acting as judges and referee to record the score at the termination of each round, the score being totalled as the contest progresses and facilitating the speedy announcement of decisions at the close of the contest.

An amendment to the boxing law to permit draw decisions in boxing contests was enacted by the legislature of 1932. This statute (Chapter 79 of the Acts of 1932) took effect on June 12, 1932, and provides that an official may vote for a draw if, in his opinion, neither contestant is entitled to a decision in his favor and if neither contestant receives a majority of the vote of the three officials acting as referee and judges.

Several proposed matches were disapproved during the year by the commission because of disparity of weight or ability of the boxers or because of the fact that the matches were unsuitable for other reasons. Several boxers were suspended for violation of the boxing rules or for failure to keep engagements to perform without adequate reason or excuse. It was found necessary by the officials acting in certain contest to declare forfeited the purse of one or both of the contestant because, in their opinion, the boxers were not competing in good faith.

It is the aim of the commission to give every encouragement possible to the sport of boxing by a liberal interpretation of the boxing law and rules, having in mind always the rights and duties of all concerned and the protection of the public from fraud and imposition.

In carrying out these principles, the commission has endeavored to exercise sound and honest judgment with a view to refraining from any arbitrary action or attitude and to applying disciplinary measures only when the interests of the sport and the public so required.

The financial return to the commonwealth in license fees and tax has shown a decrease this year. This has been due to the fact that a lesser number of exhibitions have been held and that the attendance has fallen off because of the existing financial depression.

Licenses of this character are issued by the Commissioner of Public Safety after careful investigation of the character and standing of the applicant. During the fiscal year of 1932 there was issued a total of 26 licenses, four of which were new licenses to individuals, one new license to corporation, twelve were renewals to individuals and nine were renewals by corporations. Fees amounting to $3,600 were received for these licenses and paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

IN MEMORIAM

The following named members of the Department of Public Safety died during the year ending November 30, 1932:

ARTHUR F. ROACH, Building Inspector—Entered the service of the Commonwealth July 14, 1909; died January 9, 1932.

JOSEPH E. O'CONNOR, Lieutenant, State Police—Entered the service of the Commonwealth September 1, 1921; died March 27, 1932.

CHARLES F. MCGONAGLE, Patrolman, State Police—Entered the service of the Commonwealth February 3, 1930; died August 2, 1932.

CHARLES SKOGLUND, Boiler Inspector—Entered the service of the Commonwealth March 25, 1912; died August 10, 1932.

THOMAS A. THOMPSON, State Police Fire Inspector—Entered the service of the Commonwealth April 10, 1911; died November 15, 1932.

The passing of these members of the department has meant not only a loss to the service of the commonwealth but a distinct personal loss to me in that their service was marked by a fine sense of loyalty and obedience to authority.

In the performance of their various duties they consistently maintained a high level of efficiency and earned the respect and esteem of the public by their many fine personal qualities as well as by the excellent character of their service.

IN GENERAL

The year which ended November 30, 1932, has been marked by the attainment of satisfactory results in the performance of the various duties incumbent on the department. The acquisition of authority to increase the number and strength of our radio broadcasting units has enabled us to make definite progress in improving the State Police communication system. This improvement was aided by the development of our teletype system which has added greatly to the efficiency of the department. The use of these methods of communication, improved methods of criminal identification and cooperation of other police authorities have served as important factors in the suppression of criminal activities.

To the various officials of the Commonwealth who have extended to us their cooperation in the public service and to the personnel of the department who have given their continued loyal support to the Commissioner, I wish to extend my thanks and appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,

A. F. FOOTE, Commissioner.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

In accordance with the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 147, section 1, I have the honor to submit the thirteenth annual report of the Department of Public Safety for the year ending November 30, 1933.

The Department of Public Safety performs a variety of services intended for the preservation of the public peace and protection of life and property, and is composed of three main divisions which, though engaged in a common purpose, reach their objective through somewhat widely different channels.

The present organization includes a Division of State Police under the direct charge of the Commissioner of Public Safety; a Division of Inspection under a Chief of Inspections; a Division of Fire Prevention under the State Fire Marshal; the State Boxing Commission; a bureau of police communications; a bureau of criminal identification; a bureau of expert assistants; a bureau of Sunday entertainment censorship; a bureau of custody of contraband and a bureau of storage of liquids.

The following is an outline of the ordinary activities of the Department:

The officers and inspectors of the department are clothed with police powers and those serving in divisions other than the Division of State Police are available for assignment to that division for duty when necessary.

An examination of this report will show that a great deal of the work accomplished by the department is routine in nature and must necessarily be shown by statistical arrangement. For this purpose, statistical tables have been prepared and are to be found later in the report.

No inference should be drawn as to the relative importance or prominence of the work of the various divisions from the order in which their activities are recorded.

Of the 355 cities and towns of the Commonwealth, all of the cities and 83 of the towns maintain organized police departments. The remaining 233 towns with a population of approximately 400,000 constitute the area which is primarily served by the State Police. The area secondarily served includes 67 towns of from 5,000 to 15,000 population with a total of slightly more than 582,000. It will be noted therefore that the services of the State Police are rendered more or less directly to a population of more than 900,000. In view of the fact that there are less than 200 men actually available for patrol and traffic duty at any given time each officer serves approximately 4,500 persons. This figure is noteworthy in view of the established estimate of one police officer to each 1,000 of population as a practical working rule.

It has become increasingly apparent that in order to extend proper protection to the area served the number of men constituting the uniformed force should be increased materially.

The effective policing of a given area depends naturally upon the number and quality of the personnel available for the work and the character of the equipment with which they are furnished. The maintenance of a mobile force such as the present organization is essential in the proper application of our resources to the varying needs of different localities in the commonwealth. In addition to a general scheme of police protection it is desirable to be able to concentrate men to cope with unusual contingencies when necessity arises. This has been carried out effectively in the extra demands made upon the force during the year. When it became necessary to concentrate a number of officers at various points in the state the movement in each instance was executed with efficiency and dispatch. Radio and teletype facilities in the department aided materially in this work and in every respect justified the expense necessary to their maintenance.

BUREAU OF POLICE COMMUNICATIONS

The importance of immediate and accurate transmission of police information and its value in police work cannot be over-emphasized. The radio and teletype facilities of the State Police have rendered effective service in this regard during the year. For the purpose of more effective administration these units have been organized as a bureau of police communications under the direction of a Lieutenant who is also a licensed radio operator.

Acting in cooperation with the Metropolitan District Police, the police departments of cities and towns in the Commonwealth and with the police departments of other states we have made definite progress in police communications and look forward to even more satisfactory results in the future.

RADIO

During the year ending November 30, 1933, the radio system of the State Police has been extended so that service is now available throughout the entire Commonwealth. The original 1,000 watt station at Framingham has been augmented by two similar transmitters, one at West Bridgewater and one at Northampton. The West Bridgewater station commenced operations April 1, 1933 and the Northampton station was officially opened October 2, 1933. These transmitters, constructed and installed by State Police personnel, are performing satisfactorily. One other important unit has been constructed and has been used effectively. This is a mobile radio station mounted on a fast six cylinder truck chassis and capable of transmitting messages to patrol cars over a radius of twenty miles and maintaining two-way voice communication with one or more of our fixed stations from any point in the State. The purpose of this mobile unit is to supplement our fixed stations in handling localized police work, such as a man-hunt, riot, etc., at the scene by providing a field headquarters from which police work can be directed and so that the fixed stations will not be impeded in their regular broadcasts. This truck when set up in an area from which communication has been cut off by fire, flood or snow, will provide a two-way telephone channel entirely independent of power and telephone lines. Practical use of this station has been made in the following cases:—the Springfield flood, the McMath kidnapping, the cranberry bog workers' strike and the Springfield truck drivers' strike.

The radio personnel has been increased and now consists of one radio technician and eight licensed operators.

Station WMP broadcast 28,980 items and was on the air 680 hours during the year. Station WPEL broadcast 48,200 items and was on the air 483 hours. Station WPEW broadcast 9,400 items and was on the air 80 hours.

We furnish to the following cities and towns, without cost to them, a twenty-four hour Radio Broadcast Service:

THE USE OF RADIO IN POLICE WORK

The speed and efficiency of radio communication in police work has been frequently demonstrated in the work of the State Police. The following instances are cited in order to illustrate the manner in which our radio facilities have been utilized in cases arising in the ordinary course of duty:

(a) On August 30, 1933, word was received at Troop C headquarters at Holden that a man for whom several warrants on breaking and entering charges were held was supposed to be staying at the home of a friend in Crosswell, Michigan.

A teletype message was sent at 8.03 p.m. to W.M.P. radio station at Framingham requesting a message to the Michigan State Police Radio Station W.R.D.S. giving them the information and asking that an attempt be made to locate the man. At 8:31 p.m., or 28 minutes after our teletype message was sent to Framingham, a teletype message was received at Holden from Framingham stating that the Michigan State Police had reported by radio that the man had been located, arrested and was being held for us at their St. Claire barracks. He was later extradited to Massachusetts.

(b) During the recent period of differences between the cranberry growers and employees in southern Massachusetts the use of radio in directing the movement of patrol cruisers was particularly effective. Sixty men assigned to duty with twenty cruiser cars were able to keep order in the nine towns which comprise the cranberry growing section by instructions given them by radio from Troop D headquarters at West Bridgewater. Owing to the large area to be covered it was difficult to anticipate points where disturbances were likely to arise. Arrangements were made for reports to Troop headquarters of any disorder and cruiser cars were contacted by radio at points nearest to the scene. In practically every instance officers in cruiser cars were on the scene of disturbances in from three to five minutes. This work was greatly facilitated by the use of our mobile radio unit Station W.P.E.V. which had taken station at Wareham and aided in the distribution of calls by re-broadcasting all information and instructions received from our Station W.P.E.L.

(c) On Saturday, December 23, 1933, a plane of the American Airways Inc. which had left Albany, N. Y., at 7:52 p.m. carrying passengers and mail was reported half an hour overdue at Hartford, Connecticut, en route to Boston. Officials of the company requested our Troop B Headquarters at Northampton to make a search for the ship. A message was broadcast from our State Police Station W.P.E.W. to all cruiser cars and a few minutes later officers attached to a cruiser car reported a plane flying above the clouds over the Jacob's Ladder road between Westfield and Pittsfield. Three minutes later officers of another cruiser reported a plane over Northampton. Troop B Headquarters immediately notified the American Airways company at Albany who in turn flashed the information to Chicago where a radiophone message was flashed to the pilot Thomas Halpin of Albany acquainting him with his correct position and enabling him to proceed by compass direction to Hartford. A letter of thanks from the American Airways Inc. to the State Police explained that the direction finder on the plane had frozen so that the pilot was unable to get the radio beam. Owing to a heavy overcast he was unable to land and was duly appreciative of the assistance rendered by the State Police.

(d) When in May, 1933, Margaret McMath, age 12, was reported missing from the school which she attended in the town of Harwich under circumstances indicating kidnaping, the State Police were called upon to investigate. In this investigation a number of the department automobiles were in use in various sections of the cape district. To facilitate communication with these cars our mobile transmitter was moved to Harwich and was set up as a message distribution centre. By means of this service the officers detailed with these cars were kept in constant touch with a temporary headquarters located in Harwich. Within four days of the disappearance of the child, she had been located, the kidnapers arrested and ransom money amounting to $70,000 recovered.

(e) On November 25, 1933, at 7:20 p.m. a hold-up was reported as having occurred at a gasoline filling station on the Boston Post Road in Wayland. At 7:21 p.m. a message was broadcast from Station WMP to all cruiser cars, giving a description of the robbers and the registration number of the automobile in which he had left the scene of the crime. This message was immediately received by two patrolmen of Troop C at a point on the Boston Post Road west of the scene of the reported hold-up. Proceeding east they encountered the wanted car and arrested the occupant who thereupon admitted the crime. He was found to be armed with a loaded automatic pistol and had the proceeds of the robbery on his person. The Troop C officers reported the arrest by phone to their headquarters at 7:40 p.m., nineteen minutes after the radio broadcast was received.

Teletype

In December, 1932, the Massachusetts State Police Teletype system consisted of the following—A central control point, located in the State House, Boston, at which place there is a teletype switchboard and four teletype machines.

In each Troop Headquarters there is a teletype switchboard and three teletype machines, which connect directly with all its sub-stations and a line from each Troop Headquarters to the State House in Boston, and relays from Holden to the Worcester Police Department.

At the State House there are two more machines, one connected with the suburban circuit which consists of twenty-five departments in the metropolitan area and another machine known as the Coast to Coast machine through which we are able to reach any city or town in the United States that has a teletype machine.

Up to March 1, 1933, in order to send a message to the Worcester or Springfield Police Departments, the message had to be sent to Holden and they in turn relayed it on the Worcester-Springfield circuit. At Springfield was located another teletype machine on the Connecticut System comprising twenty city and state police stations, and a message to the Connecticut System again had to be relayed by the Springfield Police.

On March 1, 1933, the Worcester-Springfield circuit was discontinued. Springfield now has a direct line to the Northampton State Police switchboard and Worcester has a direct line to the Holden State Police switchboard. These new connections enable Worcester and Springfield to send direct to any station on our system.

On June 12, 1933, the connection between Springfield and the Connecticut System was discontinued and a new circuit established between the Connecticut System and the State Police at Northampton. This expedited the handling of messages to Connecticut due to the fact that at Northampton there is a permanent teletype detail on duty.

On April 15, 1932, an additional teletype machine had been installed at the State Police station at Lee connecting the Massachusetts State Police Teletype System to the New York State Police Teletype System and through this connection it was possible to send and receive messages to and from the New Jersey and Pennsylvania Police Teletype Systems comprising a total of 656 teletype stations in the five states and constituting the so-called Five State Police Broadcast circuit.

On June 26, 1933, the connection from Lee to New York was discontinued and a direct circuit was established between the Northampton State Police switchboard and the New York State Police switchboard at Albany. With this connection any Massachusetts State Police station can communicate to any station on the New York State Police circuit without a relay.

Through the Five State Police broadcast circuit the police of these states have continued to cooperate to the benefit of all concerned.

On March 21, 1933, the Fall River Police installed a teletype machine and a direct line to the State Police switchboard at West Bridgewater through which they can communicate direct with all Massachusetts and New York teletype stations.

On July 15, 1933, a teletype machine was installed at the new station at Salisbury Beach with a direct connection to the State Police switchboard at Framingham.

The Teletype Bureau at the State House handles on an average of 500 requests a month for automobile data. A station requesting motor vehicle information sends a teletype message to the Teletype Bureau, who in turn telephone the Registry of Motor Vehicles for the information. This service is handled through the regular telephone system. Due to the large number of requests for motor vehicle information and to facilitate the handling of these calls, a direct telephone line between the Teletype Bureau at the State House and the Registry of Motor Vehicles in the Public Works building was installed on October 1, 1933.

On May 5, 1933, an emergency installation was made from the State House to the Harwich Police Station in connection with the kidnaping of Margaret "Peggy" McMath, on May 4. This connection expedited the sending of messages. The Commissioner and the Executive Officer having taken station at Harwich, the machine made that town the central control point of the entire Massachusetts State Police, insured more privacy and the elimination of error due to the printed permanent messages.

The Coast to Coast machine at the State House has been used on different occasions during the year, particularly on the McMath case, when an urgent message was sent to Sacramento, California, to check on a car, suspected of being implicated. After the connection was completed, immediate reply was received from the authorities at California as to the information desired. Eight minutes elapsed from the time the connection was requested from the toll operator to the time the message was completed. There is no cost for this machine except a standard rate charged when used.

During the last year 110,000 messages have been sent out from the central control point at the State House and approximately 100,000 of these messages have been sent to all stations by the General Broadcast hook-up.

Examples Illustrating the Utility and Efficiency of the Teletype System of Police Communication

(a) On July 24, 1933, at 12:27 a.m., a message was received from the Chelsea Police that that department held a warrant for a man wanted in connection with the larceny of $1000 in currency. From reports received in Chelsea this man fully intended to start for South America the following day. This information was sent to the New York City Police and a reply received at 3:35 a.m., stating that this man had been apprehended and all the money had been recovered.

(b) On September 5, 1933, at 6:35 a.m., a message was received from Williamstown relative to two men who broke jail there and who had also broken into a garage, taking a car, and the direction in which they headed was unknown. This information was sent out on a Five-State General Broadcast; included was a description of the men and the registration of the stolen car. On the following day a message was received from the Philadelphia Police Department stating that the above men and car had been apprehended.

(c) On August 25, 1933, at 1:24 p.m., a telephone call was received from a manufacturing company at Syracuse, New York, stating they had an important message for one of their salesmen who was traveling in this state. This message was sent out on a General Broadcast and at 2:20 p.m. on this same day, officers from our Monson Station reported that this man had been stopped and notified to call his home office immediately.

(d) On July 15, 1933, a regular report of a stolen car was received on the Suburban machine and transmitted to all our stations in the State through the General Broadcast. The following day word was received from the Albany, New York, Police Department that this particular car, together with the occupants who stole the car in Boston, had been apprehended and were in custody.

The Boston Police secured the necessary papers to bring the prisoners back to answer to the charges, but we were notified that these men had broken jail in Albany, stolen a car, and were headed back into Massachusetts. This car contained two or three guns and a quantity of ammunition. All our western stations were notified to have all roads leading from New York State carefully guarded. Word was soon received from the Pittsfield Police that this car had been seen going through that city at a high rate of speed and that one of their officers had attempted to stop this car but was unsuccessful. The search ended in the town of Russell when men from this department forced the car to a stop, arresting the occupants, who were both armed, and seizing the car.

Traffic Control

During the year 1933, the Traffic Division of the State Police functioned with a personnel of 1 Sergeant and 109 Patrolmen. At present they are assigned as follows: Troop "A", covering Essex, Middlesex and Norfolk Counties, 28 Patrolmen; Troop "B", covering Berkshire, Hampden, Hampshire and Franklin Counties, 24 Patrolmen; Troop "C", covering Worcester County, 26 Patrolmen; Troop "D", covering Plymouth, Bristol, Barnstable, Dukes and Nantucket Counties, 27 Patrolmen; and Headquarters in the State House, 1 Sergeant and 2 Patrolmen for administrative and inspective duties.

The members of the division handled 30,804 auto violations during the year, which were disposed of as follows: Warnings given by officers—11,932; Summons to Court—8,401; Arrests—879; Operators checked for License and Registration—9,485; Suspension of License or Registration by the Registrar—107.

The personnel of the division also served 52,343 cards on operators of motor vehicles for defective equipment of automobiles. These cards are made in duplicate and are used for the purpose of notifying the owners of motor vehicles to have the defects corrected. When this has been done, the owner or operator is required to secure the signature of a representative of the Registrar at an approved testing station. It is further provided that the card be then mailed to the Troop Headquarters.

On May 1, 1933, the Governor's Committee on Street and Highway Safety issued a bulletin requesting the cooperation of all Police Departments in an intensive motor vehicle law enforcement program, to continue to July 31, 1933. On September 1, 1933, another enforcement program was started, and in both of these drives against motor vehicle law violators the division cooperated to the fullest extent.

There are also 3 officers of the division assigned exclusively to the Governor's Committee, 2 at the State House and 1 at Northampton. Their duties are to establish and maintain schedules of school safety talks, as well as talks and instruction on highway safety to civic groups throughout the State. They also assist in studies of isolated hazards on the highways, brought to the attention of the Committee in the form of complaints or suggestions.

The records of the division indicate that 1146 accidents came to the attention of officers on traffic patrol for investigation. This number was slightly less than that of the previous year and included only 49 cases which resulted fatally. This indicates a decrease of ten per cent of fatalities in the area patrolled from the number occurring in 1932. There were no additional officers assigned to this duty during 1933, and it was necessary to withdraw officers from traffic duty temporarily for duty at industrial disturbances during the latter part of the year.

In addition to maintaining traffic patrols, the division handled the following assignments: Escorts given—64, for a total of 452 one-man days; requests for assistance from other police departments to assist in traffic regulation—110, for a total of 732 one-man days. Officers were also assigned to 12 agricultural fairs; for duty in the flood area in the western part of the State, and in the vicinity of Brockton and Springfield where violence occurred on the highways in connection with the truck drivers strike.

The completion of the new Boston-Worcester Turnpike, and the southwest cut-off around the city of Worcester, as well as the new by-pass from Dedham to the Rhode Island line, has necessitated the maintaining of twenty-four hour patrols over these roads. This has materially increased the duties of the division on these roads alone. Careful supervision of the traffic patrols has resulted in the maximum of service from the limited number of officers available for the work.

State Police Training School

This school was formerly maintained throughout the year but is now in session only when recruit patrolmen are to be trained or when a general reconditioning of State Police personnel is carried out.

From August 15, 1933, to November 3, 1933, a class of twenty-four recruit patrolmen were in training under canvas at the Muster Field, Framingham. These men were appointed to fill existing vacancies and upon graduation from the school were assigned to duty in the various troops. During their course of training these men were instructed in police practice and procedure, the general laws respecting crimes, the use of the motorcycle, horsemanship, shooting and care of firearms, traffic direction, jiu-jitsu and military drills. In addition, they were given special instruction in ballistics, fingerprint classification and the use of photography in the investigation of crimes. In connection with their training each officer in the class qualified as a marksman, sharpshooter or expert in the course prescribed by the New England Revolver League.

This group of appointees was selected after examination of nearly seven thousand applicants. From this number, after the various examinations and tests were completed, an eligible list of four hundred and fifty-eight was available. This list represented practically every calling including those of laborer, salesman, aviator, teacher and clergyman. Eleven were college trained men and others had been specially trained in technical, nautical and agricultural schools. Eleven of the group had records of service in the army, navy, marine corps and national guard which ranged from one to six years' duration.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS

(Bureau of Sunday Censorship)

The supervision of Lord's Day entertainments is authorized under the provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws and during the year ending November 30, 1933, there were submitted to this Bureau for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety a total of 20,963 licenses and programs of entertainments to be held on the Lord's Day. Of this number, 20,958 were approved and 5 disapproved.

Each of these licenses and programs was accompanied by a fee of $2, the amount totalling $41,926, which was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

In addition to the above number of licenses, there were 6,421 reels of motion picture film censored for showing on the Lord's Day, which were disposed of as follows:

Number of reels approved	5,632
Number of reels approved with deletions	716
Number of reels disapproved	73
Footage of film censored	5,778,900

There were also submitted for censorship seventy-seven mutoscope reels and thirty-nine sets of drop cards which were disposed of as follows:

Mutoscope reels approved	64
Mutoscope reels disapproved	13
Drop cards approved	30
Drop cards disapproved	9

There were 4,071 vaudeville acts reviewed for showing on the Lord's Day. They were acted upon as follows:

Acts approved	674
Acts approved with deletions	638
Acts disapproved	290

The personnel assigned to this bureau perform various duties in connection with the enforcement of the law governing entertainments held on the Lord's Day in this Commonwealth. In addition to their functions as censors, they are required to perform such other duties as may be assigned them from time to time, such as the checking of licenses as approved by the Commissioner of Public Safety to determine whether or not they are exercised as originally approved. It is also necessary to check all entertainments at the many different theatres, halls, amusement parks and beaches.

The entertainments are varied in character. The theatres and larger halls offer stage presentations, vaudeville and motion pictures, while in the different community theatres and halls, plays are conducted by both professional and amateur performers. Many of these performances are in a foreign tongue and require the service of interpreters in censoring. At the amusement parks and beaches are conducted the many different rides, games, sideshows, etc., which require a most rigid supervision.

During the 1933 session of the legislature, Chapter 309 of the Acts of 1933, authorizing the operation on the Lord's Day of such bowling alleys, shooting galleries, photographic galleries, games, rides, etc., as may be approved by the Commissioner of Public Safety, was enacted and became effective on July 7, 1933.

As in the past, we have received the cooperation of the majority of operators and licensing authorities in the different cities and towns in which amusement parks and beaches are located. At the beginning of each season a few unscrupulous operators appear who are immediately barred from the amusement business in the Commonwealth. In this connection there were approximately 872 performances in theatres inspected. Every amusement device or show, exhibits and games operated at the different amusement parks and beaches is inspected at least once during each season. Complaints received relative to violations in any amusement enterprise in the Commonwealth are investigated immediately and, if sustained, suitable action is taken. This procedure is absolutely necessary in order to insure strict compliance with the law.

	Number of Licenses	Amount
Motion picture exhibitions, vaudeville and theatricals	15,885	$31,770
Amusements at beach resorts and at summer parks	4,702	9,404

BUREAU OF CRIMINAL IDENTIFICATION

General Laws, Chapter 147, Section 4-A, requires that there be provided within the department means for receiving, arranging and keeping data relating to the identification of criminals and for furnishing information concerning the same to police departments of cities and towns, to the Department of Correction, and to prosecuting officers within the Commonwealth.

The following is a statistical summary of the activities of this bureau during the year:

PUBLIC RELATIONS

With a view to establishing a higher degree of coordination and cooperation with the public in general in the administration and enforcement of laws relating to public safety, the department during the past year accomplished desirable results through the medium of lectures given by officers of the department to organizations throughout the Commonwealth.

During the year ending November 30, 1933, the aims, purposes and resources of the department were impressed upon the public, particularly through the medium of talks on safety subjects and police activities. Members of the department especially qualified for this work appeared before audiences of school children and their instructors, firemen, policemen, veterans' organizations, granges, rotary, lion and kiwanis clubs, women's clubs, leagues and associations, fraternal societies and similar organizations. These talks have been illustrated by motion pictures and stereopticon slides, also including instructive accounts of the activities of the State Police, featuring several of the leading cases of the past year and an explanation and illustration of the special features of the department work such as classification in criminal identification, photography, chemistry, ballistic work and highway safety.

In addition to the lectures, an exhibition depicting the organization and resources of the State Police was maintained at the Topsfield, Brockton and Springfield fairs. This included a graphic portrayal of the activities of the State Police, with uniformed officers on duty to explain the various features. The communication system of the State Police was featured by an actual demonstration of the teletype and radio, these being operated daily in conjunction with the permanent equipment of the division, teletype messages being received at the exhibit booth, while radio broadcasts were received and transmitted also. In conjunction with the radio transmissions, the portable radio unit, mounted on a truck, was in actual use.

It is estimated that approximately 600,000 persons were actually contacted in this public safety work.

STATE POLICE BOAT "PROTECTOR"

The State Police Steamer Protector was used for the patrol and other purposes for which it was provided from the beginning of the fiscal year of 1933 until May 8, 1933, when the vessel was sold and the proceeds of the sale paid to the Commonwealth.

The work of the police detail formerly attached to the vessel is being carried on from shore and is confined chiefly to the inspection of motor boats, enforcement of the motor boat engine muffler law and the law relating to the pollution of the waters of the Commonwealth.

BUREAU OF CUSTODY OF CONTRABAND

This bureau receives all liquors and other property ordered forfeited by the courts and arranges for the sale at auction or destruction of confiscated property.

Police Stations, visits to, for the purpose of taking up confiscated property	116
Received from sale of forfeited liquors	$3,687.25
Received from sale of forfeited autos	387.50
Received from forfeited gaming machines	1,872.77
Received from sale of salvage materials	1,047.85
Total amount of liquors received and destroyed or sold:

Spirits
7,486 gal.

Wine

Malt
11,766 gal.

All moneys received from the sale of confiscated liquors and other property and taken from gaming machines have been accounted for and paid to the commonwealth.

BUREAU FOR THE STORAGE OF LIQUIDS

This bureau is maintained for the enforcement of the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 148, Sections 37 and 38, relative to the construction, use and maintenance of above-ground tanks of more than ten thousand gallons capacity for the storage of fluids other than water.

The officer in charge is assigned as assistant to the Commissioner for the enforcement of this law in addition to his duties as special boiler inspector.

This work includes the examination of plans, the figuring of stresses, determining compliance with specifications established by regulations, inspection of proposed sites for tank construction, and conferences with engineers, tank manufacturers, architects, public and private fire protection officials, licensing authorities and other municipal officers. In addition, the inspector checks the specifications of all new boilers and air tanks that are being installed in this State. This year specifications of 350 boilers and 384 air tanks were checked in this manner.

During the year ending November 30, 1933, permits were granted in 68 instances for the construction and maintenance of tanks under this law. In addition to this there were 7 permits issued for relocation of tanks.

Since the enactment of this law in 1921, there has been a great improvement in the maintenance of storages of this character due in no small measure to the spirit of cooperation shown by the manufacturers of tanks and others who are interested in installations which are subject to the provisions of the law.

Number of cities and towns in which tanks are located	197	199
Number of corporations maintaining tanks	319	330
Number of tanks existing under this act	2,692	2,758
Number of tanks relocated	—	7

DIVISION OF INSPECTION

The Division of Inspection, in charge of a director known as the Chief of inspections, is organized as provided by chapter 22, of the General Laws, and includes the functions of building inspection, boiler inspection, the Board of Elevator Regulations and the Board of Boiler Rules.

Building Inspection

Chapter 143 of the General Laws enforced by the Inspectors of Buildings applies to the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and ventilation of public buildings as defined in the law; also factories, hotels, lodging, apartment and tenement houses above a certain size and capacity throughout the Commonwealth. This chapter is enforced under rules and regulations approved by the Commissioner which are issued in pamphlet form for the convenience of those engaged in business affected by the statute. The inspection of elevators in cities and towns not having an elevator inspector is under the jurisdiction of the department, and in such places the elevator and escalator regulations promulgated by the Board of Elevator Regulations are enforced. The building inspectors also inspect cinematographs, so called, or moving pictures, and license operators for the same under rules which are approved by the Commissioner.

Boiler Inspection

Chapter 146 of the General Laws enforced by the Inspectors of Boilers provides for the annual inspection of steam boilers, except those of certain classes, also the issuance of certificates of inspection before the boilers can be operated. This chapter also provides for the inspection of tanks for the storage of compressed air used to operate pneumatic machinery, and for safety valves applied to ammonia compressors. The inspections are regulated by rules formulated by the Boiler Rules in accordance with this chapter. The boiler inspectors also enforce the provisions of said chapter relating to the licensing of engineers and firemen, operators of hoisting machinery, and insurance company boiler inspectors.

DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION

Under the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 148, the State Fire Marshal is required to study fire hazards and fire prevention and all matters relating thereto, hear appeals, suggestions and complaints from all persons and from all cities and towns, advise with the officers of such cities and towns; and make suggestions to the General Court and to the cities and towns looking to the improvement of the laws, ordinances and by-laws relating to fire departments, construction of buildings, building or fire limits, use and occupation of buildings and other premises, protection of existing buildings, fire escapes and other life saving devices, segregation and licensing of trades dangerous by reason of fire hazard and all matters relating to fire prevention and fire hazard. In carrying out the provisions of this statute, during the year 1933 the Fire Marshal held several conferences with fire department officials, and conferred in various sections of the state with representatives of communities interested in the work of fire prevention, with the view to securing improvement in fire prevention methods.

The State Fire Marshal acted as chairman of a special committee in the creation of a training school for firemen, and this school has successfully operated in ten conveniently located centers throughout the Commonwealth. This school is sponsored by the Fire Marshal, the Fire Chiefs' Club, the Massachusetts Farm Bureau Federation, the Department of Education, insurance interests and others interested in the training of firemen in communities where there are no organized drill schools.

The Fire Marshal also served on a committee interested in the prevention of fires in rural and farm districts. Several meetings were held and much accomplished in this work. In connection with this matter, a special exhibition was arranged at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield where it was viewed by several thousand people and received very favorable comment from the public and from officials interested in this particular fire prevention movement.

During the past year a number of illustrated lectures on the discovery of evidence and the proper handling of same in connection with arson and other fraudulent burning cases were given by an inspector of the Fire Marshal's division at several fire stations throughout the Commonwealth. The Fire Marshal also cooperated with a number of local fire departments in the formation and operation of fire prevention bureaus within the respective departments.

During the observance of Fire Prevention Week, beginning October 8, 1933, the local fire departments and civic organizations cooperated with the Fire Marshal in special activities for the furtherance of fire prevention.

During the past year new fuel oil regulations, and regulations governing the inspection of petroleum products were promulgated by the Fire Marshal, and a number of regulations concerning other inflammable materials are now in the process of preparation. In connection with these regulations, the Fire Marshal assembled at various times parties interested in such regulations, these meetings being attended by heads of fire departments, representatives of dealers in petroleum products, insurance company representatives, oil burner equipment manufacturers, garage owners and others.

Due to the rapid development of fuel oil burners designed for use in connection with kitchen ranges, stoves, small heaters, water heaters, etc., it became necessary to revise the regulations of the department governing the use of fuel oil so that these burners would have to be approved. During the year several hundred of these oil burners have been submitted to the department for examination, and during that time 283 fuel oil burners have been approved for use within the Commonwealth.

The increased use of fuel oil for domestic purposes has necessitated additional storage facilities, and as a result many existing bulk storage plants have increased their storage, and a number of new plants have been created. Inspectors of the Fire Marshal's office are required to make inspection of these plants at various times to observe that they are being maintained in a safe condition.

It is also required under General Laws, Chapter 148, that all fires of suspicious origin occurring throughout the Commonwealth, with the exception of the city of Boston, shall be investigated by the State Fire Marshal. The duties necessary to accomplish this work are performed by officers of the Division of State Police who are assigned to specific districts and perform their duties under the direction of a Chief Fire Inspector who also acts as assistant to the State Fire Marshal. The Chief Fire Inspector is also empowered under the statute to administer oath and take testimony at fire inquests. The past year was marked by an increase in the percentage of convictions in cases arising from incendiarism. In addition to the success of the state fire inspectors in securing convictions, their work has been especially gratifying inasmuch as included among those convicted were a number of persons who were making a business of setting fires for hire, and in these cases convictions have been instrumental in breaking up so-called "arson rings."

Joseph F. Cobb, Building Inspector. Entered the service of the Commonwealth March 15, 1909; retired May 1, 1933.

IN GENERAL

Contact with the various units engaged in the work of law enforcement co-incident to the work of the Department of Public Safety leads one to the conclusion that desirable improvement in efficiency can be obtained for police departments generally by systematic training and education of police officers.

The matter of efficient police service is closely associated with public safety since the work of the police is such an important factor in the protection of life and property. It would appear, therefore, that measures should be taken to provide that proper training and education should be a prerequisite to appointment to police positions and that all police officers now serving in municipal departments should be given the advantage of a thorough and systematic course of training in their duties.

In closing the report for the fiscal year 1933 I wish to express to the members of the General Court, to His Excellency the Governor and to the various officials in the public service my appreciation of the cooperation which they have extended in the numerous matters affecting this department. To the members of the department who have displayed an intelligent, loyal and efficient interest in the many tasks which have confronted us and whose helpful cooperation has lightened the work of administration I extend my heartfelt thanks.

Respectfully submitted,

DANIEL NEEDHAM, Commissioner.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS

The supervision of Lord's Day entertainments is authorized under the provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws and during the year ending November 30, 1934, there was submitted to this bureau for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety a total of 21,808 licenses and programs of entertainments to be held on the Lord's Day. Of this number, 21,800 were approved and 8 disapproved, shown as follows:—Fall River, 1; Lynn, 1; Revere, 1; Salisbury, 3; Shrewsbury, 2.

Each of these licenses and programs was accompanied by a fee of $2.00, the amount totalling $43,616, which was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. This amount was $1,690 in excess of the year 1933.

In addition to the above number of licenses, there were 6,842 reels of motion picture film censored for showing on the Lord's Day, which were disposed of as follows:

Number of reels approved	6,255
Number of reels approved with deletions	510
Number of reels disapproved	77
Footage of film censored	6,157,800

There were also submitted for censorship twenty-nine mutoscope reels and fifteen sets of drop cards which were disposed of as follows:

Mutoscope reels approved	28
Mutoscope reels disapproved	1
Drop cards approved	15
Drop cards disapproved	0

Vaudeville acts are pre-viewed at the various theatres prior to their showing on the Lord's Day at which time a record is made for files in this office of the name, kind of act, clothing and number of persons in said acts. The management of the theatres as well as the acts are notified of the required deletions to be made for Sunday presentations. There were 3,238 vaudeville acts reviewed for showing on the Lord's Day. Of this number 2,087 were re-reviewed. The remaining 1,151 were acted upon as follows:

Acts approved	412
Acts approved with deletions	476
Acts disapproved	263

Operators of seven theatres and eight outdoor amusements were granted hearings for violations of regulations and after due deliberation the cases of these operators were placed on file.

The personnel assigned to this bureau perform various duties in connection with the enforcement of the law governing entertainments held on the Lord's Day in this Commonwealth. In addition to their functions as censors, they are required to perform such other duties as may be assigned them from time to time, such as the checking of licenses as approved by the Commissioner of Public Safety to determine whether or not they are exercised as originally approved. It is also necessary to check all entertainments at the many different theatres, halls, amusement parks and beaches.

The entertainments are varied in character. The theatres and larger halls offer stage presentations, vaudeville and motion pictures, while in the different community theatres and halls, plays are conducted by both professional and amateur performers. Many of these performances are in a foreign tongue and require the service of interpreters in censoring. At the amusement parks and beaches are conducted the many different rides, games, sideshows, etc., which require a most rigid supervision.

As in the past we have received the cooperation of the majority of operators and licensing authorities in the different cities and towns in which amusement parks and beaches are located. At the beginning of each season a few unscrupulous operators appear who are immediately barred from the amusement business in the Commonwealth. In this connection there were approximately 1,157 performances in theatres inspected. Every amusement device or show, exhibit and game operated at the different amusement parks and beaches is inspected at least once during each season. Complaints received relative to violations in any amusement enterprise in the Commonwealth are investigated immediately and, if sustained, suitable action is taken. This procedure is absolutely necessary in order to insure strict compliance with the law.

	Number of Licenses	Amount
Motion picture exhibitions, vaudeville and theatricals	16,404	$32,808
Amusements at beach resorts and at summer parks	5,077	10,154
Golf driving ranges	295	590
Outdoor miniature golf	24	48
Total licenses approved	21,800	$43,600
Licenses for various amusements disapproved	8	16
Total number of licenses	21,808	$43,616

BUREAU OF EXPERT ASSISTANTS

The work of the personnel of this group embraces the analysis and testing of explosives and inflammables, experimentation and study of firearms used in crimes and general assistance to the Commissioner in field and laboratory activities in criminal investigation.

In the many instances of crimes of violence in connection with homicides, bank hold-ups and other felonies during the year this unit rendered effective service in the detection of criminals and examination of evidence exhibits for use in court.

The following is a statistical summary of the work of the bureau, including photographic work from the beginning of the fiscal year to October 1, 1934:

BUREAU OF PHOTOGRAPHY

An increase in demands made upon the small group in the Bureau of Expert Assistants for photography at scenes of crimes necessitated a rearrangement of facilities and personnel during the year. Effective as of October 1, 1934 a Bureau of Photography was established in the department operating as a unit and under the immediate direction of the Commissioner.

The creation of this bureau necessitated new photographic apparatus and accessories for the various types of work intended to be done in this bureau.

A photostatic camera, taking a sheet eighteen inches by twenty-two inches, was installed. This unit is complete with mercury vapor lamps and with a drying machine for finished prints. The purchase of a copy machine, known as the Dexigraph, was made for the purpose of establishing a file for single fingerprints. This photographic unit is a precision instrument, making possible the reproduction of exact size fingerprints. The necessary accessories for the production of quantity work on the Dexigraph include developing and fixing tanks with racks for holding prints during the process.

The files for classifying single fingerprints are now in the Bureau of Photography and at the present time one man is assigned, with approximately one hundred single fingerprint impressions being photographed, classified and filed daily.

A camera known as the Photo Record was also installed for the making of photographs of persons arrested for crime. This instrument is capable of running out hundreds of standard size identification photographs a day, front and profile views.

An increase has been noted in the number of requests from municipal police departments for the photographing of latent fingerprints at scenes of crimes. The addition of the Dexigraph copying unit is expected to facilitate the identification of criminals from these prints.

The following is a summary of the work of the bureau from October 1, 1934 to the end of the fiscal year, November 30, 1934:

PUBLIC RELATIONS

In carrying out the department's policy of establishing a high degree of coordination and cooperation with the public in general in the administration and enforcement of laws relating to public safety, desirable results were accomplished during the past year through the medium of lectures given by officers of the department to various organizations throughout the Commonwealth.

The aims, purposes and resources of the department were impressed upon the public during the past year particularly through the medium of talks on safety subjects and police activities. It is estimated that several hundred thousand persons were actually contacted in this public safety work by members of the department especially qualified for this work. They appeared before audiences of school children and their teachers, policemen, firemen, veterans' organizations, granges, lion, rotary and kiwanis clubs, women's clubs, leagues and associations, fraternal societies and similar organizations. These talks were illustrated by stereopticon slides and motion pictures featuring, in addition to the safety work, instructive accounts of the activities of the State Police, and included leading cases of the past year, together with explanations and illustrations of the varied special features of the department work, such as photography, chemistry, ballistic work, criminal identification and highway safety.

CUSTODIAN OF CONTRABAND

The Custodian of Contraband receives all liquors and other property ordered forfeited by the courts and sells or destroys confiscated property according to the laws providing for the same. This property when sold is disposed of at auction sale and the proceeds paid into the State Treasury.

BUREAU FOR THE STORAGE OF LIQUIDS

General Laws, Chapter 148, Section 37 provides that no person shall construct, maintain or use any tank or container of more than ten thousand gallons' capacity for the storage of any fluid other than water, unless the same is located underground, without first securing a permit therefor from the Commissioner of Public Safety. Section 38 of the said chapter provides that the department shall make rules and regulations governing the construction, use and maintenance of such tanks or containers.

The enforcement of these regulations and the examination of all plans for such construction and the inspection of proposed sites is delegated to a boiler inspector specially qualified for such duties. This inspector for the purpose of checking specifications and regulation requirements confers with licensees, tank manufacturers, architects, engineers, licensing authorities and other municipal officers with a view to securing compliance with the law and regulations.

During the year ending November 30, 1934, there were 97 permits granted for new construction under this law and 8 permits for relocation of existing tanks.

Number of cities and towns in which tanks are located	199	200
Number of corporations maintaining tanks	330	341
Number of tanks	2,758	2,855

In addition to his duties in connection with the supervision of construction, use and maintenance of all storage tanks subject to the law, the inspector checks the specifications of all new steel boilers and air tanks installed in the state which are subject to the boiler inspection law. The total number of such boilers checked by the inspector during 1934 was 294. The number of air tanks checked was 346.

DIVISION OF STATE POLICE

The total strength of the State Police at present is 325 men. In this number are included eighteen State Police Detectives, fourteen State Police Fire Inspectors and two hundred ninety-three members of the uniformed force.

In addition to a number of detectives regularly assigned at the State House headquarters, a detective is assigned to the office of each district attorney with the exception of the district attorney's office in Suffolk County. These officers are available for investigations of a special nature and to assist in any jurisdiction in an emergency. During the year 1934 these men were called upon frequently to undertake criminal investigations of the most difficult type and demonstrated a high degree of efficiency.

One of the men assigned to State Police headquarters specializes in investigations of violations of insurance law, another on cases arising from violations of medical and dental laws and a specially trained group are engaged in the investigation of cases arising from theft of automobiles.

Assistance rendered to the Executive Office, to the Attorney General and other state departments provide a great variety of special investigations by the members of the Bureau of State Detectives.

An examination of the following statistical report of activities of the State Police for the year 1934 will reveal a substantial increase in the amount of work accomplished. It will be noted that the increase over the amount of work performed in 1933 was according to the following percentages:

Crimes against the person	37.6%
Crimes against property	12.6%
Crimes against chastity and morality	36.9%
Crimes against public order	102.0%
Automobile law violations	58.0%

BUREAU OF CRIMINAL IDENTIFICATION

It is provided in General Laws, Chapter 147, Section 4A, that the Commissioner of Public Safety receive, arrange and keep within the department proper means for the identification of criminals and for furnishing means of identification of criminals to police departments of cities and towns, to the Department of Correction and to prosecuting officers within the commonwealth.

The commissioner is authorized also to furnish such information to proper officers in other states and in foreign countries.

The bureau operates under the direction of the Chief of Detectives and is manned by properly qualified personnel for twenty-four hour service in each day.

The installation of complete photostatic and dextragraph equipment in the Bureau of Photography of the department has added greatly to the efficiency of the bureau of criminal identification.

The following is a statistical summary of the activities of this bureau during the year.

RADIO

The radio equipment of the State Police includes three 1000-watt broadcasting stations, a 50-watt portable transmitter and ninety cruiser cars equipped with radio receiving sets. Station WMP is located at Framingham; Station WPEL at West Bridgewater and Station WPEW at Northampton.

The portable station which is licensed as Station WPEV is mounted on a six cylinder one and one-half ton truck and has a broadcasting range of 20 miles. This station has been found very effective in situations where a number of cruiser cars are operating in a limited area and close contact with the officer in command is desired.

Radio service is given to police departments of cities and towns which maintain cruiser cars with radio sets tuned to one of our broadcasting stations. There are at present approximately 100 of these cars in service and receiving messages from State Police stations.

During the year 1934 Station WMP was on the air 1112 hours; Station WPEL for 697 hours; Station WPEW for 704 hours and Station WPEV for 104 hours.

A list of the cities and towns to which radio service is furnished is as follows:

TELETYPE

The State Police teletype system has operated efficiently during the year and has proved to be an essential aid to police operations.

The system is controlled from headquarters at the State House where a teletype switchboard and four machines are installed.

At each troop headquarters a switchboard and three machines are installed and are connected directly with the various sub-stations. A line is maintained between each troop headquarters and the State House and relays are established between Troop C headquarters at Holden and the Worcester Police department and similarly between Troop B headquarters at Northampton and the Springfield Police department.

In addition to the regular system a machine is installed at headquarters at the State House which is connected with the suburban Metropolitan District circuit of thirty police departments of cities and towns.

A coast to coast machine is also installed at the State House permitting us to reach any city or town in the United States where a teletype machine is maintained.

Until July, 1934 messages for the Connecticut circuit were sent directly to the Northampton station and relayed from that point. Because of the increased number of messages a duplex system was installed whereby any station on the Massachusetts system may send a message directly to the central control point at Hartford, Connecticut, and have it relayed to the designated point in Connecticut. This includes all general broadcasts sent from the central control point at the State House, Boston. Replies from Connecticut are sent to Northampton and from there relayed to the designated point in Massachusetts or Providence, Rhode Island.

In August of 1934 teletype connection was established between the Pennsylvania State System, Delaware State Police and the Wilmington, Delaware Police Department. The Delaware State Police will deliver all teletype messages to any part of the state of Delaware.

In October of 1934 teletype connection was established through the Pennsylvania State Police to State Police at Columbus, Ohio.

At the present date the teletype system consists of an eight state hook-up; Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Ohio. Stations in each of these states can be reached either directly or by relay making a total of 676 teletype stations in the eight states. There is an agreement between the states as to the handling of all teletype messages from one state to another. The receiving station takes the responsibility of delivering the message to its destination. In the past we have received excellent cooperation from all states and municipal relay points in the state system.

Owing to the increase in messages of from 500 per month in 1933 to 1500 per month in 1934 to the Registry of Motor Vehicles a teletype line was established at that point, making the Registry of Motor Vehicles available for direct motor vehicle information to all stations on the circuit.

At the central control point at the State House, Boston we have a filing system with a 30,000 stolen car file, in which registrations, motor and serial numbers are cross indexed, carrying all stolen cars reported in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island. The system also includes a missing person file; a file for "Wanted" cars; that is, cars which have been used in crimes; a file for "Wanted" persons, stolen goods, jewelry and stolen guns and revolvers, where such firearms are recorded by make and number.

Arrangements are made with the telephone company for the installation of machines in an emergency at any place desired as a control point. This installation can be made in less than two hours. In June of 1934 the telephone company redesigned their equipment throughout the state so that if an emergency arises they can set up a teletype machine at the scene making that section a control point if necessary.

TRAFFIC CONTROL

There are now 150 members of the State Police assigned to the Traffic Division. This is an increase of 40 men over the personnel of 1933 and are men who were assigned on October 9th from the group enlisted on June 1, 1934. The members of the division have full police powers, but their primary duties are traffic control and traffic law enforcement. Normally a man patrols a route 15 miles long and in the ordinary course of patrol will average 100 miles a day.

Because of the enlargement of the personnel of the division and a steady increase in the number of accidents occurring on state highways, there was an increase of 15,684 violations reported over the 31,814 of 1933. These 47,498 violations were disposed of as follows: 1,630 arrests, 12,405 summons, 20,600 warnings, 12,733 operators checked for license and registration, and 130 reports sent to the Registrar recommending suspension of license or registration. In addition to these violations there were 77,500 cards served on operators of motor vehicles for defective equipment. These cards were served principally on operators of motor vehicles with defective light equipment, and are used for the purpose of notifying the owners to have the defects corrected.

The traffic accident situation has developed into such a serious problem that the division is concentrating all its efforts in an endeavor to bring about a reduction in auto accidents throughout the state. The records show that the officers of the division investigated 1,490 auto accidents during the year, which is an increase of 344 accidents over 1933. Accidents from which fatalities resulted numbered 98, and this also is an increase of 51 over last year. An analysis of the reports indicates that one violation is responsible for the majority of accidents on state highways, although there are two other violations which are responsible for a great number. The first mentioned is Speeding, and the other two are Failing to Keep to the Right, and Operating Under the Influence of Liquor. These three violations are the most commonly prosecuted and although there are approximately 50 offenses regarding driving, which the officers may be called upon to enforce, the records show that 39% of the total violations handled were for the above three offenses.

In spite of this enforcement of the three most common violations, the accident rate has increased, and efforts are being made—through closer cooperation with other departments, studies of speeds on highways, education and studies of various causes of accidents—to bring about the maximum reduction possible in traffic accidents. In these efforts, the division has cooperated with the Governor's Committee on Street and Highway Safety in an intensive enforcement program, which continued from June 1, 1934 to November 30, 1934. The basis of this program was the plan of concentrating on the eight offenses that result in the majority of accidents throughout the state. During this program, the division issued to offending operators 23,676 blue cards which were prepared for this program by the Committee. On September 30th, a concerted drive—by all police in the state and the Registry of Motor Vehicles—was made, to inspect licenses and registrations of all operators on the road that day. The division assisted in the preparation of the plans for the drive and 96 men were placed on the heavily traveled roads. These men examined 29,000 operators and found 485 violations that pertained to licenses or registrations.

There are also three officers of the division who are assigned exclusively to the Governor's Committee on Street and Highway Safety, two being at the State House and one at Northampton. Their duties are to establish and maintain schedules of school safety talks, as well as lectures and instruction on highway safety to civic and social groups. They also assist in conducting surveys for cities and towns and assist in studies of isolated hazards brought to the attention of the Committee.

During the year the division also assisted in the Massachusetts Accident Survey, a Federal C.W.A. Project, which started in December, 1933 and continued to September, 1934. The object of this project was to make a complete study of traffic conditions in Massachusetts, and one unit was assigned especially to our Department to study conditions on state highways. The division assisted these traffic engineers in every way possible, giving them the use of our accident records, office space in various stations and assistance in determining the various causes of accidents. Much valuable information was obtained from their studies of the traffic conditions and in addition a large traffic spot map was set up, also a complete accident location file and station area maps, which include the names of all streets within each station area. An individual spot map was made for each Troop Headquarters, covering their troop area, so that a Troop Commander could immediately tell where accidents were happening in his territory.

Final studies and compilation of figures were not complete when the project expired, so that on October 1, 1934 the Traffic Enforcement Research Bureau was established as an E.R.A. Project. This project was established for the express purpose of providing whatever data the division desired as assistance in enforcement work and the accident reduction problem. With a personnel of 160 on the project, the program of the bureau is outlined as follows: to discover the percentage of cars traveling at high speeds on state highways—this to give an indication of normally safe limits of speed on certain highways; a seasonal speed checkup to attempt to ascertain a seasonal factor, if possible; a breakdown of accident records, to attempt to find the influence of speed and violations on accident occurrence; production of a complete enforcement index which will include condensed pocket manuals of route spot maps and data on speed and violations; research studies of a uniform code of motor regulations; posting highways for safe speeds under normal conditions, and comparison of results between enforcement and education.

A start has been made on the speed breakdown, which will eventually give valuable information on excessively high speeds and their relationship to accidents. The accident records of locations which show a high number of accidents are being studied as to speed, violations and volumes at these points. Under the research studies, the subjects which are now being covered are a uniform code of motor regulations and the study of safe speeds under normal conditions. Upon the completion of this program, it is hoped that a complete picture will be shown of the traffic conditions and causes of accidents on the highways of the state. When definite causes of traffic accidents can be established, it is believed that by concentration on these causes a marked decrease will be shown in accident records of the state.

In addition to maintaining traffic patrols, the division handled 163 escorts; 92 requests for assistance from other police departments to assist in traffic regulation; and various other details including the policing of 12 agricultural fairs held throughout the state.

STATE POLICE TRAINING SCHOOL

The Training School, formerly maintained throughout the year, is now in session only when recruit patrolmen are to be trained or when a general re-conditioning of State Police personnel is carried out.

From May 28 to August 28, 1934, a class of forty-five recruit patrolmen, appointed from the eligible list of 1933, were trained under canvas at West Bridgewater. Thirty of the recruits were appointed to the school as an increase in the personnel of the uniformed branch, and fifteen were appointed to fill existing vacancies.

During their course of training these men were instructed in police practice and procedure, the general laws respecting crimes, the use of the motorcycle, horsemanship, shooting and care of firearms, traffic direction, jiu-jitsu, military drills, ballistics, fingerprint classification and the use of photography in the investigation of crimes. In addition, a course of two lectures per week was given at the school under the direction of Mr. George P. Johnson, American Red Cross, in first aid. At the end of the complete course of fifteen lectures a final examination was given by Mr. Johnson. All members of the school passed the examination and received diplomas in advanced first aid.

A special course on the traffic accident problem was given by Mr. Maxwell Halsey, Traffic Engineer of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, during the last week of the school. A sergeant was assigned from each troop and from the State House to take Mr. Halsey's course, and all police departments in the Commonwealth were invited to send as many representatives as they desired, maintenance to be supplied by the Training School if desired. Among the cities and towns represented were Boston, Cambridge, Paxton, Leominster, Brockton, Avon and West Bridgewater.

The recruit patrolmen were graduated from the school on August 28, 1934 and assigned to the four troops of the organization.

STATE POLICE PISTOL TEAM

The State Police Pistol Team competed in team and individual matches at the State Police Training School, Trenton, New Jersey, at the New England Championship Matches at Wakefield, Massachusetts, at the Police Matches at Ludlow, Massachusetts, and the North Atlantic States Police and Civilian Championships at Hartford, Connecticut. They won the Police Match at Ludlow, finishing second in the Championships at Wakefield in a field of twenty-five police teams, finishing in fourth place at Hartford in a field of thirteen teams. They secured second place at the Eighth Annual Matches of the Westchester County Revolver League, Bedford, New York, in a field of ten teams, New York City Police winning first place. In the individual police matches a member of the team won the Regional National Rifle Association Championship at Wakefield, with a member of the team second. In the New England Individual Police Championship members of the team finished second and third.

During the year 1934 twenty-two members of the uniformed branch were qualified as Expert, sixteen members as Sharpshooter and one hundred seven as Marksman, under the rules of the New England Police Revolver League.

In October, 1934 there was organized an inter-troop league, each troop having a five-man team representing it, and one team representing headquarters at the State House. They will compete in a series of ten matches, one match per week throughout the winter. Shooting medals are to be awarded to each member of the winning team.

DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION

The past year was marked by an increase in the percentage of arrests and convictions in the cases arising from incendiarism. It is required under General Laws, Chapter 148, that all fires of suspicious origin occurring throughout the Commonwealth, with the exception of the city of Boston, shall be investigated by the Fire Marshal. The duties necessary to accompany this work are performed by officers of the Division of State Police, who are assigned to specific districts and perform their duties under the direction of the Chief Fire Inspector, who also acts as assistant to the State Fire Marshal. In carrying out the provisions of this statute, State Police Fire Inspectors made arrests for 198 fires in 1934. There were 147 guilty verdicts in cases arising during the year and 14 convicted in cases which arose during the previous year, so that there were a total of 161 convictions for the year ending November 30. In the disposition of these cases 16 were sent to State Prison for a total of not less than 49 nor not more than 79 years; 30 to the House of Correction for a total of 409 months; 18 to reformatories; 31 to insane hospitals; and 40 were placed on probation, of which 20 received suspended sentences, 5 paid costs and 9 made restitution. In addition to the arrests for burnings there was 1 arrest for perjury, 11 for breaking, entering and larceny and 2 for receiving stolen property, all arising from arrests made for fires.

The success of the State Police Fire Inspectors in securing these convictions has been especially gratifying inasmuch as there were included among those convicted a number of persons who were making a business of setting fire for hire and the convictions have been instrumental in breaking up the so-called "arson ring." In a series of cases which involved the destruction of property by fire extending over four counties, where the motives for the fires were to burn buildings to cover up the theft of antiques, 10 persons have been taken into custody and 5 already convicted, with other cases to be disposed of. One of the defendants was sentenced to not less than 12 nor not more than 15 years in State Prison. Five persons were convicted for a fire which totally destroyed a large tannery at Peabody; and, in this case, insurance totalling $139,000 had been paid prior to the arrests. As a result of these arrests and convictions, $100,000 has been refunded to the insurance companies. The apprehension of a number of pyromaniacs and their confinement to proper institutions has accomplished much in decreasing the number of fires which result from the activities of such individuals.

Under the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 148, the State Fire Marshal is required to study fire hazards and fire prevention and all matters relating thereto, hear appeals, suggestions and complaints from all persons and from all cities and towns, advise with the officers of such cities and towns; and make suggestions to the cities and towns, looking to the improvement of the laws, ordinances and by-laws relating to fire departments, construction of buildings, building or fire limits, use and occupancy of buildings and other premises, protection of existing buildings, fire escapes and other life saving devices, segregation and licensing of trades dangerous by reason of fire hazard and all matters relating to fire prevention and fire hazard. In carrying out the provisions of this statute, during the year 1934 the Fire Marshal held several conferences with fire department officials and conferred in various sections of the state with representatives of communities interested in the work of fire prevention, with the view to securing improvements in fire prevention methods.

Among the many conferences held in connection with the above, one of special significance was the assembling of all fire department heads, oil company officials, insurance and fire underwriter officers and harbor officials interested in the better protection from possible oil fires in and about Chelsea Creek. As a result of this conference, steps have been taken for the betterment and coordination of protection against oil fires in that area.

The Marshal, serving on a special committee, has taken an active part in the continuation of the training school for firemen and has cooperated actively with the Division of Vocational Training of the Department of Education, the Fire Chiefs' Club, the Massachusetts Farm Bureau Federation and others interested in the training of firemen in communities where there are no organized drill schools. Such training schools for firemen are being conducted in ten conveniently located centers throughout the Commonwealth. Under the direction of the Marshal, lectures were given at each school on the subjects of Fire Prevention and Incendiarism. In addition to the activities in connection with these schools, a number of illustrated lectures on the discovery of evidence and the proper handling of the same in connection with arson and other burning cases were given by an inspector of the department at several fire stations throughout the Commonwealth.

The Fire Marshal has also assisted several fire departments in the formation and operation of fire prevention bureaus within the respective departments and has served on a committee interested in the prevention of fires in rural and farming districts. Several meetings were held and much accomplished in this work. In this connection a conference was held at Worcester, where fire chiefs, fire wardens and many others interested in such work joined in a program which was productive of many beneficial results.

During the observance of Fire Prevention Week, beginning October 7, 1934, the Marshal cooperated with local fire departments and civic organizations in special activities for the furtherance of fire prevention.

By virtue of authority contained in Chapter 182 of the Acts of 1934, kerosene, petroleum, or any products thereof, are now subject to inspection by the department. In carrying out the provisions of this statute, inspectors of this department have taken many samples from trucks, filling stations and bulk storage plants for the purpose of establishing whether or not such articles conform with the provisions of Chapter 148, Section 48.

DIVISION OF INSPECTION

The Division of Inspection operates under the supervision of a director designated as Chief of Inspections and includes among its personnel twenty-one building inspectors, one of whom is assigned as Supervisor of Plans and twenty-six boiler inspectors, one of whom is in charge of the Bureau for the Storage of Liquids. These inspectors are assigned to districts with offices located within their respective assignments. The provisions of Chapter 143 of the General Laws, which are enforced by the building inspectors, apply to the construction, inspection and occupancy of certain classes of buildings. Chapter 146 of the General Laws, which is enforced by the boiler inspectors, applies to the inspection of steam boilers and air tanks and to the examination and licensing of engineers, firemen and operators of hoisting machinery.

The duties of building inspectors include the examination and approval of plans for the construction of public buildings; supervision of construction to secure compliance with the law; the inspection of places of public assembly, hotels and lodging-houses; the issuance of certificates for the use of public buildings; the examination of applicants for licenses as motion picture operators; the inspection of motion picture projection booths; the examination of applicants for the operation of elevators in cities and towns having no building inspection, and the general enforcement of State Building Laws and regulations.

The Boiler Inspection Division contributes to public safety by the inspection of steam boilers and air tanks and their appurtenances, to insure compliance with safety standards provided by law to safeguard life and property; by examination of applicants for licenses to operate boilers and steam plants, and other power machinery; and by general enforcement of laws, rules and regulations relating to steam boilers and power machinery.

Board of Boiler Rules

The Board of Boiler Rules consists of the Chief of Inspections and four other members, each of whom represents a separate interest and who are appointed by the Commissioner. The board is required to hold hearings semi-annually to consider petitions for changes in the steam boiler rules. After consideration of such proposed changes and public hearings given for the benefit of those interested, such changes as are approved are incorporated in the regulations with the approval of the Governor and Council. In addition to the two meetings required by law for the consideration of changes in the regulations, the board holds regular monthly meetings during the year.

STATE BOXING COMMISSION

The State Boxing Commission serves in the Department of Public Safety by virtue of and in accordance with the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 22, section 12. The commission administers and enforces the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 147, sections 32 to 47, inclusive, and the rules and regulations made under the authority of section 46. The duties of the commission include, among other things, the licensing of boxing clubs, boxing exhibitions, boxers, managers, seconds, referees, judges, time-keepers, physicians, and the supervision of exhibitions conducted under the boxing law.

A change was instituted during the legislative session in the law relating to managers of boxers. An abuse in the form of conduct on the part of unauthorized persons, acting as managers of boxers and avoiding responsibilities for illegal acts because of not being subject to control as licensees, had seriously affected the sport. In order to eliminate this situation an amendment to the law concerning managers was enacted and a penalty provided for acting as a manager without a license. The statute as amended now reads as follows:

General Laws, Chapter 147, section 35

"Section 35. No person shall act, except at a purely amateur match or exhibition, directly or indirectly, as physician, referee, judge, timekeeper, professional boxer or as manager, trainer or second of such a boxer, at a boxing or sparring match or exhibition unless licensed by the commission upon receipt of such classified fee, not exceeding twenty-five dollars, as the commission may fix. Whoever, without being so licensed, acts as such manager or engages in the business commonly transacted by managers of boxers shall be punished by a fine of not more than two hundred dollars. For the purposes of sections thirty-two to forty-seven, inclusive, a professional boxer is one who competes for a money prize or teaches or pursues or assists in the practice of boxing as a means of obtaining a livelihood or pecuniary gain. Physicians who desire to officiate without charge at amateur boxing or sparring matches or exhibitions shall be licensed without charge."

The following is a statistical report for the period ending November 30, 1934:

The number of professional clubs conducting matches and exhibitions was 14 and the number of exhibitions held was 143.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE LICENSES

It is provided in General Laws, chapter 147, section 22, that no person shall engage in the business of or solicit business as a private detective unless licensed so to do according to law. Licenses of this character are issued by the Commissioner of Public Safety after careful investigation of the character and standing of the applicant. During the fiscal year of 1934 there was issued a total of 32 licenses, six of which were new licenses to individuals, one new license to corporation, sixteen were renewals to individuals and nine were renewals by corporations. Fees amounting to $4,200 were received for these licenses and paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

IN GENERAL

The duties of the Commissioner of Public Safety were assumed by me on October 3, 1934. Fairness requires a statement that approximately eleven-twelfths of the activities herein reported were accomplished during the administration of my predecessor, General Daniel Needham. He, rather than I, should properly be the author of this report.

The morale, training and discipline throughout the Department, with a few isolated exceptions which have since been corrected, I have found to be most gratifying.

There are some recommendations which I should like to make:

An increase in the personnel of the Detective Bureau of the State Police, which has performed excellent work, despite the fact that it now has fewer men than at the year of its creation; the acquisition of additional laboratory equipment for the Bureau of Expert Assistants; the establishment of a Bureau of Pathology, the need for which has long been recognized by experienced medical examiners within the Commonwealth; an increase in the personnel of the Uniformed Branch of the State Police, whose work has more than amply justified the confidence and respect of the police.

In closing this report, I wish to thank my predecessor for the courtesy which he extended to me upon my succession to his duties; to commend all within the Department of Public Safety for their unflagging loyalty and for their earnest and fruitful efforts, and to acknowledge gratefully the invaluable assistance which has been generously given to this Department and to me by all branches and departments of the government of the Commonwealth.

Respectfully submitted,

PAUL G. KIRK,
Commissioner of Public Safety.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

FOR THE

YEAR ENDING NOVEMBER 30,

1935

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

FIFTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT

THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

Year Ending November 30, 1935

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

I have the honor to submit the annual report of the Commissioner of Public Safety for the year ending November 30, 1935. This report is made in compliance with Section 1 of Chapter 147 of the General Laws.

No material change in the organization of the department has occurred during the fiscal year. Owing to a growing demand for space for natural development of department work, it was found necessary to move to larger quarters. Arrangements were concluded for occupancy of offices at Commonwealth Pier formerly occupied by the Department of Public Works and on November 16th the change of location was effected. The accommodations at the new location supply the much needed space for efficient operation and for the natural expansion of such important features of police work as criminal identification, photography, chemistry, ballistics and communications.

BUREAU OF CRIMINAL IDENTIFICATION

A reorganization of the so-called Rogues' Gallery in the Bureau of Criminal Identification has been effected during the year. This was accomplished by the adoption of a system of classified grouping of crimes.

The gallery existing prior to this reorganization was based upon the Bertillon System of identification by measurements and which by reason of modern developments in fingerprint science has become generally outmoded.

Under the new system it is possible to locate each photograph speedily and accurately by the type of crime which the subject has committed. The classification establishes major crime groups in accordance with:

Crimes against government.	Crimes against public peace.
Crimes against persons.	Crimes against public policy.
Crimes against property.	Crimes against chastity, decency,
Crimes against public health.	morality and good order.
Crimes against justice.	Crimes against currency, forgery.

These groups are further subdivided into crimes of a similar nature and whenever necessary are broken down into class of property, class of criminal and methods used. A register is used to assign a definite group title and sequence number for each photograph. To complete the connection the central index and fingerprint files are tied in with the register, classified photograph, and description history record.

The following records were received during the year ending November 30, 1935:

STATE POLICE BUILDINGS

The year 1934-1935 has witnessed a substantial improvement in housing accommodations for the personnel of the Uniformed Branch of the Division of State Police. The Public Works Administration projects, in which Massachusetts cooperated with the Federal government, have provided nine new fireproof buildings for State Police purposes; including a Troop Headquarters building, seven Sub-station buildings located at Athol, Shelburne Falls, Concord, Andover, Topsfield, Yarmouth and Norwell, and a Supply building at Framingham.

The Troop Headquarters building, which will serve as a headquarters for Troop A at Framingham, is located on the muster field formerly used by the National Guard as a camp and training field. This building is of fireproof construction throughout, 101 feet in length, 43 feet in width, and consists of two stories, attic and basement. The first floor of this building contains four offices, teletype room, guard room, cell room, dining room and kitchen. The basement contains a radio room with adjoining workrooms, a machine shop and garage. The heating and fuel equipment are also located in the basement. The second floor consists of thirteen double rooms with clothes closets, toilets, showers and lavatories. The attic floor contains three single rooms and two dormitories and is equipped with showers and toilets. Soundproofing is provided for the walls of all offices, sleeping rooms, dormitories, basement garages and radio rooms. The floors are of asphalt tile covering and the toilets and showers are equipped with terrazo floors.

The supply building, which is also located on the muster field at Framingham, serves as a supply center for the entire group of State

Police stations throughout the State. This building is of fireproof construction, 87 feet in length, 45 feet in width, and contains, in addition to the space provided for storage, garage space for two cars and a portable radio station. The first floor of this building contains offices, sleeping accommodations for officers on duty in the building, a tailor shop, toilets and showers. Storerooms for supplies are provided on the second floor and basement, and the building is equipped with a lift, metal bins, and shelving. Loading platforms are provided at both the ground and first floor level.

The seven Sub-station buildings are identical in construction with the Troop Headquarters building, except as to size. These buildings are 43 feet by 54 feet. They contain two offices, dining room, kitchen, guard room and cell room on the first floor. Rooms accommodating thirteen men are located on the second floor, and the third floor contains a large dormitory with toilets and showers.

These buildings are designed in the early colonial brick type with slate roofs. Cement walks lead to the entrances and gravel driveways to the garages in the rear. Flanking each building are flagstaffs for the national and state emblems. At the sidewalk line an illuminated sign indicating the use of the buildings is provided.

Under the P. W. A. program, 30% of the cost of these buildings was borne by the Federal government. The construction cost of the Troop Headquarters building was $58,707, the Sub-station at Athol — $38,389, at Shelburne Falls — $37,699, at Concord — $35,990, at Andover — $34,987.24, at Topsfield — $36,765, at Yarmouth — $38,360, and at Norwell — $36,974, and the Supply building at Framingham — $34,982.

TELETYPE

Teletype facilities at present include service to and from all State Police stations, the Metropolitan Boston suburban system, the cities of Fall River, Worcester and Springfield, and connection with the states of Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Ohio.

Connection is also established between State Police stations and the Board of Probation for the convenience of Probation Officers in assembling information in connection with cases before the courts, and with the Registry of Motor Vehicles for reference in tracing stolen automobiles.

RADIO

The radio equipment of the State Police includes three broadcasting stations, a 50-watt portable transmitter and one hundred cruiser cars equipped with radio receiving sets. Station WMP is located at Framingham, Station WPEL at West Bridgewater and Station WPEW at Northampton. At each radio station a stand-by receiver is continually tuned to our other stations to prevent interference on our assigned frequency.

The portable station which is licensed as Station WPEV is mounted on a six cylinder one and one-half ton truck and has a broadcasting range of 20 miles. This station has been found very effective in situations where a number of cruiser cars are operating in a limited area and close contact with the officer in command is desired.

Radio service is given to police departments of cities and towns which maintain cruiser cars with radio sets tuned to one of our broadcasting frequency. There are at present approximately 90 Massachusetts cities and towns using this service and receiving messages from State Police stations 24 hours each day.

During the fiscal year of 1935 Station WMP was on the air 948 hours; Station WPEL for 755 hours; Station WPEW for 736 hours and Station WPEV for 21 hours.

Receiving sets are to be installed on 20 motorcycles to be distributed to all parts of the State for the purpose of determining the advisability of installation on all motorcycles used by the State Police.

About August 1, 1935 a new radio antenna was installed at a new location for Station WMP at Framingham. This is a one tower, self-balancing type and is 228 feet in height. During the moving of the WMP transmitter to its new location, the portable station WPEV was used to transmit messages to all cruiser cars. By so doing, continuous radio service was maintained. This type of antenna is known as a vertical radiator, and when used in conjunction with the present transmitter the signal strength is increased 2 to $2\frac{1}{2}$ times.

The portable radio transmitter has been completely overhauled and is now crystal controlled. This enables the transmitter to operate immediately after the antenna system has been erected. Formerly it was necessary to retune the transmitter to the proper frequency.

At the present time $7\frac{1}{2}$ meter, two-way radio communication is in the experimental stage in the department, and it is expected to add greatly to the efficient performance of police duties by enabling two or more cruisers to communicate with each other.

Although the two-way radio is not practical as a whole for State Police service due to its limited range, there are a number of ways in which it can be used. In one case a search was being made in a sparsely settled district for a dangerous criminal and a number of cars were used, and two way radio was used to great advantage. Due to the small number of telephones in the area it would have been necessary to travel 3 or 4 miles to a phone to contact the main radio station to re-broadcast any information. The cars equipped with two-way radio contacted other patrol cars, and the information received was transmitted to the main station and in turn re-transmitted to all cars on the detail. This system was also used on the patrol boat on the Connecticut River and it kept the boat in constant touch with the Troop headquarters in regard to flood and other conditions on the river.

TRAFFIC CONTROL

The personnel of the State Police assigned to Traffic Control duty, operating for the first full year with a strength of 150 members, have proved the effectiveness of increased highway patrols in the reduction of traffic accidents and have demonstrated that traffic law observance and enforcement are of primary importance in securing safety upon our highways.

In the enforcement of the motor vehicle laws a card system is used which provides a record of every motor vehicle law violator in the central files at Headquarters in Boston. All cards are forwarded to headquarters, and there the circumstances surrounding each complaint are recorded and the disposition noted. The records at the central files show that during the past year the traffic officers have stopped 53,990 motorists, this being an increase of 6,492 over the 47,498 reported in 1934. The dispositions noted on these 53,990 violations show that they were disposed of as follows:—1,723 arrests, 13,103 summonses, 21,968 warnings; 17,002 were stopped and checked for their license and registration and found to be properly covered, and 194 reports were sent to the Registrar recommending suspension of license or registration as the result of some serious violation. In addition to these violations, there were 43,151 cards served on motorists for defective equipment. These cards are issued by the Registrar and require the motorist to have the defect corrected within four days and the card returned to the Registrar, after being signed at an authorized brake and light station.

It is not our policy to take court action against motorists committing minor auto law violations in order to attain proper traffic control. It was found, however, that some persons who had been warned were repeating the offenses; and in order to attain the necessary cooperation in enforcement arrangements were made with the Registrar whereby a copy of all warning cards are sent to his office. These cards are filed there; and, if a repetition occurs, action is taken against the operator by the Registrar.

During the fiscal year of 1935 there were 1,636 traffic accidents on the highways reported by the officers assigned to traffic duty, which is a reduction in number of 60 or 3½% as compared with the year before. There were 93 fatalities reported in 1935 as compared with 121 in 1934. This reduction of 28 is 23.1% reduction. This reduction of 23.1% of the number of fatalities reported compares with a State-wide reduction in fatalities of 14.4%. The number of personal injury accidents reported during 1935 was 2,076, an increase of 65 or 3.2%.

An analysis of all the accidents reported for the year 1935 shows that the particular violation known as "Speed too fast for conditions" accounted for 689 out of 1,636 accidents reported. This violation of "Speed too fast for conditions" includes reckless driving and skidding. Next in importance was the violation known as "Drunken Driving", which accounted for 229 of the accidents. "Failing to keep to the right" caused 140 of the reported accidents.

It is interesting to note that 75% of the accidents resulting in fatalities occurred during the hours of darkness, with the peak period being from 6 p. m. to midnight, when approximately one-third of the total number of accidents occurred.

Accidents occurring on Saturday and Sunday constitute almost one-half of the total accidents reported. The months of June, July and August provide almost one-half of the total number of accidents. It is interesting to note that over one-half of the accidents reported occur on "Straightaways" and approximately three-quarters of the accidents occur when weather conditions are clear and fair.

STATE POLICE SCHOOL

At intervals during the fiscal year of 1935 courses of instruction were given by the instruction staff of the State Police School at the various State Police troop headquarters. At these courses a review of police practice and procedure was conducted, and instruction was given concerning the recent changes in the General Laws respecting crimes and court procedure.

A school of instruction in criminal law and police practice was also instituted at the request of town authorities in Dedham, Norwood, Franklin, Wrentham, Foxboro, North Attleboro, Sharon, Mansfield, Canton, Stoughton, Avon and Easton. This course extended over a period of seven weeks and was held alternately in Norwood and Foxboro. The school was attended by 110 officers and subjects similar to those included in State Police Instruction were included.

At the present time a similar school is being conducted at Clinton in cooperation with the Northern Worcester County Police Association. There are in attendance for this instruction eighty police officers from the towns of Lancaster, Sterling, Holden, Rutland, Grafton, Paxton, Bolton, West Boylston, Harvard, Oakdale, Boylston, Lunenburg, Berlin, Clinton, Dudley and Leominster.

STATE POLICE PISTOL TEAM

During the year 1935 forty-three members of the uniformed branch qualified as experts, fifty as Sharpshooters and one hundred and fifty as Marksmen, under the rules of the New England Police Revolver League.

In May twenty-eight experts of the department competed at West Bridgewater for places on the State Pistol Team and for the Tyro Team. The first team competed at the New Jersey State Police Training School at Trenton, at the New England Police Revolver League Matches at Woburn, at the New England Championships at Wakefield and at the North Atlantic States at Hartford, Connecticut. The Coach of the Team attended the National Police School and National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. The Team won the New England Police Revolver League Match at Woburn and the New England Championship Match at Wakefield. The Tyro Team won the Hultman Trophy at Wakefield for police tyro teams. The same Tyro Team finished second by one point in the New England Police Chiefs' Team Match at Wakefield.

During the year teams representing the four troops and one from State Police headquarters engaged in an inter-troop shoot. Members of the State Police Pistol Team were ineligible to compete in these matches. Troop A's team was the winner, and Troop D's team finished in second place. The inter-troop shoot is to be carried on this winter and through the spring of 1936.

RED CROSS FIRST AID

In October of this year the American Red Cross instituted courses of instruction in First Aid at 347 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, with a view to training persons for First Aid units in every community. As a part of this program it was proposed to locate a First Aid station at each station of the State Police. In cooperation with the Red Cross four officers of the grade of Sergeant were assigned to attend the courses.

The first course, known as the Standard Course, consisted of fifteen hours' instruction in practical problems in First Aid, application of the tourniquet, artificial respiration, general class work and a written quiz of twenty questions.

The four State Police officers assigned to the course qualified in First Aid and were then enrolled in an "Instructor" course. This course was given under the direction of a physician in the Red Cross service over a period of thirty hours and was designed to qualify persons as instructors. It is intended to use the services of the four officers receiving this instruction in qualifying all members of the State Police in the standard course in First Aid.

DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION

General Laws, Chapter 148, requires that the Fire Marshal study fire hazards and fire prevention and all matters relating thereto; hear appeals, suggestions and complaints from all persons and from all cities and towns; advise with officers of such cities and towns and make suggestions to the cities and towns for the improvement of laws, ordinances and by-laws relating to fire departments, construction of buildings or fire limits, use and occupancy of buildings and other premises; protection of existing buildings, fire escapes and other life-saving devices; segregation and licensing of trades dangerous by reason of fire hazard and all matters relating to fire prevention and fire hazard.

In compliance with the provisions of this statute, the Marshal met with fire department officials throughout the commonwealth and conferred in many sections of the state with representatives of communities interested in the work of fire prevention, with a view to securing an improvement in fire prevention methods. Special attention was given to the matter of proper storage of inflammable fluids along the waterfront. As a result of this particular activity, there has been a noticeable increase in the equipment to combat oil fires and a greater coordination of the movement to prevent such fires.

The Marshal has also assisted several fire departments in the organization and operation of fire prevention bureaus within their respective departments. Support has also been given to the continuation of training schools for firemen; and the Division of Fire Prevention has cooperated with the Department of Education, the Fire Chiefs Club and the Massachusetts Farm Bureau Federation and others interested in the training of firemen in communities where there are no organized drill schools.

During the past year fire prevention lectures were given by an officer of the Division of Fire Prevention in fifty-one cities and towns throughout the Commonwealth. Instructions pertaining to the discovery of evidence of incendiarism and the proper method of handling and preserving the same were given at thirty-two sessions of the Regional Fire Schools at eleven cities and towns. Fire prevention lectures were given at the following places:

Saugus, Melrose, Springfield, Lowell, Brockton (2), Clinton, Halifax, Raynham, New Bedford, Somerset, Methuen (2), Needham, Auburn, Vineyard Haven, Hingham (2), Holyoke, Waltham, Westwood, North Dighton, Malden, Haverhill, Ayer, Salem, Pittsfield, Fall River, Groveland, Quincy, North Easton, Whitman, Framingham (2), Wellesley (2), Amherst (2), Andover, Attleboro (2), Rockland, Newton, Worcester (6), Boston (3), Brookline (3), Middleborough, Northampton, Berlin, Wakefield (2), Fitchburg (2), Taunton (2), Arlington, Cambridge, Mansfield, Falmouth, Athol and Concord.

The Marshal has also cooperated with Federal and local authorities for the construction of additional "water holes" in rural districts and in sections beyond the hydrant service and has assisted in securing Federal approval for a number of such projects.

During the year there were 129 arrests for fires, as the result of which 101 convictions were secured; 12 found not guilty; 10 cases not pressed. In the disposition of these cases, 23 were sent to State Prison; 15 to the House of Correction; 26 found to be insane or defective delinquents; 11 to reformatories and industrial schools; 11 placed on probation; 12 given probation with suspended sentences and 3 probation with restitution.

As required by Chapter 148, Section 49A of the General Laws, kerosene, petroleum or any products thereof kept for sale at wholesale or retail for illuminating, cooking or heating purposes is subject to inspection by the department for the purpose of determining whether or not a violation of Section 48 of the same chapter has occurred. Officers of this division have been assigned to such inspection and during the year took 817 samples of petroleum throughout the commonwealth. A fee of $1 for each sample so taken has been charged by the department.

Under the provisions of Chapter 148, Section 9, regulations governing the transportation of inflammable fluids over the highways of the commonwealth were promulgated during the past year.

It is required under these regulations that all trucks used in the transportation of inflammable fluids shall be approved by the State Fire Marshal. In carrying out the provisions of this regulation, officers of the division have been assigned to the inspection of such trucks. At the conclusion of the fiscal year, 1481 trucks have been inspected and approved and certificates issued, while 279 were disapproved.

At the request of the Commissioner of Mental Diseases, Assistant Fire Prevention Engineer Carl Stuetzel, Jr., and Building Inspector Harry Atkinson were assigned to make an inspection of state hospitals and schools which are under the supervision of the Department of Mental Diseases, with reference to fire prevention and fire protection.

There are 13 mental hospitals and 3 schools of feeble minded, which are being included in this inspection. These institutions have 25,751 inmates and approximately 6,400 employees. The total value of the buildings and contents is $40,786,555.78.

This work was undertaken in September and at the close of the fiscal year inspections were completed at Belchertown State School, Gardner State Colony, Monson State Hospital and Northampton State Hospital. A total of 131 buildings were inspected at these places. A copy of the report of the inspecting officers on each hospital inspected has been forwarded to the Commissioner of Mental Diseases and to the Superintendent of the hospital concerned in the inspection.

DIVISION OF INSPECTION

The Division of Inspection operates under the supervision of a director designated as Chief of Inspections and includes among its personnel twenty-one building inspectors, one of whom is assigned as Supervisor of Plans and twenty-six boiler inspectors, one of whom is in charge of the Bureau for the Storage of Liquids. These inspectors are assigned to districts with offices located within their respective assignments. The provisions of Chapter 143 of the General Laws, which are enforced by the building inspectors, apply to the construction, inspection and occupancy of certain classes of buildings. Chapter 146 of the General Laws which is enforced by the boiler inspectors, applies to the inspection of steam boilers and air tanks and to the examination and licensing of engineers, firemen and operators of hoisting machinery.

The duties of building inspectors include the examination and approval of plans for the construction of public buildings; supervision of construction to secure compliance with the law; the inspection of places of public assembly, hotels and lodging houses; the issuance of certificates for the use of public buildings; the examination of applicants for licenses as motion picture operators; the inspection of motion picture projection booths; the examination of applicants for the operation of elevators in cities and towns having no building inspection, and the general enforcement of State Building Laws and regulations.

The Boiler Inspection Division contributes to public safety by the inspection of steam boilers and air tanks and their appurtenances, to insure compliance with safety standards provided by law to safe guard life and property; by examination of applicants for licenses to operate boilers and steam plants, and other power machinery; and by general enforcement of laws, rules and regulations relating to steam boilers and power machinery.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES

The Board of Boiler Rules consists of the Chief of Inspections and four other members, each of whom represents a separate interest and who are appointed by the Commissioner. The board is required to hold hearings semi-annually to consider petitions for changes in the steam boiler rules. After consideration of such proposed changes and public hearings given for the benefit of those interested, such changes as are approved are incorporated in the regulations with the approval of the Governor and Council. In addition to the two meetings required by law for the consideration of changes in the regulations, the board hold regular monthly meetings during the year.

The number of authorized insurance company inspectors now holding certificates of competency from this division is 172. Twenty-one applicants for certificates of competency were examined during the year. Fourteen such applicants received certificates, but the remaining seven were refused.

The Total number of Massachusetts Standard, Massachusetts Special and Massachusetts Heat Boilers, and Massachusetts Standard Air Tanks, constructed in accordance with the rules and regulations formulated or prescribed by the Board of Boiler Rules of this Commonwealth, data reports for which have been received, is as follows:

BOXING COMMISSION

Changes were effected during the year in the regulations of the Commission concerning fees for licenses to conduct boxing exhibitions in Boston and concerning the expiration date of licenses. As the result of these changes the cost of a license in Boston is based on the seating capacity of the place where the exhibitions are held instead of on the population. The expiration date of licenses is now one year from the date of issue rather than the last day of the year of issue.

The following is a statistical report for the period ending November 30, 1935:

The number of professional clubs conducting boxing matches and exhibitions was 15 and the number of exhibitions held was 122.

BALLISTICS LABORATORY

The duties of the Expert Assistant to the Commissioner who is assigned in charge of this laboratory are of a technical nature and include the observation, study, analysis and experimentation necessary to furnish expert assistance in the investigation and prosecution of important criminal cases.

In addition to the routine work of the laboratory on articles of evidence in preparation for the trial of cases, the personnel are engaged in special studies in ballistics, chemical warfare gases, firearms and related matters in order to develop aid to police activities in the suppression of crime.

A portable X-ray apparatus with fluoroscope attachment has been acquired as an addition to the equipment of the laboratory. This instrument will permit the examination of bombs, infernal machines and suspected packages without the hazard of opening or disassembling them. The contents of cartridges may be examined and clothing may be examined for concealed matter or for the detection of particles of bullet metal adjacent to bullet holes.

BUREAU OF PHOTOGRAPHY

During the fiscal year of 1935, the Bureau of Photography has rendered twenty-four hour service and has been of assistance to practically all police departments of the Commonwealth, to other departments in the state service and, in some instances, to the Federal authorities.

Members of the personnel attached to the bureau have been specially trained in latent fingerprint identification as well as in classification and filing. The special knowledge gained in this training has contributed greatly to the efficient work carried on by the bureau, which has included, among other things, interior photography of homicide cases, incendiary fires and routine copy work on identification photographs and records. Approximately 5,000 identification photographs have been turned over to the bureau by the Supervisor of Criminal Identification for copying and extra prints. These have been completed and returned to the files of the Identification Bureau.

The photostatic equipment installed just prior to the beginning of the fiscal year has been utilized to the fullest extent and has been found extremely useful in reproducing extra copies of requested fingerprint records and other documentary evidence.

It becomes increasingly evident that greater attention is being given to latent fingerprint evidence by police officers in the various departments throughout the state, as there has been a noticeable increase in the number of requests for the development of latent fingerprint evidence.

A branch unit of the Bureau of Photography has been established at the headquarters of Troop B at Northampton and is expected to be in full operation by January 1, 1936. This unit will furnish service to our own officers and to the police of other departments in the four western counties of this state. The unit is to be furnished with photographic apparatus and all facilities necessary to maintain a high standard of service.

In cooperation with the Registrar of Motor Vehicles in the Department of Public Works, the personnel of ten branch offices of the Registry were visited and instructed in the proper method of taking fingerprint impressions and the correct manner of filling in forms on fingerprint records. Various officers assigned to the Bureau of Photography were detailed to give this instruction. A total number of seventy-three persons were instructed; this number included both clerks and inspectors. The offices of the Registry where this work was carried on are located in: New Bedford, Fall River, Pittsfield, Lawrence, Lowell, Worcester, Quincy, Lynn, Brockton and Springfield.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY

The modern chemical laboratory has become an almost indispensable unit of crime detection and law enforcement forces. In its former quarters the department chemical laboratory was greatly handicapped by lack of suitable operating space. The addition of new facilities during the year and the change to new quarters have increased its efficiency. An important addition to the laboratory equipment was a Quartz Spectrograph which will provide aid in the analysis of dust traces, bullets, powder residues, metals, drugs and poisons. This instrument should prove to be a very useful aid in criminal investigation. A statistical summary of analyses performed in the laboratory follows:

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS

The supervision of Lord's Day entertainments is authorized under the provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws and during the year ending November 30, 1935, there was submitted to this bureau for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety a total of 23,291 licenses and programs of entertainments to be held on the Lord's Day. Of this number, 23,282 were approved and 9 disapproved, shown as follows:—Abington, 1; Boston, 2; Brockton, 1; Gardner, 1; Peabody, 1; Salisbury, 1; Wareham, 1; West Springfield, 1.

Each of these licenses and programs was accompanied by a fee of $2.00, the amount totalling $46,582, which was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. This amount was $2,966 in excess of the year 1934.

In addition to the above number of licenses, there were 6,455 reels of motion picture film censored for showing on the Lord's Day, which were disposed of as follows:

Number of reels approved	6,243
Number of reels approved with deletions	163
Number of reels disapproved	49
Footage of film censored	5,809,500

There were also submitted for censorship 238 mutoscope reels and 556 sets of drop cards which were disposed of as follows:

Mutoscope reels approved	226
Mutoscope reels disapproved	12
Drop cards approved	550
Drop cards disapproved	6

Vaudeville acts are pre-viewed at the various theatres prior to their showing on the Lord's Day, at which time a record is made for files in this office of the name, kind of act, clothing and number of persons in said acts. The management of the theatres as well as the acts are notified of the required deletions to be made for Sunday presentations. There were 2,592 vaudeville acts reviewed for showing on the Lord's Day. Of this number, 1,675 were re-reviewed. The remaining 917 were acted upon as follows:

Acts approved	355
Acts approved with deletions	336
Acts disapproved	226

Operators of twelve theatres and eight other amusements were granted hearings for violations of regulations and after due deliberation the cases of these operators were disposed of as follows:

Cases placed on file with warnings	19
Theatre license suspended	1

The personnel assigned to this bureau perform various duties in connection with the enforcement of the law governing entertainments held on the Lord's Day in this Commonwealth. In addition to their functions as censors, they are required to perform such other duties as may be assigned them from time to time, such as the checking of licenses as approved by the Commissioner of Public Safety to determine whether or not they are exercised as originally approved. It is also necessary to check all entertainments at the many different theatres, halls, amusement parks and beaches.

The entertainments are varied in character. The theatres and larger halls offer stage presentations, vaudeville and motion pictures; while in the different community theatres and halls, plays are conducted by both professional and amateur performers. Many of these performances are in a foreign tongue and require the service of interpreters in censoring. At the amusement parks and beaches are conducted the many different rides, games, sideshows, etc., which require careful supervision.

As in the past we have received the cooperation of the majority of operators and licensing authorities in the different cities and towns in which amusement parks and beaches are located. In this connection there were approximately 1,740 performances in theatres inspected. Every amusement device or show, exhibit and game operated at the different amusement parks and beaches is inspected at least once during each season.

From time to time during this past season numerous mechanical games, varied in character, have made their appearance in various locations, throughout the Commonwealth. Many of these games have been disapproved for use in the Commonwealth, and the operators were notified to remove the games from the premises immediately.

SALE AND CARRYING OF FIREARMS

Chapter 359 of the Acts of 1934 amended the definition of "firearms"

so as to include all weapons with barrels up to eighteen inches in length and added a new section to Chapter 269 of the General Laws providing that all dealers in rifles or shotguns shall, before delivery of such weapons, upon a sale, make a record of such sale to be forwarded to this department.

During the year ending November 30, 1935, the following records were received and recorded in the files of this department:

A change in the forms used for applications for licenses to carry firearms and licenses to carry has been made, and such forms are now in the hands of the printer. When available for use, the new form of application will contain provisions for the fingerprinting of all applicants for licenses to carry firearms and for the use of the photograph of the licensee upon the license. It is expected that this change will aid in the regulation of carrying firearms throughout the Commonwealth.

It is also proposed to limit the authority under a license to carry firearms to a particular firearm so that the privilege given by the license will extend only to the firearm specifically described therein. It is expected that this procedure will serve eventually as an inventory of all firearms within the Commonwealth.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE LICENSES

It is provided in General Laws, chapter 147, section 22, that no person shall engage in the business of or solicit business as a private detective unless licensed so to do according to law. Licenses of this character are issued by the Commissioner of Public Safety after careful investigation of the character and standing of the applicant. During the fiscal year of 1935 there was issued a total of 32 licenses, four of which were new licenses to individuals, one new license to corporation, eighteen were renewals to individuals and nine were renewals by corporations. Fees amounting to $4,200 were received for these licenses and paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

FORFEITED LIQUORS

A storeroom is maintained at 1266 Columbus Avenue, Boston, for the storage of all liquors forfeited by the courts in the administration of the liquor laws. The enforcement of General Laws, Chapter 148, sections 37-38, is delegated to a Boiler Inspector specially qualified for such duties. These laws and the regulations made thereunder cover the so-called bulk storage of liquids other than water. IN GENERAL

I wish to reiterate my recommendation of a year ago that a Bureau of Pathology be established within the Department, and to recommend also the purchase of an airplane for the State Police, and the construction of a State Police Patrol Boat.

Numerous events during the year have demonstrated the many practical uses for an airplane equipped with two-way radio.

The Department of Conservation, the Boston Port Authority, the Maritime Association, the Master Mariners Association, the Gloucester Chamber of Commerce, and other organizations have advocated the restoration of coastal water patrol by the State Police, a service which had been given for 100 years and which was suspended in May, 1933, due to the unserviceability of the boat then used.

This report should not be concluded without commenting upon the loyal cooperation and the valuable services rendered by the entire personnel of the Department, who have made possible the substantial accomplishments of the year, nor without referring to the generous assistance given to us by all branches and departments of the government of our Commonwealth.

Respectfully submitted,

PAUL G. KIRK,
Commissioner of Public Safety.

DIVISION OF STATE POLICE

The Division of State Police includes both plain clothes and uniformed police. Under the immediate charge of the Commissioner they perform the duties incidental to criminal investigation and law enforcement. In the uniformed police ranks special attention is given to traffic control and traffic safety on highways not patrolled by municipal police. Careful supervision of this work has resulted in a consistent reduction of traffic accidents on highways patrolled by State Police throughout the Commonwealth during the past year.

The rapid strides made by the technical and scientific phases of police work throughout the world have been shared by the State Police of Massachusetts and nothing has been left undone to keep pace with this most desirable improvement in police methods. The present police communication system maintained in the Division has developed into a smoothly functioning, effective service and is in every respect suited to cope with any emergency that may arise in police work. The photographic unit, the chemical laboratory, the bureau of criminal identification and the ballistics laboratory afford constant service of a highly technical nature in the important work of criminal investigation and analysis of trial evidence.

Efficient criminal investigation and law enforcement involves a vast amount of intelligent effort and loyal and diligent application which cannot be adequately reported in statistical form. An investigation, arrest and prosecution, the result of which may be stated in a single line, may frequently require intensive application without rest for twenty-four, forty-eight, or even seventy-two hours. The results to be obtained by efficient traffic patrols or by the inspection of remotely located summer cottages or other property are not spectacular, but represent effective assurance of protection to life and property.

The following is a statistical report of the activities of the Division of State Police during the fiscal year:

It is required by law that there be provided within the department means for receiving, arranging and keeping data relative to the identification of criminals and for furnishing information concerning the same to police departments of cities and towns, to the Department of Correction, and to prosecuting officers within the commonwealth.

This work is performed by the personnel of the Bureau of Criminal Identification under the direction of the Chief of Detectives.

During the fiscal year there was an increase of approximately 2000 in the number of identifications made by the Bureau over the number made in 1935. This increase has been particularly noticeable since the installation of the system of classifying crimes in the Modus Operandi files.

The work of the Bureau has been greatly facilitated this year by the filing of name cards according to the Soundex System.

The following records were received during the year ending November 30, 1936:

BUREAU OF PHOTOGRAPHY

The increased use of scientific and technical aids to criminal investigation by our State Police and other law enforcement agencies has resulted in increased activity in the Bureau of Photography. Certain of the personnel have been trained in the use of moulage and other plastic materials used in the reproduction of human features or inanimate objects of evidence. Special training has also been given to these men in the use of Ultra Violet light and Infra-Red plates.

An outstanding feature of the work of the Bureau has been identifications made from fingerprints found at scenes of crimes. In connection with this phase of the work two of the personnel have qualified as expert witnesses on fingerprint identification making a total of four members of the Bureau who have so qualified.

The work produced by the Bureau's large photostat machine has increased in volume and is of such a useful character as to more than justify the original expense involved in its purchase and installation.

Assistance has been given during the year to various agencies of the Federal Government and to cities and towns which have inadequate facilities for photographic work or which are without such facilities.

The demand for specialized photography and photomicrography in our chemical and ballistic laboratories has increased the use of our dark room facilities. While the congestion caused by this increased use has not yet become acute, it will soon have to be relieved by the addition of one or more dark rooms to care for extremely technical and delicate photographic evidence.

The fingerprint and photography unit which was established at Troop B headquarters at Northampton a year ago has functioned effectively as planned. The location of this service at a point convenient to the State and local police in the western counties has proven of great value in meeting the needs of the area in photography and fingerprinting. The officer in charge of this unit is equipped to handle fingerprint evidence from the time it is found to presentation in court as an expert witness in fingerprint identification. A standard identification camera has been installed for the work of this unit and it is now possible to secure the photographs of all persons arrested in the western area.

Such photographic records are of great value in our files, as in the past no facilities were available to take and preserve such records.

LABORATORIES

During recent years there has been developed in the department an efficient group of technical and scientific activities which have proven to be of great value in police work. The work of the Ballistics Laboratory is of a highly technical nature and includes the observation, study, analysis and experimentation necessary to furnish expert assistance in criminal investigation. In addition to examining objects of evidence in pending cases the personnel of this laboratory make special studies in ballistics, chemical warfare gases, firearms and ammunition, and other matters relating to the detection and prosecution of crime.

The facilities of this laboratory have been reorganized during the year and adjusted to modern development in firearms identification. The portable X-ray unit which has been in use for one year has been found very useful in the examination of suspected packages, bombs and various materials. Two Spencer mechanical stages have been added to the comparison microscope to replace types which have become obsolete. These stages include eight pairs of various sized bullet holders and a pair of iris type cartridge case holders.

A convenient arrangement of cartridge specimens has been provided by mounting them on a large framed board having an area of thirty-six square feet. Specimen standard revolvers and automatic pistols have been mounted in cabinets provided with sliding glass panels and properly illuminated. Two cabinets of this kind having a total area of 140 square feet furnish space for several hundred different firearm standards.

A stereoscopic camera for recording three dimensional subjects has been contracted for and will be installed in this laboratory. This instrument will serve a long experienced need for the photographing of primer craters or other objects that combine plane and indented surfaces.

The modern chemical laboratory has become a necessary adjunct to modern police work in criminal investigation. The facilities of the Chemical Laboratory of this department have been expanded during the year with the result that the efficiency of the unit has been increased. The chemical examination and analysis of evidence in pending criminal cases has required the greatest amount of expansion.

A special effort has been made to perfect the equipment of this laboratory for the examination and identification of blood stains and various microscopic traces found at the scene of a crime. This has been true also of chemical analysis of human remains for poisons.

QUESTIONED DOCUMENTS

Because of the ever increasing importance of the technical and scientific aid to criminal investigation afforded by experts in handwriting and the examination of questioned documents, provision has been made in the department for this feature of police science. The voluntary services of an expert in these matters has been secured and a laboratory equipped for his use has been provided. This room contains the necessary equipment, including microscopes, comparison eye pieces and other accessories, camera, binocular microscope, lamps, illuminators, electrically equipped table and other devices necessary for the proper examination of standards, documents and other specimens.

TRAFFIC CONTROL

The records in the central files at this office show that during the year just past 138,388 motorists were stopped for motor vehicle law violations. Of these, 51,817 were for defective lights or improper equipment, showing an increase of 8,666 over the year of 1935 for that type of violation. Motorists stopped for light and equipment violations are given one portion of a tag, issued by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles, and are required to have the defect corrected and the tag submitted to the Registrar within four days, bearing the endorsement of an authorized adjuster to the effect that the defect had been remedied.

Of the remaining 86,571 motorists stopped for moving violations, the records show an increase of 32,581 violations over 1935. The dispositions noted on these violations are as follows: Arrests 2,350, Summonses 15,104, Warnings 33,927; No license or registration in possession and other minor violations 29,935. Records of other cases numbering 5,255 were sent to the Registrar for his consideration and whatever action he deemed advisable.

This increase of 32,581 violations over 1935 is the largest increase in any one year since the organization of the State Police and is probably due to the increase of car registrations and increased activity on the part of the police on traffic duty.

In August of 1935 the Registrar requested that all police send him the names of all operators stopped for speeding over 60 miles per hour. From the first of the year to September, 1936, the Traffic Bureau forwarded the names of 1,326 operators for this violation. In September, 1936, the registrar again requested the names of operators exceeding 50 miles per hour on highways and 1,644 names were forwarded to his office.

On October 1, 1936, a new system for the disposition of violations was put into effect by sending a record of all operators stopped for violation of the motor vehicles laws to the Registrar for action by him instead of having violators summoned into Court. As a result of this procedure, 5,101 names were forwarded in October and November for whatever action the Registrar deemed advisable. This system allowed the officers many more hours for patrol duty instead of being in court, and it is believed their presence on the road aided materially in accident prevention.

The records of the division show that 1,699 traffic accidents were investigated by the officers of the traffic bureau during the fiscal year of 1936. This is an increase of 3.0% over the number investigated in 1935, but considering the increase in the volume of traffic on our state highways during the year, it is considered a very marked improvement over the 1935 record.

The benefit of strict enforcement and supervision is shown by the accident record on the 15 mile stretch of Route 20, known as the "South-west Cutoff." In 1934 there were 110 accidents and 11 people killed on this road. In 1935 there were 80 accidents and 9 people killed, and in 1936 there were but 38 accidents and no fatalities.

BUREAU OF STATE POLICE COMMUNICATIONS

The speed and efficiency of radio communication and the convenience and accuracy of teletype communication in present day police work are all-important contributions to police efficiency.

The facility with which police information may be communicated to our various troop headquarters, sub-stations and cruiser cars, and to the radio equipped cars of more than one hundred cities and towns which have availed themselves of the service, has been a splendid medium of co-operation with the police departments of such localities.

The central teletype switchboard is located at Department Headquarters, Commonwealth Pier, Boston, through which direct connections are made to all troop headquarters and sub-stations of the State Police, also connections are made with the Registry of Motor Vehicles, the Board of Probation, the office of the Adjutant General, and the centre of the Rhode Island Teletype system at Providence. A separate teletype machine is connected with the Boston Suburban Circuit. Through this Circuit, the police departments of 32 cities and towns in greater Boston are reached by our teletype system. From Department Headquarters, and through any of our State Police stations, teletype connections may be made to New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Delaware and Connecticut.

In the case of local Police Departments which are not equipped with teletype service, contact may be made with any of our stations and messages relayed through any of the above-mentioned connections and replies received and transmitted to the original source of the message in the same manner. A twenty-four hour service is thus available to all police departments in Massachusetts without cost to them. In the case of a police department located on the Boston Suburban Circuit, if it is desired to send information to any office or department having teletype service, messages may be sent to our State Police Headquarters from whence they are relayed to the designated point.

The State Police teletype service has furnished an efficient medium of communication to the courts of Massachusetts. If information is desired concerning a defendant who is before any of the courts, a telephone call may be sent to our nearest station from whence direct connection is made with the Board of Probation and the requested information relayed back to the particular court without cost to them. This practice has resulted in a saving of time and money to the courts for the reason that such information was formerly secured by telephone service.

Prior to the installation of the teletype system, when it was necessary to send information to any of our stations, sub-stations were called by telephone and were subject to interruption and delay. In the operation of the present teletype system, when it is desired to send out a general alarm, all State Police stations may be connected to Headquarters in twenty seconds at the end of which time all stations are receiving the message simultaneously and exactly as typed at Headquarters. A permanent record of all messages sent is kept at Headquarters. The speed and efficiency of the teletype system may be illustrated by comparison of the manner in which information concerning automobiles is transmitted. Formerly the officer on teletype watch at Headquarters received various telephone calls from police departments in the Metropolitan area concerning stolen cars, cars used in the commission of crimes and cars involved in hit-an-run accidents. The Boston Police Department called every two hours for the purpose of transmitting police information. When all of this information was assembled it was relayed by telephone to our stations.

At the present time when an alarm is received concerning automobiles used in crimes, or involving hit-and-run automobiles, the Registry of Motor Vehicles is immediately contacted by teletype and the registration listing of the car is secured and broadcast throughout the system. Before the installation of the teletype service, it was necessary to call the Registry of Motor Vehicles by telephone, involving frequent delays in service for the reason that only one telephone line was available. At the present time through our teletype service, we average about 3500 calls a month for information concerning automobiles and operators.

In the case of transmitting police information to other states, we formerly had to rely on telegraph or telephone service, which proved to be an expensive service. When a serious crime occurs, and it is desired to send information to adjoining states in order to secure assistance in apprehending the perpetrators, a message to all states on the teletype system may be sent immediately and frequently results in the apprehension of the criminal. The occasion of floods, forest fires, or other emergencies, requires speedy and accurate transmission of police information. Utility of the teletype and radio service has been fully demonstrated in the recent floods throughout Massachusetts and in other major emergencies.

At present there is a direct teletype connection with the office of the Adjutant General and through the teletype switchboard at Troop A Headquarters of the National Guard Motor Pool at Natick. On the occasion of the recent floods, teletype connection was established with the National Guard District headquarters in the flood area through which connection the Adjutant General's office was kept constantly informed of the conditions in the various districts. All requests for supplies, equipment and motor transportation were forwarded over these lines to the Natick National Guard depot. The automobiles of the National Guard, used by the various commanding officers were equipped with radio tuned to our radio broadcasting station, and were thus kept constantly informed of existing conditions. During these floods also, the State Department of Public Health, and the Food Administrator, were also connected by teletype, and information as to supplies and sanitary conditions in all of the districts were forwarded to them and their instructions relayed to Food Administrators and Health Officers in the various districts.

The State Police radio facilities are now being used by Police Departments in 101 cities and towns in Massachusetts. The cruising cars of these departments are thus enabled to receive police information from one or more of our radio transmitters at Framingham, Northampton and West Bridgewater. Each of these cruisers has an unpublished number and may be called by number if the information concerns something in the locality where they are cruising. This practice insures a reasonable amount of secrecy in transmitting information concerning the character or locality of the crime. General alarms received at any of our radio broadcasting stations are available to these cruiser cars in common with all State Police cars.

If a particular police department wishes to send information to a specific cruiser car of their service, they may call the nearest State Police station through which the message is transmitted by teletype to the station in which the transmitter is located and then sent by radio to the cruiser for which it is intended. A twenty-four hour service of this character is available to all police departments without cost to them. The radio receiving sets with which their cars are equipped are also checked and retuned by our radio repair men, but the cost of repairs and replacement of parts must be borne by the individual department. At the present time there are approximately 18 police departments maintaining police radio service. Five of these departments have medium high frequency transmitters. The remainder have the 2-way or ultra-high frequency transmitters which have a very limited range.

There are no medium high frequency transmitters located west of Worcester. To use such transmitters it would be necessary to institute long distance telephone calls to the radio equipped police department to send information to cruisers. On the other hand, the State Police radio transmitters are so located that few police departments are beyond a ten cent telephone call radius from such transmitters.

When any information is desired by police departments in Massachusetts from Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, South Carolina and Tennessee, a message may be sent to the Ohio State Police by way of teletype where it is, in turn, broadcast by radio to the above mentioned states. This service may also be used in broadcasting alarms concerning crimes which have been committed in Massachusetts and from the scene of which the fugitive criminals have crossed the boundaries of Massachusetts into other states. At the present time there is under way a plan to connect all states not having teletype service by Radio Telegraph service. The present plans for further developments in speed and efficiency of transmission of police information may result in most of the States of the nation being equipped with either teletype service or radio telegraph. When this is achieved, it will be possible to secure speedy and accurate information from any part of the nation and to broadcast alarms of crimes in a corresponding manner.

The teletype facilities of the division have been greatly improved during the year by the installation of new equipment at department headquarters. This equipment is similar to the turret-top telephone switchboard adapted to teletype service. By this arrangement a number of switchboards may be set up in tandem so that provision can be made for sudden increases in the demand on the service without interruption and delay. With the new installation twice as many teletype connections as formerly can be handled. When additional service is required in emergencies any number of machines may be added to the service in a few minutes. In the past when an accident occurred which affected the teletype machines adjustments had to be made through the switchboard at the telephone exchange. With the new equipment it is now possible to make such adjustments in our own office.

THE MARCH FLOODS

The normal flow of water in the Connecticut River during the summer months is at the rate of 4,000 cubic feet a second. In the winter season the flow increases to approximately 6,000 feet. On March 11, 1936 reports were received at the headquarters of Troop B at Northampton that the waters of the river were rapidly rising. During the following week the flow of water in the river increased from its normal rate of 63,000 feet a second.

On March 18th, rain commenced to fall causing an acceleration of the flow of water in the river to approximately 180,000 feet a second. On the evening of that day the smaller streams in the valley had become so swollen that the Connecticut began to overflow its banks and the flood waters backed up into every city and town along its course. During the day the ice in the smaller streams was forced on to the adjacent highways causing serious blockades and interruption of traffic.

From the time when flood conditions were first reported on March 11th, the waters of most of the rivers in the western part of the state rose to such an extent that highways were flooded, dams were endangered, and bridge abutments undermined and weakened.

The Connecticut, Housatonic, Farmington, Green, Deerfield, Westfield, Chicopee and Quabog Rivers were among those causing the greatest amount of damage in the western area. By the morning of March 19th, the flow of the Connecticut River had increased to 238,000 cubic feet a second, the highest recorded flow known in the history of the river.

When the floods had reached a dangerous stage on the evening of March 18th, steps were taken to increase the strength of State Police units in the flood district. Separate details totalling sixty-one State Police officers were sent to Troop B headquarters at Northampton to augment the force of fifty-nine men regularly assigned to that troop, and who had been engaged in flood duty since March 11th. These men were immediately assigned to rescue work aiding the local police and other authorities in moving the inhabitants of the flooded areas to places of safety. In addition to aiding distressed persons, their efforts were also directed to saving livestock and other property. These operations continued for twenty-four hours and were facilitated by the acquisition of 125 boats secured from various sources.

Additional telephone service was installed at Troop B headquarters to handle extra calls arising from the emergency and the teletype service was utilized to its full capacity.

Portable power and lighting systems, furnished by the Boston Fire Department when our service was interrupted by the floods, enabled us to function properly until the service was restored. A two-way radio communication was established by our Bureau of Police Communications, which, with a short wave code communication system set up and manned by the United States Coast Guard, aided in maintaining communication. These services were of special value in assisting in the distribution of medical aid, food and clothing supplies.

As new flood conditions developed in central Massachusetts and in the Merrimac valley additional demands were made for State Police assistance.

A teletype connection was set up with the National Guard Headquarters in Springfield and with the military authorities in the National Guard Armory at Lawrence. A similar connection was made with the National Guard Motor Pool at Natick. By these increased facilities information was received and transmitted concerning the movement of military trucks with food and medical supplies and clothing to the flood areas. Similar connections were established and maintained at the State House providing liaison with the Adjutant General, the Food Administrator, the Department of Public Welfare, and the Department of Public Health. State Police operators were in charge of these teletype installations.

When the flood waters started to recede about 7 A. M. on March 20th, the efforts of the officers were directed to patrolling the flooded sections in boats or vehicles to prevent looting and to give aid wherever possible to flood sufferers by transporting medical aid, and food and clothing. The destruction of many bridges made the re-routing of traffic necessary and increased the normal traffic control duty beyond all previous proportions.

The State Police details remained on flood duty until April 6th and performed effective service under the most exacting conditions.

Acknowledgment is made of the splendid cooperation given by public authorities and individual citizens during the flood emergency.

Captain Jesse B. Gay, Chief of Staff, First Naval District, U. S. N., placed at our disposal a detachment of eighty officers and men for flood duty. Arrangements were also made with Lieutenant Raymond B. Meader, United States Naval Reserve Communications Officer, who set up and maintained radio communications between Boston, Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport when conditions became bad in the Merrimac River Valley. Colonel William H. Wilson, Chief of Staff, First Corps Area, U. S. Army, and the officers of his staff; District Commander Irwin B. Steele, U. S. Coast Guard, and the Crews of the Point Allerton, Nahant and Narragansett Stations; the Metropolitan District Commission; the Boston Police and Fire Departments; the Department of Public Works; the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company; Chairman of the Saugus Board of Selectmen, C. F. Nelson Pratt; the Cohasset, Scituate, Newton, Belmont, Saugus, Arlington, Melrose, Cambridge and Medford Fire Departments; the Police Departments of Swampscott and Marblehead; the Park Department of the City of Boston; Mr. William Tallent, 92 Otis Street, Medford; Mr. R. S. Bowles of Duxbury, Massachusetts, and many others who contributed their services or resources in assisting the State Police in this emergency, are entitled to the appreciation of the Commonwealth.

STATE POLICE ACADEMY

To persons familiar with the problems presented in the course of administration of the criminal law generally and law enforcement in particular, the need of additional training and education of police officers has long been evident. In pursuance of the purpose of meeting this need insofar as the State Police are concerned a school of advanced police training has been instituted at the headquarters in Boston.

The curriculum of this school includes a study of the police function from its inception, police history, practice and procedure, organization and jurisdiction of the courts, criminal law and criminology, and instruction in all branches of police science as perfected by observation and study by recognized experts. Every member of the Division of State Police is required to attend the school for a period of ten weeks, during which time classes are held from 9 A. M. to 1 P. M., and from 2 P. M. to 5 P. M., five days a week. The average number of officers assigned to classes is thirty and includes all grades from patrolman to Troop Commander, including detectives.

In perfecting the organization of the school, various experts in the different phases of police work within the department were assigned as instructors. In addition we have been fortunate enough to secure the voluntary services of men eminent in the judiciary, the legal and medical professions, and other highly specialized scientific and technical professions. The services of these men are of immeasurable value in the development of advanced police training and are unselfishly donated to the benefit of the people of the commonwealth from the finest motives of good citizenship and public interest.

STATE POLICE RECRUIT SCHOOL

On August 18, 1936 a class of thirty-one men were selected for training in the recruit school. Examinations had been held during the summer, at which 1139 of 3300 men who requested application blanks appeared. Out of this number but 444 passed the required mental examination and after a physical examination the eligibles numbered 207. Following oral interviews with each of these eligibles the thirty-one appointees were selected and commenced training.

During a three months training period the class was instructed in police practice and procedure, the general laws respecting crimes, the use of the motorcycle, horsemanship, firearms practice, traffic control, military drill, ballistics, fingerprint identification and classification, first aid and judicial photography.

The average age of these appointees was 24½ years, the average height 5 feet 10 1-5 inches and the average weight 165 3-5 pounds. With the exception of three of the selected applicants all had completed four years at high school. The excepted three averaged 2 1-3 years at high school. Thirteen of the appointees had attended college and ten had received degrees.

There was one Doctor of Philosophy; one Bachelor of Philosophy; four Bachelors of Arts; two Bachelors of Science; one Master of Arts and one Mechanical Engineer. Seven of the recruits had service in the National Guard, two in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps; one in the Citizens Military Training Corps and one had completed an enlistment in the U. S. Marine Corps. Among the thirty-one appointees twelve were found to have knowledge of foreign languages including French, Spanish, German, Lithuanian, Polish and Syrian.

STATE POLICE PISTOL TEAM

Competition in marksmanship with small arms among police departments has served to encourage pistol practice and to increase police efficiency in the use of weapons when necessary in the performance of their duties.

The fiscal year of 1936 was a successful one both in number of matches won by the State Police team and in the qualification of individual members of the division as a whole.

The team attended the police matches at Wilburtha, New Jersey on May 23rd and finished sixth in a field of eighty teams. At the Walnut Hills matches of the New England Police Revolver League the team won first place, the Tyro team also winning first place in their division.

Twenty members of the division competed in the Commissioner's Individual Match, fourteen of whom qualified for the Commissioner of Public Safety medal.

In July the team competed in the Providence Police hand-gun tournament at Providence, Rhode Island, and finished third. One member of the State Police Team won the individual championship at this match.

Twenty members of the division, including the State Police Team, competed in the New England Police Championship held at Wakefield in August. The State Police team won the New England Championship. The second or intermediate State Police team won second place in the intermediate class and the State Police Tyro team won second place in the tyro class. One member of the division tied for first place in the New England Individual Police Championship.

At Teaneck, New Jersey, in August, in competition with one hundred and fourteen teams, the State Police Team finished in sixth place winning the Daily Mirror Plaque for finishing within the first ten. They also won the Daily Mirror Plaque for winning first place among Massachusetts teams. One member of the State Police Team won the Range Officers' and Instructors' Individual Match.

In a competition held at Bristol, Rhode Island in September the State Police Team won first place in Class A, and the State Police Tyro Team won first place in their class. At the North Atlantic State Open Championship conducted at Hartford, Connecticut in October the team, minus two regular members, competed and finished fourth in a field of fourteen teams.

The State Police Team also competed in the winter postal series conducted by the New England Police Revolver League and finished in second place in Class A.

STATE POLICE BUILDINGS

In September 1936 bids were authorized for the construction of a State Police sub-station on Dalton Avenue, Pittsfield, to serve the area covered by our sub-station at Cheshire. This building was provided in the same manner as those erected for State Police use during 1935, as a Public Works Administration project, resulting from the cooperation of the State with the Federal Government.

Work on the new building was commenced on October 1, 1936 and has been progressing favorably since that time. The building is designed in the early colonial brick style with a slate roof. It is approximately 43 by 54 feet in size and contains two offices, dining room, kitchen, guard room and cell room on the first floor. Rooms accommodating thirteen men are located on the second floor and the third floor contains a dormitory with toilets and showers. A cement walk leads to the entrance on Dalton Avenue and a gravel driveway to the rear of the building. Flanking the entrance are flagstaffs for the national and state emblems and an illuminated electric sign with the legend "State Police" is located at the sidewalk line. The contract price of the building is $44,386.00.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS

The supervision of Lord's Day entertainments is authorized under the provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws and during the year ending November 30, 1936, there was submitted to this bureau for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety a total of 24,911 licenses and programs of entertainments to be held on the Lord's Day. Of this number, 24,899 were approved and 12 disapproved, shown as follows:—

Holyoke	2
Lunenburg	1
Northampton	2
Shrewsbury	6
Sturbridge	1

Each of these licenses and programs was accompanied by a fee of $2.00, the amount totalling $49,822, which was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. This amount was $3,240 in excess of the year 1935.

In addition to the above number of licenses, there were 6,497 reels of motion picture film censored for showing on the Lord's Day, which were disposed of as follows:—

Number of reels approved	6,374
Number of reels approved with deletions	73
Number of reels disapproved	50
Footage of film censored	5,847,300

Mutoscope reels approved	60
Mutoscope reels disapproved	15
Drop cards approved	8
Drop cards disapproved	0

Vaudeville acts are pre-viewed at the various theatres prior to their showing on the Lord's Day, at which time a record is made for files in this office of the name, kind of act, clothing and number of persons in said acts. The management of the theatres as well as the acts are notified of the required deletions to be made for Sunday presentations. There were 2,219 vaudeville acts reviewed for showing on the Lord's Day. Of this number, 1,272 were re-reviewed. The remaining 947 were acted upon as follows:—

Acts approved	467
Acts approved with deletions	285
Acts disapproved	195

Operators of three theatres and three other amusements were granted hearings for violations of regulations and after due deliberation the cases of these operators were disposed of as follows:—

Cases placed on file with warnings	2
Licenses for theatres suspended	1
Licenses for other amusements suspended	3

The personnel assigned to this bureau perform various duties in connection with the enforcement of the law governing entertainments held on the Lord's Day in this Commonwealth. In addition to their functions as censors, they are required to perform such other duties as may be assigned them from time to time, such as the checking of licenses as approved by the Commissioner of Public Safety to determine whether or not they are exercised as originally approved. It is also necessary to check all entertainments at the many different theatres, halls, amusement parks and beaches.

The entertainments are varied in character. The theatres and larger halls offer stage presentations, vaudeville and motion pictures; while in the different community theatres and halls, plays are conducted by both professional and amateur performers. In this connection there were approximately 1,674 performances in theatres inspected. Many of these performances are in a foreign tongue and require the service of interpreters in censoring. In this connection there were seven Italian and twenty-four Jewish performances inspected. Hotels, cafes and restaurants are now presenting different types of concerts on the Lord's Day consisting mostly of orchestras and singers. There were 1,011 licenses submitted and approved for this type of entertainment in the past year. At the amusement parks and beaches are conducted the many different rides, games, sideshows, etc., which require careful supervision.

As in the past we have received the cooperation of the majority of operators and licensing authorities in the different cities and towns in which amusement parks and beaches are located. Every amusement device or show, exhibit and game operated at the different amusement parks and beaches is inspected at least once during each season.

From time to time during the past season numerous mechanical games, varied in character, have made their appearance in various locations, throughout the Commonwealth. Many of these games have been disapproved for use in the commonwealth, and the operators were notified to remove the games from the premises immediately.

Below is a summary of the amusements and amounts collected for same during the year 1936:

	Number of Licenses	Amount
Motion picture exhibitions, vaudeville and theatricals	17,592	$35,184
Amusements at beach resorts and at summer parks .	6,024	12,048

Total number of licenses	24,911	$49,822

OIL POLLUTION OF WATERS

It is provided in General Laws, Chapter 91, Section 59, that the Department of Public Safety enforce the law relative to the pollution of the waters of the commonwealth by oil. Two State Police officers are assigned to the duty of inspection necessary for the proper enforcement of this law. In addition to the nuisance and damage to property caused by the spilling or discharging of non-inflammable oils, there is a serious life and property hazard in the spillage of gasoline. Ten serious spills occurred and were investigated during the fiscal year.

Oil spills of this character occur from various causes. The gravity of situations arising in this manner may be illustrated by the following accident. On November 2, 1936, an explosion and fire occurred aboard a small tanker which was loading gasoline at an oil plant in Chelsea River. One person was killed and another injured. The vessel was sunk alongside the dock and gasoline escaped from her tanks constantly while submerged. This gasoline did not become ignited.

At the time of the explosion a tanker with a capacity of 97,312 barrels of gasoline was discharging nearby; a second tanker with a capacity of 76,519 barrels was discharging directly astern of the burning vessel; a third tanker with a capacity of 10,000 barrels was moored and discharging in the immediate vicinity. Each of the vessels stopped their oil pumps and started their fire pumps confining the floating gasoline to a limited area and clear of their hulls. At the time of this accident 7,753,-902 gallons of gasoline was being handled within an area of 400 feet.

During the fiscal year inspections were made at oil plants in 2903 instances and 1695 inspections were made aboard oil tankers. The cooperation of the oil industry and its transportation facilities have been freely given with the result than an improvement in the methods of handling oils is evident.

DIVISION OF INSPECTION

The Division of Inspection operates under the supervision of a director designated as The Chief of Inspections and includes among its personnel twenty-one building inspectors, one of whom is assigned as Supervisor of Plans and twenty-six boiler inspectors, one of whom is in charge of the Bureau for the Storage of Liquids, and one of whom is assigned to special duty as The Chairman of the Board of Boiler Rules. The inspectors are assigned to districts in various sections of the commonwealth. The provisions of Chapter 143 of the General Laws, which are enforced by the building inspectors, apply to the construction, inspection and occupancy of certain classes of buildings. Chapter 146 of the General Laws which is enforced by the boiler inspectors, applies to the inspection of certain steam boilers and their appurtenances, air tanks, and safety valves installed on ammonia compressors; also to the examination and licensing of engineers, firemen, operators of hoisting machinery, and inspectors for authorized insurance companies for certificates of competency.

The duties of building inspectors includes the examination and approval of plans for the construction of public buildings; supervision of construction to secure compliance with the law; the inspection of theatres, places of public assembly, hotels and certain lodging houses; the issuance of certificates for the use of public buildings; the examination of applicants for licenses as motion picture operators to operate motion picture machines; the inspection of motion picture projection booths; the examination of applicants for licenses to operate elevators in cities and towns having no building inspector; and the general enforcement of the State Building laws and regulations.

The Boiler Inspection Branch of the Division of Inspection contributes to the public safety by the inspection of certain steam boilers and their appurtenances, both internally and externally, and while under steam to ascertain the general condition of the boiler and its appliances; also to see if they have the proper appendages for safety as prescribed by the Board of Boiler Rules. Air tanks and their appurtenances, where the air stored in such tanks is to be used for the operation of pneumatic machinery, are also inspected. An important duty of the boiler inspectors is the enforcement of the engineers' and firemen's license law throughout the commonwealth.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES

The Board of Boiler Rules is appointed by the Commissioner of Public Safety under the authority of Chapter 22, section 10 of the General Laws. It consists of a boiler inspector of the department who acts as chairman and four associate members. One of the associate members is an operating engineer, a second represents the users of boilers, a third represents boiler manufacturers and the fourth the insurers of boilers.

The Board is required by law to formulate rules for the construction, installation and inspection of steam boilers, and for ascertaining the safe working pressure to be carried therein; to prescribe test to ascertain the qualities of materials used in the construction of boilers and to formulate rules regarding the construction of safety valves, the use of fusible safety plugs, pressure indicators and other safety appliances.

The law provides for public hearings in May and November, and at such other times as may be deemed necessary by the board, on petitions for changes in the rules formulated by it. The board also receives and examines specifications for boilers of special design not covered by the rules and upon approval of the same grants permits for their construction.

A substantial revision of the Boiler Rules was made during the fiscal year becoming effective on October 29, 1936.

The resignation of Frederick Treat of Pittsfield, a member of the board representing the operating engineers, was presented to be effective as of October 1, 1936 and Charles J. Montani of Framingham was appointed in his place on December 12, 1936.

The total number of Massachusetts Standard, Massachusetts Special and Massachusetts Heat Boilers, and Massachusetts Standard Air Tanks, constructed in accordance with the rules and regulations formulated or prescribed by the Board of Boiler Rules, data reports for which have been received, is as follows:

Appeals

Provision is made in the law relating to the inspection of boilers and the licensing of engineers and firemen for appeals from refusal to grant certificates of competency and licenses. These appeals are heard by a Board appointed by the Chief of Inspections and the decision of a majority of the members of the Board is final. Ten such appeals were received during the year and in all but two cases the decision of the examiners was sustained.

DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION

The division of Fire Prevention is under the charge of a Director who is known as the State Fire Marshal. Under the supervision of the Commissioner the Fire Marshal administers and enforces the provisions of Chapter 148 of the General Laws. In this duty he is assisted by a Fire Prevention Engineer, Inflammable Fluid Transport Inspectors, Petroleum Inspectors, and a number of State Police Detectives who are assigned to the investigation of incendiarism and fraudulent burnings. In addition to the administrative work incidental to his office the Fire Marshal confers with officers of cities and towns with regard to fire prevention and fire hazards and makes recommendations for the improvement of laws and ordinances relating to the same.

In the course of the year fire prevention lectures were given in connection with the regional schools conducted under the auspices of the State Department of Education. This system of training for the Fire Departments of towns where no drill schools are provided has served to increase the efficiency of such departments and has been an important contribution to fire protection and fire prevention.

The work of inspecting the hospitals and schools under the supervision of the Department of Mental Diseases for fire prevention and fire protection, which was commenced in September 1935 at the request of the Commissioner of Mental Diseases, was carried on in the new fiscal year and completed in April 1936.

During the time devoted to this work by Fire Prevention Engineer Carl Stuetzel and State Building Inspector Harry Atkinson, they were assisted by the various state Building Inspectors within whose districts the institutions are located.

The Belchertown State School, the Gardner State Colony, the Monson State Hospital, and the Northampton State Hospital were inspected in 1935 before the close of the fiscal year. From December 1, 1935 to April 1936 the following mental hospitals and schools were inspected:

Boston State Hospital	Medfield State Hospital
Boston Psychopathic Hospital	Metropolitan State Hospital
Belchertown State School	Monson State Hospital
Danvers State Hospital	Northampton State Hospital
Foxboro State Hospital	Taunton State Hospital
Walter E. Fernald State School	Westboro State Hospital
Gardner State Colony	Worcester State Hospital
Grafton State Hospital	Wrentham State School

A copy of the report of the inspecting officers was forwarded to the Commissioner of Mental Diseases and copies for the Superintendent of each institution concerned in the inspection.

BUREAU FOR THE STORAGE OF LIQUIDS

As a measure of safety to life in the construction and maintenance of tanks or containers of large quantities of liquids other than water, the law provides for strict regulation and supervision by this department. The officer charged with the duties necessary to the enforcement of the law is also a boiler inspector. His duties include, among other things, the examination of plans, the figuring of stresses, enforcement of special regulations and inspection of sites proposed for tank erection and maintenance. In addition he is required to check the specifications of all new steel boilers and air tanks installed in the commonwealth which are subject to Massachusetts law.

The following statistics relate to the inspection by this bureau of tanks constructed and maintained for the storage of liquids:

STATE BOXING COMMISSION

The State Boxing Commission serves within the department by virtue of the provisions of Section 12 of Chapter 22 of the General Laws. A slight increase over the previous year in the number of boxing exhibitions held resulted in a corresponding increase in revenue.

The following is a statistical report for the period ending November 30, 1936:

PRIVATE DETECTIVE AGENCIES

No person may engage in the business of a private detective or solicit such business in this commonwealth unless licensed for that purpose according to law. It is provided in Section 22 of Chapter 147 of the General Laws that application for such licenses is to be made to the Commissioner of Public Safety. All such applicants are investigated with a view to determining their suitability to be so licensed. During the year ending November 30, 1936, thirty licenses were issued, two of which were new licenses to individuals; two were issued to newly organized corporations; eighteen expiring licenses were renewed by individuals and eight by corporations. Fees amounting to $4000. were received for these licenses and paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

SALE AND CARRYING OF FIREARMS

Sections 121 to 131a of Chapter 140 of the General Laws relate to the sale and carrying of firearms and contain provisions for the concentration of records concerning such sale and carrying in the Department of Public Safety. An amendment to Section 131 of the chapter was enacted by the legislature of 1936 and contained specific provisions limiting the information to be included in the records.

The following is a statistical summary of sales of firearms, records of purchases of rifles and shotguns, and licenses to carry firearms within the commonwealth:

Under the authority of Section 51 of Chapter 138 of the General Laws, all alcoholic beverages and vessels seized in liquor cases and ordered forfeited by the Court, are forwarded to the Commissioner of Public Safety for disposition, according to law. A storeroom for the safekeeping of these forfeited liquors pending disposition is maintained at 1266 Columbus Avenue, Boston. During the year 1936 the following amounts of liquors or spirits were received, destroyed, placed in storage or delivered to State Institutions according to law:

Received and destroyed on forfeiture warrants	1559 $\frac{7}{8}$ gallons spirits
	845 $\frac{1}{8}$ gallons wine
	992 $\frac{5}{8}$ gallons malt

Received on forfeiture warrants and placed in storage vaults	1259	gallons spirits

Delivered to State Institutions on requisition	1670	gallons spirits

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR LEGISLATION

The Constitution of the United States contains in Article 1, section 10, a provision that the States shall not enter into agreements or compacts without the consent of Congress. In the administration of this constitutional provision it was interpreted to mean that when such compacts or agreements were made they were subject to ratification by the Congress.

To eliminate the delay incidental to the process of ratification, and to allow the States co-operatively and by mutual agreement to work out their problems of law enforcement, the 73d Congress enacted the Interstate Compact Act. This act provided that "The consent of Congress is hereby given to any two or more states to enter into agreements or compacts for co-operative efforts and mutual assistance in the prevention of crime and in the enforcement of their respective criminal laws and policies."

For the more effective utilization of the authority given by this law the Interstate Commission on Crime was established, consisting of one member from each of the forty-eight States. In States where a Commission on Interstate Co-operation was maintained the member was designated by that Commission, and in States having no such commission the member was designated by the Governor.

The mission of the Interstate Commission on Crime is to aid in making effective all agreements between States for the prevention of crime and the better enforcement of criminal law, whether in the form of compacts, legislative acts or administrative legislation.

In the movement for perfected legislation looking toward crime prevention and control, the Interstate Commission on Crime works co-operatively with the Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, who maintain, in connection with their other activities, a committee on compacts between States.

As a part of the program of the Interstate Commission on Crime, and as the member of that Commission representing Massachusetts, the Commissioner of Public Safety recommends the enactment of the following measures for the control and suppression of crime:

I. Making Uniform the Law as to Extra-Territorial Arrest on Fresh Pursuit and Authorizing This Commonwealth to Co-operate with Other States in Connection Therewith

Legislation is recommended for this purpose for the reason that state boundaries present no impediment to the criminal. To the police officer they present a barrier in that state boundaries represent the jurisdictional limit to which he can go in his official character. Beyond the barrier he is divested of the powers, rights and duties of a police officer. He becomes a private citizen and is no longer clothed with the authority of the State in which the fresh pursuit originates.

The proposed legislation would extend to any member of a duly organized State, county or municipal peace unit of another State of the United States, which by its laws has enacted provisions substantially equivalent to the one proposed, the same authority to arrest for a felony in fresh pursuit as he enjoys in his own jurisdiction.

When arrests of this character are made under the proposed law, a hearing would be had without unnecessary delay before a magistrate of the county where the person was arrested in order to determine the lawfulness of the arrest and the return of the fugitive by interstate rendition.

II. Making Uniform the Law Securing the Attendance of Witnesses from Without a State in Criminal Proceedings

This legislation would provide means of securing the presence in this State of persons wanted as witnesses in pending criminal actions, prosecutions or grand jury proceedings. This is not a new principle in Massachusetts. It is intended to strengthen the application of a principle which has been imbedded in our laws since 1777. Since that time Massachusetts has had laws providing for sending witnesses from this State into adjoining States and to the State of Maine to attend criminal trials, and has provided a penalty for failure to so attend.

The proposed legislation, operating reciprocally with similar statutes in other States, would provide for the attendance of such witnesses with adequate safeguards for their constitutional rights, and, in event of failure to attend and testify, a penalty in the manner provided for punishment for contempt of court.

III. Making Uniform the Procedure on Interstate Rendition

In 1793 Congress set up a general framework for the interstate rendition of fugitives from justice, but left many matters incident to such rendition to be dealt with by the States. The laws respecting interstate rendition which have been enacted by the several States vary undesirably in many provisions and are susceptible to various interpretations.

The proposed legislation is based upon the interstate rendition law drafted by the Interstate Commission on Crime and adapts the desirable provisions of that law to the General Laws of Massachusetts. It also provides for the return to this Commonwealth, or for the surrender to a demanding State, of persons who have been convicted of crime and have escaped from confinement; who have broken the terms of their bail in pending proceedings; or who have violated the terms of their probation or parole.

IV. Providing for Entry of this Commonwealth into Compacts with any of the United States for Mutual Helpfulness in Relation to Persons Convicted of Crime or Offenses who may be on Probation or Parole

By the provisions of this legislation the Governor is authorized to enter into a compact on behalf of the Commonwealth with any of the United States legally joining therein for the supervision of persons on probation or parole residing in the respective States. If enacted into law the General Court would signify in advance its approval and ratification of the compact. Such legislation would effectuate the prime purpose of probation and parole by surrounding the rehabilitation of the subject with measures of control and supervision best calculated to insure the success of its object.

GEO. E. MURPHY,

Comptroller

IN GENERAL

The experience of the past year has again demonstrated the need of an airplane equipped with two-way radio for the proper performance of the duties of the State Police. On two occasions during the spring flood of 1936, it was necessary for the department to hire a private plane and to improvise radio equipment. The reasons earlier advanced for the purchase of an airplane for State Police use hardly need reiteration. Detection of oil pollution, reconnaissance for forest fires, swift transportation of equipment and expert personnel to the scenes of crime, and the carriage of serum or unusual medicines in emergency cases are duties which the personnel ordinarily perform, but which can be performed with a much higher degree of proficiency if an airplane were a regular part of our departmental equipment.

Once more I wish to conclude the Annual Report by thanking the members of the Department of Public Safety for their devotion to duty and their loyalty, and all departments of the government of our Commonwealth for their complete cooperation and assistance.

Respectfully submitted,

PAUL G. KIRK,
Commissioner of Public Safety.

DIVISION OF STATE POLICE

The personnel of the State Police includes both uniformed officers and detectives. The headquarters of the uniformed force is at Commonwealth Pier, Boston, and four troop organizations are located at strategic points throughout the state. Troop A at Framingham serves the eastern section; Troop B at Northampton, the western section; Troop C at Holden, the central section; and Troop D at West Bridgewater, the Plymouth County, Bristol County and cape section. From four to seven sub-stations are located in each troop area at intervals of about twenty miles and situated so as to take advantage of the roads best suited to an effective patrol of their territory.

The detectives of the Division of State Police are distributed between the headquarters office at Commonwealth Pier and the offices of the various District Attorneys, with the exception of the office of the District Attorney of Suffolk County. Their duties are performed under the direction of a Chief of Detectives.

Recruits for enlistment in the State Police are required to be citizens of good character and reputation, between the ages of 22 and 32, and must pass the prescribed mental and physical examination for enlistment. Upon enlistment they are subjected to an intensive training period of three months' duration. During this period the following subjects are taken up: calisthenics, elementary military drill both mounted and dismounted through to the School of the Company, personal hygiene, law, equitation, care of horses, stable management, traffic direction and control, pistol marksmanship, care of firearms, use of riot gun, gas, Thompson sub-machine gun, jiu-jitsu, self-defense, handling prisoners, first aid, motorcycle riding, care and repair, auto driving, care and repair, ballistics, fingerprinting, judicial photography, service of warrants, summonses and subpoenas, fire prevention laws, arson and incendiarism, cooperation with local police, court procedure, prosecution of cases, methods of investigating crime, making of reports, Superior Court procedure and motor vehicle law enforcement.

In order that a high standard of efficiency may be maintained the training and education of State Police does not end with the recruit school. An advanced police school is in operation in the department and is known as the State Police Academy. The curriculum of this school includes a study of the police function from its inception, police history, police practice and procedure, organization and jurisdiction of the courts, criminal law and criminology, and instruction in all branches of advanced police science as perfected by observation and study by recognized experts. Every member of the Division of State Police is required to attend the school for a period of ten weeks, during which time classes are held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. five days a week. The average number of officers assigned to classes is thirty and includes all grades from patrolman to Troop Commander, including detectives. In perfecting the organization of the school, various experts in the different phases of police work within the department were assigned as instructors. In addition the voluntary services of men eminent in the judiciary, the legal and medical professions and other highly specialized scientific and technical professions have been secured.

In requiring the attendance of every officer of the uniformed State Police at the sessions of this school it is expected that the standard of efficiency of the entire body will be increased and the value of their services in the communities included within our patrols increased accordingly.

The following is a statistical report of the activities of the Division of State Police during the fiscal year:

BUREAU OF CRIMINAL IDENTIFICATION

The Bureau of Criminal Identification is conducted under the direction of the Chief of Detectives who is assisted by the Supervisor of Identification.

The Supervisor has visited a number of masters and keepers of various county institutions and Chiefs of Police of Massachusetts towns and cities for the purpose of re-establishing further data on finger print cards and photographs in order that these records may be properly classified in the bureau.

The Personal Identification file has been combined with the finger print records of applicants for gun permits. This in itself creates a larger file for personal identification records which are always searched when prints of unknown persons are received for identification.

There have been a number of unknown criminals identified by finger prints, greatly facilitating the work of police and prison officials in clearing up past cases during the past year.

In September of 1937 a group photograph file was started which consists of photographs of individuals who are known to associate with one another. Each photograph within a group is checked for the possibility of a connection with any photograph in another and a new group is established as a result of this check. This file has a great potential value in that it will assist investigating officers by information concerning individuals who are known to be affiliated with one group and may be connected with one or more in another group. The result being that these new associates may be investigated and checked for any possible connection with the case in hand, giving information which under ordinary circumstances could be learned only after lengthy investigation.

The following records were received during the year ending November 30, 1937:

LABORATORIES

Ballistics — Chemical — Handwriting

The work of the department laboratories includes ballistics, chemical, handwriting and questioned documents activities.

The personnel of this laboratory make special studies in ballistics, chemical gases, firearms and ammunition and in other matters relating to the detection and prosecution of criminals. The duty performed is of a highly technical nature and includes observation, study, analysis, and experimentation necessary to furnish expert assistance in criminal investigation and in the prosecution of cases in the courts. The following is a statistical summary of the work performed by the Bureau of Ballistics:

Homicides, scenes of, visited in securing evidence	15
Firearms examined	450
Firearms renumbered	26
Firing experiments	400
Ballistic specimens examined	225

Chemical Laboratory

The year 1937 has seen further expansion and consolidation of the activities of the Chemical Laboratory. New equipment has been added to facilitate certain types of analyses hitherto difficult to accomplish. In accordance with the necessity of investigating the most minute traces of evidence, as well as those which are more obvious, this equipment includes a petrographic microscope designed to make possible the identification of mineral constituents of dust and dirt. Its use in conjunction with the spectrograph has made possible the identification of traces that are not ordinarily subject to chemical approach. It will prove to be of increasing value in many microchemical problems.

As a result of the increasing number of hit-and-run accidents on the highways, the attention of the personnel of the laboratory has been directed toward the investigation of means of identifying an offender from various traces left at the scene of a crime or present upon his automobile. The most promising method of attack appeared to be the identification of fragments of broken headlamp lenses. Accordingly a complete collection of headlamp lenses of all American-made cars from the year 1928 to the present date was established in the laboratory. From this collection it is possible to determine the type of lens on a car involved in an accident, even though only a small fragment is available. This information has proved to be of great value in facilitating the investigation of this type of crime.

A method developed in this laboratory three years ago of making visible minute traces of powder residue on clothing of a victim of a gunshot injury has proved to be of very great value in the determination of the distance of the weapon from the point of entry of the bullet into the clothing. In at least three instances during the past year evidence derived from this test was critical in the differentiation between suicide and homicide.

In March of 1937 the Massachusetts Medicolegal Society met in our classroom at Commonwealth Pier. At that time an invitation was extended to the Medical Examiners of the State to make use of the services of the Chemical Laboratory in the investigation of any evidence of a chemical nature relating to unusual or violent deaths. Particular emphasis was placed upon the chemical analysis for alcohol, carbon monoxide or other poisons. The result of this meeting and of a further invitation sent to all of the Medical Examiners of the State was a very general response.

It is recognized that the work of the Medical Examiners and the police officers in the investigation of an unusual or violent death involves two aspects of the same basic problem. It is only natural that there should exist a very intimate spirit of cooperation, and it is felt that the work of the Chemical Laboratory offers one means of accomplishing this end. Specific emphasis will be placed upon the medicolegal aspects of the work of the Chemical Laboratory during the coming year.

* There has been a notable increase in the number of samples of fuel oils submitted for analysis to determine compliance with laws relating to safety. In 1936 there were 496 samples analyzed. In 1937 there were 2737 samples submitted and analyzed.

of standards of handwriting produced in cases of forgeries, raised and altered instruments and documents, homicides, missing person cases, extortion cases, anonymous communications containing threats, and furnishing professional advice in the investigation of important criminal cases.

Cooperative assistance has been given to the local agencies of the Federal government, to other state departments and to the various district attorneys of the commonwealth.

During the fiscal year the expert on handwriting and questioned documents has given thirty lectures on the subject to classes attending the State Police Academy.

BUREAU OF STATE POLICE COMMUNICATIONS

Teletype

During the past year a new and complete setup has been installed at General Headquarters to add to the efficiency of the Teletype Service. In the old system a maximum of ten lines were available for use with a maximum of four machines used to answer the ten lines on the switchboard. This caused considerable delay in receiving and sending emergency police information. With the present setup, what is known as the Multiple Turret Switching, there are three turrets with twenty available lines used in multiple. Each turret has a send and receive machine on either side and either machine can be used to answer any call on all lines. The controlling mechanical apparatus is also maintained at the General Headquarters in a steel enclosed room insuring the delicate relays and controls from damage by moisture, dust, fire, etc. As a result of the installation of this equipment, the department is now ready for service in any emergency that may arise in any part of the commonwealth necessitating a direct line to this office.

The most recent addition to this system was the hookup with the New Hampshire State Police at Concord, New Hampshire. This was one of the first moves made by that department when it was instituted this fall and adds another step in police communication that will be beneficial to both that department and the Department of Public Safety. The addition of this connection provides the first teletype connection to any of the three Northern New England States with the possibility that when the New Hampshire State Police are completely organized they will also have a state-wide Teletype Communication System and possibly be instrumental in bringing the states of Maine and Vermont into the teletype network.

It is estimated that the Massachusetts State Police alone send about 300,000 teletype messages each year. This number includes messages containing police information and administration work carried on between the troops and the executive offices at General Headquarters, but does not include messages coming from out-of-state departments or local departments connected to the system.

In connection with the Teletype System, an extensive file system is maintained at General Headquarters containing the following:

- Stolen Automobiles
- Wanted Automobiles
- Missing and Wanted Persons
- Mental and Physical Defects
- Scars and Marks
- Stolen Property
- Foreign Extraction
- Check Passers
- Crimes Against Persons and Property
- Master Property (Lost, Stolen and Found)

Radio

During the past year numerous changes have been made to add to the efficiency of police communications. At the Northampton Station a new Vertical Antenna was installed to replace the old Model T that has been in use since the radio station was opened in 1928. The area covered by this station is of mountainous nature and it was found that the antenna system in use was inadequate and that the station could not be heard in parts of the station area. The new device is what is known as the Vertical Three-Eighths Wave with an extensive ground system.

At a number of fixed points throughout the Northampton area measurements were made on the signal strength of the old antenna with an average reading of 51 millivolts per meter. At these same points measurements were made on the signals of the new antenna, giving an average reading of 82 millivolts per meter. This is the equivalent to increasing the transmitter from 1000 watts to approximately 2600 watts.

During the past year a new Ford Panel Body $\frac{3}{4}$ ton truck was purchased in order that a transmitter could be made portable and available to the troops for emergencies in their areas. This truck contains a 50-watt medium high frequency transmitter on 1666 kilocycles, which is the wave length of the big transmitters, also a 50-watt ultra high frequency transmitter for two-way communication in concentration duty. This truck also contains an independent antenna system which can be erected on the top of the truck and extends 50 feet in the air, giving the maximum coverage for the power of the transmitter. It also contains an independent power plant so that in the event commercial power is not available due to floods, etc., communication can be continuous.

A very short time after this truck was commissioned, an emergency call was received from the authorities in Indiana stating that they were badly in need of radio equipment, due to floods in the Ohio valley. Within one-half hour after the call was received, seven men, including uniformed men and radio technicians, were on their way to the stricken area in the radio truck, a supply truck, and a cruiser car. This trip necessitated the travel over the road rather than the use of railroad, as rumors were current to the effect that all railroads had been inundated and were in perilous condition west of Ohio. For this reason a continuous run was made to Indiana, by changing drivers, in exactly 37 hours which was a record run considering the detours made necessary due to the condition of roads in the flooded area.

After a conference between Lieutenant Martin W. Joyce and the Indiana authorities, it was determined that the facilities from Massachusetts could be used to the greatest advantage within the stricken area, so that communications could be established from that area, which had been without communications for three days, to the Indiana State Police System which was some distance away. For this reason the truck was dispatched to the southwest corner of the state and set up in Evansville, Indiana. West Baden, Indiana, which was considered about the center of the stricken area, was then used as Massachusetts State Police temporary headquarters. From this point, two-way ultra-high frequency was established with one station 30 miles west and another 50 miles east. Six other ultra-high frequency stations were set up throughout the stricken area, some having direct communication with the Massachusetts State Police system, others with communication to Indiana System, so that in a short time that part of the state that had been previously without communication was again in touch with the outside world. This condition lasted for about ten days, at the end of which time the waters of the Ohio River started to recede. The Massachusetts detail was then relieved and the men returned to their stations.

Since our State Police sub-stations have been maintained on the islands of Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard, and until August, 1937, the only means of communication with the mainland was by telephone and mail. In the spring of 1937, radio tests were conducted with the object of establishing permanent transmitters on both islands so that communication could be established from one island to the other and both to Troop D Headquarters, West Bridgewater. These tests proved satisfactory. In August, 1937, permanent transmitters were installed on each island, and receivers installed in the State Police cruisers. These stations can now contact each other and their troop headquarters, and the cruisers in their areas.

During the year, three new composite ultra-high frequency transmitters were built by our radio technicians, one of 100 watts power erected at General Headquarters, one of 50 watts at Framingham, and one of 50 watts at West Bridgewater. The lower powered transmitters can be moved and erected anywhere if the occasion should arise when ultra-high frequency two-way communication is necessary. Through this triangular setup, if trouble occurs in the teletype connections, communications can be made continuous by two-way radio. In conjunction with this two-way setup we also have five cruising cars fully equipped with low power transmitters and receivers so that the complete setup can be moved to any point of concentration on short notice.

TRAFFIC CONTROL

The personnel of the State Police assigned to traffic patrol duty operated for the past year with a strength of 150 members, about one-half of the enlisted personnel, with additional strength of every available man on week-ends and holidays during the heavy traffic season. The present system of road patrol is based on experience and accident statistics. The schedules are prepared in advance by the Commanding Officer of each station. Each patrolman operates under a definite daily schedule. Careful supervision of the traffic patrols has resulted in the maximum of service from the limited number of officers available for the work.

During the year 1937 the records at central files showed that 152,834 motorists were stopped for motor vehicles law violations, an increase of 18,413 over the year 1936 or 21.3%. Of these 47,850 were for defective lights or improper equipment. Motorists stopped for light and equipment violations are given a tag issued to this department by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles, which requires the motorist to have the defect remedied by an authorized adjuster at once. After this has been complied with the tag must be signed by the authorized adjuster or a motor vehicle inspector and forwarded to the nearest office of the Registry of Motor Vehicles. Failing to comply with this order means that if the motorist is again stopped for this type of violation an immediate suspension of registration of the vehicle will result. No action is taken nor record retained if the requirements are complied with.

The number of officers available for active patrol duty is inadequate to meet the constantly growing demands upon them. On October 1, 1936 a new system of dealing with the traffic law violator was put in effect as a means of saving the time the officers spent in court in the prosecution of violators of motor vehicle laws, and to allow such time for actual patrol duty. This system requires all officers to forward the names of motorists who have committed flagrant violations to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles for his consideration and whatever action he deems advisable. With this cooperation of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles, the Traffic Bureau has been able to dispose of 17,343 cases in 1937, which ordinarily would have gone to court, thus allowing the officers many more hours for patrol duty.

Prosecutions are made for serious violations of the motor vehicle laws, such as Drunken Driving, Driving so as to Endanger, Leaving the Scene of Accident, etc. During the past year the Traffic Bureau has forwarded 17,343 names of motor vehicle violators to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles on the recommendation of the officers who stopped them. The disposition of the remaining violations were disposed of as follows: — Arrests 2,802; Summonses 3,583; Warnings 48,587; Not having license or registration in possession and other minor violations 32,669. A statistical record of these offenses in which court action is taken may be found in other pages in this report.

This large increase in the number of violations this year no doubt is due to the extra time allowed for patrol duty by the use of the present system and by rigid enforcement of motor vehicle laws, also taking into consideration that there has been approximately 50,000 more cars registered this year.

During the fiscal year of 1937 there were 1,905 traffic accidents on the highways reported by the officers assigned to traffic duty, which is an increase in number of 101 or 5.6% as compared with the previous year, which figures coincide with the state-wide increase in the number of motor vehicle accidents. There were 83 fatalities reported in 1937 as compared with 98 in 1936, a decrease of 15 in number or 15.3%. The number of persons injured for 1937 was 2,304 or a decrease of 73 in number or 3%.

DIVISION OF INSPECTION

The Division of Inspection is in charge of a Director designated as the Chief of Inspections. Under the supervision of the Commissioner, the Chief of Inspections administers the provisions of Chapter 143 and 146 of the General Laws.

Included among the personnel of the Division of Inspection are twenty-one building inspectors, one of whom is assigned as Supervisor of Plans and one of whom is assigned as Supervisor of the Bureau of Sunday Censorship. There are twenty-six boiler inspectors, one of whom is assigned to special duty as Chairman of the Board of Boiler Rules, and one of whom is assigned to districts in various sections of the Commonwealth.

The provisions of Chapter 143 of the General Laws, which are enforced by the Building Inspectors, apply to the examination and approval of plans for the construction of public buildings; to the erection, alteration, inspection and use of certain buildings; the inspection and approval of elevators in cities and towns having no building inspection department, and the enforcement of the laws, rules and regulations governing the use of the cinematograph and similar apparatus for the exhibition of motion pictures. Building inspectors also conduct the examinations of applicants for licenses as motion picture operators and have supervision of all motion picture projection booths throughout the Commonwealth and the inspection of safety film for use in special exhibitions. The importance to the safety of the public of the work of the building inspectors in the inspection of theatres, places of public assembly, hotels and certain lodging houses cannot be overestimated.

The past year has been an exceptionally busy one for the building inspectors, for in addition to their regular inspection duties, they have been called upon to make a comprehensive survey of the public schools in the cities of Cambridge and Taunton and have been called in many times to advise with local building inspectors in many other cities and towns in the Commonwealth.

The provisions of Chapter 146 of the General Laws, which are enforced by the Boiler Inspectors, apply to the inspection of certain steam boilers and their appurtenances, both internally and externally, and while under steam to ascertain the general condition of the boiler and its appliances; also to see if they have the proper appendages for safety as prescribed by the Board of Boiler Rules. Air tanks and their appurtenances, where the air stored in such tanks is to be used for the operation of pneumatic machinery, are also inspected. The enforcement of the Engineers' and Firemen's License Law throughout the Commonwealth is a very important duty of the boiler inspectors and is a valuable contribution to public safety. Much of the inspector's time is given to the examination of applicants for licenses as engineers and firemen and also of applicants for Certificates of Competency as Inspectors of Steam Boilers in the employ of authorized boiler insurance companies.

The duties imposed by law on the building and boiler inspectors attached to the Division of Inspection are of extreme importance as they affect the lives and safety of the citizens of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES

The Board of Boiler Rules is appointed by the Commissioner of Public Safety under the authority of Chapter 22, section 10 of the General Laws. It consists of a boiler inspector of the department who acts as chairman and four associate members. One of the associate members is an operating engineer, a second represents the users of boilers, a third represents boiler manufacturers and the fourth the insurers of boilers.

The Board is required by law to formulate rules for the construction, installation and inspection of steam boilers, and for ascertaining the safe working pressure to be carried therein; to prescribe tests to ascertain the qualities of materials used in the construction of boilers and to formulate rules regarding the construction of safety valves, the use of fusible safety plugs, pressure indicators and other safety appliances.

The law provides for public hearings in May and November, and at such other times as may be deemed necessary by the board, on petitions for changes in the rules formulated by it. The board also receives and examines specifications for boilers of special design not covered by the rules and upon approval of the same grants permits for their construction.

The Board has been working on revision of the low pressure steam boiler rules and same will be in condition for a public hearing in the near future, after which the new rules will be adopted.

Following is a tabulation of the meetings held and the petitions heard during the fiscal year ending November 30, 1937:

DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION

The Division of Fire Prevention is under the charge of a Director who is known as the State Fire Marshal. Under the supervision of the Commissioner the Fire Marshal administers and enforces the provisions of Chapter 148 of the General Laws. In this duty he is assisted by a Fire Prevention Engineer, Inflammable Fluid Transport Inspectors, Petroleum Inspectors, and a number of State Police Detectives who are assigned to the investigation of incendiarism and fraudulent burnings. In addition to the administrative work incidental to his office the Fire Marshal confers with officers of cities and towns with regard to fire prevention and fire hazards and makes recommendations for the improvement of laws and ordinances relating to the same.

The past year was marked by a very high percentage of convictions resulting from arrests for incendiarism. There were 174 fires for which arrests were made. Of this number 167 were found guilty, 2 not guilty and the remaining cases are pending. There were also 7 guilty and 3 not guilty cases for fires which occurred prior to 1937. The various cases were disposed of with the following sentences: Bridgewater State Farm, as defective delinquent or insane, 76; reformatories and correctional schools, 24; House of Correction, 11; State Prison, 3. Twenty-four were given suspended sentences with probation; 13, probation; 13, fined; 4, filed. One fact which is most noticeable in this year's cases of incendiarism is the increased number of cases involving defective delinquents and insane persons. Fires set by one fire bug involved property conservatively estimated at $5,000,000 with a loss of approximately $200,000.

In addition to the above there were 2 convictions for the sale of illegal oil; 2 for violation of the explosive laws; 1 for the illegal sale of fireworks; and 47 for ringing false alarms. Convictions were secured in all of these cases.

With a view to making adequate preparation for extraordinary fire hazards arising as the result of floods or other disasters, there has been assembled in the department an inventory of the complete equipment of fire departments of practically all of the 355 cities and towns in the commonwealth. This information concerning equipment has been arranged so as to be quickly available in any emergency.

The Division of Fire Prevention, during the past year, has actively cooperated in the work of providing greater training for members of fire departments. In cooperation with the State Department of Education, lectures were given at various Regional Firemen's Training Schools. A meeting of the Fire Department Drillmasters Association was held at the Department of Public Safety headquarters where instructions were given on subjects beneficial to the members. The members of the Association were also conducted through the laboratories, the facilities of which were explained and demonstrated.

Conferences were held with city and town officials in the advancement of fire prevention activities along progressive lines and cooperation was effected with the Fire Chiefs' Club of Massachusetts, the Forest Wardens Association, the Massachusetts Fire Prevention Association, the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the National Fire Protection Association, various civic and service clubs and other agencies interested in fire prevention.

During the past year 2,727 samples of petroleum were taken throughout the commonwealth as required by Chapter 148, Section 149 (a), for the purpose of determining whether or not there was a violation of Section 48 of the same chapter. Three prosecutions and convictions resulted from such inspections. A fee of $1.00 for each sample taken has been charged by the department as provided by law.

Trucks used for the transportation of inflammable fluids must receive a certificate of approval from this department. During the last year there were 1,766 tank trucks approved. An additional 207 which were inspected were disapproved.

During the past year, fire prevention lectures were given by an officer assigned to the Division of Fire Prevention in twenty-one cities and towns. These lectures were given at the following places: — Boston 5, Worcester 3, Arlington 3, Malden 1, Fall River 2, Haverhill 1, Weymouth 1, Somerset 1, Lowell 1, Hopedale 1, Springfield 1, Newburyport 1, Wakefield 1, Brockton 2, Athol 1, Somerville 1, Newbury 1, New Bedford 2, Lee 1, Hull 1, Marshfield 1.

Instructions pertaining to the discovery of evidence of incendiarism and the proper method of handling and preserving the same were given at twenty-six sessions of the Regional Fire Schools in sixteen cities and towns, which are as follows: Falmouth, Truro, Chatham, Hyannis, New Bedford, Brockton, Brookline, Arlington, Lowell, Haverhill, Worcester, Springfield, Pittsfield, Fitchburg, Attleboro and Needham.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS

The supervision of Lord's Day entertainments is authorized under the provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws and during the year ending November 30, 1937 there was submitted to this bureau for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety a total of 27,085 licenses and programs of entertainments to be held on the Lord's Day. Of this number 27,076 were approved and 9 disapproved, shown as follows:—

Athol	6
Pittsfield	1
Worcester	1

Each of these licenses and programs was accompanied by a fee of $2.00, the amount totalling $54,170, which was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. This amount was $4,348 in excess of the year 1936.

In addition to the above number of licenses, there were 7,078 reels of motion picture film censored for showing on the Lord's Day, which were disposed of as follows:—

Number of reels approved	6,948
Number of reels approved with deletions	84
Number of reels disapproved	46
Footage of film censored	6,370,200

There were also submitted for censorship 90 mutoscope reels and 15 sets of drop cards which were disposed of as follows:—

Mutoscope reels approved	85
Mutoscope reels disapproved	5
Drop cards approved	15
Drop cards disapproved	0

Vaudeville acts and stage presentations are pre-viewed at the various theatres prior to their showing on the Lord's Day, at which time a complete record, containing the name of act, number of persons in said act and a description of clothing worn, is made for files in this office. When deletions are required to be made for Sunday presentations the acts, the manager of the theatre and the booking office from which said acts are booked are notified, and a letter is required to be sent to this office by said acts advising this bureau that the acts will comply with the instructions forwarded to them. There were 2,515 vaudeville acts reviewed for showing on the Lord's Day. Of this number 1,768 were re-reviewed. The remaining 747 were acted upon as follows:—

Acts approved	254
Acts approved with deletions	315
Acts disapproved	178

Operators of five theatres and two other amusements were granted hearings for violations of regulations and after due deliberation the cases of these operators were placed on file with warnings of immediate suspension if any regulations were violated in the future.

The personnel assigned to this bureau perform various duties in connection with the enforcement of the law governing entertainments held on the Lord's Day in this Commonwealth. In addition to their functions as censors they are required to perform such other duties as may be assigned them from time to time, such as the checking of licenses as approved by the Commissioner of Public Safety to ascertain whether or not they are exercised as originally approved. It is also necessary to check all entertainments at the many different theatres, halls, amusement parks and beaches.

The entertainments are varied in character. The theatres and larger halls offer stage presentations, vaudeville and motion pictures; while in the different community theatres and halls, plays are conducted by both professional and amateur performers. In this connection there were approximately 1,781 performances in theatres inspected. Many of these performances are in a foreign tongue and require the service of interpreters in censoring. In this connection there were nine Italian and ten Jewish performances inspected. There were also 1,584 licenses and programs submitted and approved for entertainments provided in hotels, restaurants, cafes, etc., on the Lord's Day in conjunction with their regular business.

From the beginning of the fiscal year until the first part of July approval was given to licenses for this form of entertainment. At that time there arose a difference of opinion among the licensees and the licensing authorities outside the city of Boston regarding the necessity for a Sunday license for this form of entertainment. As a result an opinion was requested from the Attorney General concerning the application of the provisions of Sections 1 to 4 of Chapter 136 of the General Laws to this form of entertainment. In the latter part of July an opinion was received from the Attorney General advising us that the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety was not necessary for such entertainments. Upon receipt of this opinion a circular letter was mailed to all licensing authorities advising them that the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety would no longer be required.

In accordance with instructions contained in the circular letter no additional Sunday licenses were submitted to this bureau by licensing authorities until November when two licenses, granted by the Mayor of Boston were submitted to this bureau for approval or disapproval of the Commissioner. This bureau advised both the licensing authorities of the City of Boston and also the licensees that in accordance with said opinion this form of entertainment did not come within the meaning of the provisions of Sections 1 to 4 of Chapter 136 of the General Laws under which this bureau operates and no action could therefore be taken for approval or disapproval.

The operators appealed to the Attorney General and a conference of representatives of the City of Boston and the Department of Public Safety was called. At this conference it was agreed that until such time as legislation, originating in the office of the Attorney General, was enacted to clarify this situation, the Commissioner of Public Safety was authorized to approve all licenses which were submitted from the licensing authorities of the city of Boston for this form of entertainment, provided that such entertainment was in keeping with the character of the day and not inconsistent with its due observance.

At the amusement parks and beaches are conducted the many different rides, games, sideshows, etc., which require rigid supervision. As in the past the department has received the co-operation of the majority of operators and licensing authorities in the different cities and towns in which amusement parks and beaches are located. Every amusement device or game, exhibit or show operated at the different amusement parks and beaches is inspected at least once during each season. From time to time during the past season numerous mechanical devices and games, varied in character, have made their appearance in various locations, throughout the commonwealth. Many of these games have been disapproved for use in the commonwealth, and the operators were ordered to remove the games from the premises immediately.

During the past year there were received numerous requests for the approval of licenses for carnivals to be conducted on the Lord's Day under the auspices of various church and veteran organizations. After the approval of licenses had been given, a most careful supervision of the carnivals was required in order to eliminate undesirable operators so that the organizations under whose auspices these carnivals were conducted might be protected from fraud.

Below is a summary of the amusements and amounts collected for same during the year 1937:—

	Number of Licenses	Amount
Motion picture exhibitions, vaudeville and theatricals	17,937	$35,874
Amusements at beach resorts and at summer parks	7,182	14,364
Entertainments in hotels, restaurants, cafes, etc.	1,584	3,168

OIL POLLUTION OF WATERS

During this year 2,941 inspections have been made at oil and industrial plants. Improvements in pipe line and dock connections have been obtained at the American Agricultural Chemical Company at Weymouth; Cambridge Gas Plant, Cambridge; American Sugar Refinery, South Boston; Leaders Oil Plant, Danversport; United Oil Company, Somerville; and Standard Oil Company, East Boston. The Mexican Petroleum oil plant at Chelsea has been taken over by the American Oil Company and the entire plant has been renovated. New construction and new equipment has resulted in much improvement. The Barrett Tar plant on the Island End River at Everett is now the property of the Koppers Tar Company. This plant has likewise been rebuilt. The results in both instances are very satisfactory and the seepage which has come from these plants should be reduced materially.

Two new plants have been erected during the past year. The Gulf Oil Company has erected a new oil storage plant on the property of the Metropolitan Coal Company at Chelsea. The Barrett Tar Company has built a new plant to be used for the handling and distribution of tar products on the Malden River at Malden. Both of these companies have taken advantage of improvements in equipment and safety devices and their installation should facilitate the handling of the commodity involved. This should result in lessening the possibilities of accidents which cause pollution of waters by oil.

During this year 1,629 tankers have been inspected. The fact that the oil transportation companies have not built tankers in sufficient quantity to equal the pace of replacements of old hulls, together with the increased consumption of the various grades of oil now manufactured, has created the condition wherein a shortage of hulls now exists. The result is obvious. Foreign tankers have been chartered to transport oil from port to port entirely within this country. Molasses tankers and freighters have been converted into oil carrying vessels. This necessitates constant vigilance to secure proper observance of the regulations. Converted hulls have been carefully inspected for leaks and when found repairs were recommended. Of the converted hulls, the molasses tankers have been the greatest offenders and, in some cases, it has been necessary to request that they dry-dock and be repaired before making another trip into Massachusetts waters.

During the year 792 warnings have been given to plant and ship crews for various instances of laxity. Criminal prosecution was instituted against the Captain of the Russian collier "Divinolis" for polluting the waters of Lynn Harbor.

A source of pollution which requires constant attention is that of junk freighters which are purchased and used to transport junk to foreign countries. In many cases these freighters have been tied up for years and are put into service for the purpose of carrying one cargo of junk to its destination, at which place the freighter is also junked. The repairs made to place these ships in commission are of a trivial nature and intended only to last until the vessel completes its one trip. A careful watch is maintained on these ships at the time they bunker to prevent pollution of waters by oil discharges or leaks.

FORFEITED LIQUORS

The provisions of Chapter 138 of the General Laws which relate to the disposition of liquors ordered forfeited by the courts of the commonwealth, stipulate that such liquors shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Public Safety to be disposed of according to law. Similar provisions of law are applicable to implements of gaming seized in raiding operations under the authority of search warrants.

The following statistical data indicates the disposition of liquors and gaming implements forfeited during the fiscal year by the courts:

Received on forfeiture warrants and destroyed, 847 $\frac{3}{4}$ gallons of spirits; 60 7/16 gallons of wine, and 1,330 $\frac{1}{4}$ gallons of malt.

Received on forfeiture warrants and placed in storage for use by other state departments or institutions, 577 gallons of alcohol.

Delivered to state institutions on requisition in accordance with law, 1,398 gallons of alcohol.

Number of state institutions receiving alcohol through this method of requisition, 29.

Destroyed in storage vault by reason of leaking condition of containers, 50 gallons of alcohol.

Cities and towns from which liquors were ordered forfeited by the courts, 34.

Number of gaming implements seized in raiding operations and destroyed by order of the courts, 102.

In addition to the foregoing the officer detailed in charge of forfeited liquors was present and witnessed the destruction of furniture and fixtures, charts, racing sheets, cards, dice, and other implements of gaming seized in raids and ordered destroyed by the courts.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE AGENCIES

All persons engaging in the business commonly transacted by a private detective are required by General Laws, Chapter 147, sections 23 to 30, to obtain a license from the Commissioner of Public Safety. Each application for such a license is investigated thoroughly with a view to ascertaining the fitness of the applicant to be so licensed. During the year ending November 30, 1937 ten new licenses were issued to individuals. Nineteen licenses of individuals and eleven of corporations were received. Fees amounting to $5,100 were received for these licenses and paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

Chapter 147 of the General Laws was amended in 1937 by the addition of three new sections and by a revision of Sections 26 and 30. The additional and revised sections read as follows:

SECTION 25A. For the purpose of this chapter, the term "private detective" shall include, among others, those persons known as inside shop operatives and also persons known as strikebreakers, — that is, persons who pose as shop employees, but who do not undertake direct employment whether in shops or otherwise with the owner of a place of employment, but who are employed by some independent agency to operate or work in such place of employment, or to render reports of efforts to unionize or organize employees in such place of employment to the owners of the place of employment under the direction of such independent agency.

SECTION 25B. Any private detective duly licensed under this chapter shall within twenty-four hours of entering any industrial plant as an employee or posing as an employee for the purpose of interfering with the organization of employees in such place of employment, file with the commissioner of public safety a statement in writing of the purpose of such action. Any failure so to report or any misstatement in such report may be the subject of written complaint by any aggrieved party, including any officer of an aggrieved labor union or association, whether incorporated or otherwise. Violation of any provision of this section shall, on such complaint, subject the private detective concerned to revocation or suspension of his or its license for not more than one year, after opportunity for an impartial hearing by the commissioner of public safety.

SECTION 25C. It shall be unlawful for any private detective duly licensed under this statute to enter, or cause any person to enter, any place of employment for any purpose having to do with the organizing or organization of employees in said establishment, or any purpose having to do with hours of labor, wages or salaries paid, or conditions of employment in such establishment or its branches or subsidiaries or related units, or to disseminate propaganda of any sort among employees in such establishment, or to be concerned with labor conditions of employees as a group. Violation of any provision of this section shall subject the private detective concerned to loss of his or its license for not more than one year, after opportunity for an impartial hearing by the commissioner of public safety, on written complaint of any aggrieved person, or the officer of any aggrieved labor union or association, whether incorporated or otherwise.

SECTION 26. For each license, the licensee, if an individual, shall pay to the commissioner the sum of one hundred dollars annually, and, if a partnership or corporation, the sum of two hundred dollars annually, and shall give to the commissioner a bond in the sum of five thousand dollars, executed by the applicant as principal and by a surety company authorized to do business in the commonwealth as surety. The bond shall be in such form as the commissioner may prescribe, conditioned upon the honest conduct of the business of the licensee, and the right of any person injured by the wilful, malicious or wrongful act of the licensee to bring in his own name an action on the bond; and the word "person" under this section shall include the officer of any aggrieved labor union or association, whether incorporated or otherwise.

SECTION 30. Sections twenty-two to twenty-nine, inclusive, shall not apply to any detective or officer belonging to the police force of the commonwealth, or of any subdivision thereof, while engaged in the performance of his official duties; nor to a charitable, philanthropic or law enforcement society or association duly incorporated under the laws of the commonwealth, nor to any agent thereof while engaged in the discharge of his duties as such agent provided the society or organization is promoted and maintained for the public good and not for private profit; nor to any person employed by any person as an investigator in connection with the regular and customary business of such employer, and whose services are not let out to another for profit or gain; nor to any regularly established credit reporting or mercantile agency; provided, that such society, person or agency does not engage in any activities in any way concerned with employee or labor disputes or problems, or other related matters or in any activities described in section twenty-five A or twenty-five C; nor shall said sections twenty-two to twenty-nine, inclusive, be construed to prohibit a licensee thereunder from conducting an investigation within an employer's own establishment for the purpose of obtaining information for the employer respecting conditions affecting the safe, efficient and economical operation of said employer's business, but not in any way concerning or having to do with hours of labor, wages, salaries or labor disputes.

RECOMMENDATION FOR LEGISLATION

It is desirable and necessary that something be done to provide a measure of security for members of the Division of State Police who are not in a position, by reason of the time of their appointment, to qualify for the non-contributory pension benefits enjoyed by the older officers of the Division appointed prior to July 1, 1921.

In recognition of the extraordinary hazards associated with police work the legislature has provided annuities in case of death of an officer in line of duty for his widow and minor children. The legislature has made possible also the payment of reasonable hospital, medical and surgical expenses incurred by any officer of the department when temporarily disabled by reason of injuries sustained through no fault of his own while performing police service.

By reason of the extraordinary hazards of the police work performed by our officers and the arduous nature of their duties, they cannot be classed, in a contributory system of pensions, with persons in the state service who are engaged in secure and non-hazardous occupations.

It is therefore only equitable to provide reasonably for the care of officers compelled to discontinue work because of disabilities incurred in the discharge of their duties or who, because of age and length of service, considered in connection with the demands of the service, have become proper subjects of superannuation.

I therefore recommend legislation which will aid in maintaining the standard of the personnel of the State Police as a thoroughly trained, swift-moving, efficient body of young men and at the same time provide for them in event of inability to do the work designed for the organization for reasons of age or disability.

This legislation should provide for the retirement of officers incapacitated for active service by reason of injuries sustained or illness incurred in the actual performance of duty on a pension equal to not less than one-half nor more than three-quarters of the compensation including maintenance allowance paid to them at the time of their retirement; the amount of the pension to be determined within the stated limits by a Rating Board. It should also provide for the retirement of any officer who has performed faithful service in the Division of State Police for not less than twenty years and who has attained the age of forty-five, if, in the judgment of the Commissioner, he is incapacitated for further service in the Division, at a pension equal to one-half the average compensation including maintenance paid to him during the last three years of his service.

The following proposed bill has been filed in accordance with the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 30, section 33:

An Act Relative to the Retirement of Members of the Division of State Police

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. Chapter thirty-two of the General Laws is hereby amended by inserting after section sixty-eight thereof, as appearing in the Tercentenary Edition, the following new sections:

SECTION 68A. Any member of the Division of State Police of the Department of Public Safety appointed thereto under the provisions of section nine A of chapter twenty-two, who has performed faithful service therein and who in the judgment of a Rating Board consisting of the Surgeon-General of the Commonwealth, the Commissioner of Public Safety, the Secretary of the State Retirement Board, or a subordinate designated by them from time to time by a writing filed in their office, is permanently incapacitated for active service by reason of injuries sustained or illness incurred through no fault of his own in the actual performance of duty, shall be retired and shall annually receive a pension from the commonwealth equal to not less than one-half nor more than three-fourths of the compensation including maintenance allowance paid to him at the time of his retirement, the amount of said pension within the stated limits to be determined by the said Rating Board; and any member so appointed who has performed faithful service in the said division for not less than twenty years and who has attained the age of forty-five, and who in the judgment of the commissioner is incapacitated for further service in the division, may be retired, and shall annually receive a pension from the commonwealth equal to one-half of the average compensation including maintenance allowance paid to him during the last three years of his service. Any member of the said division appointed under the said section nine A who is a veteran, as defined in section fifty-six may upon notice seasonably given elect to receive the benefits of the provisions of this chapter which relate to the retirement of veterans.

SECTION 68B. From the monthly compensation of each member of the division of state police of the department of public safety appointed thereto under the provisions of section nine A of chapter twenty-two there shall be deducted five per cent of the salary up to and including twenty-five hundred dollars per annum which shall be placed in a State Police Retirement Fund which is hereby established. All money heretofore deposited in the State Retirement Fund by the said members of the division of state police shall be transferred by the state treasurer to the retirement fund provided by this section and shall thereby become a part of their deposits. There shall be added to the State Police Retirement Fund such other sums as the general court may authorize based on an amount determined by the actuary of the division of insurance of the department of banking and insurance. All money contributed to the State Police Retirement Fund as provided by this section or heretofore deposited in the state retirement fund by members of the said division of state police appointed thereto under the provisions of the said section nine A who become separated from the service before becoming eligible for retirement shall be returned to the contributors with accumulated interest.

SECTION 2. Section one of chapter thirty-two of the General Laws as appearing in the Tercentenary Edition is hereby amended by adding at the end of the definition of "employees" in the said section the following:— except members of the division of state police of the department of public safety appointed thereto under the provisions of section nine A of chapter twenty-two — so that the said definition will read as follows: "Employees", persons permanently and regularly employed in the direct service of the commonwealth or in the service of the metropolitan district commission, whose sole or principal employment is in such service; except members of the division of state police of the department of public safety appointed thereto under the provisions of section nine A of chapter twenty-two.

During the fiscal year the building of a new State Police sub-station at Pittsfield was completed. This building was constructed as a Public Works Administration Project, the federal government contributing thirty per cent of the cost. Building operations were started on this project October 1, 1936 and were completed May 3, 1937 at a contract cost of $49,712.52. In the year ending November 30, 1937 the sum of $26,697.27 was spent on the contract; the remainder of the contract price, or $443.92, representing one per cent of the total, being held in accordance with the terms of the contract for one year after date of acceptance.

A final payment of $383.56 was made during the year on the contract for the construction of the new State Police sub-station at Athol. This building was one of nine constructed on Public Works Administration projects in 1934-1935. The total cost of the Athol building was $38,389.00 and the payment made this year represented an amount held up until the satisfactory adjustment of points in dispute between the supervising architects and the contractor.

CONCLUSION

During the entire fiscal year ending November 30, 1937, the Department of Public Safety was under Lieutenant-Colonel Paul G. Kirk as Commissioner of Public Safety. His services terminated on December 16, 1937, upon approval of his nomination, by His Excellency the Governor, to be Associate Justice of the Massachusetts Superior Court.

The recommendation for legislation to provide for the retirement of State Police officers in the uniformed service, which is contained in the report, was the result of careful and thorough study by Commissioner Kirk, and represents an effort to improve the conditions under which the service of this unit is rendered.

The third class of the 1937-1938 term of the State Police Academy is now in session and the department continues to receive the splendid gratuitous cooperation of visiting staff instructors who generously donate time and effort to this most important work.

In presenting the annual report for the fiscal year of 1937, I desire to thank all those who have contributed to the success of the department by helpful cooperation during the year and to assure them of my continued appreciation for such loyal assistance in the future.

Respectfully submitted,
EUGENE M. MCSWEENEY,
Commissioner of Public Safety.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

FOR THE

YEAR ENDING NOVEMBER 30,

1938

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT

THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

Year ending November 30, 1938

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

I have the honor to submit the annual report of the Commissioner of Public Safety for the year ending November 30, 1938.

The Department of Public Safety embraces many functions for the administration and enforcement of laws, rules and regulations intended for the preservation of the peace and protection of life and property.

Prominent among these functions is the work of the Division of State Police which affords a wide range of service to the people of the Commonwealth. The development which has taken place during recent years in the character of police service required by changed social conditions has been reflected in a commendably high state of efficiency in the State Police.

An opportunity to further perfect this efficiency was offered during the fiscal year by administrative changes in the work of the police division of the department. Heretofore the scientific and technical expert assistants to the Commissioner have functioned as a Bureau of Expert Assistants under the immediate direction of the Commissioner. As the various activities of the Bureau, such as ballistics, chemical analysis, handwriting and questioned documents examination, judicial photography and fingerprint classification are directed mainly toward criminal investigation and preservation of evidence, it was deemed advisable to coordinate their work under the direction of the Chief of Detectives. By this operation trained supervision is provided over all of the scientific and technical work of the expert assistants to the Commissioner and the full benefit of their special knowledge secured to the department.

The scientific and technical work of this bureau includes chemical, ballistics, photographic and handwriting laboratories. The personnel of the ballistics laboratory perform work of a highly technical nature, including observation, study, analysis, and experimentation in matters relating to crime detection and the evaluation and preservation of evidence.

The increased use of scientific methods in police work is a mark of progress and efficiency in police departments. Intensive investigation and research by trained personnel in laboratory study have become a necessary factor in criminal investigation.

The service of supply in any organization which is of necessity a highly mobile and swift moving body is a most important element of organization. Through this service in the Division of State Police there is provided the supplies and equipment necessary for police work. These supplies and equipment include a variety of commodities essential to effective operation and the food supplies and automotive equipment required for ordinary routine work.

In times of emergency, such as floods, hurricanes, conflagrations or other disasters the supply department must be capable of instant expansion to meet emergency needs and must be adaptable to situations requiring emergency measures and methods.

At the close of the fiscal year of 1938 a complete reorganization of the existing supply department was effected with a view to extending the work of the organization to include all special service units of the State Police.

The new supply department is known as the Bureau of Supplies and performs the functions of supply, accounting, transportation, construction and repair. In addition to supervising the receipt and issue of all supplies and equipment, including automotive equipment, the Lieutenant in charge of the Bureau of Supplies supervises all local purchases and the work of all special service units. These units include storekeepers, motor equipment repairmen, cooks, assistant cooks, messboys, uniform repairmen and laborers.

The Supply Officer is also charged with supervision of the accounts payable and cost accounting incidental to State Police operations. Through Supply Sergeants assigned to the various Troop Headquarters, a constant check is kept on all purchases, stock and equipment and upon the repair and upkeep of quarters.

It is expected that the extension of the functions of the Bureau of Supplies will have the effect of increasing the efficiency of the State Police as well as securing substantial improvement in economy of operation.

During the fiscal year ending November 30, 1938 additional measures were taken to promote the economy and efficiency of the department by reorganization of the bureau handling contraband seized under warrants or forfeited by the courts following criminal prosecutions. This bureau had been housed in leased premises where the cost of operation included rental of $2700 a year and additional expense for light, heat and burglar alarm service. This bureau was removed to Commonwealth Pier where it is now housed within the office space previously allotted to the department under lease from the Department of Public Works with the resultant saving of $2700 per year, plus.

The diminution of demands on the service of custodian of contraband since the repeal of prohibition laws was found to warrant the reduction of personnel engaged in this work. These men were needed as laborers to establish a construction and repair squad at the Supply Headquarters in Framingham where their services have since been utilized to greater advantage to the commonwealth.

DIVISION OF STATE POLICE

The selection of proper personnel for State Police service is of prime importance in building an efficient law enforcement organization. The service is attractive and applicants are numerous. When notice was given in May 1938 that a recruit class was to be selected, 3123 young men took out applications for enlistment. Of this number 1523 filed applications and were notified to appear for examination. The number who passed the mental test was 317 and of this group 214 passed the physical examination a short time later.

The physical standards for enlistment in the Massachusetts State Police are identical with those for admission to the United States Military Academy at West Point, with the exception that the minimum height requirement is greater. These examinations are conducted under the direction of the State Surgeon. The mental examination now customarily used is the approved intelligence tests for first year college students, and is used by the War Department, leading mercantile and industrial establishments, and departments in universities such as Harvard and Boston University. At least a high school education, or its equivalent, is required for appointment. Those who successfully pass both physical and mental examinations are interviewed orally by a board consisting of the Commissioner, the Executive Officer and the Adjutant of the State Police, who together pass upon the qualifications of the applicant as to appearance, manner and answers to questions. This is followed by an investigation of the applicant's background and record. With all of these considerations in mind, the selections are finally made.

On November 1, 1938 forty-one appointments to the State Police were made and the remainder of the class of fifty which had been selected for recruit training were placed on a reserve list as eligibles to fill future vacancies.

When recruits are selected for training, a State Police Training School is established at Framingham and the men are given an intensive course of instruction covering a period of three months. The subjects included in the curriculum of the training school are physical training, police practice and procedure, criminal law, traffic control, horsemanship, jiu-jitsu, use of fire-arms, care and operation of motor vehicles and training in First Aid Methods. Upon the completion of the course at the training school the men are assigned to the various State Police Troops for duty.

State Police Academy

The State Police Academy was in session during the first twenty-four weeks of the fiscal year and was attended by three classes of thirty members each of the State Police, and twelve visiting members of the New Hampshire State Police.

The State Police Academy is a school of advanced police science and serves as an effective medium of instruction in modern methods of criminal investigation and law enforcement.

The course of instruction includes physical training, police practice and procedure, criminal identification, criminal investigation, police communications, forensic chemistry and toxicology, mechanics and ballistics of firearms, judicial photography, handwriting and questioned documents, criminal law, automobile law and traffic control, chemical gases, cryptography in criminal investigation and other related subjects.

In addition to the expert instructors furnished from the special branches of the department, assistance is rendered by men prominent in judicial, legal and medical circles and by others skilled in scientific and technical subjects.

State Police Pistol Teams

The State Police Pistol Teams engaged in the New England Police Revolver League outdoor matches at Walnut Hill, Wakefield, in May 1938. The first team won the championship in the Class A team match; a member of this team also won the Blackington Trophy timed-fire match and another member of the team finished second. The Eastern Steamship match and the Commissioner's Fifty Best Shots match were won by a member of the first team. Five members of the State Police teams qualified as Honor experts in these matches and fourteen members of the teams won places in the commissioner's Fifty Best Shots match.

The State Police team engaged in the 13th Annual Interstate Inter-collegiate Pistol match at the New Jersey State Police Training School, Wilburtha, New Jersey, and finished eighth in a team match in which there were eighty-two entries.

At the Providence Police Relief Association matches at Providence, Rhode Island, the State Police team finished third in the Colonel Joseph Samuels match and in the Smith and Wesson match a member of the team won first place.

In the United Services of New England, Camp Curtis Guild Matches at Wakefield, the State Police No. 1 Team won the Class A Lutz Match, the Hall team match and the Kirk two-man team match. The State Police second team won the Intermediate Police Chief's Match. One member of the State Police No. 1 Team won the New England Police Chief's Individual Championship Colt Match; one finished second in the Individual Tyro Match, and another finished second in the Hartnett-Simpson individual match.

State Police Team No. 1 engaged in competition at the United States Revolver Association range in Shrewsbury, Massachusetts, one member winning match No. 2; two members finishing second and third in Match No. 3, and one member winning the Grand Aggregate Match No. 4.

Team No. 1 also entered the Seventh Annual International Police Pistol Tournament at Teaneck, New Jersey, in which 152 teams were engaged. The Massachusetts State Police Team finished in tenth place and being the high team from Massachusetts for three successive years won a permanent Massachusetts plaque. One member of the team finished in a tie for the Individual Championship by shooting 300 out of a possible 300.

The State Police No. 1 Team engaged in the Westfield Rod and Gun Club Pistol and Revolver Matches, the team winning second place in the Grace Kling Trophy Match. Individual members of the team won twelve individual matches in which the average number competing was thirty. The team was eligible to compete in thirteen such matches and won all but one of them.

At the North Atlantic States Team Matches at Hartford, Connecticut, the Massachusetts State Police Team won second place in the Team Championship matches.

The scores of the Camp Perry National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, in which the No. 1 team participated are not yet available.

State Police Inter-Troop Matches were held during the year at Troop A headquarters, Framingham. In the shoulder to shoulder matches in April for Class A shots, Troop A was the winner. In a similar series for Class B shots held in May, and in the Inter-Troop Postal series for Class C shots in July, Troop A was also the winner.

September Flood and Hurricane

Commencing at about noon on Wednesday, September 20, reports were received of impending flood conditions in central Massachusetts. State and local highway departments and Chiefs-of-Police were contacted by the officers in charge of State Police stations in the flooded districts in order to check conditions and estimate the extent of the danger. Early in the evening it became necessary to divert traffic from flooded roads and to make route schedules for those bringing aid and relief to the inhabitants of the flood areas.

Control of emergency operations was established at Holden during the evening and the officers who were available for emergency duty were assembled at that station as rapidly as possible.

As the flood conditions grew worse, details of officers were located at Charlton, Sturbridge, Barre Plains, North Brookfield, Petersham, Gardner, Spencer, East Brookfield and Gilbertville. These officers were engaged in checking and reporting flood conditions, diverting traffic and removing families caught in the flood areas to places of safety.

Similar conditions prevailed in the towns located in the valley of the Connecticut River and to a less extent in the Merrimac River valley.

Portable radio equipment was set up in the flood areas and placed in operation when the electric power failed because of rising waters. Contact was maintained with state and local town authorities in aiding the various emergency agencies in the care of people made homeless and in the distribution of food and medical supplies.

During the twenty-four hours following the start of flood conditions the State Police officers on duty in the areas affected performed a variety of duties in an efficient and commendable manner and under extremely adverse circumstances. Their labors were greatly increased however in the late afternoon of September 21st when the winds which had been increasing in velocity during the day assumed hurricane proportions and caused extensive damage to trees, buildings and other property.

Roads were rendered impassable by falling trees, telephone poles, and wires, and utilities such as telephone, electric lighting, water and gas facilities were almost immediately crippled.

In the Cape and Buzzard's Bay section the wind of hurricane proportions was accompanied by abnormal tidal flood conditions which resulted in the destruction of whole sections of shore property and the loss of several lives.

Officers who had been assigned to investigate and report conditions in this area reported the need of additional officers to aid in rescue operations and to protect the personal property exposed to the hazard of looting in abandoned homes and other buildings.

The State Police recruit training school in session at Framingham was drawn upon and twenty of the student patrolmen were sent to the Fairhaven State Police station. These men, in addition to all other officers available in the area, were assigned to search shore property for missing persons and to intercept and divert traffic caused by curious sightseers at the edge of the stricken area.

Daylight in the morning of September 22nd disclosed a scene of devastation in the coast villages and vicinity. To meet the grave emergency caused by the danger of looting, ten additional student patrolmen were sent from the Framingham training camp to augment the number of officers on duty in this section. All roads leading to the stricken towns were closed to the public generally and only persons who could be identified as property owners or residents were permitted to enter.

Temporary quarters were established in the Marion Town Hall to house the officers on duty in the vicinity. The men were assigned to work in two shifts so that twenty-four hour patrols and traffic posts could be maintained throughout the district.

In order to protect yachts and motorboats which had been driven on the beach by the storm a motor-boat patrol was established consisting of two boats each manned by two officers. This patrol was maintained continuously and all waterfront property was frequently inspected to prevent looting.

Another service rendered by the State Police in the flood and hurricane emergency was the delivery of messages to persons in the affected areas, or transmission of messages to relatives outside the areas from those who remained to salvage property from the damaged buildings.

On Sunday, September 25, there was exceptionally heavy traffic on the roads caused to a great extent by persons seeking to reach summer homes and other property in the devastated areas, or to contact relatives and friends in those districts by the usual sightseeing traffic. A request had been made on the Metropolitan District Commission for police officers to aid in handling this traffic. A detail of sixty-five men under the direction of a Deputy Superintendent, two Lieutenants and five Sergeants were assigned to assist the State Police and did excellent cooperative work in the control of the situation arising from the emergency. Being relieved of this duty it was possible for our officers to continue the work of rescue and protection in the flood and hurricane areas. The members of the Metropolitan District Police who performed this duty are to be commended for their efficient service and for the complete cooperation given to this department during their assignment.

Police Communications

The radio equipment of the Massachusetts State Police is as follows:
Eight main transmitters—

- WMP at Troop A Headquarters, Framingham
- WPEW at Troop B Headquarters, Northampton
- WPEL at Troop D Headquarters, West Bridgewater
- WPEV a portable station, home station at Framingham
- WRBE a portable station at General Headquarters, Boston
- WSPO at State Police Station, Martha's Vineyard
- WSPN at State Police Station, Nantucket
- WPYM at State Police Station, Yarmouth

Each of these transmitters has a transmitting range of from 1500 to 3000 kilocycles. At the present time they are tuned to our assigned frequency of 1666 K.C. and are crystal controlled.

There are also in service two Hallicrafter transmitters on four channels, namely 1666 K.C. - 160-80 and 40 meters. The last three channels are on amateur bands and can be used in case of emergency on both voice and code. These two transmitters can be used at any of our radio stations in case of a temporary breakdown of main transmitters. One Harvey transmitter, portable type, which is located at Northampton, has an output of 50 watts. Two pack sets of one watt each on ultra-high frequency which can be used from shore to river patrol boats and from airplane to ground are also available for use. There are fourteen composite units on ultra-high frequency used for two-way communications between car and station. Receiving units of Bosch make are used in cruiser cars and motorcycles.

In the control and transmitting rooms, we use the Hallicrafter receiver for both stand-by and to check the frequency of stations in conjunction with the Western Electric Frequency Monitor. Once each month the Tropical Radio monitor service also checks the frequency of our stations.

The stationary transmitters are licensed for 1000 watts. The mobile transmitter, which is mounted in a 1½ ton truck, is licensed for 50 watts. This truck is also equipped with a 50 watt ultra-high frequency set. The mobile unit is a self-contained outfit which derives its power from commercial outlets or from a portable gas-driven 1½ kilowatt generator, which is a part of the unit.

Twenty-one of our State Police stations are equipped with 2-way teletype-writers. Each troop headquarters has a switchboard which permits selective transmission or which permits simultaneous transmission to all units in that troop. Each troop headquarters is connected with the central control switchboard at General Headquarters in Boston, which offers the same control as a troop switchboard. In addition, it permits a general broadcast to be sent out to all stations of the State Police simultaneously. The system is connected with a circuit which embraces 33 cities and towns in the Boston metropolitan area. The State Police teletype system forms part of the interstate teletype communication known as the "Eight-State System". Other states on this circuit are Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania and New Hampshire. A new type switchboard has recently been designed for the use of the department, which permits the facilities of the teletype system to be doubled in case of emergency. This will permit new installations to be set up in case of emergency and to tie in with lines which may be established at other state departments and at various military headquarters if such installation becomes desirable.

During the September hurricane the State Police radio mast at Framingham and one of the two radio towers at West Bridgewater were destroyed. Both of these towers will be replaced in the near future by a modern type of radio mast.

Traffic Control

During the year 1938, as in the past few years, the personnel assigned to traffic patrol duty functioned with a strength of 150 members with additional strength of every available man during the peak hours of motor travel. Past accident records, experience, and a knowledge of violations that are the greatest contributing cause of accidents, are used as a basis for an enforcement program. Each patrolman operates under a definite daily schedule, which is prepared in advance by the Commanding Officer.

The present system of disposing of motor violations has been in effect since October 1, 1936. The names of all operators whose violation or attitude warrants moderately severe treatment, are forwarded to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles for whatever action he deems advisable. The operators who have committed less serious violations are given warnings. A "Warning" is a term applied to a less serious type of violation, which, if repeated, will be referred to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles for action. There are other slight infractions of the motor vehicle laws which the officer recommends be placed on file. This type of violation is kept on file for future reference. Court action is recommended for serious violations of the motor vehicle laws, such as: drunken driving, driving so as to endanger, leaving the scene of an accident, etc.

Enforcement activities for the year 1938 show a decrease in the number of violations as compared with the figures for the year 1937, which was the peak year for motor vehicle violations in the history of the department with a total of 152,834 violations. The year 1938 shows a total of 136,063 violations, which is a decrease of 16,771 or 11% as compared with the previous year. This decrease undoubtedly is due for the most part to the enforcement programs being carried on by almost every law enforcement body in the state in an effort to reduce motor vehicle accidents. The majority of drivers are aware of this and as a result are becoming more observant to the motor vehicle laws.

The records of the Traffic Bureau, where all offenses of the motor vehicle laws are recorded, show the following recommendations made on 90,865 violations for the year 1938: arrests—1,867; summons—2,240; registry—12,671; warnings—44,570; filed—29,517. Included in the above figures are 19,796 out-of-state motorists, of whom 1,010 were arrested, 1,070 summoned, 12,037 received warnings and 5,679 were filed. Action by the Registrar is not recommended for motorists of other states; it applies to drivers of this state only. Included in the total number of violations are 45,198 offences for defective lights or equipment. Drivers who are stopped for this type of violation are given a tag, issued to this department by the Registry of Motor Vehicles, which requires the motorist to have the defect remedied at once.

During the year there were 1,539 motor vehicle accidents investigated by officers assigned to traffic duty as compared to 1,905 accidents investigated in 1937, which is a decrease in number of 366 or 19.2% over the year 1937. An increase of 1 fatality is shown for the year 1938; there was, however, a decrease of 589 personal injuries. In 1937 there were 83 deaths and 2,304 injuries, whereas in 1938 there were 84 deaths and 1,715 injuries, which is an increase of one in the number of deaths and a decrease of 589 or 25.6% in the number of injuries.

During the past year 96 pedestrian accidents, involving 98 pedestrians, were investigated by the Massachusetts State Police, which is 6.2% of the total number of motor vehicle accidents investigated. Although the automobile driver bears most of the blame for the accidents, nevertheless, pedestrians themselves contribute amply by their own negligence. The large majority of pedestrians struck down were in the act of crossing the highway or were walking along the right side of the road, taking the risk of being struck from behind.

Our records show that 9 out of 32 were killed while crossing the highway and 5 of the 22 who were walking on the right side of the road were killed, whereas only 4 were struck while walking on the left side of the road, facing traffic, one of whom was killed. Seven pedestrians under the influence of liquor staggered out on the highways, 2 of whom were killed. Thirteen pedestrians, 2 of whom were killed, were in the act of coming out from behind another vehicle. Fourteen pedestrians were involved in accidents while standing by the side of the road, 4 of these proving fatal. Six were injured in the act of getting in and out of another vehicle. A summary of these figures show that 23 were killed and 75 were injured.

Children pedestrians, up to the age of 14, were involved in 22 of the total number of pedestrian accidents, 1 of whom was killed. Fifty-three pedestrians between the ages of 15 and 54 were struck, 12 of these were killed, and there were 23 accidents involving pedestrians 55 years of age and over, 10 of whom were killed.

In the year 1937 there were 129 pedestrian accidents investigated, which involved 137 pedestrians. These resulted in 21 deaths and 116 personal injuries. In 1938 there were 96 pedestrian accidents investigated, which involved 98 pedestrians, resulting in 23 deaths and 75 personal injuries.

There were 2,548 operators involved in 1,539 motor vehicle accidents, which resulted in 706 complaints for court prosecution, and 148 complaints pending. Of these 304 were out-of-state operators. The result of prosecution in District Court shows that 301 of the 385 arraigned for driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public were convicted, 123 of the 138 arrested for drunken driving were convicted and 50 out of the 59 charged with leaving the scene of an accident were also convicted. There were 124 other cases wherein the nature of the offense was less serious, although it contributed to the cause of the accident; of this number 116 resulted in convictions. In addition to these figures, there were 47 reports on accidents, wherein court action was not advisable, that were brought to the attention of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles for his consideration and for whatever action he deemed advisable. A summary of the above-mentioned cases reveals convictions of 83.6% of all cases tried in District Court. Fines amounting to $14,320 were assessed against those found guilty. There were 43 jail sentences imposed, 166 cases were dismissed, 18 sentences were suspended, 56 cases were filed, and 60 cases were appealed.

Oil Pollution of Waters

Chapter 381 of the Acts of 1935 relative to the discharge of oil into the waters of Boston Harbor or any of its tributaries provides, among other things, that the law shall be enforced by the Department of Public Safety or by any officer authorized to make arrests.

During the fiscal year in the enforcement of this law, 2,750 inspections were made at Oil Storage Plants, 1,700 inspections were made aboard oil tankers, and 680 warnings were issued to owners of storage plants and oil tankers.

Detective Bureau

The Detective Bureau, under the direction of the Chief of Detectives, furnishes investigators of cases for the Executive Department, the Attorney General, the various District Attorneys and the several state departments, as well as providing for the investigation of complaints of various violations of law referred to the State Police for investigation and prosecution.

Special assistance to the District Attorneys in homicides and other cases of major importance is one of the important functions of this bureau. Officers with special training as investigators are available at the headquarters to assist the State Police Detectives assigned to the District Attorneys.

Augmented by the technical and scientific expert assistants to the Commissioner, this force has demonstrated its effectiveness in criminal investigation and constitutes a thoroughly capable and reliable agency of law enforcement.

An example of the effectiveness of the combination of trained expert technicians and criminal investigators occurred during the fiscal year in connection with a homicide which was committed in western Massachusetts.

On June 22, 1938, a mass of debris containing a human skull without hair or flesh, a shoe and a belt buckle and some human bones were found in the Connecticut River at South Hadley Falls, imbedded in concrete and wrapped in a paper mill felt blanket. The material found was examined by State Police Detectives, the Medical Examiner, the State Police Chemist and the Acting District Attorney. Because all the bones of the human skeleton were not present, a detail of State Police officers was assigned to search the river bank and the vicinity. In a diligent examination of one cottage, the officers, the chemist and his assistants found a crude grave below the floor in which had been deposited human bones, cement, concrete and a blanket similar to that in which the material found at the river bank had been wrapped and wired together. Blood stains and other evidence of the disposal of a body on the premises were found. A careful examination of all the material found was made with the aid of an x-ray with fluoroscope attachment, revealing the identity of the material found as a human body. A .45 calibre bullet was also found with the aid of the fluoroscope. Proceeding with the investigation, the investigating officers soon developed information relative to the last person in control of the premises. This party was located in an adjoining state and returned to Massachusetts where, confronted with additional information, which had been secured by the investigating officers concerning the disposition of property of the victim by the suspect, he confessed to the crime. Upon a plea of guilty to second degree murder the defendant was sentenced to life imprisonment. The use of the scientific instruments and methods in examination of the evidence found in this case, combined with the work of specially trained investigators, proved to be a very effective combination of resources.

The statistical summary of the work of the Detective Bureau during the fiscal year follows.

Technical Laboratories and Bureaus

The statistical tables which follow indicate the character and volume of work performed by the technical and scientific laboratories and bureaus of the department.

It will be noted that there has been a substantial increase in the number of identifications made during the year by the Bureau of Criminal Identification.

A notable increase occurred also in the activities of the Bureau of Photography due to an increased number of calls for assistance from city and town police departments and from various Federal law enforcement agencies.

The Bureau of Photography at Troop B Headquarters at Northampton has been altered sufficiently to make room for the installation of a small chemical laboratory and to include a fluoroscope and x-ray machine. This machine, like the other facilities of the laboratory, is available for use in investigations in the western part of the state. The value of fluoroscopy in criminal investigation has already been amply demonstrated; important evidence being uncovered by this means which might ordinarily escape detection without the x-ray equipment.

The establishment of another branch of the bureau of photography at Troop C Headquarters, Holden, has been completed and is now in full operation. This unit is intended to give photographic service and fingerprint information to Worcester County and whenever necessary outside the Troop C area. As in the case of the other facilities of the department for photographic and fingerprint information service, the facilities of this branch of the Bureau of Photography are available to cities and towns and to the federal agencies for law enforcement.

DIVISION OF INSPECTION

The Division of Inspection is in charge of a Director designated as the Chief of Inspections. Under the supervision of the Commissioner, the Chief of Inspections administers the provisions of Chapter 143 and 146 of the General Laws.

The personnel of the Division of Inspection consists of twenty-one building inspectors, one of whom is assigned as Supervisor of Plans and one of whom is assigned as Supervisor of the Bureau of Sunday Censorship, and twenty-six boiler inspectors, one of whom is assigned to special duty as Chairman of the Board of Boiler Rules, and one of whom is assigned to the Division of Fire Prevention. These inspectors are assigned to districts in various sections of the Commonwealth.

The provisions of Chapter 143 of the General Laws, which are enforced by the Building Inspectors apply to the examination and approval of plans for the construction of public buildings; to the erection, alteration, inspection and use of certain buildings; the inspection and approval of elevators in cities and towns having no building inspection department, and the enforcement of the laws, rules and regulations governing the use of the cinematograph and similar apparatus for the exhibition of motion pictures. Building inspectors also conduct the examinations of applicants for licenses as motion picture operators and have supervision of all motion picture projection booths throughout the Commonwealth and the inspection of safety film for use in special exhibitions.

The provisions of Chapter 146 of the General Laws, which is enforced by the Boiler Inspectors, apply to the inspection of certain steam boilers and their appurtenances, both internally and externally and to ascertain the general condition of the boiler and its appliances while the boiler is under steam; also to see if they have the proper appendages for safety as prescribed by the Board of Boiler Rules. Air tanks and their appurtenances are also inspected to see that they conform to the rules formulated by the Board of Boiler Rules. The enforcement of the Engineers' and Firemen's License Law throughout the Commonwealth is a very important duty of the boiler inspectors and is a valuable contribution to public safety. Much of the time of the inspectors is given to the examination of applicants for licenses as engineers and firemen and also of applicants for Certificates of Competency as Inspectors of Steam Boilers in the employ of authorized boiler insurance companies.

Certificates of Competency Examinations:

Certificates of Competency to inspect boilers are issued to representatives of companies insuring boilers in the commonwealth after an examination by a board of three boiler inspectors. These certificates remain in force during the employment of the representative by the company unless sooner revoked.

There are now 234 Inspectors holding Certificates of Competency from this division. There were 38 examinations during the year, with 26 certificates granted and the other 12 rejected.

During the year there were 9 certificates returned to this office, the holders either having died or left their places of employment for which the certificates were issued.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES

The Board of Boiler Rules is appointed by the Commissioner of Public Safety under the authority of Chapter 22, section 10 of the General Laws.

It consists of a boiler inspector of the department who acts as chairman and four associate members. The associate members represent the operating engineers, boiler-using interests, boiler manufacturing interests and boiler insurance interests.

The Board is required by law to formulate rules for the construction, installation and inspection of steam boilers, and for ascertaining the safe working pressure to be carried therein; to prescribe tests to ascertain the qualities of materials used in the construction of boilers and to formulate rules regarding the construction of safety valves, the use of fusible safety plugs, pressure indicators and other safety appliances.

The law provides for public hearings in May and November, and at such other times as may be deemed necessary by the Board, on petitions for changes in the rules formulated by it. The board also receives and examines specifications for boilers of special design not covered by the rules and upon approval of the same grants permits for their construction.

The Board, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 319, Acts of 1938 (Approved May 17, 1938) has revised the Massachusetts Air Tank Regulations to conform to recognized standards of engineering practice, for the size, shape, construction, gauges, operation, maximum pressure, safety devices, use of oil, and other appurtenances necessary for the safe operation of such tanks or other receptacles. These rules have been formulated and will be ready for distribution in the very near future.

Following is a tabulation of the meetings held and the petitions heard during the fiscal year ending November 30, 1938:

DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION

The work of the Division of Fire Prevention is directed by the State Fire Marshal under the supervision of the Commissioner of Public Safety. The investigation of incendiary fires and the prosecution of cases arising therefrom; the administration and enforcement of the laws and regulations relating to fire prevention; the hearing of appeals from the action of local licensing authorities on licenses for the storage of explosives and inflammables; the inspection of petroleum; inspection of inflammable fluid transportation and consultation with municipal officers are some of the functions and duties of the personnel of this division.

During the year 1938 a high percentage of convictions, 78.8% was secured in trials of cases resulting from arrests for incendiary fires. There were 97 fires for which arrests were made and, of this number, 64 cases went to trial, resulting in 49 convictions and 15 not guilty verdicts. Seven cases pending from the previous years were also tried and convictions obtained in each instance bringing the total cases tried during 1938 to 71, with convictions in 56 cases. Thirty-three cases resulting from arrests in 1938 are still pending trial. The various cases were disposed of as follows:

State Prison	6	Adjudged insane	15
House of Correction	9	Suspended sentences	15
Reformatories and correction- al schools	4	Fines	$1,350
Probation	6	Restitution	$2,594

During the September hurricane and flood the Division of Fire Prevention assisted local fire departments in many ways. The inventory of fire department equipment, which is on file in the department, was of valuable assistance as a basis of information for departments seeking aid from other cities and towns. Many fire departments took advantage of the opportunity to communicate with this office to secure the needed information. Data relating to fire protection equipment of local departments is always available at this office for reference when any such emergency arises. In addition to the articles used in the regular work of extinguishing fires, there is listed in this inventory such emergency equipment as radio cars, blasting apparatus, boats and trailers, diving apparatus, ambulance service, first aid kits and medical supplies; stretchers, inhalators, gas masks, gas detectors, electric light wagons and generators, portable electric light generators and lighting accessories, outboard motors, portable telegraph and telephone sets, wrecking trucks and other useful equipment.

The Division of Fire Prevention has actively cooperated in the work of providing special training for members of fire departments. In cooperation with the State Department of Education, lectures were given at various regional firemen's training schools and special instruction was furnished on the rules and regulations pertaining to matters wherein the State Fire Marshal delegates authority to heads of fire departments.

The Fire Marshal held conferences with city and town officials on fire prevention and with the Fire Chiefs' Club of Massachusetts, the Forest Wardens Association, the Massachusetts Fire Prevention Association, the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the National Fire Protection Association, fire-works manufacturers and various civic and service clubs, as well as other agencies interested in fire prevention.

During the fiscal year, forty-eight fire prevention lectures were given in thirty-two cities and towns by an officer assigned to the Division of Fire Prevention. These lectures were given in the following places: Boston (8), Attleboro (2), Winchendon, Saugus, Lawrence, Haverhill, Danvers, Clinton, Groton, Adams, Essex, Lowell (7), North Reading, Marblehead, Hingham, Medford, Malden, Tewksbury, Dighton, Springfield, Hamilton, Worcester (3), Waltham, Winthrop, Needham, Cambridge, Peabody, Ware, Beverly, Weymouth, Dedham, Leominster.

Instructions pertaining to the discovery of evidence of incendiarism and the proper method of handling and preserving the same were given at twenty-six sessions of the regional fire schools conducted by the Department of Education in cooperation with the State Fire Marshal and local fire departments. These schools were held at—Falmouth, Hyannis, Brookline, Haverhill, Pittsfield, Needham, Truro, New Bedford, Arlington, Worcester, Fitchburg, Groton, Chatham, Brockton, Lowell, Springfield, Attleboro, Adams.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS

The supervision of Lord's Day entertainments is authorized under the provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws and during the year ending November 30, 1938 there was submitted to this bureau for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety a total of 28,894 licenses and programs of entertainments to be held on the Lord's Day. Of this number 28,881 were approved and 13 disapproved, shown as follows:—

Athol	2	Revere	5
New Bedford	2	Southbridge	1
Provincetown	1	Springfield	2

Each of these licenses and programs was accompanied by a fee of $2, the amount totaling $57,788, which was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. This amount was $3,618 in excess of the year 1937.

In addition to the above number of licenses, there was 6,355 reels of motion picture film censored for showing on the Lord's Day, which were disposed of as follows:—

Reels approved	6,203	Reels disapproved	30
Reels approved with deletions	122	Footage of film censored	5,719,500

There were also submitted for censorship 162 mutoscope reels and 50 sets of drop cards which were disposed of as follows:—

Mutoscope reels approved	138	Drop cards approved	14
Mutoscope reels disapproved	24	Drop cards disapproved	36

Vaudeville acts and stage presentations are pre-viewed at the various theatres prior to their showing on the Lord's Day, at which time a complete record, containing the name of act, number of persons in said act and a description of clothing worn, is made for files in this department. When deletions are ordered to be made for Sunday presentation all the parties concerned are notified and a letter is required by this department advising that the acts will comply with the instructions forwarded to them before making their appearance on the Lord's Day. There were 2,210 vaudeville acts reviewed for showing on the Lord's Day. Of this number 1,060 vaudeville acts were re-reviewed. The remaining 1,150 were acted upon as follows:—

Approved, 719; Approved with deletions, 247; disapproved, 184.

Operators of six theatres, four golf driving ranges and ten other amusements were granted hearings for violations of regulations and after due deliberation the cases of these operators were acted upon as follows:—

Cases placed on file with warnings	13
Licenses for golf driving ranges revoked	2
Licenses for other amusements disapproved	5

The personnel assigned to this bureau perform various duties in connection with the enforcement of the law governing entertainments held on the Lord's

Day in this Commonwealth. In addition to their functions as censors they are required to perform such other duties as may be assigned them from time to time, such as the checking of licenses as approved by the Commissioner of Public Safety to ascertain whether or not they are exercised as originally approved. It is also necessary to check all entertainments at the many different theatres, halls, amusement parks and beaches.

The entertainments are varied in character. The theatres and larger halls offer stage presentations, vaudeville and motion pictures; while in the different community theatres and halls, plays are conducted by both professional and amateur performers. In this connection there were approximately 1,695 performances in theatres inspected. Some of these performances are given in a foreign tongue and require the service of interpreters in censoring. The interpreters are assigned from the personnel of this department. There were five Italian and four Jewish performances inspected.

The City of Boston submitted for approval 1,516 licenses and programs for entertainments provided in hotels, restaurants, cafes, etc., on the Lord's Day in conjunction with their regular business.

At the amusement parks and beaches are conducted the many different rides, games, sideshows, etc., which require rigid supervision. As in the past the department has received the co-operation of the majority of operators and licensing authorities in the different cities and towns in which amusement parks and beaches are located. Every amusement device or game, exhibit or show operated at the different amusement parks and beaches is inspected at least once during each season. Each summer season brings new devices, games and shows which are inspected before Lord' Day operation is permitted.

During the past year there were received numerous requests for the approval of licenses for carnivals to be conducted on the Lord's Day under the auspices of various church, veteran and agricultural organizations. After the approval of licenses had been given, a most careful supervision of the carnivals was required in order to eliminate undesirable operators so that the organizations under whose auspices these carnivals were conducted might be protected from fraud.

Below is a summary of the amusements and amounts collected for same during the year 1938:—

	Number of Licenses	Amount
Motion picture exhibitions, vaudeville and theatricals	18,594	$37,188
Amusements at beach resorts and at summer parks	8,108	16,216
Entertainments in hotels, restaurants, cafes, etc. (Boston)	1,516	3,032

PRIVATE DETECTIVE AGENCIES

Persons or corporations engaging in the business which is commonly transacted by private detectives are required to obtain a license to do so from the Commissioner of Public Safety. The provisions of law relative to such licenses are found in General Laws, Chapter 147, sections 23 to 30. Each applicant is thoroughly investigated before approval is given to the application. Upon approval, and before a license is issued, the applicant is required to file a bond of $5000 at this headquarters conditioned upon a proper and legal transaction of the business to be licensed.

During the fiscal year, 24 personal licenses and seven corporation licenses were renewed and one new corporation license was granted. Fees amounting to $4000 were received for these licenses and paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

RECOMMENDATION

In the report of the special commission on operation of the contributory retirement system for state employees, made to the General Court January 15, 1938, the following statement appears:

"The Division of State Police, by virtue of the nature of the work demanded of its members, undoubtedly requires comparatively young men of vigorous physique. The nature of the duties to be performed in all weathers is arduous in the extreme No argument is needed to demonstrate that men above middle life are not usually physically able to perform such duties."

In recognition of the facts stated by this commission it is evident that special provision should be made concerning the retirement age of State Police officers. In faithful service under hazardous conditions is to be adequately recognized some such provision should be enacted into law.

I again recommend legislation substantially in accordance with the attached bill to provide for the retirement of officers incapacitated for active service by reason of injuries sustained or illness incurred in the performance of duty. Such retirement should be on a pension equal to not less than one half nor more than three fourths of compensation at the time of retirement.

Provision should be made also for the retirement of any officer who has performed faithful service in the Division of State Police for not less than twenty years and who has attained the age of forty-five, if, in the judgment of the commissioner he is incapacitated for further service. In such cases there should be paid to the retiring officer a pension equal to one half of his average compensation during the three years immediately prior to the time of his retirement.

An Act Relative to the Retirement of Members of the Division of State Police

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. Chapter thirty-two of the General Laws is hereby amended by inserting after section sixty-eight thereof, as appearing in the Tercentenary Edition, the following new sections:

SECTION 68A. In this and the three succeeding sections, unless the context otherwise requires, the following words shall have the following meanings:

"State Police Retirement Fund", the fund established by section sixty-eight C;

"Pension", the payment for life derived from money in the State Police Retirement Fund;

"Regular interest", interest at three per cent per annum, compounded semi-annually on the last days of December and June, and reckoned for full three and six months' periods only;

"Rating Board", the board established by section sixty-eight B.

"Officers", the officers of the Division of State Police appointed thereto under section six of chapter twenty-two subsequent to July 1, 1921, or under the provisions of section nine A of chapter twenty-two.

"Continuous faithful service", shall mean uninterrupted employment, but a lay-off on account of illness, and a leave of absence, suspension or dismissal, followed by reinstatement within two years shall not be considered as breaking the continuity of service, except as provided in section sixty-eight D, paragraph four; provided, that in the case of officers as defined in this section, engaged in the military or naval service of the United States in time of war, such reinstatement may occur at any time within two years after discharge from such service or release from active duty therein, in accordance with section sixty-eight D, paragraph four.

"Compensation", the remuneration or wages given to an officer for regular services and which shall include maintenance if so determined in fixing his compensation. If maintenance is so included as a part of an officer's compensation, then for the purpose of arriving at the pension amount the sum of three hundred and sixty dollars per year shall be added to the cash compensation of the officer.

"Maintenance", food, uniform clothing, and shelter or an allowance in lieu of food or shelter.

SECTION 68B. Any officer who has performed faithful service in the Division of State Police of the Department of Public Safety and in the judgment of a rating board consisting of the surgeon-general of the commonwealth, the commissioner of public safety, the secretary of the state retirement board, or a subordinate designated by any of them from time to time by a writing filed in the office of the commissioner of public safety, is permanently incapacitated for active service by reason of injuries sustained or illness incurred through no fault of his own in the actual performance of duty, may be retired and shall annually receive a pension from the commonwealth equal to not less than one half nor more than three-fourths of his compensation at the time of his retirement, the amount of said pension within the stated limits to be determined by the said rating board; and any officer appointed under the provisions of section six of chapter twenty-two subsequent to July 1, 1921, who has performed continuous faithful service in the said division for not less than twenty years and has attained the age of sixty-five, or any officer appointed under the provisions of section nine A of chapter twenty-two who has performed continuous faithful service in said division for not less than twenty years and has attained the age of forty-five, may, if in the judgment of the commissioner he is incapacitated for further service in the division, be retired, and shall annually receive a pension from the commonwealth equal to one half of his average compensation during the three years immediately prior to the time of his retirement. Any officer who is a veteran, as defined in section fifty-six, may upon notice seasonably given elect to receive the benefits of the provisions of this chapter which relate to the retirement of veterans.

SECTION 68C. From the monthly compensation of each officer of the division of state police of the department of public safety there shall be deducted five per cent of the salary up to and including twenty-five hundred dollars per annum which shall be placed in a State Police Retirement Fund which is hereby established. All money heretofore deposited in the State Retirement Fund by the said officers, together with all accumulated interest credited to their account in the State Retirement Fund, shall be transferred by the State Treasurer to the retirement fund provided for by this section and shall thereby become a part of their deposits at regular interest. There shall be added to the State Police Retirement Fund such other sums as the general court may authorize based on an amount determined by the actuary of the division of insurance of the department of banking and insurance.

SECTION 68D. 1. The state treasurer shall have custody of the State Police Retirement Fund and any income thereof, and subject to the approval of the state board of retirement, as established by section ten of chapter eighteen, shall invest and reinvest the same in accordance with section thirty-eight of chapter twenty-nine.

2. Should an officer die before becoming entitled to a pension, all the money contributed by him under section sixty-eight C, with such regular interest as shall have been earned thereon, shall be paid to his legal representatives, unless the said officer by a written instrument duly executed by him and filed with the state board of retirement prior to his death, upon a form to be furnished by the said board, shall have nominated one or more beneficiaries, whom he may from time to time change, to receive such money.

3. Should an officer resign from the service of the commonwealth at any time, or become separated therefrom by discharge, he shall receive a refund of all money contributed by him under section sixty-eight C with such regular interest as shall have been earned thereon, if he waives and releases for himself, his heirs and legal representatives and any designated beneficiary any claim to a pension.

4. Any officer who has resigned, or become separated from the service of the commonwealth by discharge, and who has withdrawn from the State Police Retirement Fund all the contributions and interest credited to his account, may, if he is reinstated in the Division of State Police within two years, pay in to the said fund in a lump sum or by such installments as the board of retirement may require by rule or otherwise, all such money which has been withdrawn and he shall have all the rights and privileges to which he would have been entitled if his service had not been interrupted.

5. The funds of the State Police Retirement Fund established under section sixty-eight C, so far as they are invested in personal property, shall be exempt from taxation. That portion of the compensation of an officer deducted or to be deducted under section sixty-eight C, the rights of an officer to a pension and all his rights in the funds of the State Police Retirement Fund shall be exempt from taxation and from the operation of any law relating to bankruptcy or insolvency, and shall not be attached or taken upon execution or other process. No assignment of any right in or to said funds or pensions shall be valid.

SECTION 2. Section one of chapter thirty-two of the General Laws, as appearing in the Tercentenary Edition, is hereby amended by adding at the end of the definition of "employees" in the said section, the following:—except officers of the division of state police of the department of public safety appointed thereto under the provisions of section six of chapter twenty-two, subsequent to July 1, 1921, or any officer appointed thereto under the provisions of section nine A of chapter twenty-two,—so that the said definition will read as follows:—"Employees", persons permanently and regularly employed in the direct service of the commonwealth or in the service of the metropolitan district commission, whose sole or principal employment is in such service; except officers of the division of state police of the department of public safety appointed thereto under the provisions of section six of chapter twenty-two subsequent to July 1, 1921 or any officer appointed thereto under the provisions of section nine A of chapter twenty-two.

CONCLUSION

The character of the emergency with which the State Police were confronted in connection with the flood and hurricane of September 1938, demonstrates anew the need of an adequate two-way radio system for State Police communications. When the finances of the Commonwealth warrant the expenditure of funds necessary for the purpose, there should be conducted a radio engineering survey of the entire state with a view to establishing a communications system adequate for all demands that may be made upon it.

In closing this report I wish to express to the various officials in the public service my appreciation of the cooperation which they have extended in matters affecting this department. To the members of this department whose helpful cooperation has aided so much in the successful administration of its duties, I extend my sincere thanks.

Respectfully submitted,

NINETEENTH ANNUAL REPORT

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

COMMONWEALTH PIER, BOSTON

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

I have the honor of submitting the nineteenth annual report of the Department of Public Safety, covering the activities and accomplishments of the Department for the fiscal year December 1, 1938 to November 30, 1939.

The Department is organized as outlined in the foregoing organization chart and in the roster appearing later in this report. Every officer and inspector of the department is vested with police authority and is available immediately for police duties in emergencies.

The records of both the detective bureau and the uniformed branch of the Division of State Police for the year 1939 reveal an increase in the number of arrests and convictions over the previous year. Enforcement activities to maintain highway safety also took an upward swing with an increase of almost fifty per cent in the number of violations reported. The efficiency of the uniformed personnel in the handling of traffic was greatly enhanced through the cooperation of the traffic division of the Department of Public Works. The latter division submits monthly reports pertaining to the number, type and kind of accidents which occur on the state highways. These records contain an accurate summary of the location, time, date, and cause of accidents, so that it is possible to assign highway patrols to areas which have been found to be dangerous in order that our officers may concentrate their activities in eliminating further accidents at points on the highway known to be hazardous.

Through the use of the facilities of the laboratories of the department, 82.2 per cent of the hit-and-run accidents reported to the State Police were solved. Less than one per cent of the total number of these cases adjudicated by the courts escaped punishment.

The work of the Bureau of Identification was greatly increased by the enactment of legislation relative to sex criminals, so called. This new law provides that the department shall furnish to the police authorities of each city and town and to each district attorney, a full description, photograph, fingerprints and personal history of persons who have been committed to an institution for a sex crime and who are about to be released. This entailed much more work; however, no provision was made in the law for means to purchase necessary equipment or for the employment of additional personnel.

Plans are now being discussed for the appointment of a medicolegal consultant as part of a program designed to provide every available scientific aid to the law enforcement agencies of the commonwealth for the investigation of crime and make complete, in every respect, the laboratory facilities of this department, placing them on a par with, if not exceeding, any such organization in America.

The Massachusetts State Police Recruit Training School and the State Police Academy, the advanced training school, were referred to last year by a committee on police training of the American Bar Association as among the leading schools of this nature in the United States.

The Division of Fire Prevention maintained a splendid record for the conviction of persons accused of arson and other crimes arising from the investigation of incendiary fires.

The activities of the Division of Inspection were increased in scope by the enactment of legislation which requires the inspection of practically all air tanks with a pressure exceeding fifty pounds per square inch; whereas previously only those tanks used in connection with pneumatic machinery were subject to inspection. The work of this division was substantially increased as a result of the 1938 hurricane, which brought about the renovation of damaged structures and the replacement of buildings which were totally demolished.

The State Boxing Commission reports a substantial increase in revenue due to the new interest in boxing throughout the state.

During the past fiscal year the gross receipts from license fees and other sources of revenue totaled $154,616.89, an increase of $11,585.87 over the previous year. The most substantial increase was made in the amount of fees collected for the approval of applications for Lord's Day entertainments.

In keeping with the general trend for providing lasting security for employees, a pension law was passed by the General Court for the retirement of members of the Division of State Police at the age of fifty at half pay and even more generous provisions for officers who receive disabling injuries in the line of duty.

Another measure for providing greater security was the voluntary organization by the members of the uniformed branch of the Division of State Police of an insurance group. Each member of the group purchased a thousand dollar policy for eighty-five cents per month. The formation of this insurance group permitted the members to buy insurance at a low price; whereas individual insurance for police officers is costly because of the hazardous nature of the occupation.

The present engineers' and firemen's license law as contained in Chapter 146 of the General Laws does not provide for annual renewal of such licenses. Once issued the licenses are in force for life unless suspended or revoked for cause.

It is recommended that legislation in amendment of existing law be enacted, to provide annual renewal of these licenses at a fee reasonably proportionate to the fees charged for the original licenses.

Section 2 of Chapter 146 of the General Laws provides for the formulating, printing, and distribution of the Steam Boiler Rules formulated by the Board of Boiler Rules. This statute provides that the rules shall be printed and furnished by the Commissioner to those requesting them. No provision is made for a charge for these rules although it is a highly technical book of 220 pages prepared and printed at considerable expense. It is recommended that the present law be amended by providing for a reasonable charge for these rules.

A radio engineering survey of the entire state is again recommended, to be made when the finances of the Commonwealth permit, in order to ascertain the most efficient and economical means of providing an adequate police two-way radio communication system capable of meeting all normal or emergency demands that may be made upon it.

The result of the year's activities, as summarized under the various headings in this report, justifies the confidence and pride which the people of the Commonwealth feel in this department. I wish to extend to all officials in the public service who have given their cooperation in the work of this department, and to the members of the department whose loyalty and efficiency have contributed to the success of its administration, my sincere thanks and appreciation.

EUGENE M. MCSWEENEY,

Commissioner.

DIVISION OF STATE POLICE

The Division of State Police is under the immediate charge of the Commissioner of Public Safety, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 22, Section 3 of the General Laws. This division includes the state detectives, under the direction of a chief of detectives, and the uniformed branch, under a captain and executive officer.

The detective bureau was established by law primarily to aid the attorney-general and the district attorneys and the magistrates in procuring evidence for the detection of crime and the pursuit of criminals.

The uniformed branch was created in 1921 as a specially organized, highly trained body to be constantly employed in the prevention of crime, the apprehension of criminals and the protection of life and property generally throughout the state.

State Detectives

During the year of 1939 the state detectives participated in many notable investigations with remarkable success in the conviction of persons accused of criminal offenses. Special reference is made to the LeFebvre murder case, which is described in detail in a subsequent section of this report, because it is outstanding in the employment of scientific aids; nevertheless, there were other equally important investigations which cannot be discussed due to the limitations of this report.

Many major criminal cases were investigated by state detectives assigned to the offices of the district attorneys. At least one man from the detective bureau is assigned to the district attorneys of the commonwealth, excepting Suffolk County. In case of homicide and when serious crimes occur the state detectives act as investigators of the district attorneys. When further assistance is needed by a state detective attached to a district attorney's office, it is furnished from the headquarters detective staff.

Members of this bureau are also assigned as investigators for the attorney-general, State Board of Medicine and the State Insurance Division to serve as law enforcement and investigating officers.

A material gain in the activities of the state detectives is revealed by a comparison with the activities of the year previous. There were 399 arrests made this year as compared with the 321 of the previous year. Of these, there were 79 more convictions. There was also an increase in the number of investigations conducted by the detectives and a gain of $3,324 in the amount of fines and court costs paid. The value of property recovered totaled $37,431.

Uniformed Branch of State Police

The functions and duties of the uniformed force have undergone certain changes since its inception because of the enactment of new laws, particularly the interstate crime laws, and important changes in the methods of travel by the public. When the uniformed force was established highway traffic was a negligible problem, whereas it is now one of the dominant problems.

An analytical study of the statistical summary of the Division of State Police indicates the diversity of the activities of the uniformed branch. Robbery, homicide and other serious crimes against the person are not limited to the confines of municipalities and it is sometimes the duty of the officers of this branch to investigate major criminal cases.

Last year members of the uniformed force made 5,961 arrests and obtained 5,457 convictions of persons charged with crimes other than the violation of motor vehicle laws.

A series of larceny cases involving grain stores in Worcester County were solved as a result of the vigilance of officers assigned to a special detail in an effort to detect the thieves. In the Cape Cod section a ring of hen thieves were arrested and convicted to end a series of losses to hen farmers. The rural farm patrol during the crop season was continued with excellent results. The tattooing of chickens and the listing of the cataloguing of chicken farmers was maintained as well as the system of checking shipments of chickens to prevent wholesale thefts that were prevalent a few years ago.

The troopers were called upon to perform other duties, such as escorting sick and injured persons to hospitals, giving first-aid to persons injured, searching for persons lost in rural communities, recovering bodies of persons drowned and other errands of mercy. During the late fall and winter months the officers continued making their regular inspection visits to the numerous summer homes, cottages and camps within their patrol areas.

One of the most difficult feats was the escorting of the snow cruiser used in the current Antarctic Expedition across the state to a point of embarkation at Boston. Reports estimated the throngs of spectators at two million, the largest crowd to gather in any of the several states through which it traveled; nevertheless, not a single accident was reported and the snow cruiser covered more miles per day in this state than in any other. The State Police were commended by those interested in the expedition and also by newspaper commentators for the excellency of service rendered on that occasion.

An increase in the number of arrests made by the officers of the uniformed branch over the previous year was noted. The arrests totaled 6,763 for last year as compared with the total 5,899 arrests of the year previous, indicating a plus fourteen per cent increase in prosecutions of criminal offenses.

LABORATORIES

The Bureaus of Photography, Ballistics, Chemistry and the Questioned Documents and Handwriting Bureau are under the supervision of the chief of detectives, and the work of those bureaus shall be described in this reference to the Division of State Police. There has been a substantial increase in the use of the laboratories by the members of the State Police and officers of the departments of municipalities within the commonwealth and also policemen of other state police departments.

BUREAU OF PHOTOGRAPHY

For instance, the Bureau of Photography increased its volume of work almost fifty per cent over the previous year, with the most substantial increase being noted in the use of photography in the investigation of motor vehicle accidents. There was also a sizeable increase in the use of the personnel of that bureau in the photographing of fingerprints in the investigation of criminal cases.

A comparison of figures submitted by the officer in charge of the bureau, dealing with the use of the photostat machine, reveals a more extensive use of that instrument by the police, especially as a medium for copying fingerprint records and photographs of criminals and suspects. This machine is also used a great deal to copy questioned documents and evidence of a documentary nature.

BUREAU OF BALLISTICS

The activities of the Bureau of Ballistics were more numerous this year than the year previous. That section of the division was responsible for the examination of 450 firearms, 50 more than in 1938, and 602 examinations of ballistics evidence as compared with the 200 specimens examined the year before. Consultations with members of other police departments have increased with the growing popularity of the use of the laboratories of the division.

BUREAU OF CHEMISTRY

The Bureau of Chemistry was employed more frequently during the past year than ever before, particularly by the medical examiners of Massachusetts with whom an agreement exists to examine the organs of persons who die as the result of violence, alcohol or under unknown or mysterious circumstances. This service is gratis, causing the elimination of certain expenses formerly incurred in the hiring of experts.

Evidence of a scientific nature was submitted to this bureau by members of municipal departments on sixty-two occasions and by members of federal agencies and out-of-state departments as well as an increase in the number of cases where evidence was submitted by the State Police.

The chemical laboratory staff at headquarters and the branch laboratory at Northampton enjoyed remarkable success in dealing with hit-and-run cases, where evidence of a scientific nature was submitted for examination. With the aid of the Bureau of Photography, considerable original research has been and is being made in that field and other branches of science dealing with the investigation of crime.

QUESTIONED DOCUMENTS AND HANDWRITING BUREAU

Facilities of the questioned documents and handwriting bureau were employed on many occasions by the attorney-general, district attorneys and police of New England. This particular branch of police science is growing rapidly and is being more widely accepted as a means of determining the guilt of persons accused of crimes in which handwriting, forged or questioned documents are involved.

PROPOSED APPOINTMENT

At the present time plans are being discussed for the appointment of Dr. Alan R. Moritz, professor of legal medicine of Harvard University, to the post of expert assistant in the department to serve as a consulting pathologist to the medical examiners of the commonwealth. This program will include the use of the laboratories of the Department of Legal Medicine which are now under the process of construction.

This move will place the facilities of Harvard University at the disposal of not only the medical examiners but also the district attorneys and the other law enforcement officers in the state. The services of Dr. Moritz and his staff will be given without cost, an important phase which should help reduce the expenses of the various county governments.

The appointment of a consulting pathologist will complete the laboratory system of the Massachusetts State Police. For many years the bureaus of photography, chemistry, ballistics and questioned documents have served as scientific aids to the police of New England. With the appointment of Dr. Moritz, the services of a competent staff of medicolegal experts will be available to the law enforcement agencies, enabling them to take advantage of every possible scientific device and expert assistance that can be used in the investigation of crime.

Bureau of Criminal Identification

The Bureau of Criminal Identification continues to serve as an important adjunct to the department, performing a cooperative service with the Board of Probation, the Massachusetts Training School, the Department of Correction, the Department of Public Health, the Department of Public Welfare, the Federal Department of Justice, the United States Treasury Department, the Immigration Department, the United States Army, the municipal and state courts and the railroad detective divisions.

At the close of the fiscal year there were 347,480 fingerprint records and 85,970 rogues' gallery photographs on file, not including 7,673 personal identification fingerprint records. During 1939, 21,856 fingerprint records and 10,764 photographs were properly indexed and filed after being received. The scope of the work of that bureau is indicated by the total of 12,104 identifications made during the past year.

Additional duties and responsibilities were given the personnel of the bureau as a result of the enactment of the so-called Sex-Crime Release Law, which provides that a fingerprint record and a photograph, together with a criminal history and description, shall be transmitted to the police by this department, after notice has been received that a person sentenced for certain violations as being a sex offender is about to be released from jail or prison.

A rogues' gallery photograph file was also established within the bureau of out-of-state parolees who are released under the supervision of the commonwealth in accordance with the terms of the interstate crime compact.

Bureau of Communications

The police of Massachusetts depend entirely upon the Bureau of Communications of the Division of State Police for state-wide broadcasts of radio and teletype messages. This unit serves the twenty-five stations and substations of this department and also the many police departments included within the Greater Boston suburban circuit whenever it is necessary to send out a general alarm. Teletype connections also exist between this bureau and the state police of Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware. The vast teletype network of the nation is also an open channel for all police communications, messages being transmitted much on the same principle as regular telephone calls so that it is possible to send a message to any teletype station in the United States.

More than 350,000 messages are transmitted and received over the teletype system of the Massachusetts State Police each year. When an emergency exists, such as the hurricane of 1938 and the flood of 1936, this bureau is the sole means of communication for the various rescue and salvage units.

In addition to the routine and emergency police work, the teletype bureau includes a service for the transmission of information concerning weather conditions for the many airports in Massachusetts and routine reports of the field conditions of the various airdromes. Incidentally, the aviators of the commonwealth serve as voluntary fire wardens for the government inasmuch as they notify the State Police of all forest fires which they notice from the air, if they have reason to believe that no alarm has been sounded. Local police and fire departments are, in turn, notified of the fire by the State Police.

Notification of all airplane accidents is forwarded to the Massachusetts Aeronautic Commission by the State Police. The Commissioner of Public Safety is an active member of this commission and is able to bring to its operations a wide range of practical cooperation.

In recent years invaluable service has been rendered to the highway transportation system, including both bus and freight lines, in regard to road and weather conditions. Regular calls are received each day from the transportation concerns for detailed reports of road conditions in order to enable the companies to make necessary arrangements for their running schedules. This service is also extended to the automobile clubs of the state.

Radio is another important link of the communications system. Every cruising car is equipped with a receiving set and some few cars are equipped with two-way radio. Over 100,000 radio messages are dispatched each year, including messages to over 120 police departments, federal agencies, state department officials, medical examiners and fire departments which are served by this department.

During the fall a code transmitter was installed at the Northampton headquarters for the transmission of messages to police departments in the Middle West states. This permits this department to have direct contact with the police radio-telegraph system in that area. This system also extends to the states in the Mississippi Valley and it is possible to relay messages via Texas to New Mexico, Colorado, Nevada and California. Present plans call for a further expansion of this radio-telegraph code system.

As the central clearing house for receiving and dispatching messages relating to police matters, an efficient system for indexing and filing the various messages had to be devised to meet the constant demand for immediate information. This resulted in the establishment of a compact system based upon the chapter and section in the General Laws of the commonwealth so that each crime was catalogued according to a code number.

Last year 6,570 different crimes were catalogued in this file and, of these, 1,177 reports were cancelled because of prosecutions or recovery of goods lost or stolen. Missing persons numbering 5,602 were catalogued and, of these, a total of 4,225 were located and the items cancelled. Names of 2,383 wanted persons were filed and cancellations totaling 1,429 were made because of arrests.

The central filing system is extensively used by the police because it is the only bureau where all reported crimes are filed in Massachusetts. Frequently, suspicious persons or persons arrested for a crime are identified by resorting to these files and, on many occasions, the suspects have been discovered as perpetrators of other crimes. Lost and stolen property is restored to the rightful owners through the use of this system. Routine check-ups are made by mail of all items not cancelled in the files, serving to keep alive an interest in the subject of the report or revealing solved crimes or the return of missing persons or lost goods which the police neglected to report. Stolen property with an estimated value of $127,000 was recovered through the medium of the Bureau of Communications.

Highway Safety

The past few years have brought about a laudable reduction in the number of deaths on our state highways, but there remains the vital and perplexing problem of making further reductions. The elderly pedestrian must be reached by some means to teach him to guard his life while walking along the state highways, because of the twenty-five fatal pedestrian accidents only four were children. It is universally agreed that pedestrians should walk on the left side of the road, facing oncoming traffic, and, at night, they should carry or wear something white to make themselves visible to the motorists.

The accident prevention and law enforcement program of the State Police is based upon selective enforcement; that is, patrols are assigned to certain areas where accidents have happened and statistics conclusively show that a danger spot exists which requires special attention.

Each month records of fatal, non-fatal and property damage accidents are carefully catalogued and recorded by the Traffic Division of the Department of Public Works and transmitted to the State Police for their information. This is the only state in the United States where such a cooperative system exists between the agencies of enforcement and engineering.

These records are received by the traffic bureau of the Division of State Police where the statistics are analyzed and interpreted so that they may be readily digested by the troop and station commanders in order that each of the twenty-five station and substation commanders will have a detailed statistical analysis of highway accidents which occurred the same month the previous year in order that patrols may be assigned to dangerous sections within their station area.

There is an immediate need for the proper and uniform posting of speed limits on all highways within the commonwealth to make it possible to reduce motor vehicle fatalities. Last year no less than six hundred out-of-state operators were involved in the total 1,721 motor vehicle accidents investigated by the State Police. Although this fact may be partially due to the influx of tourists attracted to New England by the World's Fair at New York City, there always will be a constantly large number of visitors in Massachusetts because of its historical background plus the fact that it is a famous vacation center. This attraction has always existed during the summer, but, now, due to the winter sports, hundreds of thousands visit this state to participate in the activities of the winter season.

A special commission has been established to bring tourists and new business to Massachusetts; yet, as hosts, we neglect to inform our visitors of the dangers that may be encountered if they drive their automobiles at a rate greater than the safety limits of our highways.

Security for Uniformed Force

The most progressive step in the direction of security for the members of the Massachusetts State Police was taken this year by the General Court of the commonwealth when it enacted into law a bill which provides for the retirement of troopers at age 50 with half pay and, with liberal provisions, for the retirement of disabled men. The new law became effective December 1st.

The legislation was initially introduced by the former commissioner in 1937 and reintroduced in 1938 and 1939 by the present Commissioner of Public Safety. Twice the proposed bills were rejected, but when the legislation was finally approved, its provisions were much more generous and extensive than the original proposal.

Members who are injured in line of duty and disabled to the extent of incapacitation will receive half their regular rate of compensation plus an annuity based upon contributions of the individual to the State Retirement Fund.

The new State Police pension system is contributory. Deductions of five per cent are made each month on all salaries to $2600.

The present provisions of the pension law require the retirement of all officers at age 50 provided they have had 20 years of continuous service. The new act contains the stipulation that the maximum age for enlistment shall be 30, to ensure a young personnel.

Additional security, other than the new pension law, has been provided for by the formation of an association among the members of the Division of State Police for the maintenance of a group insurance plan. Ninety per cent of the members have purchased $1,000 life insurance policies payable at death for any cause.

This group insurance plan was originated when the present commissioner appointed a committee to investigate the feasibility of such a plan. The Committee made an extensive study of the problem and the association, when formed, awarded the group policy to the John Hancock Life Insurance Company on a basis of competitive bidding. A representative committee of the members of the insurance group selected the company.

This plan gave needed strength to the link which provides for the security of officers killed or injured in the line of duty. This insurance gives protection to those who die as the result of injury or illness incurred both on and off duty.

The existing statute provides for the payment of $1,000 annually to the widow and $200 to each child of an officer who is killed in the line of duty or dies as the result of injury or illness incurred while on duty.

Prior to the purchase of group insurance, altogether too many officers did not carry insurance because of the prohibitive cost of individual life insurance policies. A survey made during the process of formulating an insurance plan showed that seventy-five per cent of the men did not carry insurance of any kind.

The men pay monthly dues of eighty-five cents to the Association. Collections are made by station commanders who, in turn, transmit the payments to the troop commanders who forward them to the adjutant at General Headquarters. The dues are checked and the monthly premium is then sent to the insurance company. To date, there have been no delinquents.

These measures ensure the future security of the officers and free them from the apprehension that they will be retired or discharged without ample protection when they become too old to perform their duties as troopers. The pension act also provides for a continuous turnover, which will allow for the maintenance of a young personnel, so necessary to a state police organization.

Statistical Report of Division of State Police

The following statistical report of this division indicates the scope of the activities of both branches of the State Police. For a better understanding of the work done by the uniformed division, a few of the outstanding cases investigated by that branch are related in the following:

Two girls were struck by a car operated by a hit-and-run driver in Southboro while on their way to a Hallowe-en party. At the scene, a broken radiator ornament was found. A state-wide investigation of possible places where such an ornament might be sold was made. Officers were assigned to canvass garages, automotive equipment shops and automobile accessory stores to determine if an ornament similar to that found at the scene of the accident had been purchased. A trooper visited a garage in Natick where he found that a man had attempted to buy such an ornament. The would-be purchaser was apprehended and, after questioning, admitted being involved in the accident which caused the death of one of the children and critical injury to the other.

While on patrol, two officers observed a car bearing a Florida registration plate travelling at an excessive rate of speed over Route 1. The troopers found that the driver's license and registration were not in order and he was taken to the barracks for questioning. The man was fingerprinted because of the suspicion he aroused and it was later learned through the cooperation of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that the suspect was wanted in Miami, Florida, for embezzlement and forgery. He was also wanted by the police of Boston, New York and Connecticut. The suspect was turned over to the Miami police authorities.

Another excellent example of the cooperation which exists between the State Police and other police departments is illustrated by the arrest of two men after notification by the Federal Narcotic Bureau that these men were transporting drugs by automobile from New York to Boston. The suspect's car was halted and the operator and his companion were questioned. Convinced that these were the wanted men, the State Police officers took them into custody. They found in the possession of the prisoners five boxes of heroin, hypodermic needles and other equipment. The men were turned over to the federal authorities for prosecution.

Three men who were suspected of being involved in a series of safe robberies in Plymouth County were observed travelling along Route 3. A State Police officer stopped the car and ordered the driver to proceed to the Norwell barracks. On the way, one of the men jumped out of the car and ran into the woods. The trooper got off his motorcycle, chased the man and captured him. Returning to the car, he lined the three suspects up against a building and awaited aid. The three men were arrested and one of the men was found to be wanted by the Michigan State Police for safe breaking.

In the investigation of a hit-and-run accident which caused serious injury to three pedestrians in Hadley, officers found pieces of headlamp glass at the scene of the collision. An exhaustive investigation of automobile dealers selling automobile lenses similar to that found at the scene brought about the identification of the driver who had attempted to replace the broken headlamp lens of his car. The defendant was sentenced to six months in the house of correction.

A series of burglaries in Amherst and Sunderland were investigated by the State Police and sufficient evidence obtained by checking the sale of tires and other automobile accessories sold to legitimate dealers and garage men caused the indictment of two suspects. The suspects were apprehended after a long search. They admitted burglaries in various cities and towns in Massachusetts and in New Jersey and New York. They were sentenced to State Prison.

Following the kidnapping of a woman by an armed man, state and local police concentrated their efforts in finding the wanted criminal. A State Police officer was assigned to investigate the possibility that the man had taken refuge with his victim in an overnight cabin. The defendant was apprehended in one of the cabins. He was disarmed and taken into custody. The man was later sentenced to nine to ten years in State Prison.

In addition to investigating criminal cases, the uniformed branch made over 62,000 more patrol visits to towns than the year previous, inspected 2600 more camps and cottages, travelled 685,000 more miles in cruising cars and 28,000 more miles on motorcycles.

Bureau of Supplies

At the beginning of the fiscal year the Bureau of Supplies was established within the Division of State Police by a general order issued by the commissioner. The functions of this bureau are described in General Order Number 10, which is as follows:—

“1. Effective as of December 1, 1938 there shall be established in the Division of State Police a Bureau of Supplies which shall perform the functions of Supply, Accounting, Transportation, Construction and Repair. The Supply Officer will be in charge of the Bureau and will be responsible through the State Police Executive Officer for the supervision of the following personnel who are hereby assigned to the said Bureau:

State Police Acting Supply Sergeants, Storekeeper, Acting Supervising Mechanic, Laborer-Armorer, Cooks, Assistant Cooks, Carpenters, Motor Equipment Repairmen, Uniform Repairmen, Laborers and Mess-boys.

“2. There will be assigned for duty at each Troop Headquarters an Acting Supply Sergeant, whose duties will be as follows:

- (a) To be responsible for the expenditure of the Troop allowance within allocated limits;
- (b) To be responsible for all Troop purchases made locally and not through the State Purchasing Bureau;
- (c) To be responsible for the preparation of requisitions covering the needs of Troop Headquarters and substations;
- (d) To be responsible for the receipt and issue of all property and equipment received from the Supply Depot on requisition;
- (e) To be responsible for the Troop inventory and the checking of the same at prescribed intervals;
- (f) To supervise the duties of motor equipment repairmen in the Troop in cooperation with the Acting Supervising Mechanic;
- (g) To supervise the general mess and the work of the cooks, assistant cooks and mess-boys, and the maintenance of the kitchen;
- (h) To supervise the work of uniform repairmen, janitors and other laborers employed in the Troop;
- (i) To be responsible for the maintenance, repair, and upkeep of Troop buildings and other property.

“3. In the performance of their respective duties, the Troop Commanders and Supply Sergeants will cooperate so that the former will be kept fully informed regarding the condition of supplies and equipment in the Troop, and respecting the conduct and efficiency of the employees who perform their duties under the supervision of the Supply Sergeants, provided however; that the Acting Supply Sergeant shall be equally responsible to the Troop Commander and the Supply Officer in all matters directly affecting the Troop Commander's responsibility for the control and management of the Troop.

All schedules of purchases within the Troop area shall be presented to the Troop Commander for his examination and approval before being forwarded by the Supply Sergeant for payment. If the Troop Commander disapproves any such schedule, or any item therein, he shall forthwith forward to the Supply Officer a statement in writing of the reasons for such disapproval. In the performance of his duties the Supply Sergeant will have access to the services of the clerical force of the Troop.

“4. The Supply Officer will be in charge of and responsible for the purchase, allocation and distribution of all State Police supplies and equipment, including radio supplies and equipment, and automotive equipment for transportation.

"5. The Supply Officer will establish and maintain at Department Headquarters, an automobile station, from which transportation will be assigned to State Police and department personnel when required in the performance of their duties.

"6. The Supply Officer will establish a central repair shop and maintenance crew at the Supply Depot, Framingham. The maintenance crew will consist of carpenters and laborers and will be available for all construction, repair and upkeep work in the department.

"7. All motor vehicles such as automobiles, motorcycles and trucks, to be used in the various troops and at Department Headquarters, shall be assigned for such use by the Supply Officer."

Troop D Headquarters was transferred from its location at West Bridgewater to a building on the grounds of the State Farm at Bridgewater. This move eliminated a monthly rental of $110.00, for the new quarters have been provided without cost to this department by the officials of the State Farm with the approval of the commissioner of the Department of Correction and the governor and executive council.

Two new radio masts were erected at the main stations at Framingham and Bridgewater to replace those which were destroyed by the hurricane. The cost was $11,433.

Storm damage to State Police buildings caused by the September 1938 hurricane was repaired at a cost of $1690.06. These repairs and the replacement of the two radio masts were paid for from a special appropriation of $15,900, leaving a balance of $2770.

A change in the color design of the State Police cruisers was made this year on cars used as ambulance cruisers. These vehicles were painted light blue with dark blue fenders and the seal of the commonwealth was placed on both sides and the rear of the cruisers. These distinctively painted cars conform with the highway safety policy of the division, which is: "Prevention and not punishment is the aim of the State Police."

Budgetary curtailments were required to comply with an order to reduce the cost of maintenance of not only this division, but the entire department.

Bureau of Communications

During the past year this bureau assisted in locating 69 persons who were reported missing, the arrest of 212 persons accused of crime and the recovery of property valued at $126,219. Reports of 6570 crimes were indexed and filed in the crime and property files and, of these, 1177 were cancelled because of prosecution or recovery. The Bureau of Communications rendered direct aid in 96 of the latter cases.

The above crimes do not include the theft of 10,003 motor vehicles which were reported stolen during 1939. The ownership of 217 of the total 9295 stolen cars which were recovered was established by use of the files of this bureau. There was a total of 3022 automobile registration plates lost or stolen and 1414 recovered.

There were 5602 persons reported missing during the past year. A statewide broadcast describing these missing persons was transmitted through the radio and telegraph system of the State Police and, of these, 4225 persons were located. The number of persons reported as wanted for committing crimes totaled 2383, of which 1429 were apprehended by the police. Direct assistance was given by this bureau in 212 cases.

The files of the Bureau of Communications have proven to be of great assistance, not only in the apprehension of wanted persons, but also in locating missing persons, the identification of the dead and in locating persons wanted for emergencies.

In many instances, police departments have apprehended criminals in whose possession they have found stolen property and, frequently, lost property is found by the police and the rightful owner is not known. The records of the bureau are consulted in such cases and the property returned to its proper owner. To facilitate the identity of lost and stolen property a special file was devised in which the names, initials, trademarks and other identifying symbols were carefully catalogued so that descriptive marks or designs on the lost or stolen property can be used as a means of determining ownership.

As part of a concerted campaign against hit-and-run drivers, a separate file was established wherein all cars wanted in connection with hit-and -run accidents were coded according to their make, type, color and missing or damaged parts together with a description of the operator, if available. This system was devised to provide a ready reference so that the officers in the Bureau of Communications may make a swift checkup of all suspicious or damaged cars. This prevents unnecessary delay of the motorist, if he is not involved in the hit-and-run accident, and it also aids the police in the investigation of these cases.

A summary of the activities of the Bureau of Communications during the past three years reveals that this bureau rendered assistance in the establishment of the identity of 403 persons arrested for committing crimes, many of which were of a serious nature; the location of 160 missing persons and the recovery of property valued at $216,114.

The use of the radio as a means of communication by the police becomes more vital each year. The adaptation of motor vehicles for criminal purposes has become so common that it is unusual for one to make his getaway on foot. Police have found the use of radio an excellent means of coping with the modern criminal.

Radio is also invaluable in dispatching officers to scenes of accidents. Oftentimes a preliminary report is transmitted by radio in order that preparation can be made for the care and treatment of the injured while enroute to the hospital. When extra ambulances are needed to care for the injured, whenever an accident involves several persons, again radio is used.

State Police radio station WPEL was moved from West Bridgewater, the site of Troop D headquarters, to a new location at the State Farm at Bridgewater, close to the present headquarters building. A new antenna was erected to replace the structure which was demolished during the hurricane. This new antenna, together with a new ground system, increased the coverage of Station WPEL and the signal strength was greatly improved.

The Yarmouth station of Troop D suffered interruptions in both teletype and radio service due to loss of electric power, necessitating the installation of a 1500 watt gas generator to supplement the electric power in case of failure.

At the present time a comprehensive survey is being made by the communications officer of the Division of State Police of the use of two-way radio. The results which have been attained to date, indicate that the efficiency of this department would be vastly enhanced by the adoption of this modern medium of communication.

Traffic Control

The following is a statistical tabulation of highway accidents investigated by the State Police and an analytical summary of enforcement activities. The figures show that 202,256 violations were reported in 1939, the largest number ever recorded in the history of the department and a 48 per cent increase over the previous year. Accident record figures show that there were 100 pedestrian accidents investigated. The majority of this type of accident occurred while the person was in the act of crossing the highway or walking along the right side of the road with traffic.

Members of the Division of State Police have been very successful in the investigation of hit-and-run accidents. A total of 82.2 per cent of the hit-and-run accidents investigated were prosecuted and convictions obtained in 81.6 per cent of the total.

Revolver competition is not restricted entirely to the members of the team or individual contestants. Every member of the uniformed force must qualify with a score of 180 points out of a possible 300. These yearly qualifications in marksmanship are carefully recorded and the men strive to acquire proficiency that will permit them to make high scores.

The victories of Lieutenant James E. Hughes and Patrolman Hollis C. Beattie at the national matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, mark the first time that Massachusetts State Police officers have won first honors in this tournament, where the outstanding marksmen of the world gather to compete.

During the year 87 experts, 72 sharpshooters, four honor experts and 80 marksmen qualified over the regulation course of the New England Police Revolver League.

State Police Academy

The Massachusetts State Police Academy has been continued and, to date, 270 members of the uniformed force have graduated from this school. The sessions of the academy were also attended by members of the state police departments of Maine, New Hampshire and New York and municipal officers from Lowell, Braintree, Saugus, Revere, Fitchburg and Winchendon. Incidentally, these officers who are not members of the Massachusetts State Police attend the academy without cost to themselves or their department.

The availability of the academy to members of municipal departments tends toward creating better understanding and improving the cooperation which exists between the departments.

It again seems fitting to pay respect and offer the sincere appreciation of this department to the members of the faculty who have given their time and the wisdom of their learning as a gratuitous service in contribution to the improvement of the police agencies of our government.

The work of the State Police Academy is best indicated by the improvement in the technic employed by the Division of State Police in the investigation of criminal cases. Results are also revealed by the better presentation of cases to the courts.

The school has created new interest in police science and literature relating to police matters, tending to increase the officers' knowledge of their profession.

Detective Bureau

As indicated in the Statistical Summary annexed hereto, the work of the State Police Detective Bureau during the course of the fiscal year ending November 30, 1939, was, for the most part, routine police work.

On January 21, 1939, however, the murder of Florient J. Lefebvre in Ashburnham by poisoning at the hand of his wife, Victoria, brought into action and once again clearly indicated the value of close cooperation of the medical examiner, the laboratory technician, and the police officer.

Dr. Cornelius E. Geary, Medical Examiner for the Third Worcester District, performed an autopsy on the body of the deceased Lefebvre, was unable to satisfy himself that a theory of death from heart disease advanced by Mrs. Lefebvre was correct, and forwarded the organs to the State Police Chemical Laboratory for examination for poisons. The chemist found 1.53 grains of strychnine in the stomach contents and so notified District Attorney Owen A. Hoban and Medical Examiner Geary.

Detective Inspector Edward J. McCarthy and Corporal George S. Pollard of our Worcester office, in the course of an intensive inquiry into the circumstances of Lefebvre's death, established that the wife of the deceased purchased a 1/8-ounce bottle of strychnine sulphate from a Fitchburg pharmacist, and returned it, presumably unopened, a day or two later. The officers purchased the druggist's entire stock of strychnine sulphate (consisting of the 1/8-ounce bottle returned by Mrs. Lefebvre and one other) and brought them to the Chemical Laboratory, where it was found that the translucent wrapper of the bottle in question had been tampered with. The bottle was turned over to the Bureau of Photography. A fingerprint found on the bakelite cap of this bottle was photographed and later identified as that of Mrs. Lefebvre. The chemists then examined the contents of the bottle and found that sodium bicarbonate had been substituted for about 1 1/2 grains of the strychnine sulphate originally contained therein, and that LePage's glue, a substance not found to be present in the wrapping on the second bottle available for examination, had been used to reveal the parchment wrapping on the bottle in question.

Thoroughness on the part of the medical examiner in availing himself of the laboratory facilities of the Department, the good judgment of the officers in purchasing the entire stock of poison to which the suspect had access, and the careful handling and disposition of the exhibits in the laboratories involved, led to the conviction of Mrs. Victoria Lefebvre, who pleaded guilty to murder (second degree) and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Women's Reformatory at Framingham.

In compliance with the provisions of Chapter 116 of the Acts of 1939, the sex-crime release file was established as of July 5, 1939, with descriptive data and photographs set up by counties. The object of this file is to keep a record of the sex offenders released who would come under the provisions of this Act. A photograph file of Out-of-State Parolees was established during this year. The object of this file is to have a record (by States) of men paroled under the supervision of this Commonwealth.

COMPARATIVE REPORT

	Fiscal Year 1938	Fiscal Year 1939
Fingerprint records received during year	22,519	21,856
Rogues' Gallery photographs received	10,586	10,764
Personal Identification records received	5,099	282
Duplicate photographs placed in files	9,192	9,298
Identifications	12,038	12,104
Criminal records sent to police and other officials	29,083	29,105
Number of Institutions and Departments from which fingerprint records were received	604	549

Special mention is made at this time, to the importance of fingerprints in the identification of unknown dead. Many of the unknown dead persons found throughout the State have been promptly identified upon searching the criminal finger print files, a former, long-forgotten arrest, at which time finger prints were taken, establishing the identity. On another occasion, finger prints obtained from a C. C. C. division, 1st Corps Area, U. S. Army, established the identity of a hit-and-run victim.

There has been a 45% increase in the volume of teletype correspondence over the preceding fiscal year. Many important identifications have been effected, not only by the name submitted, but also by fingerprint descriptions of persons under assumed names. In one case, a man arrested in Hartford, Connecticut, was identified as being wanted by the U. S. Department of Justice. Another man, under arrest in Westbrook, Connecticut, was identified as being wanted by the Bureau of Narcotics, U. S. Treasury Department. In another case, a gang of five men arrested in Springfield, Massachusetts, were all identified as having long criminal records under different names. These are just a few cases. There have been many, and with the spread of fingerprint knowledge, this phase of identification work has become increasingly valuable, for it is possible for two experts, hundreds of miles apart, to identify an individual within a few minutes.

Expert Assistant (Medico-Legal Consultant)

The steady increase in the use of the laboratory facilities of the Department would seem to indicate growing recognition by law enforcement authorities in this State of the value of trained technicians in police work, and the qualifications of our experts in problems involving fingerprints, photography, chemistry, ballistics, and handwriting have been well established.

Enforcement authorities have for some years considered ways and means of providing the various medical examiners with the services of a pathological consultant. An offer has been made through C. Sydney Burwell, M.D., Dean of Harvard Medical School, of the services of the Department of Legal Medicine of Harvard University. The recent establishment of the Department of Legal Medicine with Dr. Alan R. Moritz as Professor of Legal Medicine has made the offer of this service possible, and it is hoped that its acceptance will be consummated during 1940.

DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION

The Division of Fire Prevention is under the charge of a Director who is known as the State Fire Marshal. Under the supervision of the Commissioner the Fire Marshal administers and enforces the provisions of Chapter 148 of the General Laws. In this duty he is assisted by a Fire Prevention Engineer, Inflammable Fluid Transport Inspectors, Petroleum Inspectors, and a number of State Police Detectives who are assigned to the investigation of incendiarism and fraudulent burnings. In addition to the administrative work incidental to his office the Fire Marshal confers with officers of cities and towns with regard to fire prevention and fire hazards and makes recommendations for the improvement of laws and ordinances relating to the same.

During the year just passed the Division met with continued success in the suppression of the crimes of arson and fraudulent burnings. Convictions were secured in 93.7% of the cases resulting from incendiarism which were brought to trial. There were 72 fires for which arrests were made. Of this number there were 56 found guilty, and 5 not guilty, with 11 cases pending. There were also 19 found guilty in cases which were pending from previous years, so that the total convictions secured during the past twelve months amounted to 75. These various cases were disposed of as follows: sentenced to State Prison—13; House of Correction—5; Reformatories—8; insane—1; probation—22; probation with suspended sentences—5; filed—3. The sentences to State Prison were for a total of 61 years; to the House of Correction, 156 months; and the suspended sentences totalled 72 months. Restitution was also ordered in a total amount of $4,100. Sentences to Reformatories were for an indefinite term. There were 4 prosecutions and convictions for violation of the statute as to fire hazards, and fines totalling $200 were imposed. There was a noticeable decrease in the number of fires set to collect insurance.

Starting October 15, 1939, the Division instituted a system of conducting a close check-up on the granting of permits by local authorities and the storage and handling of explosives. Inasmuch as this power to grant such permits is delegated to the local authorities by the Fire Marshal, the new system has been designed to make available at this office an accurate record of all such permits and storage and to collaborate with the local authorities in the enforcement of the laws and regulations concerning explosives. For the period from October 15 to November 30, 1939, 20 cities and towns were visited and 39 magazines used for storage of dynamite, exploders and blasting powder inspected. In such magazines were found 285 pounds of blasting powder, 31,443 pounds of dynamite and 14,445 blasting caps and exploders. A check was made on 28 permits to blast and 22 blasting bonds filed in cities and towns were examined so as to assure their validity.

During the past year, Fire Prevention lectures were given by an officer of the Division of Fire Prevention in 29 cities and towns. These lectures were given in the following places: Lowell (3), Boston (2), Wilmington (2), Leominster, Dalton, Marblehead, Lawrence, Worcester, New Bedford, Northampton, Taunton, Wellesley, Hudson, Needham (2), Quincy, Bedford, Malden (2), Danvers, Westfield, Medford, Gardner, Mattapoisett, Yarmouth, Greenfield, Wakefield, Belmont, Winchendon, Brookline and Arlington. The Division of Fire Prevention actively cooperated in the work of providing greater training for members of fire departments. In cooperation with the State Department of Education, lectures were given at various Regional Firemen's Training Schools at Springfield, Attleboro, Groton, New Bedford, Essex, Gardner, Brockton, Brookline, Arlington and Pittsfield.

The Fire Marshal held conference with city and town officials with a view towards advancing fire prevention activities along progressive lines, meetings being held with the Fire Chiefs' Club of Massachusetts, the Forest Wardens Association, the Massachusetts Fire Prevention Association, the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the National Fire Protection Association, the Massachusetts Farm Bureau, and other agencies interested in fire prevention.

The inventory of the complete equipment available in the fire departments of the 351 cities and towns in the commonwealth is on file in this department for the purpose of making adequate preparation for extraordinary fire hazards arising from any disaster, and has been kept up-to-date by frequent check with the various departments. This information concerning equipment has been arranged so as to be quickly available in any emergency.

During the past year 1646 samples of petroleum were taken throughout the commonwealth as required by Chapter 148, Section 49A, for the purpose of determining whether or not there was a violation of Section 48 of the same chapter. It was not necessary to make any prosecutions under this law which indicates that the provisions of same are being strictly complied with. A fee of $1.00 has been taken by the department as provided by law.

Trucks used for the transportation of inflammable fluids must receive a certificate of approval from this department. During the past year there were 358 trucks approved and certificates issued. There was a total of 4,691 tank trucks inspected for the purpose of issuing certificates and to assure compliance with the laws and regulations concerning such trucks.

Oil Pollution of Waters

The presence of oil on the waters of the Commonwealth frequently presents a fire hazard to vessels and waterfront property. The discharge or spilling of oil is prohibited both by federal and state law and by the regulations of this department. Chapter 381 of the Acts of 1935 provides for the enforcement of the state law by this department or by any officer authorized to make arrests.

Division of Inspection

The Division of Inspection is in charge of a director designated as the Chief of Inspections. Under the supervision of the Commissioner, the Chief of Inspections administers the provisions of Chapter 143 and 146 of the General Laws.

The personnel of the Division of Inspection consists of twenty-one building inspectors, one of whom is assigned as Supervisor of Plans and another detailed as Supervisor of the Bureau of Sunday Censorship. There are twenty-six boiler inspectors, one of whom is assigned to special duty as Chairman of the Board of Boiler Rules, and another is assigned for duty in connection with the approval of plans for the construction and maintenance of tanks under the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 148, Sections 37 and 38.

The provisions of Chapter 143 of the General Laws, which are enforced by the building inspectors, apply to the examination and approval of plans for the construction of public buildings; the erection, alteration, inspection and use of certain buildings; the inspection and approval of elevators in cities and towns having no building inspection department; and the enforcement of the laws, rules and regulations governing the use of the cinematograph and similar apparatus for the exhibition of motion pictures. Building inspectors also conduct examinations of applicants for licenses as motion picture operators, and have supervision of all motion picture projection booths throughout the Commonwealth, and the inspection of safety film for use in special exhibitions.

Many conferences are held during the course of the year with local officials, construction engineers and architects regarding the erection, use and alteration of public buildings, theatres, school houses and places of public assemblage, from all of whom splendid cooperation is received. The heating, ventilation, egress and sanitation of such buildings is under constant supervision.

The work of the Supervisor of Plans includes the approval of all plans for the erection or alteration of public buildings, industrial plants, hotels, lodging houses, apartment houses, etc., for the purpose of securing uniformity in construction work throughout the Commonwealth, which is a great factor in promoting public safety.

The provisions of Chapter 146 of the General Laws, which are enforced by the boiler inspectors, apply to the inspection of certain steam boilers and their appurtenances, both internally and externally, and to ascertain the general condition of the boiler and its appliances while the boiler is under steam; also to see if they have the proper appendages for safety as prescribed by the Board of Boiler rules. Air tanks carrying a pressure exceeding fifty pounds per square inch and their appurtenances are also inspected to see that they conform to the rules formulated by the Board of Boiler rules. The engineers' and firemen's license law is also enforced by the boiler inspectors and is a valuable contribution to public safety. Much of the time of the inspectors is given to the examination of applicants for certificates of competency as inspectors of steam boilers in the employ of authorized boiler insurance companies.

During the past year the work of the boiler inspectors has been increased as the result of the enactment of the new air tank law—Chapter 319, Acts of 1938. Prior to the passage of this act, only those air tanks used in connection with the operation of pneumatic machinery were required to conform to certain Massachusetts standards and subject to inspection. With certain exceptions, all air tanks carrying a pressure exceeding fifty pounds per square inch now come under the supervision and inspection of the state or authorized insurance company inspectors. The fact that there have been no explosions of high pressure steam boilers in this state since 1920 attests to the careful and conscientious attention to duty of the state boiler inspectors as well as to the rigid requirements of the rules under which these boilers are constructed, the careful inspection for defects, and the operation of such boilers by men licensed by this department after a practical examination as to their competency.

If it were possible to obtain additional funds in order to add at least two more building inspectors and two more boiler inspectors, the efficiency of the work performed by the Division of Inspection would be greatly increased. At the present time there is no provision in the engineers' and firemen's license law for the periodical renewal of the many licenses issued by the state boiler inspectors. Once issued, these licenses are good for life, without renewal, unless suspended or revoked for just cause. Consideration should be given to an amendment to the present engineers' and firemen's license law which would provide for an annual renewal of these licenses with a minimum fee. This would not only add revenue to the department, but it would also enable the inspectors to keep a close check on the individuals holding these licenses.

Among other pamphlets distributed free by this department, as provided by law, is our Form U which contains the steam boiler rules formulated by the Board of Boiler Rules for the construction of high pressure boilers. This is a highly technical pamphlet of 220 pages of which over ten thousand copies have been distributed in the past three years at no charge. If it were possible to charge a fee for this particular document, with the possible exception of those distributed to citizens and manufacturers residing in Massachusetts, additional revenue would be obtained which might at least cover the cost of printing.

Board of Boiler Rules

The Board of Boiler Rules is appointed by the Commissioner of Public Safety under the authority of General Laws, Chapter 22, Section 10. The board consists of a boiler inspector of the department who acts as chairman, and four associate members representing the operating engineers, boiler using, boiler manufacturing, and boiler insurance interests.

The board is required by law to formulate rules for the construction, installation and inspection of steam boilers and air tanks carrying a pressure in excess of fifty pounds per square inch, and for ascertaining the safe working pressure to be carried therein; to prescribe tests to ascertain the qualities of materials used in the construction of boilers and air tanks, and to formulate rules regarding the construction of safety valves, the use of fusible safety plugs, pressure indicators, and other safety appliances.

The law provides for public hearings in May and November, and at such other times as may be deemed necessary by the board, on petitions for changes in the rules formulated by it. The board also receives and examines for approval specifications for boilers of special design not covered by the rules.

The new edition of the Massachusetts air tank regulations was completed and sent to all parties interested in the construction and inspection of air tanks on February 15, 1939, since which time the construction of air tanks has increased from 616 in 1938 to 3100 in 1939.

The Board of Boiler Rules is now working on a revision of both the low pressure and high pressure steam boiler rules, which is expected to be completed in the near future.

During the fiscal year, the chairman of the board held 1,741 consultations with persons interested in matters relating to the Board of Boiler Rules.

STATE BOXING COMMISSION

The State Boxing Commission serves in the Department of Public Safety in accordance with the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 22, Section 12. The Commission consists of the Commissioner of Public Safety, ex-officio, and two Commissioners appointed by His Excellency the Governor for terms of three years.

The Boxing Commission supervises all boxing exhibitions held in the Commonwealth and regulates boxing generally. All clubs conducting boxing exhibitions in the state are licensed by the Boxing Commission, as are all referees, judges, physicians, managers, boxers and seconds.

There was an increase of four in the number of clubs conducting professional exhibitions during the year, and an increase of fifty-three in the number of such shows held. There were nine less amateur exhibitions held during 1939 than in 1938.

The amount of boxers' purses forfeited to the Commonwealth during the year was $335.00. These purses are forfeited for violation of the boxing law or regulations.

The following is a statistical report for the period ending November 30, 1939:

The number of professional clubs conducting boxing matches and exhibitions was 10, and the number of exhibitions held was 162.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS

The supervision of Lord's Day entertainments is authorized under the provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws, and during the year ending November 30, 1939, there was submitted to this bureau for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety a total of 31,074 licenses and programs of entertainments to be held on the Lord's Day. Of this number 31,070 were approved and 4 disapproved, shown as follows:—

Boston	1
Franklin	3

Each of these license and programs was accompanied by a fee of $2.00, the amount totalling $62,148, which was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. This amount was $4,360 in excess of the year 1938.

In addition to the above number of licenses, there were 7,091 reels of motion picture film censored for showing on the Lord's Day, which were disposed of as follows:—

Number of reels approved	6,902	Number of reels disapproved	62
Number of reels approved with deletions	127	Footage of film censored	6,381,900

There were also submitted for censorship 222 mutoscope reels and 27 sets of drop cards which were disposed of as follows:—

Mutoscope reels approved	193	Drop cards approved	17
Mutoscope reels disapproved	29	Drop cards disapproved	10

Vaudeville acts and stage presentations are pre-viewed at the various theatres prior to their showing on the Lord's Day, at which time a complete record, containing the name of act, number of persons in said act and a description of the act and the clothing worn, is made for the files in this bureau. When deletions are ordered to be made in acts for Sunday presentations, all parties concerned are notified, and a letter is required by this department advising that the acts will conform to the instructions forwarded before performance on the Lord's Day. There were 2,400 vaudeville acts reviewed for showing on the Lord's Day. Of this number 1,073 vaudeville acts were re-reviewed. The remaining 1,327 were acted upon as follows:—

Acts approved	803
Acts approved with deletions	334
Acts disapproved	190

Operators of ten theatres, two miniature golf courses, eight golf driving ranges, and eleven other amusements were granted hearings for violations of regulations, and after due deliberation the cases of these operators were placed on file with warnings that their licenses would be either revoked or disapproved if there was a recurrence.

The personnel assigned to this bureau perform various duties in connection with the enforcement of the law governing entertainments held on the Lord's Day in this Commonwealth. In addition to their functions as censors, they are required to perform such other duties as may be assigned them from time to time, such as the checking of licenses as approved by the Commissioner of Public Safety to ascertain whether or not they are exercised as originally approved. It is also necessary to check all entertainments at the many different theatres, halls, amusement parks and beaches.

The entertainments are varied in character. The theatres and larger halls offer stage presentations, vaudeville and motion pictures; while in the different community theatres and halls, plays conducted by both professional and amateur performers. In this respect there were approximately 1,763 performances in theatres inspected. Some of these performances are given in a foreign tongue and require the service of interpreters in censoring. The interpreters are assigned from the personnel of this department. There were five Jewish and one Italian performances inspected during the past year.

The City of Boston submitted for approval 2,444 licenses and programs for entertainments provided in hotels, restaurants, cafes, etc., on the Lord's Day in conjunction with their regular business. This number of licenses is 928 in excess of the year 1938.

At the amusement parks and beaches are conducted the many different rides, games, sideshows, etc., which require rigid supervision. As in the past, this bureau has received the cooperation of the majority of operators, licensing authorities and police officials in the different cities and towns in which amusement parks and beaches are located. Every amusement device or game, exhibit or show operated at the different amusement parks and beaches is inspected at least once during each season. Each summer season brings new devices, games and shows which are inspected before Lord's Day operation is permitted.

As in previous years, there were received numerous requests for the approval of licenses for carnivals to be conducted on the Lord's Day under the auspices of various church, veteran and agricultural organizations. After the approval of licenses had been given, a most careful supervision of the carnivals was required in order to eliminate undesirable operators so that the organizations under whose auspices these carnivals were conducted might be protected from fraud.

Due to the fact that bowling has become very popular during the past year, this bureau has received numerous requests from the operators of bowling alleys for permission to operate on the Lord's Day. While Section 4A of Chapter 136 of the General Law permits bowling on the Lord's Day, it also limits the operation of these alleys to certain locations. Many operators of bowling alleys submitted to this bureau, for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety, licenses duly granted to them by their local licensing authorities for Sunday bowling, but due to the limitations of said Section 4A, it was necessary for an officer assigned to this bureau to investigate the locations to determine whether or not approval could be given. In many instances, after investigation, it was decided that the locations could not be approved and the applicant was so informed, and in instances where fees had been submitted with the licenses, the fees were refunded.

	Number of Licenses	Amount
Motion picture exhibitions, vaudeville and theatricals	19,302	$38,604
Amusements at beach resorts and at summer parks	8,373	16,746
Entertainments in hotels, restaurants, cafes, etc. (Boston)	2,444	4,888
Golf Driving Ranges	885	1,770
Outdoor Miniature Golf Courses	70	140
Total number of licenses	31,074
Total amount received		$62,148

PRIVATE DETECTIVE AGENCIES

General Laws, Chapter 147, section 22, provides that no person shall engage in the business of or solicit business as a private detective, or the business commonly transacted by a private detective unless licensed so to do.

Such licenses are issued by the Commissioner of Public Safety after a thorough investigation of each applicant is made.

There are at present 36 such licensed persons or agencies in Massachusetts. Thirty-one of these licensees renewed their licenses during the year and five new licenses were granted. The total revenue to the state from this source in 1939 was $4,800.00.

BUREAU OF STORAGE OF LIQUIDS

The storage of petroleum products, and all other liquids other than water in above ground tanks or containers, is carried out under specifications for construction and maintenance prescribed by statute law and regulations. The greater part of this storage is maintained at the large bulk stations of the major oil companies, particularly at railheads and waterfront plants. The following is a comparative statement of the number of such tanks or containers in use in the years 1938 and 1939:

	1938	1939
Number of tanks in use	3,082	3,138
Number of cities and towns where tanks are located	204	207
Number of corporations maintaining tanks	366	370
Permits for new construction	35	54
Permits for relocations	2	2

Approval was given during the year for the construction of a waterless gas-holder in the city of Everett by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. This holder is 310 feet in height and 218 feet in diameter and is designed to contain 10,000,000 cubic of illuminating gas.

FORFEITED LIQUORS

The provisions of Chapter 138 of the General Laws which relate to the disposition of liquors ordered forfeited by the courts of the commonwealth, stipulate that such liquors shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Public Safety to be disposed of according to law. Similar provisions of law are applicable to implements of gaming seized in raiding operations under the authority of search warrants.

The following statistical data indicates the disposition of liquors and gaming implements forfeited during the fiscal year by the courts:

SALE AND CARRYING OF FIREARMS

The records of the department indicate an increase in the number of sales of pistols and revolvers made by licensed dealers during the year, a substantial increase in the number of rifles and shotguns reported sold, and a slight increase in the number of licenses to carry pistols or revolvers which were issued. The figures are as follows:

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

FOR THE

YEAR ENDING NOVEMBER 30,

1940

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

TWENTIETH ANNUAL REPORT

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY COMMONWEALTH PIER, BOSTON

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

I have the honor of submitting the twentieth annual report of the Department of Public Safety for the fiscal year from December 1, 1939 to November 30, 1940, made in compliance with the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 147, section 1.

The department functioned most efficiently during the year, the various divisions and bureaus, in addition to the work expressly provided for by statute and regulation, rendering extensive assistance to the departments of the state government and to law enforcement agencies generally.

Demands on the Division of State Police were enlarged by the expansion program of the federal government for national defense, which resulted in increased volume of traffic on the highways and the creation of special problems concerning the large military camps located within the commonwealth. In meeting these problems the department had the full cooperation of the federal authorities and valuable assistance from the state Department of Public Works in traffic control and highway safety.

Investigation of complaints concerning espionage and sabotage and reports of subversive activities, in cooperation with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, caused an increased amount of work in the Detective Bureau of the department. The numerous cases referred to the department by the federal authorities and those arising from information received from other sources were thoroughly investigated.

The following comment and statistics regarding the activities of the Divisions of State Police, Inspection, Fire Prevention, Boxing Commission, and various boards and bureaus summarizes the work of the department for the fiscal year.

DIVISION OF STATE POLICE

Traffic Control

During the past year there was an increase of 24 in the number of accidents investigated over the previous year. There was, however, a reduction of 7 in the number of persons killed, and 42 less injured. Prior to 1940, bicyclists were classified as pedestrians, but due to the increase in the use of bicycles, and the number of bicycle accidents, an analysis of these was kept separate from the pedestrian analysis, which is shown in the accident record for the fiscal year. In comparing the pedestrian record with the previous year, bicycle accidents were included to give a true comparison, the results of which show a decrease of 3 during the past year; also 4 less killed, and an increase of 9 in the number injured.

Consistent with the experience of past years, the majority of the pedestrians were struck while crossing between intersections, and walking on the right side of the road. Seventy-three percent of all these accidents occurred on straightaways; 80% during clear weather; 50% during daylight.

Enforcement activities for the year 1940 show a 12.4% decrease in the number of violations, as compared with the figures for the year 1939. This decrease is due to the lesser number of operators to receive warnings, as the record of arrests shows an increase of 18.4% over the previous year.

Traffic records maintained at the traffic bureau show that many operators are repeat offenders. When a check shows that an operator has committed the same offense twice within a six-month period, or three various offenses within a six-month period, the complete record is forwarded to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles for any action he deems advisable. During 1940, 2779 operators were found to come within this classification and their records were forwarded to the Registry of Motor Vehicles for action.

Highway Safety

During the latter part of the fiscal year of 1940, several new factors influenced the accident experience on our state highways.

The National Rearmament Program materially stepped up employment, and the widespread use of automobiles and the development of modern roads no longer restricted industrial plants to drawing their workers from local areas. The building of military cantonments at Camp Edwards and Fort Devens has fully emphasized the fact that workers commute daily from places as distant as fifty miles. Due to the curtailed schedules of railroad and street car companies in recent years, practically all of the travel of workers to these cantonments was made by automobile. This increased traffic on the highways naturally increased accident exposure. Traffic conditions were similar in the vicinity of both cantonments. Construction was started in September, and the employment of thousands of civilians began. The peak number employed was approximately 18,000 at each camp, and this peak was reached in November.

To cope with this situation, additional officers were stationed at the State Police barracks in the affected areas and special patrols were assigned to the highways at the peak traffic hours—in the morning and in the evening. Despite the heavy volume of traffic on the highways leading to the cantonments, there were relatively few accidents.

Following the state elections in November, it became necessary to assign officers for the purpose of guarding ballots in sixteen cities and towns in the Commonwealth. This required four men at each city or town, or a total of 64 per day. The detail lasted for a period of 39 days, thereby causing a loss from active patrol or police duty equivalent to 2,496 man days. Naturally, this necessitated a curtailment of patrol activity on some of the highways in the state and undoubtedly accounts, in part at least, for the decrease in the enforcement record of the Division for the year.

The program on accident prevention and law enforcement, based on "Selective Enforcement", was carried on through the year, and the progress of the work is reflected in the record of the enforcement activities. Despite a 12.4% decrease in the total number of violations reported, as compared to the total violations reported in 1939, there was an increase of 18.4% in the effective enforcement (this enforcement being the arrests, summonses, and violations reported to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.)

Close cooperation between this department and other departments and agencies interested in accident prevention and traffic law enforcement, has again made Massachusetts one of the safest states in the country, insofar as traffic accident deaths are concerned. National estimated figures for 1940 show that the country as a whole had a 6% increase in traffic deaths over 1939, whereas Massachusetts had 19 more deaths than the previous year, or an increase of only 3%. Massachusetts rated second in the National figures, Rhode Island being the only state with a lower death rate. The figures are based on 1940 population and mileage rate for each state.

Pedestrian accidents in our rural areas remained a perplexing problem and accounted for 24.5% of the fatal accidents investigated by our officers. The total of 21 fatal pedestrian accidents was an improvement over the previous year, when there were 25 killed, a reduction of 16%. Adult pedestrians were involved in 62% of the pedestrian accidents, indicating that the need persists for some means to teach the adult pedestrian to use greater caution while walking or crossing the state highways.

Bureau of Communications

During the fiscal year 1940-41 additions have been made to the facilities of the bureau for the purpose of increasing its operating efficiency.

Through the cooperation of the Department of Conservation a pick-up station was installed at Mt. Holyoke which has increased the two-way coverage in the Troop D area by more than fifty percent. This is accomplished by having a receiver at the Mt. Holyoke look-out house on our ultra-high frequency from which messages are retransmitted to the radio station at Troop D Headquarters by land line.

Additional two-way radio communication has been provided by equipping more cruisers with portable transmitters. At this time thirty automobiles are so equipped, providing two-way contact with officers on patrol. Eleven additional sets are available for installation whenever needed in emergencies.

A new 400 watt transmitter has been installed at Troop C Headquarters, Holden, so that all Troop Headquarters now have main transmitters and either one or two-way contact with all officers on patrol or in the field on investigations.

Summary of Work Performed

10,284 cars were reported as stolen during the fiscal year and of these 9,959 have been recovered. The information contained in the Stolen Car Files aided in the identification of 214 of the stolen cars. 2,804 registration plates were stolen during 1940 and 1,232 have been recovered. Resort to the files was had in the identification of 68 of these plates.

There were 5,491 persons reported as missing during the past year. Of this number, 4,746 have been located, the Missing Persons File being of material assistance in identifying 60 persons.

2,565 persons were reported as wanted for various crimes. 1,807 of these persons have been apprehended and the Wanted Persons File was utilized in connecting 153 of these persons with previous "Wanted" broadcasts.

This Bureau, through its file system, has rendered valuable assistance in the identification of wanted persons, missing persons and in the identification of deceased persons. The information in the files has been utilized in locating persons wanted in emergencies and the recovery of lost and stolen property.

Following are summarized statistics pertaining to the types of cases in which assistance was rendered during the fiscal year:

Bureau of Supplies

In order to insure economical and efficient administration in the purchase, handling and distribution of State Police supplies, this Bureau was created by General Order on December 1, 1938. The Bureau officer personnel and civilian employees perform the functions of Supply, Accounting, Transportation, Construction and Repair. The officer in charge of the Bureau supervises the ordering and purchase of supplies and equipment, including automobiles, motor-cycles, etc.; attends to maintenance of State Police Stations, motor vehicles and other property; prepares the expense budget for State Police and is accountable for all expenditures under it.

At the beginning of the fiscal year a new accrual accounting system was instituted in the state service which necessitated material changes in the method of recording and reporting expenditures for supplies. By close cooperation with the State Comptroller the changes have been accomplished with a minimum of inconvenience in routine procedure and a maximum of beneficial results.

Following is the Statistical report of the activities of the Division of State Police for the year 1940:

Detective Bureau

The proposed step forward in providing the services of a Pathological Consultant, referred to in the Annual report for 1939, was consummated early in 1940. The first annual report of the Expert Assistant (Medico-Legal Consultant), Dr. Alan R. Moritz, Professor of Legal Medicine, Harvard University, indicates to some extent the scope of the work undertaken during the course of the fiscal year.

Submitted herewith are the statistical summaries for the Detective Bureau, the Bureaus of Photography, Ballistics and Identification, and the Handwriting and Questioned Document Consultant and the Medico-Legal Consultant.

The statistical tables give us more complete ideas concerning our general identification work which cannot be put into writing since there are so many interesting identifications made that it would entail the composition of a voluminous report. However, a great many applicants for enlistment in the United States Army as well as persons on parole and probation violators have been identified in our files. In addition to the foregoing, numerous identifications have been made of men who were arrested locally but who have been wanted in various states throughout the country.

Since it is the policy of the Federal Government not to allow young men who have criminal records to enlist in the army, this office has cooperated in every manner possible with all the military authorities by checking fingerprints submitted to this Bureau. The compiling of these records is given precedence in order that the fullest cooperation may be extended to the National Defense Program.

There was a considerable increase in the number of teletype messages checked in the Bureau during the past year, which resulted in the identification of many wanted, dead, and unknown persons.

During the fiscal year, greater use has been made of the Parole and Release file which was established in 1937 for the purpose of keeping in a separate file, segregated according to crime, the photographs of men released from the Massachusetts State Prison, Massachusetts Reformatory, and the State Prison Colony at Norfolk. The various police departments have made numerous requests for copies of pictures in this file because of the satisfactory results obtained by using them on previous occasions.

Bureau of Ballistics

The Bureau of Ballistics was very active throughout the year. The sum total of various happenings in some instances exceed those of 1939. There seems to be a reasonable expectancy in connection with the illegal use of fire-arms. It will be observed that the total number of fatal shootings was the same (22) as in the previous year. On the other hand, the number of firing experiments greatly exceeded those of the previous year. This, in some measure, reflects the natural experimental work undertaken. Many experiments were carried out involving small linear and angular measurements for the establishing of important data in gun barrel studies, including rifling dimensions, and rifling pitch determinations. Some work was performed in the development of an original method for establishing the exact angle of entrances of bullets into common materials.

On January 4, 1940, Dr. Alan R. Moritz, Professor of Legal Medicine at Harvard University, was appointed Expert Assistant (Medico-Legal Consultant) to the Department of Public Safety. Through this appointment, the consultation services of Dr. Moritz and the facilities of the Department of Legal Medicine of the Harvard Medical School became available to the Medical Examiners of the Commonwealth. The Medical Examiners and District Attorneys were notified that Dr. Moritz would come to any part of the state to consult or assist in the performance of any official medico-legal autopsy without cost to the Commonwealth or to the County.

Between January 4, 1940 and December 31, 1940 the staff of the Department of Legal Medicine of the Medical School through its association with this department participated in the investigation of seventy-two deaths as follows:

Nature of Consultation	No. of Cases
Performance of autopsies	56
Examination of autopsy material sent into Department	16

Of the fifty-six cases in which the autopsies were performed jointly by the Medico-Legal Consultant and the local Medical Examiners, the probable cause of death was determined in fifty three instances. In the three instances in which the cause of death was not determined, there had been extensive destruction of the body by putrefaction or fire.

Of the sixteen cases in which the autopsies were performed by local Medical Examiners and specimens sent to the Medico-Legal Consultant for diagnosis, the probable cause of death was established in eight instances.

A comparison of the relative value of the evidence derived from these two types of consultation indicates that the chances of determining the cause of death are far greater when the Medico-Legal Consultant actually participates in the performance of the autopsy than when specimens are sent to the laboratory.

The legal status of the cases investigated is shown in the following table:

Manner of Death	Number of Cases
Homicide	22
Accident	17
Natural Causes	11
Suicide	9
Manner of death not satisfactorily determined	13

A review of the cases which were investigated jointly by Medical Examiners and the Medico-Legal Consultant of the Department of Public Safety discloses two significant results of the collaboration. In a number of cases, postmortem examination led to a reversal of the original finding of cause of death. The other result was a general strengthening of the scientific evidence through increased facilities for consultation and improved co-ordination of types of scientific investigation.

In nineteen deaths, the disclosure of new evidence by postmortem examination resulted in a complete change in the nature of the case. These cases are summarized in the following table:

Original opinion as to manner of death	Final opinion based principally on postmortem findings
Suspicion of homicide (9 cases)	Probably accidental (5 cases) Natural causes (3 cases) Probably suicide (1 case)
Accidental violence (2 cases)	Natural causes (2 cases)
Cause of death entirely obscure (8 cases)	Probably homicide (4 cases) Probably accidental (3 cases) Probably suicide (1 case)

In nine cases where there was a strong suspicion that death might have been due to foul play, it was possible to prove by postmortem examination that the suspicion was without foundation. Further police investigation was made unnecessary and the possibility of innocent persons being prosecuted on criminal charges prevented.

In four instances had it not been for the postmortem examination, death from homicide would not have been established. Even though the cause of death was often apparent prior to postmortem examination, the value of the evidence was enhanced in most cases through the addition of various facts relating to the nature, time, circumstances and sequence of the fatal injuries. It seems likely that the close collaboration of medical examiner, pathologist, chemist, and fire-arms' expert, together with the increased facilities for consultation with other scientific experts has enlarged the scope and improved the quality of the scientific evidence. The kinds of consultations responsible for the final solution of the seventy-two cases are shown in the following table:

Field of Consultation	Number of cases	Character of Consultation
Chemistry	49	Identification of poisons, alcohol, carbon monoxide, determination of changes in blood chlorides, identification of hyperglycemia, identification of powder residues, etc.
Immunology	16	Identification of stains (blood and semen)
Ballistics	9	Establishment of range and direction of fire and type of firearm used
Bacteriology	6	Identification of pathogenic organisms
Anthropology	4	Identification of bones
Entomology	3	Identification of fauna of putrefaction
Botany	1	Identification and age estimation of foliage under body

The Medico Legal Consultant of the Department of Public Safety participated in postmortem examinations at the request of medical examiners in all counties of the Commonwealth except Suffolk and Nantucket. The distribution of the consultations is shown in the following table.

DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION

The Division of Fire Prevention is under the charge of a Director who is known as the State Fire Marshal. Under the supervision of the Commissioner, the Fire Marshal administers and enforces the provisions of Chapter 148 of the General Laws.

The Division was successful in the apprehension and conviction of persons involved in arson and fraudulent burnings. There were 146 fires for which arrests were made, and of this number 134 convictions were secured, while there were also 15 convictions in cases which were pending from previous years. There were 17 "Not guilty" verdicts, 12 of which were for fires which occurred during 1940 and 5 during previous years. Only 9 cases are pending for 1940.

Continuing the policy of keeping a close check on the storage and use of explosives in Massachusetts, and also in line with the program on National Defense and Security, there has been during the year a strict enforcement of the laws and regulations governing the handling and storage of explosives. Ten officers of the Division of State Police were assigned to the Division of Fire Prevention to assist in this work which was very extensive as indicated by the fact that the total number of miles covered was 49,625 on enforcement and inspection work. There were 649 magazines used for the storage of high explosives inspected. These contained 733,242 pounds of explosives and 494,667 detonators. There were 42 licenses to store explosives checked as to legality. The number of persons interviewed in this survey was 2,781. There were 56 complaints investigated and it was found necessary to prosecute only in four cases, all of which resulted in convictions. All other cases were disposed of by corrections without prosecutions. As the result of prosecutions, 150 pounds of dynamite were ordered forfeited to the Commonwealth. Twenty-three applications were received for transportation permits; 19 were granted and 4 disapproved. Permits were issued for the use of five vehicles specially built for explosives transportation.

Oil Pollution of Waters

The matter of investigating the pollution of the waters of the Commonwealth by petroleum or its products has continued under the same procedure of inspections of plants and tankers as in previous years. During the fiscal year there were 465 inspections of oil plants and 178 inspections of oil carrying vessels.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS

The supervision of Lord's Day entertainments is authorized under the provisions of Chapter 136 of the General Laws and during the year ending November 30, 1940, there was submitted to this bureau for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety a total of 33,527 licenses and programs of entertainments to be held on the Lord's Day which were classified as follows:—

Number of Licenses:	Type of Licenses:	Average No. Issued Each Sunday
19,421	entertainments in theatres	373
3,350	entertainments in cafes (Boston)	64
3,900	other amusements (roller skating, bowling)	75
<hr/> 26,671		<hr/> 512

The above tabulation shows that a total of 26,671 licenses were issued for the year for the types of entertainments specified or an average of 512 licenses issued each of the 52 Sundays.

The summer season lasts approximately fifteen weeks and during this season there was issued in addition to the above number of licenses the following:—

Licenses for rides, games, etc. at parks and beaches	5,779
Licenses for golf driving ranges	992
Licenses for miniature golf courses	85

-----------------	-------

The above tabulation shows that a total of 6,856 licenses were issued for the amusements specified during these fifteen weeks or an average of 457 licenses issued on each of these fifteen Sundays.

During this past year this Bureau issued 512 licenses each and every week with an additional 457 licenses being issued each of the fifteen weeks of the summer season making a total of 969 licenses issued each week during this period.

Of the total number of 33,527 licenses and programs of entertainments which were submitted, 33,524 were approved and 3 disapproved, shown as follows:—

Fall River	1
Shrewsbury	1

Each of these licenses and programs was accompanied by a fee of $2.00, the amount totalling $67,054, which was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. This amount was $4,906 in excess of the year 1939.

The following tabulation of figures will show the number of licenses and fees collected for same during the fiscal year of 1940 as compared with previous years:—

Year	Number of Licenses	Amounts Collected
1929	18,450	$36,900
1930	24,459	48,918
1931	27,127	54,254
1932	21,384	42,768
1933	20,963	41,926
1934	21,808	43,616
1935	23,291	46,582
1936	24,911	49,822
1937	27,085	54,170
1938	28,894	57,788
1939	31,074	62,148
1940	33,527	67,054

This represents an increase of approximately 82% in the number of licenses submitted and fees collected by this bureau from the year 1929 to the year 1940.

Motion pictures cannot be exhibited on Sundays until they have been censored by this Bureau and released on our official weekly bulletins; except, that a motion picture approved without deletions may be exhibited on the Sunday preceding publication of said bulletin by special permission of the Commissioner of Public Safety.

During the past year there were 6,733 reels of motion picture film censored for showing on the Lord's Day, which were disposed of as follows:—

Number of reels approved	6,572
Number of reels approved with deletions	135
Number of reels disapproved	26
Footage of film censored	6,059,700

There were also submitted for censorship 249 mutoscope reels and 39 sets of drop cards which were disposed of as follows:—

Mutoscope reels approved	231
Mutoscope reels disapproved	18
Drop cards approved	32
Drop cards disapproved	7

Vaudeville acts and stage presentations pre-viewed at the various theatres prior to their showing on the Lord's Day, at which time a complete record, containing the name of act, number of persons in said act, a description of the act and the clothing worn, is made for the files in this Bureau. When deletions are ordered to be made in acts for Sunday presentations all parties concerned are notified and said acts are required to submit a letter to this bureau advising that they will comply with the instructions issued to them before making their appearance on the Lord's Day. In the event of an act appearing on the Lord's Day without fully complying with the instructions issued said act is placed on the disapproved list and it is necessary for the act to report in person at this Bureau for a hearing before again appearing on the Lord's Day. There were 2,668 vaudeville acts reviewed for showing on the Lord's Day. Of this number 1,387 vaudeville acts were re-reviewed. The remaining 1,281 were acted upon as follows:—

Acts approved	867
Acts approved with deletions	280
Acts disapproved	134

The personnel assigned to this bureau in addition to acting as censors are required to perform various other duties in connection with the enforcement of the law governing entertainments held on the Lord's Day. Each and every Sunday during the year they are required to visit various theatres, etc. to ascertain whether the programs are presented as approved by the Commissioner of Public Safety and also if the approved licenses are on the premises, posted in a conspicuous place. Whenever complaints of any nature are received it is necessary for the officers assigned to this Bureau to investigate and report on same. Each Monday morning they are required to submit a written report on their assignments for Sunday to the Supervisor, copies of which are forwarded to the Commissioner of Public Safety for his information. In this way violations of the law, rules and regulations which might occur at any theatre or place of amusement are reported at once and action is taken immediately.

Operators of nineteen theatres, ten golf driving ranges and five other amusements were granted hearings for violations of regulations and after due deliberation the cases of these operators were placed on file with warnings that their licenses would be either revoked or disapproved if there was a recurrence.

The entertainments are varied in character. The theatres and larger halls offer stage presentations, vaudeville and motion pictures; while in the different community theatres and halls, plays are conducted by both professional and amateur performers. In this respect there were approximately 1,801 performances in theatres inspected. Some of these performances are given in a foreign tongue and require the services of interpreters in censoring. The interpreters are assigned from the personnel of this department. There were four Jewish and nineteen Italian performances inspected during the past year.

At the amusement parks and beaches are conducted the many different rides, games, sideshows, etc., which require rigid supervision. As in the past this Bureau has received the co-operation of the majority of operators, licensing authorities and police officials in the thirty-five different cities and towns in which amusement parks, summer resorts and beaches are located. Every amusement device or game, exhibit or show operated at the different amusement parks and beaches is inspected at least once during each season. Each summer season brings new devices, games and shows which are inspected before Lord's Day operation is permitted.

As in previous years there were received numerous requests for the approval of licenses for carnivals to be conducted on the Lord's Day under the auspices of various church, veteran and agricultural organizations. We have received excellent cooperation from the organizations conducting these carnivals and we in turn have done our utmost to assist them in every possible way. In many instances, however, they would not know until almost the last moment just what concessions were going to be in operation. They would then appeal for assistance to the local licensing authorities who in turn would request that we give the matter special consideration and cooperate with them as much as possible. On all occasions we have cooperated with these local licensing authorities even though it caused us inconvenience, entailed much extra clerical work and necessitated sending an officer out to the carnival before the hour of opening in order to check whatever concessions might have arrived early Sunday morning. In these instances the officer from this Bureau would be met at the grounds by one of the local licensing authorities and together they would investigate the new concessions. Approval would then be granted for the concessions which could lawfully be operated and the organization notified of the ones that would have to remain closed on Sunday. A most careful supervision of these carnivals is required in order to eliminate undesirable operators of concessions so that the organization under whose auspices these carnivals are conducted might be protected from fraud.

Due to the fact that bowling has become very popular, this bureau has received numerous requests from the operators of bowling alleys for permission to operate on the Lord's Day. While Section 4A of Chapter 136 of the General Laws permits bowling on the Lord's Day, it also limits the operation of these alleys to certain locations. Many operators of bowling alleys submitted to this Bureau for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety licenses duly granted to them by their local licensing authorities for Sunday bowling, but due to the limitations of said section 4A it was necessary for an officer assigned to this bureau to investigate the locations to determine whether or not approval could be given. In many instances, after investigation, it was decided that the locations could not be approved and the applicant was so notified and in instances where fees had been submitted with the license the fees were refunded.

Below is a complete summary of all entertainments and amusements and amounts collected for same during the year 1940:—

	Number of Licenses	Amounts
Motion picture exhibitions, vaudeville and theatricals	19,421	$38,842

BUREAU OF STORAGE OF LIQUIDS

The storage of petroleum products and all other liquids other than water in aboveground tanks or containers of over 10,000 gallons capacity is carried out under specifications for construction and maintenance prescribed by statute law and regulations. The greater part of this storage is maintained at the large bulk stations of the major oil companies, particularly at railheads and waterfront plants. The following is a comparative statement of the number of such tanks or containers in use during the years 1939 and 1940:

	1939	1940
Number of tanks in use	3,138	3,255
Number of cities and towns where tanks are located	207	207
Number of corporations maintaining tanks	370	376
Permits for new construction	54	109
Permits for relocations	2	8

A total of 117 tanks were covered by permits of the Commissioner for the year 1940 to contain a total of 29,250,779 gallons, mainly for the storage of petroleum products.

Such tank applications have included the storage of gasoline, fuel oil, liquefied gas such as propane having a pressure of 200 pounds per square inch, and butane with a pressure of 100 pounds per square inch, tar, molasses, water glass, alcohol, latex, liquid rubber, vinegar, etc., tanks containing chemicals carrying a pressure from 200 pounds per square inch to atmospheric pressure, and illuminating gas tanks carrying pressures up to 50 pounds per square inch.

The specifications of such tanks, including their supports, foundations, protecting dikes, safety equipment, etc., are submitted to this department for approval by the Commissioner before issuing a permit for the erection of the tanks.

The Inspector in charge of this bureau also checks the installation of the new tanks in the field, and periodically checks the upkeep of all storage plants. He also checks the specifications of all new boilers and tanks installed in this State.

SALE AND CARRYING OF FIREARMS

The sale and carrying of firearms within the commonwealth is regulated by General Laws, Chapter 140, sections 121 to 131 C inclusive. In accordance with the provisions of these statutes, the department receives and files records of sales of firearms, permits to purchase, licenses to carry, revocation of licenses and records of sales of rifles and shotguns. Information concerning the operation of the statutes received from licensing authorities throughout the commonwealth established the following records for the fiscal year:

	1939	1940
Licenses issued to dealers	73	68
Dealers licenses revoked	1	—
Sales of pistols and revolvers reported by dealers	1,054	1,217
Sales of rifles and pistols reported by dealers	8,112	12,216
Licenses to carry pistols or revolvers revoked	17,985	18,912
Licenses to carry revoked	35	63

PRIVATE DETECTIVE AGENCIES

Licenses to conduct business as a private detective agency are issued by the Commissioner of Public Safety under Sections 22 to 30, inclusive, of Chapter 147 of the General Laws.

There are at present thirty-one such licensed persons or agencies licensed to do business in Massachusetts. The total revenue to the state from this source in 1940 was $4,100.

FORFEITED LIQUORS

The provisions of Chapter 138 of the General Laws which relate to the disposition of liquors ordered forfeited by the courts of the commonwealth, stipulate that such liquors shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Public Safety to be disposed of according to law. Similar provisions of law are applicable to implements of gaming seized in raiding operations under the authority of search warrants.

The following statistical data indicates the disposition of liquors and gaming implements forfeited during the fiscal year by the courts.
